

Chapter 46 Jack for Help

"Tell me, who sent you? Jack?"

Chris could never be forgetting anything. Even if he couldn't remember Clara's name, he could at least match the number with the woman he has seen somewhere.

He stared at the woman in disgust and couldn't wait to throw her out of the window.

Clara was also frightened by Chris's actions.

Didn't Chris like the beauty? He had already got together with Lavinia. And now, she took the initiative to seduce Chris. Why didn't she?

If Clara had known that she would be humiliated like this, she would never come again.

Her proud figure, speech, and education were worthless to men.

Clara thought if the man didn't like her, he would just ask her to leave secretly.

However, she miscalculated the man's brutality. She didn't expect him to let the bodyguard come indirectly, throwing her naked and feathered in her private parts into the secretary's office and letting more than ten men and women see her body.

Clara struggled to leave. Every time she moved, the bodyguard immediately stopped her. After several times, Clara never dared to move again.

"Don't you want to say or dare not? OK, call Jack, and I'll see what tricks he wants to play."

Chris asked his assistant to bring Jack over. Because Clara's body was too hot-eyed, the guard took a curtain cloth and threw it on Clara. But, unfortunately, the woman in the curtain cloth had become a clown in everyone's eyes.

Clara was in a panic. She had told Jack this idea, but Jack tried to send the beautiful young women from the company to Chris the other day, but they failed. Jack said that after trying so many times, Chris ignored them. Jack must be very dissatisfied with their practice and told Clara to forget it.

Clara ostensibly promised Jack not to plan this and to think of a new way. As a result, she quietly sent herself to Chris's bed.

Before Christ came, she was lying in Chris's bed. She thought that when Chris saw herself, he would not be able to resist sleeping with her.

Then she would be Chris's woman, and there would be no need for work. Clara would have unlimited money every day and would live as a wealthy wife from now on.

She even decided the things that she would like to ask Chris to buy for her. But she was soon awake by a slap.

She suddenly realized that Lavinia might be an accident sent by Jack. A man like Chris could be conquered so easily.

But when Clara realized that, it's too late. She would never have the chance to live in the Y city anymore. The only thing she could do was find a small town and live the rest of her life secretly.

"No need. It is my wishful thinking to seduce Manager Chris. I have nothing to do with other people. Please forgive me."

Clara took a deep breath and admitted her behavior.

"Forgive you? Oh! Throw this woman out."

Not only did Chris think so, but more than a dozen people in the secretary's office agreed that Clara's valuation of himself was a bit inflated. Moreover, if it weren't for this woman, they wouldn't have been scolded by their boss and lost their job.

Everyone in the secretary's office had thought it over. If Chris didn't say anything, they also wanted to find a way to punish this woman. On Manager Chris's orders, Clara was quickly thrown out. Those people threw her out and took many photos of Clara naked. Clara failed to hook up with Manager Chris but was thrown out of the company naked. This gossip only spread in the circle of friends and internal groups of employees at first. Then it became the news on every social media.

As long as Lavinia slept, her mobile phone would be set to vibrate mode. When she woke up again, her mobile phone was full of missed calls and messages.

She hasn't gone out recently, she has been raising her body in the villa, and she hasn't even had contact with her classmates at school. What would be so many phone calls and messages?

When she saw that pile of information, she didn't dare to open it.

After the mobile phone was unlocked, WeChat was stuck several times. Finally, after logging in again, the greeting from 999+ made Lavinia realize that she would only miss more if she didn't read these messages.

The above was full of gossip about Chris shared by WeChat friends, asking Lavinia what she planned. Some people asked Lavinia if this was true after reading it. Others asked Lavinia how she felt when she was a mistress.

Most of the people who sent the message were Lavinia's former classmates, and her deeds were compiled into many versions. Because of Brook's help, rumors inside and outside the school spread in Lavinia, and she was simply the ancestor of the Little Three Realms.

When Lauren heard the news, he couldn't listen to it. So he just shut up these people and explained that Lavinia and Chris were in a normal relationship.

Initially, it was just a clarification and explanation. But, with the gossip of Chris Konev and Clara, they soon became interested and came to watch Lavinia's love life.

Just as Lavinia felt that people in WeChat were talkative, Lavinia chose to delete friends directly for those who were uneasy and kind to inquire about gossip and say something difficult to obey. Even she ordered to quit the group chats in the previous class group.

The person who sent the most messages was Jack, and the person who called the most was Jack. If Jack couldn't contact Lavinia,he would die.

Although Jack was a little snobbish,he was also a good person.If it weren't for something big,he wouldn't have called Lavinia so much.

Lavinia clicked on Jack's dialog box and sent a question mark.

Jack,as if standing by his mobile phone,called back directly.

The speed was so fast that Lavinia was startled.

"Lavinia,please help me.Only you can save me.If I lose this job,I will be forced to die!"

After being a manager for so many years,all the people below begged him.He didn't know that he could even ask Lavinia.

"Manager Jack,I'm not at work.What else can I do for you?"

This man,was he making bad ideas again?

It was just a little disgusting in the past,but now all the risks were used,and Lavinia somewhat doubts his intentions.
