

ILY Monster 383

The couple who just landed from the chopper walked side by side, holding each other's hands as Sei led Davi inside the house. Davi felt a little tired and sore from the day's activities and she was also worried about Sei not getting enough rest. So when Davi realized that they were heading towards Sei's study, she spoke up.

"Sei... it's already almost four, don't you think you still need to rest first? You just recovered from yesterday. We can talk when we wake up," she said and Sei halted. He faced her and he lifted his hand to touch her soft cheek and then caressed it.

"I'm completely fine now because you are with me and I don't think I would be able to fall asleep, unless this matter has been settled. I need to gain your forgiveness before I can rest easy." He replied as his eyes shone with intense emotion, causing Davi to give up in no time.

"O-okay, I understand. I'll go wash first. I'll be quick." She said but Sei looked at her with hesitation, looking as though he was afraid that if he let go of her hand, she might disappear.

Sei then raised his other hand and landed it on the back of his neck.

"L-let me come with you." He uttered softly, almost looking at her with puppy eyes, causing invisible blood to flow out of Davi's nose. Gosh... my chibi Sei is on the move again...!

Seeing his reaction, Davi didn't have the heart to reject him. She then tiptoed and ruffled his hair as she smiled before she pulled him with her. Of course, this made Sei's heart jump with happiness and he followed Davi, wagging his invisible tail.

As soon as they reached the bathroom's door, Davi then looked at him.

"Okay, you can wait on the couch now." She said yet again Sei still didn't let go.

Looking at the extreme unwillingness in his eyes, Davi couldn't help but feel her heart twist in pain. It was because Sei seemed to still be a bit traumatized that he was afraid to even part with her even when she was only going to be a few steps away.

Realizing this, Davi started coaxing him gently.

"Darling, didn't I promise I won't leave your side again? Do you perhaps not believe me when I said that?" Davi asked and Sei fell silent for a moment before he answered.

"I... I believe you." He replied and Davi smiled.

"Good." Davi nodded and she turned to open the door when she stopped. Well, Sei still didn't let go so she was about to ask him to let go when Sei spoke first.

"Can't I come inside?" he asked, and Davi immediately turned around as she choked. Cough, cough... shameless Sei is at it again!

Davi was surprised, however, when she saw that the look in his eyes was so innocent, as though he doesn't have any perverted thoughts as he said those words and the only thing he wanted was to make sure she wouldn't disappear, Davi could only bite her lip hard.

"Sei, I won't go anywhere and I can't possibly wash if you come inside!"

"Then, let me wash you."

"..."

Speechless, Davi moved closer to him and pinched his cheek hard.

"No... you can't come inside. I'm washing using cold water so I can't let you get wet."

"It's okay, I can always recover again if I get sick."

"..."

Somehow, Davi couldn't help but pinch the skin between her brows. Damn... wifey is so adorably compelling this time...! How could he sacrifice his health for something like this?

"Don't worry, getting sick is a piece of cake for me." He again said and Davi finally snapped.

She suddenly pulled Sei's collar so she could close in on his face.

"Darling... it might be okay with you but to me, it's not. You understand? What's more important to me is your health so just listen to me, okay?" she said firmly and Sei was about to reply when Davi suddenly kissed him, not giving him any more chance to speak. She kissed him hard as she pushed him, causing the man to step backwards involuntarily as his mind started to lag because of Davi's intense kiss.

Sei immediately returned Davi's kiss and they both delved deeper into each other's mouths, until suddenly, there was a thud as Sei's feet reached the couch and Davi slowly pushed him down on it.

Before Sei realized it, he was already sitting on the couch and had accidentally let go of Davi's hand in his daze. So by the time Davi broke the kiss, Sei was overpowered.

Davi's hand were on his shoulders pinning him down as she spoke.

"Be good and wait for me here, okay?" she said and seeing that he let go of her, she took that opportunity and hastily left. Before Sei could start to react, Davi already closed the bathroom's door, leaving the stunned man looking like an abandoned puppy as he stared at the closed door.

S-she also used the same kissing technique to ditch me...
