Chapter 101: Never Judge People by Their Appearance

"Some friends." Olive said faintly, would it surprise her if Olive told her that she had guested in this band for a while?

But she didn't say it in the end.

She was not a person who liked to talk about personal matters. What's more, she talked with the woman who was aimed at her everywhere, it was not good to talk too much.

Susie graduated in Art Major, she thought she was a half connoisseur, and she was picky. However, she was driven by criticism to find fault, she had to admit that the band Olive invited was by no means worse than the bands that often appeared in various concerts, even the first or second-tier bands were not as good as this band.

The notes flowing out of their hands, as if with the appeal of life, which let a group of people and others in the venue gather around them.

Especially the lead singer, whose voice was like the sounds of nature, it was pure and vacant and with a cool breath. The guitar in his hands was played fluently, as if it had a soul.

Suddenly she became interested in this boy, maybe because she heard Olive say that he was their friend. She was jealous and wanted to do something to destroy their relationship.

When the song ended, everyone present was impressed by their performance.

She wanted to say hello to that boy, but she was stopped by his aura that strangers were not allowed to get close to him. She didn't want to be laughed at by Olive, so she angrily took back the words that she was about to say and turned them into a prosaic word, "Well, that's OK."

Susie couldn't find any reason to dismiss them, she could only agree them to stay. She gave Olive the rest of the work, she still seemed a little reluctant.

She had to change her clothes and make a hairstyle. The friends of Ophelia were rich or noble, she would be a fool if she did not seize this rare opportunity to know more nobles.

"Sister Olive, Summer has a stomachache and is still in the bathroom, what shall I do?" Edgar wandered anxiously around the room.

Several others appeared calmer, sitting there, but their faces also looked worried.

"She was fine just now. Why did she have a stomachache?" Olive frowned.

Several people shook their heads.

Greg said, "Did she get sick from eating?"

Chloe said, "How can it be possible? Are you suspicious that the things in Olive's hotel are not clean? Besides, why are we all right after eating except her?"

"You're right." Greg was tangled. "But he's never been like this before. He's been in the bathroom for ten minutes and hasn't come out yet."

The bathroom was just in the lounge, Olive knocked at the door, "Summer, are you better?"

After a while, he covered her stomach, opened the door and came out with a pale face. "Don't worry, I just have diarrhea."

"Are you affected by the cold?" Olive touched his forehead, it was very cold.

"Something is wrong." she said in her heart.

"I don't know. Is it about to start?" Summer was weak without strength.

Mr. Geve approached her and said with smiling, "Olive, where is your boyfriend? Don't fool me perfunctorily."

Olive shook her cell phone, "Well, he just called me and said that there was a traffic jam on the road and he would be there in twenty minutes. Don't worry so much. In short, he won't run today, I must let you see him."

It seemed that if she didn't account for it today, these people really would not let her go.

It was not easy for her to get away by going to the backstage to see the preparations. Olive sighed softly, why did she feel deeply wronged? When she looked back, she saw that Susie was like a beautiful colourful butterfly, walking among the guests, talking and laughing freely. But Olive felt that she was the most suitable person to act as a Public Relation Practitioner, she could deal with different people freely. This was where Olive felt inferior to her.

Olive didn't really like to deal with strangers. If she didn't need to meet working requirements, she was unlikely to talk to strangers on her own initiative. Susie was natural and unrestrained, she always be prepared and had a reserve army at any time. But Olive still stubbornly believed that the person stepping on two boats would fall down someday.

Maybe it was because she was really not liberal enough.

The master of ceremonies was cleaning the microphone. She saw Edgar and they appear on the stage, they made an 'ok' gesture towards her.

She was not worried about their ability of changing according to the situation. But the Summer's situation, which made her feel a little worried. When she returned to the lounge again, the leftovers on the table had been taken away without knowing time.

Summer came out of the bathroom with somewhat weak, his face was pale, it seemed that there was no sign of improvement. He looked at her apologetically, "Sister Olive, I'm sorry that I have delayed your work."

"Don't worry, they can afford it. But you, you look so bad, I'll take you to the infirmary to check." She feared that he had an acute appendix or something and tried to suppress herself from thinking that way.

Summer waved his hand weakly, "No. Sister Olive, you're so busy, it's not good to delay your work any longer."

Xenia chuckled unceremoniously behind her, "Sister Olive, the name of the band is so weird, but I like it. The men are handsome, the woman is cool."

After a rush of frequent drums, Chloe adjusted the vertical microphone in the center of the stage to the right height. Her stage style was as beautiful and stand out as her, as if she was born to stand on the stage and attract much attention.

Olive stood in the crowd and thought quietly. Maybe, Chloe's choice was right, a few years' career as the wife of the young master made her no longer adapt to the dull work in the office. But in the world of music and stage, she seemed to be gifted. When she opened her mouth, the voice seemed to have the distinctive flavor and lasting appeal.

Olive had never heard her sing so carefully before, every time it ended with laughing and doing something for fun. Now it sounded like she was born to do this job.

Perhaps, she left Bruce, which was a harvest.

Mr. Geve smiled. "Women, they need to be loved dearly. We should give them a sense of security, then they will follow you with full of their heart. But, you can't bully Olive, if you dare to bully her, I dare to introduce her to other men."

Ivy smiled. "Do I dare to bully her? She is bullying me."

"That doesn't matter, I am bullied by my wife at home too." As soon as the voice fell, Mr. Geve's arm was pinched by his wife.

Mrs. Geve said, "What are you talking about? Don't scare them, you guys don't need to listen to this old man."

Mr. Geve laughed happily.

Ophelia had held Alan's arm and been close to them. The eyes of the inquiry stayed for a moment on Ivy. "Miss Steele, he must be your boyfriend?"

Ivy smiled, "Miss Meyer, hello. Mr. Hoyle, we meet again."

Olive felt that there was a sudden pressure in the air. The pressure came from Alan's cold eyes. She felt that the scalp was a bit cold, like the ice from the winter closed to her skin.

He didn't need to do this, he had a fiancée, why can't she have a boyfriend, although Ivy did pretend to be her boyfriend, sooner or later she would find one. Why did he keep staring at her, then if he still stared at her, she would dig his eyeballs out.

Of course, Olive only dared to think about it in her heart. It's impossible for her really to do this kind of cruel thing.

After a while, Ophelia asked again, "I don't know where Mr. Aldington works yet."

Olive said in her heart, you really didn't feel at ease, would you like to do a household survey to let him make his previous generations clear to you?

But Ivy was very polite, "I opened a small bar to scrape a living. If Miss Meyer is free, you could go there to visit."

"Ok. In Luo city, I really don't know where to play. I will go if I have the opportunity." Ophelia responded with great enthusiasm and then said, "Mr. Aldington and Miss Steele, please enjoy yourself. I will go over there with Alan to greet some friends, excuse me first."

Naturally, Olive would have liked them to leave quickly. The hypocritical smile on Ophelia's face really made the corners of her mouth exhaust.

Ophelia held intimately Alan arm in arm and turned around, "Alan, when Mr. Aldington marries Miss Steele, we have to pick a big gift for them. Thanks to Miss Steele for the party tonight, what gifts do you think is the best?"

The voice was not too loud or too low, she seemed to stick on Alan, the voice was just enough to make Olive hear clearly.

Alan said, "You girls are the best at choosing gifts. It's up to you."

The end of his eyebrows were covered with all the shine like snow and wind. Woman, if you dared marry another man, I would give you a big gift!

"I can see that they dote on you. Does it feel like returning to the forest?" Olive made fun of her.

"What? They are all my little brothers, and they are four or five years younger than me," she said.

Olive said with smile, "So what? Now it's popular to fall in love with younger boys."

Chole pressed her lips, she was moved when she was removing her makeup.

Yeah, it's true. Why should I give up the prosperity of a large forest and just hang on a tree? I believe I can find a better tree than Bruce.

Ivy watched the two women bickering with a smile. They all said that three women can make a show. But he thought that only two of them could make a wonderful show.

The clothing store brought the dress soon.

"Ivy, I think your cell phone is like a magic wand, you can give us anything we want." Chole said jokingly.

Ivy smiled, "I am glad you like it."

Olive urged Chole and said, "Open it and have a try."

Naturally, Olive saw his cold eyes. It was obvious that there were so many people in the banquet hall, she didn't know why she saw him as soon as she came in, she was so infatuated.

"Olive, would you like something to eat? I think you've been busy all day and you must have missed dinner." Ivy said carefully.

Unfortunately, Alan just heard all this.

Olive smiled lightly, "Well! You guys taste them, several dishes are really delicious."

They went to the buffet area, took the plates and picked up a few favorites, then they sat in an empty corner. Olive realized that she was really hungry at this moment, she didn't feel hungry when she didn't think it, she felt a little hungry when she thought she had missed the dinner.

She put the food to her mouth, she devoured ravenously.

Here were all her own close friends, she didn't pay so much attention to her image.

Ivy said with laughing, "You eat slowly, no one will rob your food."

Olive picked a piece and fed him, "Try this, it's very delicious."

Naturally, the look that she did deliberately was for Alan and Ophelia. If not, how could she dispel their doubts?

He just heard a lot of rumors about this band from the youngsters under the stage, but he did not expect that Olive's boyfriend was the boss of this bar, it seemed that this person will not be too bad.

"Thank for your compliment, Mr. Geve. I'm just a friend of them." Ivy smiled modestly.

When Bruce came, Mr. Geve was talking with people around him, he was busy dealing with it. Chloe stunned, then she returned to her indifferent expression.

It was this expression that made Bruce frowned with extreme displeasure.

"Mr. Lynn, what a coincidence." Olive stood in the middle of the two people, she can still remember that Bruce had pulled and slapped Chloe on the road. A newly divorced man and woman, whether he came up to them with a greeting or a bad word, she did not want Chloe to be laughed at in public and be hurt again.

Bruce lightly nodded to her, he looked at Chloe, "it's so coincident, you are here."

Chloe thought there were some special amorous feelings in Bruce's eyes, but now no matter which angle she watched his eyes, they were rotten peach bloom, she even felt him a little malicious.

"What a coincidence, Mr. Lynn, what can I do for you?" She smiled like greeting to a neighbor whom she had not seen for a long time.

In the extremely comfortable wool coat, his body temperature remained, it made Olive Steele feel very warm. "Are you not cold?"

"You don't seem to like this occasion." He actually saw that she was worried, but she refused to say. He also didn't ask much, he was afraid to touch sensitive some topics.

Ivy can feel that Alan was watching Olive with an unusual look.

"It's all tired here." Olive curved her lips hard and then lowered her hands. "Oh, there is no way, it's my work, you must confess."

Ophelia knew she couldn't deny it, so she chose her deliberately, just for letting her see the scene.

Fortunately, Ivy helped her a lot. Let her not be too embarrassed. His good news was a sadness for her.
