

Chapter 10 Car Accident

Erik thought,Lavinia has paid a lot for this family,and now he has to pay for her happiness.Anyway,he would help his sister.

It was late at night,and Lavinia sat on Chris's bed wrapped in a quilt.

There wasn't any perfect skin on her body.

Chris was harder than every time before.

Lavinia begged Chris several times to stop.

But whenever she looked at Chris with wet eyes,Chris just kept on squeezing Lavinia in the next round.

"I haven't slept yet.I didn't cum.Do I need to please you again?"

Chris was the king of the villa in the northern suburbs,and Lavinia was the canary he raised in it.When he wanted to tease,he would let the canary out.When he didn't want to,she should wait quietly and be a qualified pet companion.

Lavinia listened to Chris and shook her head again and again."Chris,I have to go to work tomorrow.Next time,can you not leave so many marks on me?"

Neck and thighs,calves and arms.

Chris has never let go of any place where he could leave the"mark of love"on her body.His ambition was to leave his mark on Lavinia,which was the highest praise for women.In fact,he announced to the whole world that this woman was his,and even if he was tired of playing,no one else would get their hands on her.

When a woman says she wants to go to work, she just doesn't get enough money, but Chris promised her that she would have enough food and clothing. Why does she want to talk about going to work now?

"The black card I gave you is not enough for you, huh?"

Hearing Lavinia suddenly say that she will go to work tomorrow, Chris suddenly shook off his drowsiness.

Why didn't he know that his canary has always been looking for freedom?

Chris climbed to Lavinia's waist with his dry and warm hands, and pinched her waist, causing Lavinia to burst into tears.

And he, the more he thought about it, the angrier he got. His Lavinia, also tried to climb to other people's bed?

"The sales department? Which man do you want to be sent to by Jack?"

Lavinia sort of understood what Chris said.

"Chris, what I need is a job that can reflect my personal ability and realize the value of my life, not the pet around you..."

Lavinia argued, but she didn't know that the result of arguing was that Chris pressed her against the bed, her obstruction was torn open, and her body was covered with bruises all over.

Those who never know what it means to love each other, how can they have a good look at Lavinia after being defied?

"You really want to go out to work? It is not impossible."

Chris's anger suddenly went out. Instead, his evil smile came up.

Lavinia just wanted to ask what it was, when Chris interrupted her and said it directly.

"Unless you please me, please me until I am satisfied."

His eyes looked up and down on Lavinia.

Her figure and appearance are the capital to please Chris, and she is also a woman that Chris rarely values. Chris wants Lavinia easily.

But now, what he wants is for Lavinia to take the initiative.

Lavinia was suddenly STUNNED.

She was undoubtedly happy to hear that she can work. Even if she pleased Chris in exchange, she felt no regrets, but what if Chris reneged?

Chris didn't give Lavinia a chance to choose. On the count of three, Lavinia didn't make a choice. He got up directly from the bed, removed the bath towel from Lavinia and wrapped it around him.

Immediately, he left Lavinia's room.

When Lavinia was still reacting, Chris closed the deal.

Just now, she clearly wanted to keep Chris. Who knew that this man changed his face faster than turning the pages of books, so Lavinia didn't know whether to keep Chris or take the initiative to catch up with him?

Lavinia stayed up all night. She couldn't figure out what Chris was thinking. She kept wondering if the man would do something to her if he woke up. She didn't react until she heard the rumbling sound of the sports car tubing downstairs. Chris should have gone to work.

Before that, the man had never said a word to her.

Lavinia got up and went downstairs, and the servant filed in and collected all the breakfast.

Lavinia thought Chris would make people cook breakfast and save some for her. As a result, the man not only didn't save it for her, but also specifically told the servant not to give Lavinia food.

"Auntie, is there anything to eat in the refrigerator?"

The housekeeper looked at Lavinia apologetically, and she kindly reminded her that her husband didn't give Lavinia food. Even if Lavinia looked pitiful, she didn't dare to take her husband's salary and disobeyed his wishes.

"I'm sorry to say, miss, that you can't eat anything at home."

Mister is not that kind of stingy person either. Only when he deals with Lavinia will he be like a mean man.

"However, your husband said that he prepared a big meal for you at the company, so that you can pick it up at the company at nine o'clock. If this time passes, you will be at your own risk."

Even though the housekeeper tactfully and implicitly modified the tone of many men's words, Lavinia still recognized the danger.

Chris handled the day's work early in the office as the president of the company very fast. So that he could make time for the "surprise".

Chris looked at the time, and it was nine o'clock in five minutes, but there was no movement outside the door. The woman might be afraid of Chris's means, and even failed to lure people to the "big meal".

Nine o'clock.

The door of the president's office was still uninvited.

No one knocked at the door, and no one called to report to the front desk.

Chris finally couldn't help calling the woman first.

"Lavinia, have you gone to work?"

Lavinia took the phone in a hurry, but her voice was weak.

"Chris, I'm sorry. There was a car accident on the road just now. I just bandaged the wound. Please don't blame me."

Lavinia was in a panic.

She's almost at the door of Chris's company, and she got hit by a car. Even God thinks Lavinia should offend Chris all over her life... Funny, isn't it.

Chris's words, which he wanted to use for criticizing, were all left in his throat at the moment, and they were replaced by worries that even he never thought about.

"What's going on, which hospital?"

Chris came to Lavinia immediately after Lavinia sent Chris the address.

This was a triple room, and the other two people have brackets on their feet.Only Lavinia was simply bandaged,without hurting bones.

"In order to escape the big meal I prepared for you,you would rather have an accident.OK,Lavinia,you're really good,aren't you?"

There were two people beside the bed,a man and a woman,both middle-aged.

When they saw that the girl who was sent to this hospital bed was actually a little girl,they felt that the little girl was lonely and pitiful.When Chris came in,he spoke maliciously to Lavinia,and they felt more sympathy for the little girl.