

ILY Monster 361

The atmosphere in the room was purely blissful a while ago and had slowly turned into something so damn romantic. The temperature was slowly rising every time Sei ate a scoop of food. The bowl was still half full but Davi was already close to giving up. Well, kissing Sei after every scoop of food he ate was just so intense, it was impossible for Davi to still keep her composure.

His kisses started off like little pecks on her lips but they gradually became more teasing and intense as time went on. At that moment, every single kiss now took longer and he delved in deeper and was a little bit rougher, as if he was making sure that every time he delved into her mouth, he would explore every part before he was satisfied.

Davi wasn't the type to give up a task midway. No matter what, she will always finish a task she had started and she's been always like that since she was young. However, at this moment Davi felt like this spoon feeding is the toughest task that she has ever done in her life. And the reason was because this was the only task that actually forced her to act against her principle and give up. Well, who would manage to stay stubborn in this kind of situation? If I won't give up now, this food might never be consumed even after another hour... worse is I might even spill it on him...!

"Uhm... Sei... I think you should finish this first." Davi finally spoke and as soon as Sei saw those tantalizing eyes pleading him, he took a deep long breath to try and steady his racing heart. His dearest wife was just so damn enchanting. Her face was flushed red and her lips were pink and soft and they glistened slightly after each kiss which he found so damn alluring.

Looking at her, Sei ,who was at the verge of losing control, took the bowl from Davi's hand and like a boy who was afraid of being late in the first day of school, Sei devoured the food in no time. The way he gobbled up the food made both his cheeks puff up as he tried to shove all of it into his mouth to eat it in one go. This was the first time Davi saw Sei eating this way. This well mannered man who always eats like a king suddenly turning like this was somehow something so refreshing in Davi's eyes. Somehow, she was so happy that she's seeing her chibi Sei again. Ahh... so cute...

However, what Sei was thinking at that very moment was completely different from Davi's. His impatience was getting the better of him. He could no longer wait that he didn't even care about anything, much more to any eating protocols. This was a golden opportunity to finish what they started in the car the day before and he was not going to let it slip from his grasp!

"Err... don't eat it too fast, you'll get a sore stomach!" Davi said as she gave him a glass of water and the man swallowed the last bit of food, took a gulp of the water and afterwards, just smiled at her, causing Davi to feel a bit alarmed over something. 'Uh, why do I feel like I'm about to be eaten by a big bad wolf?'

Sei then put down the glass of water on the side table before he leaned his back on the headboard.

"Davi, come here." He uttered and Davi bit her lips as she moved towards him, looking at those ever so enticing gorgeous eyes of his. As soon as she reached him Sei held her and pulled her so she was sitting on his lap, straddling him.

He took Davi's hands and wrapped it around his neck and stared at her with eyes glistening with intense love and desire. Seeing the intensity in his eyes, Davi's heart felt like it was doing a little somersault.

"Davi, kiss me..." he requested and Davi didn't even think twice anymore. This time, she was completely seduced by her husband's extremely loving gazes. He really was like a dangerous potion that easily drove her wild.

Davi then closed in slowly and her lips softly collided with Sei's. She kissed his lips in a gentlest way ever until before she knew it, her tongue was already entangled by his.

In no time, their passionate kiss intensified as their need for each other grew. Sei's hand started slipping inside Davi's t-shirt and his warm palms were like soft feathers caressing her skin, giving her an inexplicable tingling feeling that followed the path that his hands took.

Davi started to wiggle on top of him to find a more comfortable position which of course, drove her husband mental! As she found a more comfortable spot, she could feel little Sei slowly becoming big Sei and she felt all the blood rush to her face as she blushed intensely.

Meanwhile, Sei concentrated on kissing her lips, her neck, her collarbone and all the places he could reach. He showered her with kisses, hoping to tell Davi, through these kisses, how much he loved her and missed her and how happy he was that they were together again.

However, the moment he was about to pin Davi down, a loud noise rang like a siren inside the room. Violently pulling Davi's lost rationality into the the real world, startling her as if a police just barged in and shouted at them the word "FREEZE!"

Davi was the first to break free from their intense kiss since Sei seemed to have decided to just ignore everything else. He continued kissing her nape as though he will never stop even if the house will be bombarded.

"S-sei... Sei... Sei..." Davi called out his name because the phone didn't stop ringing and for some reason, Davi just couldn't seem to ignore it because she just felt like something was telling her that the call must be answered at all cost. Gladly, Sei finally raised his face.

The ringing cellphone was Sei's and that ring tone actually one that insisted an emergency. Sei wanted to ignore it and just throw his cellphone out of the window but when he heard that certain ring tone, he couldn't help but crease his brows since this ringtone was actually like a public warning stating that an atomic bomb was coming.

"Uhm... I think you should answer it first." Davi said and Sei finally reached out his hand and received the call with an extremely sour and darkened face.

"What is it?" he immediately asked when Zaki who was at the other side of the phone cleared his throat.

"Sei... I need you to come right now. There's a big problem." Zaki said with an extremely rare serious tone, indicating that something beyond emergency has happened. Hearing him, Sei's eyes immediately narrowed dangerously as if he already knew what he was about to say. His eyes which were covered with love and desire a moment ago turned into a dark pair of deadly black holes.

Noticing Sei's expression, Davi's heart began to flutter nervously as she listened to the voice on the phone, holding her breath.

"We are surrounded. Someone wanted your son."
