

ILY Monster 414

After the reception, Sei carried Davi in his arms like a princess as they headed towards the special place he prepared for them.

While they were on the corridor, Davi spoke as she lovingly gazed at her dearest hubby.

"Hubby, it's still morning, are we going to go and take a rest?" she asked and Sei halted as he looked at her in the eyes.

"For us it won't be a wedding night but a wedding morning." He replied and Davi blinked with surprise.

"But, aren't you tired now? You've been working hard since yesterday." Davi again said. Well, even though they slept during their trip yesterday, preparing the proposal and the wedding surely would make anyone tired.

However...

"My beloved wife, you're belittling your husband's stamina. Don't worry, I will remind you how long I can last." He replied with a straight face and Davi almost choked. Her face immediately flushed red as she remembered their first night together. How could she forget that her hubby was a monster in bed?!

When they finally entered their room, Sei slowly put Davi down on bed and before Davi could even speak, Sei's lips already slammed unto hers.

His kiss was passionate and deep as ever.

"My wife, let's make up for the last five years." He said with intense desire brimming in his eyes. It was as if the feelings he'd been suppressing all this time were finally unleashed.

Seeing his expression, Davi didn't say a word anymore and she just smiled. She would give her everything to him. He did everything to make her happy. He was the man who gave her hope, the one who saved her, the one who made her life worth living for. He was the man who made her world so beautiful and there was nothing else in the world she could ask for, nothing.

Davi then raised her hands and held Sei's face. Her eyes looking at him with pure and complete submission.

"Hubby, I'm all yours." She said and a beautiful yet seductive smile carved on Sei's face.

"Mm. You are mine. Only mine." He replied and kissed her hard again. As their kisses intensified and their bodies began to burn, Davi's hands began to crawl to help the man strip. However, Sei suddenly held her wrists and put them near her ears.

"My wife, it was you who made the move first during our first night back then so, let me do all the work this time." He said and Davi blushed again.

Sei then stripped on his own as Davi watched him with a red face until his perfectly chiselled abs appeared on Davi's view, making her almost salivate at his godly physique. Back then, the lights were off and the room was dark so Davi could hardly see a thing, but this time, the room was lit with a romantic soft light.

The next moment, Sei leaned in on Davi again and he kissed her. He kissed her eyes, her nose, her lips so passionately. Surprisingly, he didn't rush. He moved slowly, teasing her.

He didn't stop kissing her body as he removed her clothes one by one, driving Davi crazy. Her breathing turned shallow and her heart started thumping loudly in her ears as Sei's burning tongued travelled from her chest down to her abdomen. She grasped Sei's hair with her fingers and clenched it.

Pleasure and desire took over them. Sei had exceeded his very limit the moment he kissed her but he fought it. He wanted to give his all and make his dearest feel good.

However, the moment he touched her there, the moment he felt the warm moisture indicating she was ready for him, he almost lost it all. Almost.

Holding on to his sanity, Sei started moving his fingers slowly, in a slow rhythm, and he heard Davi's moan of pleasure. He smiled, enjoying the way she responded to his touch.

Once she got her breath back, he kissed her lips hard as his fingers started to play with her again. Davi felt like her world was about to explode. She tried to hold on but it just felt so good that after a few more seconds, fireworks exploded and she enjoyed her first orgasm.

The moment Sei felt her go over the edge, his desire finally took over. Her body was very ready for him. He couldn't wait any longer to be one with his wife so without wasting another second, he entered her as gently as he could, despite his strong need. Even through the haziness from his desire, he still prioritized her pleasure before his.

...

Time passed and Sei finally reached his limit. Despite it all, he was indeed still a monster, no, he levelled up quite high this time! How could this previously innocent little Sei so different in bed?!

Sei moved and scooped the exhausted Davi up in his arms. His eyes travelled in her soft and perfect body and even though he already knew, he was still troubled with the awful marks he made.

freewebnovel.com

"I'm sorry. I couldn't restrain myself again." He weakly said when Davi just smiled.

"It's alright. This is my fault for making you wait for more than five years."

"My wife, i want to make more babies with you."

"Babies? How many do you want? 2?"

"5."

"...?!!!!!"