

ILY Monster 65

Time passed and Davi finally recovered. She focused herself into preparing the dinner. She knew that it's been nearly a month since she cooked for him, thus, she wanted to give her all.

However, her peaceful cooking was interrupted by Zaki-in-disguised, Mr. Chen. His smile was wide as soon as he saw Davi.

"Hoho. So our young miss is slowly getting bolder huh. Not bad, not bad." Hearing his mischievous teasing, the girl who just recovered, blushed again. Ugh! This guy.

"Please don't tease me Mr. Chen. I can't possibly beat him for real okay?" she said and the man just chuckled mischievously as if he was enjoying the sight of her being shy.

"Ohh... how kind of you, young miss."

"Please stop giggling."

"Haha. Don't mind me young miss, I'm just happy. And because I'm happy, I will tell you a secret about Sei." The man said and then he sidled towards her while his mischievous grin was still carved on his face. Davi on the other hand went instantly curious as hell as soon as she heard Sei's name.

"Truth was that... Sei was... that was actually..."

"Please just say it."

"Haha. Calm down, I'm saying it. Would you believe me if I'll tell you that that was actually Sei's f-first kiss?"

Upon hearing his statement, Davi slowly moved away from him. She blinked more than three times before her eyes were filled with nothing but disbelief.

"No, don't lie to me mr. Chen. Besides, how did you even know? It's not like you're following him even in his bed." Davi shook her head as she looked at him with disapproving eyes. However, her reaction just made the man laughed even harder.

"Why? You won't accept it because you're guilty stealing a virgin's first kiss?"

As soon as those words came out of his mouth, Davi was instantly stunned. W-w-w-what the hell is this man talking about? Me? Stealing a virgin's first kiss?

"Mr. Chen, truth was that, I'm still upset, can you sacrifice yourself instead?"

"H-huh? W-wait, I'm just a lowly body guard, I have nothing to do with my boss's personal--- Ahh!"

Without waiting for him to complete his statement, Davi caught his hand instantly and locked it on his back while she pushed him hard towards the kitchen's exit as if the fragile lady suddenly turned into some fierce gangster.

"W-wait, young miss. Why me? You won't even lay a hand to Sei, why are you being fierce with me?"

"Because you're bad mouthing my husband. I won't forgive anyone who will do that to him, even if it's you, do you understand?"

"H-huh? When did I bad mouth your husband? I'm just tel--- Ouch! Where did your strength even came from? Are you perhaps a gorilla in disguise--- OUCH!"

Davi kept pushing the man as she kept pulling his hand behind to hurt him a little. However, as if a glass just fell on the floor and crashed into pieces, Davi was stunned the moment she raised her head.

The presence of a tall godly figure leaning on the door frame looking at her instantly froze Davi and she didn't realize that she exerted an even greater force on Zaki's hand causing the man to cry out in pain.

"Ahh! Ou-ouch!" Mr. Chen's loud voice startled her and she let go of him right away as her gaze remained looking to Sei's direction.

At that moment, looking at the girl suddenly fidgeting before him, as if the fierce gangster immediately returned into her usual angel-like self, Sei walked closer to her.

"What happened?" he asked facing towards Davi.

"Uhm... Th-that... it's because he's... badmouthing yo... he said I stole your... he said I'm a thief." As soon as those words left her mouth, Davi bit her lower lip as she turned her face away, embarrassed.

I can't possibly tell him the nonsense Mr. Chen just said, right?

However, she felt a sudden chill coming from him that same moment causing her to look at him again, and the moment she saw him glaring at Mr. Chen with faint feeling of rage, she felt a sudden guilt even though Mr. Chen seemed unbothered by it.

"Haha. Er... I was just teasing the---"

"Uhm... Sei, it's no big deal, I'm just actually trying to make him leave the kitchen so I can monopolize you tonight..." a strange silence followed her statement. And Davi was stunned to the core with her own words. What the hell did I just said?!

"Pfft! Ohoo, you should have told me earlier young miss. This lowly third wheel will now leave." Zaki said leaving the couple both speechless.
