

Chapter 57 The Cost of Rumors

"Grandpa,when did I rob a girl?"

Nicole was still sitting in front of Frank.He had been treating Nicole with courtesy and showing the meaning of pursuit very obviously.This should not be a kidnapping,huh?

"Someone had already called me.This is so shameful."

When the old man got angry,his beard stood up with anger.

Frank also wanted to ask who made the call,and Joy had already prompted a busy tone.

"Nicole,it's my grandpa.You called him?"

Frank didn't think Nicole knew Grandpa in advance.Otherwise,Grandpa would have sent him a blind date with the photos of Nicole in front of him.

Nicole guessed that the caller was Lavinia.Seeing Frank's eyeing appearance,she knew that Frank would definitely retaliate against Lavinia,and her words choked up again.

"I don't know,Frank.So I met you today.I also made it very clear what I should say.I hope that you can let me go.I believe the Joy family is good."

Nicole picked up her handbag and was about to leave.

With his grandpa calling,Frank didn't embarrass Nicole when she left.

Walking out of the fancy restaurant calmly,Nicole finally showed fear when she couldn't see Frank.

In fact,when Nicole saw Frank just now,Nicole had already got nervous. In order to make herself look strong, she just stayed up until she got out of there.

"Lavinia, I'm out. Did you call Frank's family just now?"

It was just a guess, and it was not until Lavinia admitted it that she realized that Lavinia was even better than she thought.

"I don't know Frank, but Chris does, so I asked him to call Frank's grandfather."

Lavinia was obviously very satisfied with Chris's high efficiency. Nicole just wanted to say thank you, but she didn't expect to hear that.

"Thank you, with his grandfather around. I think Frank should stop for a while."

Lavinia was relieved to hear that nothing had happened here in Nicole. She didn't want to see a girl spoiled by this rich, constantly chauffeured.

Today, Chris had made contributions.

In recognition, Lavinia blew a kiss without a stint.

"Chris, you are great. I really want to see what Frank looks like when he got a call and was scolded by his grandfather. Unfortunately, I didn't go with Nicole."

Lavinia signed. She missed the interesting scene.

"If you want to see it, I'll ask the hotel to transfer the monitoring to you?"

Chris was just not sure that if Frank's position will happen to be in the dead corner of monitoring.

Lavinia rolled her eyes and thought that if she wanted the stars in the sky, Chris would probably pick them himself.

"I think you have been spoiling me more and more recently. You can't get rid of me so easily in the future. But it's all your fault, don't blame me."

Lavinia was like a koala and didn't get down when she lied to Chris. The two balls on her chest rubbed against Chris, which immediately made Chris have the feeling.

"Of course, I don't blame you. So you can't blame me. It was you who lit the fire on me first."

A woman who had turned over and flaunted herself on him before was overwhelmed in an instant and had no chance to resist.

Not surprisingly, Lavinia was eaten without bones left. At this time, Brook, who spread rumors, had a hard time.

If things went well, he graduated from college this year. And his family helped him to find a fairly good job. Originally, all the letters of appointment from the other company came down, so he just went to the personnel department to report. Who knew that just after his scandal came out, the company over there called and said that there was something wrong with the personnel transfer of the company, and the previous letters of appointment were invalid, so Brook might not be able to go to work.

He thought that the other party had dialed the wrong number and made a special call to confirm it. He found that the other party was really talking about himself and told him the reason euphemistically. Only then did Brook know that losing his job had something to do with these things at school.

It's okay. He could find another job if he lost this job.

To his surprise, the job he lost was just the beginning. He asked everyone he knew, even his parents asked many partners, but all the other parties politely refused, saying that there was no shortage of vacancies in the company now.

The family was forced to let Brook have an internship in their own company.

However, from the first day of Brook's work in his own company, the company received a large number of refunds, and all the refunds did not explain the reasons, and even the liquidated damages were a lot. All the people would rather choose to cut prices than make an order.

No matter how stupid Brook's parents were, they still knew who the problem was. But the person who did the wrong thing was their own son, after all, so they couldn't even give up their son because of their work.

Parents' love lasted for about a week, and Brook's Company chose to file for bankruptcy because of the broken capital chain. Brook was also regarded as a pest and was blamed by his parents.

Because of his jealousy, Brook succeeded in killing the whole family group. When he left the campus, he didn't even get a diploma, and a sum was recorded in the file. So, the students in the whole school learned a lesson, and because of this incident, no one continued to spread the rumors about Lavinia.

Lavinia's mother, Judy, passed the operation observation period, and the rejection stage gradually became stable. Apart from taking anti-rejection drugs every day in the future, only time was left to recover.

After completing the formalities in the hospital, Lavinia took her mother to the house she used to rent.

The house with three bedrooms and one living room is the place where they used to grow up in Lavinia. Although the house was not very new, it was more convenient than everything around. If her mother was recovering here, she could have neighbors to take care of her.

After the operation, Judy looked much more energetic. Erik had to go to work, and the task of cooking for Judy fell on Lavinia's shoulder.

"Lavinia, you have been tidying up all morning. Take a rest first. By the way, why didn't I see Evans with you during this time? When I was in the hospital, you were busy. It was Evans who came to the hospital to chat with me, brought me fruits, and was discharged from the hospital. You didn't ask him to come home for a meal. It was really impolite."

Judy only thought that they were busy, but she didn't know that Lavinia and Evans had already broken up.

Reward

10

Comments

3