Chapter 5

Throw her out.

Mu Yanzhi did what he said.

Because Shen Suihuan ruined Jian Tong's birthday banquet, Mu Yanzhi asked someone to throw her out from the villa.

The weather in summer was uncertain. Soon, it was raining heavily.

In the heavy rain.

Shen Suihuan fell pathetically, and she sat outside the luxurious villa. She let the rain blur her sight.

After a while, her whole body was drenched, and the wound on her forehead worsened.

Blood flowed down from her lower jaw.

She was crying in the heavy rain.

"Mu Yanzhi..."

"It is also my birthday today. Why don't you remember that?"

The cold rain hit her face, and her wound hurt so much that she could not feel it anymore.

She stumbled in the storm, and her heart felt like it was sinking into the boundless darkness.

In this life...

She could no longer wait for the young lad who caught her in his arms.

She could never have him.

Jian Tong was enjoying everyone's care in the warm villa, celebrating her birthday happily.

As for Shen Suihuan...

She was wandering in the rain at night like a lost soul.

She didn't go to the hospital to treat her wound. Instead, she went back to Xiangshan Villa alone.

It was her birthday today, but no one celebrated it with her.

She wrapped herself in a quilt, and she cried sadly.

She fell unconscious from the pain, but she also woke up from the torment of pain.

How pathetic!

Shen Suihuan slept until the evening. She was then awakened by the urgent ringing of the doorbell.

She struggled to support her heavy head, and she walked out of the door weakly.

"Who..." Shen Suihuan's throat was extremely dry.

Outside the door.

The person standing outside was not a stranger.

It was the elegant Mrs. Jian, her biological mother. She was the one who took her back to the Jian family, but she never cared for Shen Suihuan as a mother because Shen Suihuan was deaf!

No. When Shen Suihuan first came back, Mrs. Jian loved her.

Later, things slowly changed, and Mrs. Jian felt ashamed of Shen Suihuan.

In the eyes of Mrs. Jian, her biological daughter, who had been stranded outside, was a deaf person, and Shen Suihuan would never be better than Jian Tong, who was smart and sensible.

Mrs. Jian pushed the door open, and she strode in.

She swung her hand, and she slapped Shen Suihuan.

Shen Suihuan was stunned.

Mrs. Jian scolded her, "Even if you and Jian Tong aren't sisters, don't you know that she's pregnant? You stole her fiancé, and you caused her to have an asthma attack. She was even sent to the hospital! How dare you smash her cake at the Mu family! Do you really want to bully her to death?"

Shen Suihuan was in a daze. She touched her burning cheek with her hand.

This was her biological mother.

She only saw how good Jian Tong was.

That was why she was so biased.

Who exactly was the bully?!

Neither Mrs. Jian nor Mu Yanzhi could see it!

Shen Suihuan was not furious. Instead, she chuckled, "Mrs. Jian, I think you have mistaken things. Your shameless daughter is with my husband. She would be punished severely if things were to be in ancient times. Is this really something you should be happy about? Aren't you ashamed at all?!"

Mrs. Jian was exasperated. She could not catch her breathe for a moment, and she glared at Shen Suihuan.

"If you hadn't stolen her fiancé, she would have been Mrs. Mu now."

Shen Suihuan sneered, "I am the daughter of the Jian family. The engagement between the Jian family and the Mu family has always belonged to Mu Yanzhi and me! Who is she? She is just a fake that doesn't even bear the Jian surname. Why does she deserve it now?"

Slap—

Mrs. Jian was furious, and she slapped Shen Suihuan again.

Blood trickled from the corner of Shen Suihuan's mouth as her mind buzzed.

She was already numb from the pain.

"I am the one who raised Jian Tong. Even if she is not my biological daughter, she is not a fake! I didn't expect that my biological daughter would be someone like you! I shouldn't have taken you back to the Jian family in the first place..."

"Mu Yanzhi loves Jian Tong. They now have their children. If you still have any conscience, don't drag them down, and you should let them go. After all, Jian Tong's pregnancy bump can't be hidden anymore."

Was her mother here to ask her to divorce? Was she asking her to make way for Jian Tong and the child in her belly?

What a joke.

She was no match for Jian Tong even though she was the biological daughter, and Jian Tong was the mistake.

"Why should I let them go? I will never let them go, even until I die. I will let the baby in Jian Tong's belly be their illegitimate child for the rest of their lives!"

Jian Tong, you've gone too far!

Mrs. Jian flew into a rage, and she wanted to strike again. However, she couldn't bring herself to do so when she saw the resemblance of Shen Suihuan with Old Master Jian.

Mrs. Jian was so angry that she slammed the door and left.

Shen Suihuan, who had struggled for so long, finally couldn't hold on anymore. She fell weakly to the ground.

She was too tired.

She lost consciousness and fainted.
