

ILY Monster 487

The bright rays of the morning sun cascaded through the window, kissing the floor of the silent room.

The couple on the bed was still sleeping peacefully, looking so defenseless and vulnerable. They looked like they were wrapped in pink sheets of a warm and content atmosphere. In each other's embrace, their sleeping faces screamed with nothing but happiness, contentment and overflowing love.

As the sun slowly rose over the horizon, Hinari and Zaki stayed like that. It looked like they were enjoying their moments in dreamland together and they wanted to extend it as much as they could.

But after another long while, a soft beep awakened Zaki.

Zaki's brows creased. His beautiful lashes fluttered before he slowly opened his eyes. His body recognized that sound despite being half asleep. He knew it was a message from Sei so he immediately stretched his arm out to grab his phone but something seemed to be stopping him.

He shut his eyes and opened it again and the moment his vision was cleared, Hinari's sleeping face appeared before him.

Looking at the sleeping angel in his embrace, Zaki immediately remembered everything as soon as he saw her and his face flushed red. However, the next second, a sweet smile carved on his face as he stared at her with loving gazes.

He slowly put down his hand when he realized that he was still chained to her. He didn't reach for the phone anymore; instead, his fingers landed on her soft cheeks. He stared at her for a long while before kissing her hair.

Zaki did his best not to move too much for fear that he might awaken her. He remembered how intense last night was so he wanted her rest to not be disrupted.

Thus, Zaki stayed like that for an hour before Hinari finally moved. Her eyes finally fluttered as she was awakened by the brightness coming from the window.

When she finally awakened from her dreams, the first thing she saw was her dearest Zaki.

"Good morning." Zaki's voice immediately rang like it was the most beautiful alarm clock she had ever heard in her life.

"Good morning, my love." She replied and Zaki smiled so sweetly at her.

"Did you have a good sleep?" he asked and the memories from last night started returning to Hinari's head. When she remembered everything, Hinari couldn't help but blush.

Her blushing face didn't escape Zaki's eyes and the man smiled mischievously.

Looking at him smiling at her like that, Hinari puffed her cheeks.

"Why are you smiling at me like that?" she asked and Zaki just blinked at her before slightly shaking his head with a smile silently saying the word 'nothing'.

His gaze never left her and he didn't say a word. But the way he looked at her obviously seemed like he was telling her the words 'do you remember how intense it was last night?' with that mischievous smile flashing across his face.

At that moment, Hinari was about to speak but she couldn't handle it anymore. She quickly rose, and was about to climb out of the bed when she noticed her naked body. Please visit freewebnovel.com

"What's wrong?" Zaki asked as he followed her and Hinari immediately said she needed to go to the toilet.

As soon as he heard her, Zaki took a white blanket to wrap around her, thinking that Hinari didn't want to go naked, when the girl suddenly stood.

Gladly, the chain stopped her. Her attention then fell to the chain on her hand and her brows creased. Well, since last night, she had forgotten that they were actually chained. She looked at Zaki but when she felt like she had reached her limit, she attempted to walk when suddenly, her feet wobbled.

Luckily, Zaki managed to quickly move and caught her before she fell.

"What's wrong? Are you alright?" Zaki's voice was suddenly filled with worry as he held her.

"My legs feel like they have lost their strength." She said as she looked at him with puffed cheeks. "I don't think I can walk right now, so carry me. This is your fault anyway." She added and Zaki blinked in confusion?

"M-my fault? Did I hurt you?" he exclaimed and Hinari raised her hands and pinched him hard.

"My beauty... no, my beast... do you really not know what the word limit means? I didn't know you're such a beast! A big big bad beast! I can't even walk anymore!" she suddenly burst and Zaki's eyes widened for a moment before he bit his lip.

"But... you didn't stop me so..." he said in a shy voice and Hinari was speechless that all she could do was pinch him hard again.

"Shut up beauty, no, beast, and just take me to the toilet now! It's coming out!"