

Chapter 31 Treason

Chris wouldn't admit that he was jealous, but shouldn't Lavinia explain that she had nothing to do with Evans?

"How dare you Smile, Lavinia. Men will get jealous too."

Chris's eyes crossed. He was stingy. It's just that Lavinia hasn't annoyed him yet.

"I just feel that I didn't know what it was like to like someone before. When I saw you, I realized that I crushed on someone. Even if I see you angry, I also feel that you are handsome."

Apple polisher-Lavinia did a great job. However, Chris immediately changed his attitude toward Lavinia.

"Although Evans had done a lot of things to hurt me when I was most frustrated and sad, it was he who encouraged me by my side that I could last until now. Therefore, there is no need to use power to oppress a person who has no ability. Don't you think so?"

There were some things in Lavinia's heart that she didn't want to tell Chris too clearly.

Only she knew how much Evans hated Chris and knew that Evans was always looking for something to retaliate against Chris. Once people were at the end of the road, they could do anything. Lavinia did this for Chris's sake.

"Alright. Anyway, that man is not as handsome as me, not as rich as me, and not as capable as I am. As long as your eyes are not blind, everyone knows how to choose."

Destroying Evans was a simple thing for Chris. Then, finally, he could do as Lavinia told him to do to make her happy.

Evans, who didn't even know he had offended himself, was quickly sent back to where he was kidnapped.

After he was drugged, he realized that he had stayed here all day.

Time passed, but the memory of this day seemed to have been hollowed out. He could not recall the people he met and the things that happened on this day.

"Master Evans, we have been good friends for so many days. You are reluctant to sell us this thing. We want to make this deal with you. Are you not going to consider it?"

Evans's mind was still blind. The harder he thought about who he had seen and what had happened before he fell into a coma, the more painful his brain became.

He slapped his brain hard twice, and people became much more rational in an instant.

Just when he didn't want to continue thinking, a phone number without comments came.

Evans answered the phone. That was the young man they had met several times in KTV.

For the sake of everyone's peers, Evans was not wrong to those people.

He regarded these people as friends and shared all the exciting things with these people.

They called each other brothers when they drank too much and almost didn't kill for an alliance. But, until now, he was glad that he didn't wholly relax his vigilance against this group of people.

"No,I have already said that The John Family would rather beg for food than sell our heirloom."

Evans's expression was substantial,and the other party had been tempted several times by adding money continuously,but they finally failed.

"Evans,why are you doing this?You don't even have any money,and you are heavily in debt.You only need to share the technology that is insignificant to you.I can give you whatever you want."

Evans had a crucial technical ratio map in his hand,which he didn't put on his body,but as long as he closes his eyes,that map and all the data on it would fall into his mind.

But this picture was used by The John Family to save his life.They were also people who came down from the business field.They were most humane and knew that this person was a treasure.When you had no use-value,it was nothing.

His drawings were treasures.Once the prizes were gone,there would be no people who surrounded him.

"We have discussed before that we can give you three million.As long as you promise,the money will become yours immediately.If you don't sell it,you can only continue to live your poor life,which is not decent at all and will be looked down upon forever."

"By the way,Master John,did you have fun with that woman last time?I have the whole video.Now I give you two choices. Option one, sell us technology directly and transfer patents. Two, to expose this exciting video. You use technology for your heroic posture."

Shameless!

Evans thought his occasional inferior means had been the limit, but he didn't expect anyone more shameless than him.

At this time, Evans realized that what they wanted was always his technology.

To get what they want, these people have been making a careful layout from the beginning.

Including that virgin, these were all the early investments of this group of people.

They wanted their interest now and exchanged his sex tapes with this woman for his tech.

Evans sighed feebly and didn't hang up after all. "Let me think about it."

The person on the other end of the phone laughed a little gloomy as if he had used a voice changer. However, that man was very clever and got what Evans wanted so that Evans didn't even have a chance to move.

Two days later, the news that Evans sold The John Group's core technology did a hot search. Lavinia could see them on each of the social media.

It's not how shameful it was to sell the core technology, but that this technology involved The John Group and the central government.

The John Group had been involved in the secret research, but there were not many steps involved initially, and they were not as famous as other enterprises.

The central government gave the John Group's core secrets. They only participated in the research, and the real developer was not anyone in The John Group.

So The John Family's crime could say that they sold the company's technology for money. In comparison, people could say that The John's Group has treason.