

Chapter 21 Remember your identity

People had already talked about Chris and Lavinia.

"Didn't Manager Chris never bring a female companion before? So who is this woman that Manager Chris allowed her to hold his hand?"

The woman questioned wanted to get close to Chris initially, but as soon as she approached, she was broken off by the people around Chris and pushed aside.

The humiliation had not been forgotten but made women's jealousy stronger.

She had been waiting and had always wanted to know who the woman will be. Finally, she figured it out today. She had to admit that Chris's girlfriend was beautiful. But she was angry anyway. Why was it this girl, not herself?

"What's wrong with this? They are both single—some so many women who wanted to have sex with this guy. But we have to admit that this woman is better than us. We can never get that."

"But who is she? I know everyone except this woman. Where did Manager Chris find her?"

"How do I know. I have never heard that Chris had a girlfriend before."

The news that Chris had a girlfriend directly lit up the whole party.

"Let's send someone to find out who this woman is later."

Lavinia didn't know what those women were up to. She was only responsible for being a good foil with Chris.

"Manager Chris! I have not seen you for a long time. I didn't expect you still look so young. Now there are very few outstanding young people like you."

Wherever Chris went, he must be the focus of the audience. So when those people looked at him, they also took a glance at Lavinia.

They guessed Lavinia's identity. But, of course, men would always do that.

"Manager Chris, who is she?"

There was a cigar between the fingers of the talking man. The smoke smell of the cigar was choking, but he didn't care about other people's feelings at all.

That's the power of money. This man had no shortage of projects and funds, and he had made his fortune by relying on his wife's family. But, until now, the company had been going well.

He had long disliked Chris. Why could Chris reach the peak that he could only get in decades at a young age? Why could Chris be the focus of the audience as long as there was Chris?

The woman Chris brought today was not prepared by The Konev Family, and this middle-aged man seemed to find a topic that could make Chris embarrassed.

"In the past,I only thought that Manager Chris's career was important,and you were not interested in women.Now I know that you like this kind of woman with big breasts and hips.By the way,there are several new women in our racing club.They are all in good shape and have a sweet voice.I can introduce them to Manager Chris sometimes."

The man smiled unabashedly,and the faces of the people around him were obscure.

"We are all friends.If you have any other beauties in the future,please let me know.Someone like you must have so many beauties."

The man was still talking with a cigar,and Lavinia had pinched her nails into the hand.

Only the pain could keep her awake,or Lavinia could not promise to listen to the man's insult and stand by Chris as if nothing had happened.

"It's better for Jarvis to communicate with us more about work.What you talk about is my private life."

Chris did not immediately express his dissatisfaction but told Jarvis that it would be nice to stop this matter.After all,everyone was not so familiar with each other at this party.

Javis thought that his words did hurt Chris,which excited him.

What Jarvis wanted was the attention of the whole audience.So even if Chris's private life was taken as an example,he felt it was worth it as long as others could notice Jarvis.

"When I came here today,your father was still telling me that the family had found a woman for you.So,I think,let's play with the women outside.Please don't take it seriously.If your future wife knows the existence of other women,as a man,it will be the most difficult to get along with in the future."

When Jarvis laughed,he just showed his teeth yellowed all year round because of smoke.He didn't tell a lie but just described what he knew to the people around him.The Konev Family did find several famous ladies in the big family for Chris to choose from,which showed that the family wanted Chirs to get married this year.

However,Chirs didn't know about that,and Lavinia had never heard of it at all.

"Jarvis,you are a man strategizing in the business.I didn't expect that you are so interested in other people's family affairs.Are you planning to work for women?"

Only women would care about the gossip all the time.Chris was trying to say that Jarvis's character was the same as the woman.

"No.I just want to care about the young people's love story."

Jarvis stopped talking.On the other hand,Lavinia's mood was not as good as Jarvis's.

She knew what she was after was with Chris, but after seeing Chris's kindness to her. She thought she was different from other women. At least until now, she could regard herself as falling in love with Chris.

Even if her identity was embarrassing, but she was okay with that.

Chris took her to their private cocktail party, letting her know how different she and Chris were.

Was this just a coincidence, or did Chris carefully arrange it?

Seeing Lavinia's pale face, Chris took her to a less crowded place until she breathed the fresh air outside, and her mood calmed down a little.

"Manager Chris, I didn't feel well, so I'll go back first."

Lavinia did not ask Chris's permission. After saying that, she left there directly.

Chris didn't stop her. For him, this cocktail party had other meanings. When he finished his work, he would go back to see her.

Lavinia took a taxi when she went out, and the supporting facilities around the winery were not wrong.

Outside the villa in the north suburb, Lavinia told the driver to stop while she walked a short way.

Just before she got home, a slender figure suddenly appeared in front of her.

Reward

10

Comments

5