

ILY Monster 468

"Big boss, uhm... how about I call the gardener to do that for you?" Kir's voice made the daydreaming Zaki snap back to reality. He turned and when he saw his big brother standing there with folded sleeves, sweat drops could only fall from Zaki's forehead.

"Shut up Kir. How could I call it effort if I just order someone to pick it for me?" Sei reasoned and Kir scratched his head.

"But big boss, you're bleeding. You don't know how to do that properly. Your wife will feel sad if she saw that you had hurt yourself. At least let me help you." Kir once again pleaded when Zaki walked towards them and butted in.

"What happened? Sei's hurt?" Zaki looked worried when Sei waved his hand at him.

"Don't mind me. It's just a scratch. Go and continue what you are doing." Sei said but Zaki didn't stop. He continued walking until he reached him. When Zaki saw the scratch in Sei's hand he frowned.

"What are you doing, didn't I tell you to just sit on that bench?" Zaki asked and it was Kir who answered.

"He said he wanted to make an effort for his wife too. He didn't like the idea that he simply bought the flowers he gave to his wife back then. He also thought that you upped what he did so he's like this."

As soon as Zaki heard Kir's explanation, he sighed. He knew that this almighty Sei always became so damn unreasonable when it came to doing something for his wife so he already knew it was not possible to stop him.

"My wife is so busy over something lately. She's working really hard so..." Sei uttered as he continued looking around for another perfectly bloomed flower, ignoring the two.

"Sigh... okay, I got it. Come, I'll teach you how to do it properly so you won't hurt yourself." Zaki stood beside him but Sei refused.

"No, I can't disturb you. Your confession is much more important. I'm here to support you, my little brother, not to disturb you. So go back there and focus."

Zaki was speechless, this Sei was really so into his role as his big brother now.

"I'm almost done. Look here," Zaki insisted and he started showing him the right way to cut the flower. "Do it like this."

"When did you learn to do this?" Please visit freewebrnovel.com

"Your wife taught me."

"Huh?!" Sei was so surprised that his eyes widened as he looked at Zaki.

"When we were living in Gray mansion, I once went and watched her harvest the flowers she planted and she taught me the right way to do this." Zaki explained and in one look, Zaki could already tell that his big brother was becoming jealous.

"She didn't teach me," he uttered and Zaki sighed again.

"It's because you're always busy and you didn't ask her to. I asked her to teach me so she did! C'mon, stop acting like a teenager. Just try it, it's easy."

Sei then tried it and as expected, he finally did it perfectly.

"Ohh!" Sei looked ecstatic while Zaki smirked at him.

"Big bro, you did well. This little brother of yours will teach you more if you ask."

"No more. Next time, I'll be the one to teach you something."

"Tsk, I wonder what that something would be?"

"How about I teach you a strategy on how to make your confession more romantic?"

"No, I'm fine. I want to do everything myself."

"It's alright. Don't be shy. This big brother of yours is always ready to help-"

"I said it's fine. I can do things on my own."

"I'll give some suggestion-"

"Okay, I'm going back there. I'm running out of time so don't disturb your little brother."

"..."

As Zaki ran away, Kir could only stand there watching the duo picking flowers in the middle of a huge green house. If others could see them at that moment, no one would have thought that one of them was a tycoon who dismissed an important meeting just to go and pick flowers for his wife.