The Innocent Wife of Scheming President

Chapter 191 A Prank at Midnight

There were loopholes in the man's words. If he was really Alan's enemy, he would only give Alan two ways, either to let him submit or to destroy him. Therefore, this man was not normal. She can't lose her sense, even if she was too anxious. She can't be controlled by them and became their chips to threaten Alan.

She needed to think carefully.

The man did not expect that she had no resistance or struggle, but suddenly gave him such a blow. He was so painful, and wanted to scold. His reputation was so destroyed. This woman was not like a little white rabbit, but was clearly a little wild cat.

But he didn't have time to care about himself. If the woman ran and hid, Alan would settle accounts with him. The man thought of this, endured the pain and quickly opened another elevator door, and rushed in painfully.

On the wall mirror, his face was twisted with pain. She was really cruel. It was right that woman was the most vicious.

Olive ran out of the hotel and hid on the other side of the wall. She didn't know where she can go. It was almost dawn. This was the only place where she knew Alan had been. Except waiting here, she didn't know where to find him.

The man was very strange. He ran after her and found her. He only looked at her, laughed and turned back to the hotel. He said something to the security guards in a low voice and then sat in the lobby and never came out again.

he was waiting for her to make a decision. He seemed to be talking to anyone with the phone call. It didn't look like he was giving orders, but he was laughing like a wily fox. He must want to do something.

speed, it was a troublesome thing. He was not a fool man. However, with Alan's madness, if he knew that his woman was waiting for him in the cold wind and cold rain, he would not have to wait for a U-turn at all. He would have turned around directly, and "Silly girl." Alan was heartbroken and remorseful. The woman's body in his arms was cold. How could she be so silly? With such a temperature, she would get a cold to stay outside one night.

Olive cried. Her running nose made his clothes dirty "Where did you go? Why do you come back now? Do you know I'm worried?"

"Honey, I'm sorry. Something happened temporarily, and the mobile phone was turned off. I promise, it will never happen again." Alan didn't want her to know what he was going through, and wanted to cheat her.

But Olive was not so easy to be fooled. Although she was cold, she could still think, "what is that matter? You have to be busy all night! And you even don't have time to reply a text message."

"It's so cold outside. Go in first. Why do you come here in the middle of the night? What can I do if something happens to you? When you get here, you should have a room to sleep but you just stand here foolishly. What if you have a cold?" Alan blamed her. He wanted to change the topic.

Olive was even more aggrieved. She waited anxiously all night, but he refused to tell her the truth. All of a sudden, she cried badly. In this silent street, Alan felt distressed.

"Well, darling, don't cry. Look at you. You're a mother. It's not good to cry like that." He wiped her tears, thinking what kind of panic she should have gone through. She came all the way in disorder, afraid that she would miss him. She just waited foolishly.

"If you think you can't defeat us, go and get a girlfriend seriously." Alan said this angrily. He remembered that he just saw the girl was frozen and didn't take care of her.

"It's easy to find a woman. As for a girlfriend, forget it. I haven't found my type." Kent was a little disdainful. He was used to the unrestrained days. If he got a woman to manage him or chatter in his ears, he would choose to die.

Olive looked at him with disdain. He was a playboy. However, it didn't seem to have much to do with her. She only wanted Alan to love her.

"Well, you always have a reason. Get some food now." Alan waved his hand impatiently. His girl must be hungry.

Kent was not happy, "Hey, I am also the boss of Longmen. When did I become a errand boy? The phone is clearly on your hand. You can called by yourself."

"Are you going or not?" Alan raised his fist.

"Well, well, you win. If you don't want me to be an eyesore, you could tell me directly. You find such a bad reason." Kent stepped back quickly, and then mumbled and left.

When the door closed, Olive was a little curious, "who is he?"

"A psychopath." Alan demoted his friend impolitely. He touched her face. It was cold, "you are cold all night, and you have to use hot water to take a bath otherwise it is easy to get sick. You wait, and I'll run the bath water."

After a while, the sound of water came from the bathroom.

Olive knew that he was scared by her. She could feel the nervous and frightened emotions when he held her outside the hotel. In fact, she didn't want to bring him any burden, but at that time, she was worried so that she rushed to see if he was OK.

"Well, your clothes are all wet. Go and change them, or you will catch a cold." She pushed him with a smile.

Alan turned around and moved a golden Phoebe table to the bedside, and then brought the food to the table. When the lids were lifted, the aromas overflowed.

"Eat and sleep. I'll take a shower."

"Well." Olive responded cleverly and gave him a smile.

It may be that she was too hungry. At the moment, Olive had no appetite for the food. Looking at Alan's concerned eyes, she could not say that she didn't want to eat. She was wrapped in the quilt and sat on the bed, showing only the head and hands.

Alan looked at her like a little mouse which was stealing food. She began to eat food. Alan couldn't help laughing. Seeing that he was in a bit of a mess, he turned and went into the bathroom.

But when he finished washing, he found that his girl had fallen asleep on the edge of the bed. Her body curled up and she arched the quilt into a hill. Only a black head was showed and her hair was not dry.

Kent didn't think it was serious. Anyway, he knew Alan very well, after being friends for many years. He didn't really want to blame him. He was just nervous about the woman. Heroes fell for beauties. But when Alan mentioned the embarrassing incident last night, he was awkward. However, he felt curious why Olive can react so quickly, "little sister-in-law, how did you know that I lied to you? "

Olive didn't have any expression on her face, because she didn't know how to face the man.

He was a friend of Alan. She should at least smile at him to show politeness. However, she can't when she remembering that the man played a wicked trick on her last night. She guessed from his words that he was a playboy who had many women. She did not like this kind of man. Moreover, she despised this kind of man. She hated promiscuous man.

She was in a dilemma. She did not know how to face the man. She replied to him without any expression, "very simple. If someone really want to do harm to him, he would not let him go because I submit. On the contrary, he may take me as a chip to control him to surrender."

Alan raised up his eyebrows with a smile. His eyes seemed to say: look, my girl was not so stupid as you.

Kent asked again, "then why don't you run away and hide?"

Olive's face turned red immediately. Seeing this, the driver who might have had no any thought about it now might some thoughts.

She didn't have much time to think about it and Alan's lips had come to her lips.

Then Alan pinched her red face, soft and tender and seductive, "I really want to eat you up right now. "

Looking at the enclosed back space, Olive suddenly thought of something, and then at his glittering eyes, which were in full flaming heat. She couldn't help but shiver, "Don't do anything crazy here. "

Alan had the intention to tease her, "Don't you think it's quite romantic, with the scenery along the way... "

Olive's whole body tensed and shivered inexplicably, looking at him pitifully, "Mr. Hoyle, let's do it after we get home, okay? "

She knew that it was something inevitable, so all she could do was to do it privately. She really didn't want to perform a live sex show in front of other people, although the driver could not see, but maybe he had already been there assuming. God, she really felt so ashamed.

Alan was waiting for her to say so, "Remember what you say now. There is no going back on your word. "

Olive opened the open top of the car, took off her shoes, stood on a chair, and poked out most of her body out of the car. The wind whistled in her ears like a knife, but she looked excited and shouted out, "Alan. I won't dislike you. "

Alan couldn't help but laugh out loud, following her and getting out on the roof of the car together, protecting her soft body in his arms. His warm lips rubbed against her by the neck and ears, "Girl, it's good to have you by my side. "

He knew that his heart would not be lonely again, the night would not be too long any more.

The first time he saw her, she was an uncommunicative person who was scanty of words and didn't like to talk with others, which was inconsistent with his memory of the young girl who had a lively character. At one point he wondered if he had mistaken her for someone else, but then realized that she was deliberately hiding her original nature, not wanting him to be Recognize.

Fortunately, he hadn't missed her, and had been lucky enough to see her playful side.

Olive leaned against him, and felt his broad chest and strong shoulders. The wind in the sun carried some coldness, but held tightly by him, she felt warm so much. She thought that it would be her good fortune to be able to lean on him like this for the rest of her life.

She slowly turned her body and hung her hands on his neck, biting her lip as if she wasn't quite sure, "Mr. Hoyle, we will stay like this forever together, right? " we will live like this forever. " Alan smiled and kissed her lips. Five years ago, he had been kept in the dark and didn't know what had happened clearly, but at this time, after knowing all the

"It is not that serious. It's not like you're in your advanced age, isn't it too early to be talking about this? Honestly, I'd like to see Annie grow up like a common child. With too much money and fame, she will be noticed by many people with bad intentions, and every day we have to guard against them. It's quite tiring to defend this and that. " This is what she really said, probably because she had experienced a lot and seen a lot, but her heart was still clear. For her, she just wanted enough money to live, a man who really loved her and their safety and health without disaster. She was not an ambitious woman, and probably, people's state of mind was really related to experience.

Alan knew what she was worried about, so he kissed her forehead and comforted, "Trust me, I will pave all the way for our child. "

He owed Olive and their daughter too much, and he just wanted to give them all the best in his world, loving them and caring for them.

Olive was going to say something, but when she saw his serious and determined look, the worries that she wanted to say were held back temporarily. At such a moment, it was not appropriate to say depressing words, so she only softly said, "OK. "

Back at the Jinjiang Phoenix Hotel, it was still early.

Alan saw the laptop connected to the power on the bed had not been yet turned off and had already entered the state of the screensaver, so he could imagine how anxious she was when leaving this room at that time. The feeling of being placed on her heart made him feel comfortable and happy.

Dropping his bags, he took her hand and sat down on the edge of the bed, "Are you tired? "

Olive laughed, "It's just a trip that took a few hours, not tiring at all, but I'm sure you haven't had a good sleep in the past few days. You have dark circles under your eyes. There are still two hours before the banquet at 7 o'clock. You can take a nap. "

After typing a few words, Google quickly showed the results of kinds of tie styles, some with detailed illustrations. Since Olive was a child, she had an excellent memory, she chose one of them. She remembered the pictures and texts, and she quickly mastered the essentials. Then Olive helped Alan put on a tie.

The result of the first trial was very successful. Alan was very satisfied with her dexterity and cleverness, and kissed on Olive's face, "award you."

Even if she dressed Alan as a fool, he wouldn't mind as long as she didn't dislike it.

Olive smiled, feeling quite fulfilled, ticked her finger and raised her eyebrows, "Mr. Hoyle, can we leave now?"

"How do I think there is one thing missing." Alan glanced Olive's long fingers deeply which was without any decoration.

"What's that?" Olive wondered, she didn't think that anything was missing between him and her.

Alan smiled, "I'll tell you later."

"To be a mystery?" Olive whispered, despising him, but she didn't think about this more. When Alan wanted to tell her, he would naturally talk about it.

Hearing this, the people next to them laughed uncontrollably.

"Let me go," Olive said indifferently. Did he think that she was a seventeen or eighty-year-old girl who was not experienced the complicated world? And a few words could fool her?

"What if I don't let you go? Do you want to call someone to help you?" Qin Ling smiled, he blinked and tried to touch Olive's face.

Olive was so angry, damn it, she hadn't scold someone for a long time, and Qin Ling even dared to feel her up. She had warned him many times and he still didn't stop. Okay, fine, then he can't blame her. Olive picked up the plate on the table and snapped it on Qin Ling's face, someone were startled and screamed next to them, and immediately their scream spread to the whole audience.
