

I'm Someone Else Chapter 348

I'm Someone Else Chapter 348-The Toxin Expulsion Pill was a legendary sacred medicine that was even more precious than the Rejuvenation Pill. Just like the Rejuvenation Pill, Thomas had no knowledge of the manufacturing process for this medicine. Does the Travis Family actually have the Toxin Expulsion Pill? If they're willing to give them to Olivia, I really owe them big time.

Even with Thomas' medical expertise, it would take him another month to completely clear the frost poison from Olivia's body. Yet, with just one more Toxin Expulsion Pill, the same effect could be achieved. Its miraculous nature was evident.

"Thank you, Mr. Travis," he said, sincerely expressing his gratitude.

"You're welcome, Mr. Clifford. I'll get someone to send the last Toxin Expulsion Pill that Miss Pearson needs to Irieson. Can you let me know your current location? I'll have her go there." The person delivering the medicine was Colby's younger sister and the youngest daughter of the Travis Family, Emily Travis. This was also personally instructed by Kyrie, who wanted Emily to come to Irieson and have more contact with Thomas. The underlying intention was to hope that they could develop some sparks of affection. Colby was also willing to facilitate this. Thomas is talented and valued even by Grandpa. If he can become my brother-in-law, it will be even better.

"I'll go pick it up, Mr. Travis. I've troubled you enough already." Thomas couldn't bring himself to let someone deliver it to him.

"Alright, I'll send you the contact number." With a smile, Colby hung up the phone and sent Emily's phone number. He eagerly wanted Thomas to go and meet her since she was about to arrive at Irieson Airport.

After returning to the office, Thomas told Olivia he was going out and then left the company. However, as soon as he walked out of the entrance of Keyshire Property, he was stopped by a man in his thirties.

"Hello, Mr. Clifford. My master would like to meet you. Can you spare some time now?" The man's attitude was respectful enough.

"Who is your master?" Thomas asked.

"Taylor Saunder." "The Saunder Family?" He frowned slightly. What does Taylor want to meet me for? Among the Six Greatest Families, only the Saunder and Zane Families don't have any direct conflicts with me.

Although the Saunder Family hadn't caused him any trouble before, he still needed to eliminate them to ensure Olivia's safety. But why does Taylor want me to go to his place at this time? What is he planning to do? It's such a sensitive period now. Could it be a trap to lure me there and kill me directly?

His brain was working rapidly. Even if I have nothing to do right now, I won't go, let alone when I have other matters to attend to.

"Tell Taylor that if he wants to see me, he should come and find me himself.

Does he expect me to go running when he beckons and says he wants to see me? Who does he think he is?" After he coldly threw out these words, he got into his car and left, leaving behind the man standing there awkwardly, not knowing what to do.

"I... H-How do I report this to Old Mr. Saunder?" The man was speechless.

Before he came, Taylor had given him a strict order to bring Thomas back no matter what, but his target had already walked away. How am I going to explain this to Old Mr. Saunder? "Whatever. I'll figure it out when I get back." He then drove to the Saunder Residence and nervously entered the villa.

Taylor's temperament was generally mild, and he rarely got angry. However, when he did get angry, it was not something that a small lackey could bear.

"Old Mr. Saunder." "Yes." Taylor sat leisurely on the couch in the hall, savoring his tea. When he looked up, he glanced at the man. "Where is Thomas?" He wanted Thomas over to discuss an important matter, and he was also aware of the incident at the Peralta Family's Acketts Estate.

"Old Mr. Saunder, Thomas said... He said if you want to see him, you should go find him. Don't expect him to come running just because you want to see him.

He asked you who you think you are." The man gritted his teeth and courageously repeated Thomas' words. After all, these were the exact words spoken by Thomas himself. He didn't wrongly accuse him.

"What?" Taylor's eyes widened with anger. I'm the leader of the Saunder Family!

No one dares show such disrespect to me!

Yet, within a few seconds, he forcibly suppressed the anger that had filled him.

This is indeed Thomas' style—extremely wild!

Huff! He took a deep breath and said, "Go invite him again. Tell him that I can provide him with assistance if he wants to deal with those six old monsters." "Yes, sir." The man didn't hesitate and turned to leave the villa. At that moment, he could sense the genuine anger in Taylor. He had even prepared himself for punishment, but who would have thought that Taylor wouldn't pursue the matter further?

"Thomas, oh, Thomas. You must help my Saunder Family. We haven't offended you," Taylor murmured to himself as he stared out the window.

Thomas couldn't possibly fathom why Taylor wanted to meet him.

In recent years, Taylor had grown tired of being treated as a puppet by those six old monsters, especially the sacrificial tradition of the Six Greatest Families, which had caused grievances within the Saunder Family. Who would willingly send their daughter to her death?

It was nothing for them to toil and strive in business, earning abundant profits to give to those six old fellows, but they must even hand over their family members to them to be enjoyed and slaughtered. Who could endure it without a trace of resentment?

Taylor was different from Terrence and the others. He still had some semblance of humanity left. He had long grown tired of this life and wanted to seize the opportunity, when the six old monsters made a move against Thomas, to completely break away from the Six Greatest Families and pave a new path for the Saunder Family.

Of course, he didn't expect Thomas to help him without compensation. As long as Thomas agreed to cooperate with his plan, he would offer a great reward.

While Taylor was lost in thought, his phone rang.

"Hello." "Old Mr. Saunder, that b*stard Thomas and Olivia have returned to Irieson. It's time for us to make a move." The call was from Logan. Previously, when Olivia was taken to Capitalis, the six old monsters didn't dare go there and take her back. But now that they had returned to Irieson, the six old monsters had no more scruples. They had given the order for them to act and bring Olivia out directly from Keyshire Property.

This idea was crazy. It was worth noting that Keyshire Property was founded by Rafael himself. If he found out that someone dared to cause trouble in his company, he wouldn't let it go easily.

I'm Someone Else Chapter 349-Originally, Taylor had no intention of getting involved in this matter, but the six old monsters personally issued the order, so he had no choice but to comply.

"Okay." His voice was filled with exhaustion as he made another phone call.

“Come over now.” Ten minutes later, eight individuals entered the villa. Their strength was formidable, with all of them being Yellow Tier Seven experts.

Taylor glanced at the eight of them. “Remember, I’ve already talked to the Zane Family. They have the same objective as you, so don’t fight among yourselves.

Follow the plan I’ve told you. If there’s a change of situation, you can cooperate with the Zane Family to eliminate the people from the other two families. In any case, we must not let them capture Olivia.” “Don’t worry, Old Mr. Saunder. We understand,” the eight individuals respectfully answered. Taylor had previously briefed them on the specific plan.

“Go, and be careful.” As Taylor watched the figures of the eight individuals depart, his mouth curled into a cold smile. Quincy told me that Keyshire Property changed ownership, and the current owner is none other than Olivia. It was even personally handed over by Rafael himself. Well, I wonder if the Xalmar Family and the Yam Family know about this.

Rafael is the business tycoon of Capitalis, with an unfathomable background.

Even that man has so much respect for Thomas, so how dare these people cause trouble for Thomas? Do they really think they can abduct Olivia from Keyshire Property? Aren’t they just seeking their demise?

I hope that my eight men can accomplish their mission successfully. As long as Olivia doesn’t fall into the hands of those six old monsters, Thomas will fight them with all his might. If he agrees to cooperate with my operation, then the Saunder Family can completely break away from the camp of the Six Greatest Families.

“Who on earth is Thomas? Even Rafael bows down to him.” He felt that he had more and more questions about Thomas.

At this moment, the forces of the four families gathered at the entrance of Keyshire Property. Each family sent eight people, but only four individuals from each family came out of the vehicles. The remaining four individuals stayed in the cars, responsible for providing support. After all, if too many people entered Keyshire Property at the same time, it would draw attention.

The leader of the Zane Family exchanged a glance with the leader of the Saunder Family as if giving a signal. With that, the group of 16 individuals entered the office building of Keyshire Property. Along the way, they encountered no obstacles, for they had prepared in advance. Each person held a Keyshire Property employee identification card, so the security guards thought they were employees of the company.

The Xalmar Family and the Yam Family had already learned about the change in ownership of Keyshire Property. If possible, they also didn't want to come.

After all, with Keyshire Property being the top company in Irieson, it was absurd to forcefully abduct their president. Just thinking about it was terrifying.

However, they had no choice. The six old monsters had directly issued the order, and they had no say in the matter.

At this moment, the four members of the Saunder Family arrived at the top floor of Keyshire Property ahead of the others. They walked around the corridor, observing the structure of this level.

"Go, change the president's office sign to the adjacent data room," the leader of the Saunder Family instructed.

"Yes, sir." A man stepped forward and swapped the door signs of the two offices.

Soon, the other 12 men also reached the top floor and gathered in front of the 'president's office' door.

The leader of the Yam Family took a deep breath and tried to push the door, but he found it to be locked and couldn't open it at all.

"Huh?" The group looked at each other in confusion. It was working hours, and it was impossible for Olivia not to be there. According to the information received from their family, Olivia hadn't left the company since the morning.

Just then, the leader of the Yam Family made up his mind and mobilized his internal energy from his elixir field, forcefully breaking open the door.

Crack!

The door was opened, but the scene inside left everyone stunned.

The room was neatly arranged with various documents, but there was not a trace of a person, let alone Olivia.

From the layout of the room, it was evident that this was not an office. How can the esteemed president of Keyshire Property not even have a desk? Was our plan leaked? Did someone swap the president's office sign with the data room's sign beforehand? Doesn't that mean that our every move is already known to the other party?

"Damn it! Run!" Meanwhile, someone muttered quietly, "If we don't run now, Thomas will come." Without hesitation, the group started running. Their speed was comparable to that of a champion in the Olympic 100-meter race.

Quentin and Logan had given instructions that if they encountered Thomas, they shouldn't bother with anything else; just run. The mission could be completed later, but if they lost their lives, then everything would be lost.

Thomas' formidable reputation was well known among the Six Greatest Families. With his strength alone, he trampled the Pearson Family and annihilated the Hind Family. What a terrifying power he has! Even the martial arts experts of the Pearson and Hind Families were killed, let alone little minions like us!

On the other hand, the people from the Saunder and Zane Families didn't seem to be in a hurry. The eight of them exchanged smiles and then pretended to be panicked, following the others and rushing into the elevator, quickly leaving.

Fear was contagious, and it seemed like the members of the Yam and Xalmar Families scared themselves. Little did they know that the person who swapped the door signs was not Thomas but their companion.

However, even without interference from the Saunder Family, they were unlikely to complete their mission today. Because at this moment, Olivia was holding a meeting with Molly in the conference room downstairs. It would take a while, so she wouldn't come back in a short time. If they kept waiting there foolishly until Thomas returned, they wouldn't have a chance to leave alive.

On the other hand, Thomas had already arrived at Irieson International Airport.

After parking his car, he got out and looked around while taking out his phone.

He dialed the number given to him by Colby.

"Hello." A clear and pleasant voice, as melodious as a lark, came from the other end of the phone, sounding exceptionally nice.

When he heard that, he was taken aback, for he didn't expect that the person sent by the Travis Family to deliver the medicine would be a woman. Judging from her voice, she's a young woman.

"I'm Thomas Clifford. Where are you? I'll come to pick you up." "I see you. I'm on your left." When he turned around, he saw a charming figure walking toward him. She was wearing white sportswear and waving at him.

Emily had seen Thomas before. After all, the event at the arena match was quite sensational. As a direct descendant of the Travis Family, how could she not know?

I'm Someone Else Chapter 350-On that day, Emily hid in the villa and witnessed Thomas' miracles with her own eyes. Since then, she had been filled with curiosity about him. Gunnar, the Genius of Capitalis, was no match for him. Even Rafael, a powerful figure with extraordinary perceptiveness, shows such respect for him. I wonder what kind of man he is.

Emily, with a height of 5'7", had a well-proportioned figure like Olivia. Her oval face was stunningly beautiful, making her a remarkable beauty. However, instead of the cold arrogance Olivia had, Emily had a touch of playfulness, making her more of an adorable type.

Thomas only glanced at her for one second before retracting his gaze. It's important to show respect when meeting someone for the first time. Staring at them would be incredibly disrespectful, especially when it's a young woman.

"Hello, Thomas. I'm Emily. Kyrie is my grandfather, and Colby is my brother." She took the initiative to reach out her hand and introduce herself with a smile.

When he heard that, his expression froze. Wait, she's Colby's sister? That means she's the lady of the Travis Family. Why did they send the lady of the family to deliver a pill? But this shows how seriously the Travis Family takes this matter.

As a grateful person, he silently noted down everything the Travis Family had done for him. If they needed him in the future, he would definitely repay their kindness.

After they shook hands, Emily took out a porcelain bottle and handed it to Thomas. "There's a Toxin Expulsion Pill inside. I believe my brother has already told you its specific purpose, right?" "He did." Thomas nodded.

"Well, let me remind you that Miss Pearson probably doesn't know about the sacrificial mission she carries. When you give her this medicine, it's better not to tell her. Otherwise, she might not be able to accept it." "Don't worry. I know." It would be difficult for anyone, let alone Olivia, to accept the fact that she was designated as a sacrifice by her biological father and needed to face the tragic fate of having her blood drained after being humiliated.

After that, Thomas invited Emily to get in the car. Since the Travis Family had helped him so much, and now that the lady of the family had come to his turf, he had to extend his hospitality, of course.

On the way, she kept staring at him without taking her eyes off him. It seemed like she wanted to see through the enigmatic man before her with this approach.

However, he couldn't handle it. A minute or two would be fine, but being stared at by a stunningly beautiful young girl for half an hour made his face blush like an apple.

“Oh, Thomas. I didn’t expect you to be so easily embarrassed.” She started teasing him, being the outgoing person she was. If it weren’t for seeing it with my own eyes, who would believe that this shy young man and the confident and powerful man who dominated the Travis Family’s arena two days ago are the same person?

Thomas shook his head helplessly, his face becoming even redder as if he could start bleeding at any moment.

After a while, the car stopped at Northpine Villa. It was still early, so he wanted to let Emily rest at home and wait until Olivia finished work in the evening. Then, the three of them could go out together for a meal.

Just as the two entered the villa, they saw Chloe coming down from upstairs.

“Thomas, you’re back.” Chloe had a smile on her face, and she was holding Thomas’ just-changed quilt cover in her hands.

Before Thomas went to Capitalis, he had left a key to this place for her. Although she knew he had returned from Capitalis, she was still a little worried. She had waited at home the whole day but didn’t see him return to the rental house. So, she decided to come and check on him and tidy up the house, changing the bed sheets and quilt cover.

However, when she saw Emily standing beside Thomas, the smile on her face instantly froze. Who is she? Why is she with Thomas? Why did he bring her home? Wasn’t he living here with Olivia? Why did a girl suddenly come out of nowhere?

A bunch of questions appeared in her mind. I already have enough rivals. I absolutely cannot add any more. I have Molly as an internal concern and Olivia as an external threat. If this girl joins the picture as well, how am I supposed to survive? Will it take forever to win over my beloved Thomas?

Like Chloe, Emily also blinked her curious eyes as she stared at her. Who is this beautiful girl? She looks like a gentle lady who has stepped out of an ancient painting.

Meanwhile, Thomas felt awkward, for he hadn’t expected Chloe to come to Northpine Villa, especially without notifying him.

“Ahem, let me introduce you. This is my sister, Chloe. And this is Emily, my friend’s sister. She just got off the plane.” Ah, I see! Chloe finally calmed the racing heart in her chest. She hadn’t clearly remembered what Emily’s relationship was with Thomas. All she knew was that as long as the girl wasn’t his girlfriend, it was fine.

“Hello,” Chloe said, taking the initiative to greet her.

In reply, Emily put on a faint smile. She wasn’t reserved and was outgoing, so in no time, the two started chatting.

Ring! Ring!

Just then, Thomas' phone rang. He picked it up and saw that it was from Quincy.

"Hello," he answered the call and walked out of the villa.

"Thomas, Taylor said that he wanted to meet you but you rejected him?" Quincy called him about this matter. The man Taylor had sent to Keyshire Property didn't see Thomas at all, so Taylor had no choice but to tell Quincy to reach out to Thomas and arrange a meeting between them.

Taylor was currently waiting in Quincy's office. Of course, he didn't come empty handed. He brought important information for Quincy.

The joint operation of the four families to capture Olivia had failed, enraging the six old monsters. Originally, they had planned to complete Olivia's sacrificial ceremony first and then deal with Thomas, but now they had changed their minds. They wanted to kill Thomas first and then capture Olivia. Tomorrow at noon, they would come looking for trouble with Thomas.

When Taylor found out, he couldn't sit still anymore. I have to reach an agreement with Thomas before the six old monsters attack him. He didn't care about Thomas' life or death; what he cared about was whether his family could escape from the Six Greatest Families.

"Well, you can say that." Thomas didn't plan to hide, so he told the truth.

"Come to my office now, Thomas. Taylor is waiting for you here. We'll talk when we meet. He wants to cooperate with you." At his words, Thomas was taken aback. Taylor wants to cooperate with me?

What kind of cooperation are we talking about?
