Chapter 121: Mommy, I Love You

She put the sleeping chihuahua on the foot beside the bed. Then she took off her coat and lay in bed, holding her daughter in her arms.

Her whole body was almost collapse. Until now she could relax. She wanted to sleep for a while, then she had to go to work. She didn't know why things suddenly got out of control.

She thought after that Christmas party they wouldn't see each other anymore. He would go back to his world, and she would live her own life. They wouldn't be related to each other.

But in the end, they were stuck to each other.

He even said, let her give him a baby.

A sudden thought occurred to her. If he knew Annie, would he be fighting for custody with her? Then what could she do? Her sleepiness was suddenly gone when this occurred to her.

Annie was woken up by the sound in the paper box. She rubbed her eyes and looked under the bed. "Wow, it's a chihuahua."

She even did not get her clothes on, quickly jumped out of bed and hugged it excitedly.

The chihuahua was obviously excited to see her.

Olive sat up. "Annie, put your clothes on first."

"Mommy, is this a gift from Santa Claus? "

Casper took an envelope from pocket and put it on the table with her head down. "It is all here."

Olive looked at the envelope, which was not thick at all. There wasn't too much money, but it was still a thing, which could turn people evil.

"Did she give you the flour, or you bought it yourself?" She asked.

"She gave it to me." Casper whispered.

"There were five people. Why you only drugged one?"

"The person asked me to drug them all, but I thought if five of them had diarrhea at the same time, things might be wrong and they would investigate. They might find out it was me who did this. But only one person had diarrhea, they wouldn't take it seriously. And they wouldn't find out there was something wrong with the food."

"You are smart enough, so you even took away the food scraps."

Casper nodded and he began to sweat on his forehead. "Miss Steele, I did not mean to hurt your friend, I just...just...I really need money, my mom is sick. And...I really need this job doctor, please do not fire me."

Olive patiently waited for her next words, she saw her take out a stack of photos from her bag and throw them to her. Olive just looked at one of them, and her face suddenly changed. "What do you want?"

That's all the innocent and lively photos of Annie in the kindergarten.

"I want nothing, I just want to remind Miss Steele that such a beautiful child must be well guarded. It would be a pity if she was abducted, sold or cheated by others. Ophelia smiled with unspeakable sinister.

Olive suddenly stood up, she put her hands on the table, and looked at the woman opposite her. "Miss Meyer, I also remind you that if there is anything wrong with my daughter, or my family and friends, I will let you lose Alan forever."

"How dare you threaten me?" Ophelia also stood up.

"Even rabbits can bite people. I'm a human, I just learned a little about how to threaten people from you, but I haven't been expert at it yet." Olive coldly took away the pictures on the table and went away.

In fact, what she feared most was that Annie was be found out. She was so young that she knew nothing about the world and did not understand the darkness of human life.

She did not know that Alan happened to meet Bruce at this moment.

The bruising on Bruce's face had not disappeared. When he met Alan, he wanted to hide from him.

However, he could not avoid it. He could only say hello to him with embarrassment. "Mr. Hoyle, nice to see you."

"Me, too." Alan looked at him indifferently. He really hit him cruelly, only three punches made a tall man's face swollen.

Chapter 124: Uncle, You Look So Handsome

After Dave left, Alan kept smiling foolishly in the office.

He still remembered the child clearly, her eyes were full of smartness, and she did not afraid to see strangers, she came to him and said, "Uncle, you look so handsome."

Alan suddenly ran to the bathroom in the lounge, he looked at himself in the mirror, and began to sigh, she must be his daughter, she knew that her father was handsome.

She's so small but had the ability to appreciate someone. However, she called him uncle.

Well, Olive, I'll keep this account in mind first, you'll see how I settle it with you, dishonest woman.

Last night, he was wondering that he wanted her to deliver a baby for him. Today, she suddenly gave him a daughter. Thank goodness! So, Olive, I will see how long you can cheat me.

Alan held back the impulse to find Olive, Before the result come out, he would tolerate to the end.

The next day, Olive came back from her morning shift and Annie was teasing her Chihuahua.

"Are you obedient today?"

The little girl did not raise her head, she kept on looking at the puppy, but she answered quickly, "Yes, today we did blood drawing, many children cried, I did not cry, the teacher also praised me."

"Blood drawing? For what?" she looked at Mother Steele confusedly.

Mother Steele said, "They had a physical examination. "

"Why you take me here?"She asked standing beside the car door.

Alan had went up a few steps on the stairs. He suddenly ran back to her and unexpectedly, he carried her up on his shoulder.

Olive screamed out reaching her fist smashing on his back, "What are you doing? Put me down."

He carried her to the third floor even without panting and his steps were stable. But her, her head were heading downwards breathing in cold wind making her lungs frozen.

"Alan you maniac! What trick are you playing this time?"She smashed him and kicked him.

However, her attacks were nothing for him. Instead, his slap on her hips made her feel crying hurt.

She wore thick clothes but did not help. He slapped hard and gave her a burning feeling.

Just next that, there was another slap.

Chapter 126: Alan, You Are Playing with Fire

It was a misty snowing day. People rarely treaded here and there were few cars passing here. There was also a lake nearby. The whole nature was kept in original.

Suddenly, she got a feeling of walking in the snow. However, when she ran to the first floor, she found that the door was locked. He was jailing her for sure.

She went back to the study room asking him for the key. He looked at her,"Are you going to confess your crime now?"

"Confess my ass. Am I not allowed to have a look at the snow view in the outside?"

"It's the same standing there."Alan pointed the window.

"It's no fun if I only look. I'd like to play with snow."She would like to make a huge snowman and write a few words on it.

"Your hand would be frostbitten."That was a good reason to refuse her.

Olive snorted, "You are afraid of me to escape, aren't you? I would just play in the yard and you can just watch me here. I can't race your car by my legs no matter what, isn't it?"

Alan touch his chin. He seemed considering the reliability of her words. Finally, he said, "Go ahead. Don't play for too long."

She suddenly seemed to have made a great decision, she bit her lip secretly.

Seeing that she was still silent, Alan stretched out his finger and flicked her forehead, "keep denying it, I will see how much longer you can hold on. Don't ask me to spare you later."

He spoke harshly, but found out the dry towel to dry her hair that was wetted by the snow.

"Take off your clothes."He said.

"Why?"

"It has the moisture, go upstairs and make do with it by putting on my clothes first."It seemed that it was time to add some of her clothes here.

She really went to look for it, picked a casual coat from the closet, put it on and swayed into his study like a clunky penguin.

"May I read your book?"Because it was a newly purchased house, there weren't many books here.

"Help yourself.Just remember the time I told you, before eight o'clock."Alan reminded her.

Chapter 128: The Testing Results

When Alan returned to the study, she had kept the same position that before he went downstairs, as if she knew nothing.

At this time, it was less than an hour before his deadline. Olive suddenly wanted to know if he had any evidence to win and if he would stick to the last second as he said or could he just let her leave.

But unexpectedly after he looked at her he suddenly said, "I'm hungry. Go down and get me something to eat."

Olive can't keep up with him because his emotion changed too quickly. He was so disappointed just now, but it seemed nothing had happened then. She couldn't know what he was thinking. She was so anxious. Her heart was like hanging in the middle of the sky. It could not enter the sky or fall to the ground but she just answered "fine".

It's very obedient.

In the Winter, it went dark very early. It was already gray outside. She took off her coat and put it on the sofa in the living room. Then she went into the kitchen.

The food in the fridge was still much after she causally cooked. When Dave came, he took a big bag of food and put it in the kitchen. It's so good to be a boss. As long as he said then the assistant will do all the thing for him.

However, if Alan had known that the result of the testing earlier, would he have the mood to ask people to prepare these?

But you could never guess what people was thinking. For example, at this moment, he had known the result, but he still asked her to cook, just as nothing had happened.

Chapter 129: Can You Be Reasonable?

Olive really turned around and put the knife on his neck, with the abusive words, "Do you believe that I'll kill you now?"

"I give you a chance now." He suddenly laughed, he looked incomprehensible. Even the skin that was already close to the blade also approached the blade a few more inches, the skin was almost against the blade.

Olive's hands trembled and she tried to calm down, "Don't think I dare not to do it."

"Then do it." He urged her to do.

Alan nut! Olive waved the knife but suddenly poised in the air. He was a wolf in sheep's clothing, she was a sheep in wolf's clothing, she threw the knife heavily on the worktop, "Do you want to eat or not? If you don't eat, the dishes will be cold, I won't heat them for you anymore."

"You are reluctant." He ignored her guilty roar and reached out to touch her face, which moved her.

Even though the result of paternity test was not what he wanted, he still didn't give up on her. But now he could do nothing about her, the evidence that was supposed to make her not escape turned mercilessly into a thorn stuck in his throat, unable to swallow and spit out. He was jealous of the man who made her willing to bear him a child.

"A life for a life. Even the children know this old saying, you think I'm an idiot?" Olive pushed him apart hard and walked to the restaurant in slightly unsteady footsteps.

Even though this man pushed her at every step, the soft place in her heart always reserved a corner for him.

Chapter 130: I Believe in My Intuition

She looked up slightly and saw his persistent but cold eyes, the depths of his eyes were full of her own shadow. When she looked at him, her eyes watered.

It was not his rudeness that made her heartache, but the courage she hated herself for lacking.

"Tell me, are you the girl? Are you?" He suddenly pinched her neck in the extreme joy, his eyes were very red, asked her fiercely.

Olive smelled the scent of his body, reached out and wanted to touch his hair. But he suddenly turned over, left her hand hang in the air and be at a loss.

"Get out, I don't want to see you again." He seemed to pretend not to see her, picking up the clothes on the floor and throwing them to her, then he put on his clothes. He left such an abrupt word and went upstairs without even giving her time to speak.

It was obvious that there was a heating in the room, but Olive suddenly had a feeling of cold hands and feet. The determination that she just decided to say everything was like being hit by a stick in the his abrupt attitude so that she couldn't regain her mind for a while.
