

Innocent Wife 23.2

Chapter 23

Sabrina was so angry that she pushed Susie, "You have eyes, right? But I think they're on the top of your head. Otherwise, how can you randomly thrust into others?"

Susie was unwilling to show her weakness, "What do you think you are? You can just flatter her when she is promoted. Everyone knows that the reason why she can become assistant president is that she is good at pleasing president. The way she resigned is just to have a meal with the president. Who knows if there are other sordid things she has done privately?"

Olive grabbed the angry Sabrina and smiled softly, "Assistant Maltz, if you have the strength to shout here, it will be better for you to think about how to snatch the president from me, or how to clean me out. If you have the ability to obstruct my job hunting outside, you should think about that I will turn around and return back."

Susie changed her face for a while, but recovered quickly, "You don't make an unfounded attack upon me here."

Looking at her guilty expression, Olive was sure that she had interfered her job hunting. Then Olive thought of one saying that "Cleverness may overreach itself".

"You clearly know whether I have mistaken you or not. But on such a cold day, assistant Maltz wears such cool clothes. Be careful not to catch cold."

There was a lot of laughter all around, and Olive left with a light smile.

However, a good lunch, was destroyed by Susie. Olive's clothes were stained with a large amount of oil, which could not be wiped off. Olive had to call Chloe and ask her to send a coat.

The work Alan ordered needed to be finished in a short time. But the work was too much and many of the original data needed to be looked up from the reference room. After that, the data needed to be fed into the computer. Olive felt that she had become a data operator input, with her fingers constantly running on the keyboard at high speed.

Even if she worked so efficiently, Olive still hadn't finished half of the work until the end of work time. Olive sighed that the work overtime was unavoidable tonight.

her and said, "When will you get home? Chloe's Mommy has cooked a table of delicious food for you to was very good. Chloe's parents had known that she had you

the beauty, Chloe asked you whether you work overtime or have stretched out, and sighed, "I want to have a date, but I and coming out. When he heard this, he raised the corner of his lips, and then her eyes cooled down. Date? Who was little restlessly, put his suit in his arms and strode away.

his figure and was stunned. He must have heard what she said just now. Then she shrugged her shoulders, spat out her tongue slightly and made a was not afraid of him, but she would involuntarily become cautious.

in winter, colleagues would not work too late.

there were countless help being frightened when all were room to refresh herself with a cup of coffee. Sabrina knew that she had to work late. So she bought her a box lunch and prepared some snacks for her after work. At this time, she was eating the snacks made a living depending on the salary. So she had no choice but to do her standing at her desk. She couldn't help but be he get

He asked indifferently, looking through the information on her desk at will.

asking as if he didn't know, Olive felt a little angry. She was not a Superman and such a large workload wouldn't be finished in a short time.