

Chapter 51 Forced Sale

"Nothing, wait a minute. I'll look for a fake note."

Although the counselor hadn't met many people in this college, she still actually heard this name many times in his ears.

The counselor was a discerning person. For example, after learning that Lavinia had a close relationship with the school leaders, she only asked Lavinia to sign the complicated leave cancellation procedures and handled all the other processes.

Because of Chris, Lavinia didn't live on campus. As a day student, she didn't get very close to her classmates.

In fact, that's all right, and she would naturally end up quiet.

Walking in the familiar campus and looking at the typical scenery, sometimes even if she closes her eyes, she could guess where the crooked neck tree was and where Cinnamomum camphora was.

Just as Lavinia enjoyed the scenery and indulged in herself, an unfriendly voice came from the woods not far away.

"Your life will be tough if you want to be a good girl. My brother has given you a chance. You choose the wrong answer. What am I going to do with you?"

In addition to the mocking and arrogant tone, there were sobbing voices in the woods.

Bullying on campus was too common in primary schools and junior high schools, and in university campuses.

With the attitude of doing more than doing less, Lavinia was about to pretend that she didn't know anything. So she went straight away when she turned around and heard a slap in the face.

"Please, my family is poor. My mother is still in the hospital, and our family relies on my college graduation to earn money to support my family. I have no money to give you, and I don't want to accompany your friends. Will you please let me go?"

The humble cry for help made Lavinia soft-hearted. What happened to the little girl was similar to her. When her mother was ill, she tossed and turned for it and tried her best to collect money.

Perhaps because all the experiences were the same, Lavinia couldn't help but stopped there.

"You are very short of money, aren't you? So you can just have a drink with my friends. Then I'll give you 20 thousand. What else do you want? Otherwise, you have to give us 20,000 yuan. I will find someone to replace you again. You are a big girl now. I believe you do multiple-choice questions, can't you?"

After hearing that, Lavinia finally knew what they meant.

"I didn't offend you either. Why me?!"

The girl covered her hot face and cried with the grievance. Loss and helplessness made her feel that life was meaningless.

It turned out that the hardships in life were only flavoring agents, and the most challenging thing was to feel disappointed in life.

"We also want to know why because Frank only has a crush on you. Aren't you lofty and pure? He wants to see what you look like when you kneel!"

Two men were dealing with rotten people, and those dirty words were naturally handy.

Girls were different. Those dirty words made that girl want to cover her ears and refuse to accept them.

If Lavinia didn't take a walk, she wouldn't encounter those things.

Lavinia wanted to go now, but she felt sorry for that girl.

Lavinia walked to the edge of the grove without thinking. Sure enough, two men dressed in exaggerated clothes were bullying the girl in white. Moreover, the girl's face was stained with dirt, and besides, the slap print was conspicuously printed on it.

"How dare you bully this little girl in the college. I have recorded your threat just now. If you force girls to do these immoral things again, believe it or not, I will send the video immediately and call the police."

Maybe she had seen a lot of people in society. When Lavinia faced the students in the same school again, the calmness was enough to deter the two people in front of him.

"Who are you? This is a private matter between her and us. Just get lost, right now."

When the Boys found that it was just a good-looking girl who didn't have any aggressiveness, they calmed down again.

They gradually moved towards Lavinia, pointing their right index finger frivolously at her chin and trying to stir up her chin. But before they could reach it, Lavinia hid from them.

Chris's nose was so sensitive that Lavinia wouldn't even have a chance to explain it if some guy touched her.

"Miss, you'd better go first. These two boys are not good people. If you offend them, you can't go to school."

The girl was so grateful to Lavinia that she never thought that someone would stand up for her at such a time.

Looking at Lavinia again, the girl found that Lavinia was so beautiful.

Lavinia was gorgeous. Who knew if those two men would have dangerous thoughts about Lavinia?

Lavinia was innocent. That little girl was determined not to make Lavinia get into trouble.

"It's not that I haven't been forced to drop out of school. It's not a big deal to re-read a junior, but you really want to earn that 20,000 yuan?"

Twenty thousand yuan was astronomical before she met Chris. But since she started to get together with that man, she never lacked money again. So she didn't take the funds seriously right now.

Lavinia asked the girl just to make sure that she would be blamed for cutting off that girl's financial resources if Lavinia helped her.

The human was complicated. So Lavinia had to guard against it.

Fortunately, the girl firmly shook her head and said, "Even if I am short of money, I will not exchange my virgin for money. I am just afraid that my business will bring you trouble."

Because Lavinia was around, the girl got bolder to speak.

"I have had enough trouble before. So I don't care if I get one more."

All three people were guessing Lavinia's identity. When she said her name, all of them were stunned. Immediately, two men started to ridicule Lavinia.

"It turns out that you are the female college student who slept with the president of The Konev Group for money. This woman just said that she would not exchange her virgin for money if she is short of money. You heard it yourself. That little girl looks down on you, and now you still want to save her?"

If that girl hadn't said those words just now, Lavinia might have insisted on saving her. But she said that she would die for innocence. Would Lavinia save her?

After all, the whole school had heard about her love story.

To cling to the powerful, Lavinia chose to be a mistress to Chris Konev and be superior by having sex. She was the kind of woman that girls would hate most. The guys just wanted to see if Lavinia could be generous enough to save a woman who resented her.
