

Innocent Wife 6

Chapter 6

"Never mind." The Man's voice was as light as water. Even though he was so cold that made people feel never to contact.

He did not know her.

Olive did not feel surprised, but felt boundless loss flowing in the body.

The lift went up and the feeling of weightlessness drowned her. She stood beside him and watched him quietly.

Five years' long time seemed to have left no traces of time on him. Only the resolute face became more mature. His eyes became more and more deep.

How could he be here? Shouldn't he be thousands of miles away in Jiangcheng? He was there in front of her which made her did not know whether it would be sad or happy to meet him.

She wanted to say hello to him. She spoke to her throat several times, but when she came into contact with the stranger in his eyes, she had no courage to make a sound.

What could she say to him? Perhaps he had already forgotten her.

It's too late to organize the language. Her floor had arrived. She stepped out. She just took two steps then couldn't help looking back. He slowly closed the elevator door. The man's deep eyes were looking ahead. The eyes seemed to hit her face, but it was too late to implement the feeling that he disappeared.

It's like a dream.

As soon as she entered the office, Sabrina Parker came over and said, "Olive, I called you several times yesterday. Why didn't you answer it? It's killing me. I heard that Susie Maltz, the fox, sent you alone to talk about the contract with Hudson. I was so worried. Hudson's reputation is too bad. He's a famous lewd. Is anything happened to you?"

Olive leaned her body on the back of the chair. She was absent-minded, "No."

But the contract went nothing.

"No, just fine." Sabrina patted her chest and breathed a long sigh of relief, but when she saw her face was not right, she asked uncertainly, "Is it really okay? You seem to worry about something."

"It's all right. Maybe I slept too late yesterday and didn't have a good rest." Olive understated, but her heart was in a mess. Alan Hoyle, how could he appear in Luo city?
