

Chapter 71 Chris's Visiting

"Who am I, where am I, what am I doing?"

When they saw Chris, the audience was quieter. They didn't seem to think that the big shots who could only be seen in financial TV news and other media would suddenly appear in their school one day and confessed to their school girls.

Lavinia's heartbeat missed a few beats. The man clearly said that he was swamped today and asked her to have a good meal and have a good class. Now, he suddenly appeared in front of her and saw them make trouble.

"Why are you here? We just have encountered a little trouble, but it seems that it should be solved. Have you eaten, or let's go out to eat?"

Chris was not used to eating in the canteen under the gaze of so many people. In order to take care of Chris's feelings, Lavinia offered to leave.

Chris just walked to Lavinia's side, with her warm and dry palm above her head, and she could feel the temperature from her palm through her soft hair.

"Don't you like to eat sweets and sour ribs in this canteen? It's a treat in Frank, so we're welcome."

The implication was that although unrelated people disturb their interest, it did not affect them to continue eating.

But there was still a row of gangsters kneeling on the ground. If Frank didn't say anything, this group of people couldn't get up from the ground.

"Why don't you get out of here now?"

Who would like to kneel after that they got permission from Frank? They had to do now to quickly eliminate the videos and photos taken by the people watching the excitement just now.

Couldn't they lose their face to the school forum or even the whole Y city?

The gangsters bowed their heads and left this wrong place. Before leaving, they also carried away several scared silly women.

After the women were dragged out, they still didn't give up shouting and complaining.

The consequence was that the woman who said it got a firm slap just after the words were finished.

The girl felt that her head concussion was going to be beaten out.

"Stop talking. If our master is here, he will have to kill you. You are just a plaything. Do you really think that you are so valuable?"

After saying that, he slapped that woman again.

The second canteen was restored to the excitement of the past, and people had already cleaned the overturned plate. Chris took a seat beside Lavinia, and he didn't move chopsticks, just watching the woman enjoy her meal.

"What you want to eat in the future can be told directly to Auntie, which is cleaner than eating in the canteen."

It had become customary for Christo to show concern to the surface, and no one thought what came out of this man's mouth was a joke.

"The canteen tastes very good. I didn't come here like this before. I can't become delicate because I fall in love with you."

Lavinia put sweet and sour pork ribs in her mouth. The caramel-colored pork ribs looked very attractive. After she ate one piece, she put the other piece from her plate to Chris's mouth. She didn't think it was wrong to put food in Chris with her chopsticks.

The man and woman sitting opposite were so surprised that their chins were about to fall off. Chris opened his mouth under their surprised expressions and enjoyed the benefits brought by Lavinia.

Well, the dishes didn't look delicious at all. However, it now became delicious in the world because of Lavinia.

"Can you not show your love in front of us? I don't feel good right now."

Frank envied Chris's way of getting along with Lavinia. However, he wanted to do the same to Nicole several times, and he was afraid that chopsticks would be pushed away by women before they reached Nicole's mouth.

After finishing the meal, Chris wanted to take Lavinia to his company. Frank was afraid that if Lavinia went, Nicole would go home immediately. So he quickly put in a good word for Chris. Frank kept saying that as long as Lavinia and Nicole were happy, he would like to pay for them and help them carry the stuff in the afternoon. Such a good man was too hard to find. In order to satisfy Frank's wish to spend money and be a coolie, Chris went to work overtime and let Lavinia and Nicole go shopping.

Before Chris left, he also specially greeted his woman not to save for other men. Chris also said that Frank had plenty of money and didn't help him spend more.

Lavinia nodded without understanding. Just go shopping!!

On the top floor of The Konev Group, after Chris went back alone, the secretary wore high heels and didn't say much about the image. Instead, he was busy running to the president's office to report things.

"Manager Chris, Charlie brought a woman to wait for you in the living room, saying that if you come back, I must tell you as soon as possible."

Charlie was over 60 years old this year. He idled all day, living on dividends given by The Konev Group. He rarely appeared on formal occasions.

Chris didn't know why Charlie came to the company today. Especially he came for Chris.

"Is he alone, or is he taking someone with him?"

Chris was mindful that he should know clearly over there before meeting people.

"Back to Manager Chris, he came with a woman. I heard that she is your classmate."

The secretary also accidentally heard the chat between the two people, only to know the relationship between women and Manager Chris.

Classmate? Chris's first thought was Penny.

"Let them come to see me."

At the command of the president, the secretary quickly invited people over.

"Chris, you don't stay in the company every day. You are not afraid that the company doesn't even have a manager. Can the company earn money?"

As soon as Charlie entered the office, he started to teach the younger generation, and Chris suddenly became pretty serious.

"If you really have nothing to do, I can arrange a job for you."

The implication, if it weren't for nothing to do, Charlie was way too much to come to Chris's company.

Reward

10

Comments

2