

Chapter 15 - A Moment in Destiny

"Um!" Without feeling embarrassed at all, Liam Brook's model-like handsome face was unreadable. He suddenly smiled. "Uh! Ms. Murray, what if you fail to complete the work on time and cause loss to the company?"

"I'm sorry! I will..." Sherry lowered her head. "I just received this document 15 minutes ago!"

"What I want is the fully translated document, not your excuses!" A cold voice suddenly stopped her sentence as her eyes slowly sank.

"Yes!" Sherry trembled as she subconsciously knew that she was holding a tray.

"Document, I need the document!" William Rowland suddenly stood up. His black suit highlighted his giant physical appearance. His arrogant and unruly expression along with his cold vibes, anyone around would tremble with fear. "If you can't translate this document in 10 minutes, you can pack your things and get out!"

"I..." Sherry bit her lips hard. "Yes!"

"It's obviously that someone is trying to frame her!" After Sherry left, Liam said arrogantly. "You just got this document 15 minutes ago, do you think you can finish on time?"

"What I want is a qualified secretary. If you can't be firm in the office then you're disqualified!" William said. "This company isn't a charity organization!"

"Ms. Murray did brew quite an extraordinary quality of coffee and tea. Perhaps, could you do me a favor?" Liam's eyes were shining as he stared at William.

"What are you trying to say?"

"Let her serve me!" Liam raised his eyebrows. "I believe that she cannot fully translate in 10 minutes!"

"She cannot!" William raised his eyebrows lightly. "Meeting!"

After William replied, he sullenly left.

He suddenly met Sherry at the doorstep.

"Mr. Rowland, this is the document you need!" Sherry quickly handed the printed document to William.

Liam was stunned as he was almost choked from the cup of tea. "Ms. Murray, you, you translate it?"

Sherry nodded as she remained calm.

Liam gazed at Sherry as he did not manage to see through her.

William narrowed his eyes and grabbed the document without saying anything. As he looked at it and walked towards the meeting office.

"Ms. Murray, you're amazing!" Liam gave her a thumbs up.

Sherry was relieved. Luckily, she saw the document before when William and Lara Rhodes were on business trip. She even tried to translate and saved it in the computer. She happened to find it and found it immediately.

"Sherry, when did you translate it?" Alice Ryan was stunned and came over to gossip with her.

"I translated this before, I just never think that I would save it!"

"Wow! I believe that Lara would be shocked!"

As everyone sat down, Lara walked over with a long face. "Sherry, why did you say that you did not translate when you have already translated it earlier on? Are you trying to joke with me?"

"Ms. Rhodes, I'm sorry. I don't know that it is the same document that I used to translate before." Sherry replied calmly.

Lara looked at her and replied sarcastically. "Mr. Rowland ask you to go to the meeting room!"

"Yes!" Sherry stood up and quickly moved to the meeting office.

"Mr. Rowland!" She stood near William and asked humbly. "Are you looking for me?"

"Sit down!" William did not even raise his head.

"This is not appropriate!" Did Sherry have any qualification to participate in the both companies' corporation meeting?

"Just sit when I ask you to sit!" William raised his head as he was hinting Sherry to sit beside him.

"Sit, Ms. Murray!" Liam came to pull the chair for her.

"Thank you!"

"Your welcome, Ms. Murray. I like those who are always prepared at work!" Liam complimented her. Even William was stunned because he did not show emotion expression at work. After this happened, Liam thought it was funny.

"Uh!" Sherry lowered her head and she sat silently beside William.

As soon as Lara brought the two officers from another company into the meeting room, she looked at Sherry. She instantly showed her hatred and jealousy.

"Don't feel proud about being prepared!" A cold voice came through like a basin of water splashing at Sherry. She was stunned as she did not understand what William was talking about.

"William! If she is not prepared, you would be framed to dead! I guess we should always be prepared in life. Ms. Murray, oh yes. Can I call you Sherry?" Liam was full of excitement.

"Up to Mr. Brooks!" What could she have said? Since his position was on top of her anyways.

"Sherry, I will call you by your first name next time. Let me tell you that any workplace is not going to be easy! It is like a battlefield!" How scary! Just be careful!"

"Are you done?" William furiously stopped Liam's talking.

Sherry took a deep breath and nodded.
