

Innocent Wife 15

Chapter 15

In fact, it is quite good to end a marriage without love. However, such kind of words can not be thrown to Chloe at this point. If there isn't any word to comfort her, how could her wound be sprinkled with salt again?

"Olive, if I really get divorced, you must take me in. You know my parents' home, and none of them will help me. As for my husband's family, they had long been anxious to drive me out of the house."

"Twerp, we are bestie. Who are you going to look for if you don't ask me for help?" It's hard for her to come round overnight. Olive's heart ached for her. How much bitterness she carries behind the extravagance must only be clear to herself.

"It's good to have you!" Chloe had tears in her eyes.

"Now you can have something to eat. It's not wise to abuse yourself. Eat something and have a good sleep. It's no use thinking too much about some things. You will cross the bridge when you get to it." Olive naturally persuaded her and pulled her up from the cold ground and helped her to sit on the bed.

Chloe had no objection. Olive asked Mary to bring some gruel. She went to the bathroom and twisted a hot towel to wipe her face. Then she watched Chloe eating, watched her fall asleep and tucked her quilt, covered the door, and left with a calm face.

In the twilight street, the north wind whistled and it was cold. Olive hugged her body for warmth.

At first, she didn't think about having words with Bruce. Although she and Chloe are close friends, she is not familiar with him. But when she saw the familiar car parked at the door of Jinsha Club, the man carefully guarded the famous model to get out of the car and they walked into the club hand in hand, the anger in her heart burst into flames.

Bruce, you are a real jerk. Just after you divorced your wife, you can have fun with other women.

Olive almost let loose a torrent of abuse. She tried to break in, but she was stopped by the security guard outside the door. "Miss, you can't go in."