Chapter 271 A Good Act Will Be Well Rewarded

The shout shook the two old persons and didn't respond for half a day, also making it seem like Olive tripped over something and almost fell over.

Finally, it was Olive's father who opened his mouth, "Mr. Alan, although you are Annie's father, we still have to think about whether you can give Olive happiness."

Alan Hoyle smiled, "It's okay, I'm willing to wait as long as it takes. "

"Olive, come here quickly. " Olive's mother waved her hand towards her daughter.

Olive obediently went to her mother's side and quietly raised an eyebrow at Alan, as if to say, "See? I told you my parents are not so easy to accept you, you just have to keep on trying. "

Alan smiled calmly.

Olive's mother looked at her daughter in detail, including her every tiny eye contact with Alan, and sighed softly in her heart. In the past, she was asked to go on a blind date to find a suitable man to marry her, she refused firmly, which made Olive's parents so anxious from the bottom of their hearts, really afraid that she would be alone all her life. And now they know that their daughter had had a man in her heart and would only live for him.

But the social levels of their two families really have great differences and distance. His family was so rich and noble, and Olive's parents were worried that Olive couldn't have any position in his home. When they heard him talk about the past yesterday, their mood was like riding a roller coaster.

They did not doubt that the man truly loved their daughter, but the future was hard to say. The different social levels were always an unstable factors. And Chloe and her husband were a living example. And as for Olive and Alan, one was in the sickbed and one was taking care of Annie, both of them unable to sleep at night.

"When I once imagine what Annie would have to be educated by them if she lives in such a family in the future, I feel sad, my poor granddaughter." As if she had made up some idea, there was a firmness on Mrs. Steele's expression.

"No, Annie is the child of our Steele family and she can't go to the Hoyle family. Anyway, Mrs. Hoyle prefers sons over daughters. She does not like granddaughters at all, so Annie does not have such a grandma, Annie's grandma it's me, only me." Mrs. Steele continued.

"Okay, don't think about this matter, otherwise, you will headache." Mr. Steele patted his wife's hand and comforted her, "Perhaps, we should believe that man, with his current ability, he can protect Olive and Annie well."

"If he can, why would Olive be in the detention center? I don't know what will happen in the future." Mrs. Steele was displeased.

"Isn't this all right? Just trust them, they can deal with this matter well. You know Olive's personality. If she decides something, no one can change her decision. She has fallen in love with this man and haven't given up for so many years. Even if there is someone around here who is good to her, she pretended that she didn't know that. Besides, now that this man is here, Olive can't put it down."

The couple sighed deeply.

There were so many things to digest overnight.

Olive pushed open the door of the ward where Norton Geve was staying, and at a glance, she saw the three men inside playing cards around a table happily.

Chapter 273: Give Her Shares

Because Norton Geve was suffering from illness, when he played cards with them for a while, even though he wanted to show his optimism, he was still a little tired. Olive quickly helped him to lie down and rest on the bed.

Norton Geve would vomit blood in the middle of the night, vomit what he had eaten, and he can hardly walk when he was in pain, and morphine didn't work for him anymore. The pleural effusion was very serious, and the internal organs were so compressed that it could not function normally. This time, his spirit improved because the doctor took away a few kilograms of effusion from his body.

Norton Geve was anxious when he was living in the ward every day. He had a son, but his son was a playboy. He didn't dare to give birth to a daughter at the time. This would be a long time for staying on the bed, except for his wife, and there's only a nanny.

Was it because he did something bad that he would suffer this?

When people got old, they began to believe in the retribution of karma.

The son called from abroad and clamored to come back, he was crying bitterly, repented of his mistakes, and said that he would serve him in front of his hospital bed.

However, the matter of his son's confession was not uncommon before, and it didn't take long for him to return to the old manner. He really couldn't believe his son again.

It's not that he didn't want his son to come back, and his wife misses him very much, but Norton Geve was afraid that his son would be the same when he came back. His wife was soft-hearted and can't control him even if she wanted to.

"Fine." Olive Steele touched the back of her head, she was not afraid of him, a scarecrow.

"Okay, don't change the topic." Norton Geve back to the main topic, "Girl, why do I give you these, naturally, I have some reasons. I don't know how long I can survive. In this ward, no one can walk out healthfully. Although the treatment can delay my condition and make me live a few more days, I can't escape when the day comes."

Lory Ted stood aside, secretly wiping tears.

"Uncle, stoop, auntie is crying because of your words." Olive handed over the tissue, not knowing how to comfort her.

"Yeah, your aunt is most worried about me. As you all know, I have a bad son. I am afraid that if I die, he will come back and focus on the company. I will transfer all my remaining shares to your aunt, but your aunt has been a housewife for a lifetime and does not understand hotel management. I would like to ask you to help your aunt guard the Angel. This 10% of the shares are regarded as remuneration."

"But I'm not good at this too, so you can rest assured? Besides, the reward is a bit too high, right." Olive was surprised.

"Isn't there an expert behind you? He is an elite." Norton smiled at Alan Hoyle meaningfully.

Alan Hoyle cursed secretly, there was no free lunch in the world, this scheming guy, even trapped him, "You are not afraid that I will swallow your hotel?"

Norton said with confidence, "If you do have this thought, when you first bought Heng Du, you wouldn't pay double the price."

Olive looked at him, raising an eyebrow. "Do you want to go up with me? My Dad said he got me some delicious food."

Alan glanced up the stairs through the window, muttering. "Do you think Dad would throw me out the window if I followed you up?"

"It's quite possible." Olive looked very serious, saying.

"To get a wife, if Dad wants to throw me away, throw me away. If Dad throws me, I'll get up and go back." Alan said these words without hesitation, following her out of the car.

"Shameless." Olive responded to him like this.

Alan touched his nose, smiled, and followed her, while he thought that being shameless was also a way to woo her.

Olive didn't expect to see Aunt Qi and Qi Rui waiting for an elevator, while there were some unfamiliar residents in the corridor.

Qi Rui looked at her with disdain, and Olive didn't know why, but what Aunt Qi said reminded her. Aunt Qi seemed to look distressed, saying. "Olive, you're a woman, so why don't you care what people say about you?"

"Mom, why do you talk to such a vain woman? It's disgusting. As she was another man's mistress, she was shameless, and she had no morals." Qi Rui looked nauseated, while his old manners were absent.

She had seen many gossips, but she had never seen a man with such a mean mouth.

Alan had buried his head in her neck. "I'm your man, so if anyone says anything bad about my woman, I should teach him a lesson."

"I suppose there are a lot of people here who insult me, so are you going to beat them one by one?" Olive said with a smile. In fact, she didn't care about this gossip, but her parents had many acquaintances in the neighborhood, so it must have caused them a lot of trouble, and she felt very guilty.

"In the future, if I meet a man who liked to talk nonsense, I'll hit him." Alan snorted coldly, and he felt that it was he who deserved to be beaten, for not protecting her.

Olive glared at him. "If you fight again, I won't bring you home."

Alan said with a smile. "It doesn't matter, as I'll come to your house by myself. Anyway, I already know where it is."

Well, there's nothing she could do about him.

This man was just awesome.

When Olive opened the door, the three people sitting in the living room looked up at her.

"Darling, you're back at last." Chloe ran over to Olive with her arms outstretched, but when Chloe saw the man behind Olive, her smile looked stiff. "Why are you here?"

"Dad, don't mention the old history."

Her father drank too much because though he could still talk, he was tongue-tied. Olive Steele was going to stop him from drinking again, but the old man of hers glared at her slightly, "Why not? It's nothing ashamed. Besides, this man can learn how to value you after he knows all your tough times. "

"Don't Olive. I'm willing to listen." Alan Hoyle needed to learn her history from the closet person of hers.

Chloe Malan saw Olive was almost done eating, and she pulled her up, "Just let them drink. He's not going to eat your Alan alive. Come with me, we need to talk."

Olive was dragged to the bedroom. The same second the door was closed, Olive saw Chloe pounced, so she dodged to the other side of the bed in a hurry.

"I told you almost everything you wanted to know, what else do you want to talk with me?" Olive asked.

"You tell me." Chloe smirked.

"Well, I don't know." Olive was playing dumb.

"You don't know? Olive Steele! If I didn't see the news online, you would never tell me your little secret!"

Thinking of Yang Yu, Chloe Malan was upset.

She was drinking with Ivy Aldington yesterday, but how did she end up leaving alone? Let alone the chances that kid met her on the street.

That stupid, lying kid.

He claimed himself not interested in elder women but turned out to be a sneaky pervert. For that, Chloe did not feel eased even after slapping on his face. She crushed everything in his room and then cursed the hell of him before leaving confusedly.

As Chloe was lost in her thoughts, both her and Olive heard the loud sound of the bottle fell. Olive Steele jumped to her feet to the living room and Chloe followed her out.

Outside of the bedroom, two men now were both drunk, Olive's father stammered, "A...Alan...Hoyle, I, I'm warning y, you. Don't you ever...um...ever betray my Olive."

"She's my girl...I will never... betray her..."

"Olive's my girl!" Her father glared at him as if Alan was going to steal his ownership.

Seeing this, Chloe stuck her head out of Olive's shoulder, "People said father and daughter were lovers in their past lives, and they were

Olive Steele thought for a while and said: "He's the father of my child." Then she went out and left the

What kind of rumor would be spread tomorrow?

The good one might be the reunion of two separated lovers, while it also might be that she was deliberately wanting to get into a rich family.

Back at home, Olive gave the herb to her mother who then went to the bedroom to take care of her husband with a cup of warm water and a box of the herb.

Olive went to her bedroom and shook Alan Hoyle to wake up. He then looked at her with sleepy eyes,
"Honey."

"Are you really drunk or not?" She was surprised that he still could recognize her.

She could smell the alcohol from Alan's mouth and wanted to throw him into the bathroom, but he might be too drunk for a bath.

"I'm not drunk." He murmured.

Olive shook him vigorously, "Come on, eat this."

Alan Hoyle gave her no reaction.

Reluctantly, she had to pinch his nose so that Alan would open his mouth to breathe, and she then sent those pills that made of herbs quickly. She did not intend to feed him water, because based on his situation, it was impossible to do that.

Olive's mother was worried about her daughter, "Can't you go tomorrow?"

Olive Steele thought for a while and said, "Mr. Geve just gave me 10% of the shares today."

As soon as this word came out, the two of them were stunned.

Chloe Malan exclaimed, "Gosh! My dear, you are a rich woman now! Buy me a Prada!"

While Olive's mother frowned, "Why did he give you so many shares for no reason? "

She was afraid that there were traps or hidden stories. For her entire life, she and her husband were sincere. They did not seek for wealth but the peace of their children and grandchildren.

Olive explained the matter briefly, which finally convinced her.

"Go then, but be careful and drive safe."

Olive hugged her mother, "I will come back for dinner tonight."

Chloe Malan threatened, "If you don't, we'll throw the drunk in your room."

"If you're able to lift him, be my guest, girl." Olive laughed.
