

Innocent Wife 31

The Innocent Wife of Scheming President

Chapter 31: A Stingy Man

Sandy was an uncommon humble one in the office. Olive would not refuse anyone who asked her for help even though that was not Sandy asking. Some workplace rules must be learned anyway. Olive would keep a smile on her face even though it was the most hateful person.

Olive walked into Alan's office with a cup of coffee in her hand. He was reading the documents on his desk. He asked lightly when he saw her coming in, "Are you recovered?"

Olive bent her body a little and put the coffee cup on the desk. Somehow, she said daringly without a second thought, "I'm good now. Is Mr. Hoyle going to have a check on me?"

She was frightened by her words, too.

Alan looked at her in silent. Olive was a little embarrassed. She felt somehow that there was some other profound meaning in his sight but it was also quiet like an old well. His deep and serene eyes seemed like taking away her soul. She was bashful and said, "Mr. Hoyle, pardon me if there is nothing else."

He suddenly put down the documents in his hand, raised up and crossed the desk then approached her. Olive was trembled and took a step back in spite of herself, "What are you going to do?"

"You asked me to check your body, didn't you?" Alan lifted Olive's chin and said with a playful and frivolous joking tone.

The soft feeling made his finger becoming sensitive singularly.

Olive put her hands in front of her chest resisting. She did not dare to look his eyes, "I was just joking."

"But I don't like jokes. What if I would like to seem it a truth?" His breath was close to her face.

she could not anymore. There was a wall behind her.

sides of her forming a locking circle. The space in the circle was heart was beating fast, "Don't do anything unruly. I will shout for help if you don't let go me."

his head on her shoulder and said,

Hum?

did not

he let go her, raised his indifferent appearance and got could you be stingier? How could you make a joke on this? If there was someone getting in suddenly and saw them doing that then sprayed the rumor. She she was very angry. She settled her you afraid of

used to dare riding on his neck and stripping his hair. But now, she could only answer like this," A boss is always prestigious in front of an employee. My livelihood is holding in chin. He suddenly turned the screen to the side towards her," Have a look. What's wrong with the computer in that made Olive reacting slower. What was important was, it had to be an interrogative sentence but he said it like a declarative sentence and there was an ambiguity in his expression since he just molested her.

coffee to him when she just arrive in the office. How could she know since she was not able to turn on her computer.

"Is there anything to get close too much. This man was dangerous. It was better to keep a distance. She saw unreadable codes were rotating on the whole screen like a crowd of tadpoles were swimming and was an half idiot on computers. She could do some basic works with office software but if