

ILY Monster 76

Davi was walking hastily when someone grabbed her wrist.

"Hey, don't be rude. You never change at all, huh," the man said as he gripped her hand while he gave her a flirty look. Davi's face immediately turned unbelievably sour as she glared at him.

"Let go."

"Ahh... how cold. But damn it Mizuri Davi, you're still the most beautiful goddess in existence that I've ever seen."

"Let go, now." Davi's voice even turned colder as if she didn't heard his flattery at all, however, the man just chuckled mischievously. Back in high school, Wu Rei used to back off instantly whenever Davi turned cold and dangerous because, he was once beaten by her mercilessly. But now, the man didn't seem to be threatened by her anymore causing her to suddenly attack him viciously.

But Davi's supposedly unexpected attack was stopped by him effortlessly as if he knew exactly what she's about to do and what kind of attack she's about to use.

"C'mon, my dear. Do you think I'm still the Wu Rei who was willing to accept beatings from you?" he said as he gripped her wrist even tighter.

"Don't make me laugh sweetie, how long do you think I've known you? How many times do you think you used that attack on me?" he added as he moved his face closer to her. The man didn't even leave any space for her to launch another attack. His strong grip made her realize that this man was no longer the high school weakling she knew and he even grew much taller.

"What do you want?" she finally asked calmly as she loosen up. If she can't go against him with her current martial skill anymore, then she has to use her brain this time.

However, the man didn't answer her and his eyes just fell on the flower in her hand instead.

"Who gave you that?" he asked while his mischievous smile slowly faded. That moment, Davi smiled deep within. She stared at him as she proudly answered him, "My husband."

Wu Rei's eyes instantly narrowed as soon as he heard her. He was stunned but his grip didn't loosen up, it even tightened instead. His flirtatious eyes went serious as he glares at her.

Truth was that, Davi was actually his first love. He fell for her the very first time he saw her, back in middle school. However, for all those years he spent wooing her, even doing all sort of methods for her to notice her, he never once get any attention from her. She was like a star in the heaven that he just couldn't reach at all, the most heartless girl he ever known. She was the only girl that could make his heart beats wildly, but she's also the only girl who has the guts to ignore him completely, without even bating an eye.

"You... did you think I'll believe you?" Wu Rei's voice suddenly turned cold and his eyes burned with intense desire.

"L-let go, or else— "

"Or else what? You'll call a police? Did you forget I'm a general's son? You can't escape from me anymore my love," he said in a cold dangerous voice.

That moment, Davi could sense danger coming from him for the first time, causing her to immediately make a move before it's too late.

Rei Wu started leaning towards her as if he was trying to kiss her when Davi abruptly bended her knees and then she launched herself up as she drove the top of her head into the man's jaw. The impact was strong enough that Wu Rei instantly let go of her as he almost fell into his knees.

"Davi, goddamnit!" he scoffed while his hand was on his jaw. Davi wasted no time but before she could even start to run, another man appeared out of nowhere and caught her violently.

"What the hell's wrong with you Rei? Why are you letting this little cheek beat you like that?" the man said and he locked Davi's hand on her back causing her to yell in pain.

That very moment, Davi was about to try struggling when she suddenly heard a loud bang and the man holding her from behind fell hard on the ground as though a really powerful punch just hit him. The big man who was violently holding her seconds ago fell instantly unconscious.

Davi's eyes fell on the big man and the sight of him on the ground made her think that someone had save her, but before the girl could even turn to look who it was, someone pulled her and before she knew it, she was already embraced tightly.
