

Chapter 74 Wedding of the Century

"Mom,I'm sorry,I haven't let you enjoy happiness for so many years."

Judy lay beside Lavinia,choked all the time,but didn't say a word.Lavinia felt that she couldn't help breaking the silence between them.

"Silly girl,it is only a matter of time before you get married.Now that you are pregnant with a child remember to be calm and don't have too much emotional fluctuation."

Judy had no problem with Chris and even was full of gratitude to Chris.

If Erik hadn't said it,she wouldn't have known that it was Chris's credit that her bone marrow could be easily found.

Erik also told Judy about Evan's story.Since Judy knew that her daughter almost married an asshole,she still had a lingering fear.But fortunately,they didn't get together.

Seeing Evans like that and looking at Chris again,Judy looked more pleasing and had nothing to ask for from The Konev Family.Judy only asked Chris to protect her daughter forever in the future.That's enough.

After all,Judy didn't entrust Lavinia with anything.She was worried that she would talk too much.Lavinia was too happy to cry all night.Judy was afraid that Lavinia's eyes would be swollen the next day.

At least it was also a wedding day for his parents and grandchildren.It took a long time to prepare,and the wedding procession occupied the whole street.

Because The Konev Family has made outstanding contributions to the whole Y city,the authority especially temporarily closed the road here to let their new wedding car pass first.

During the traffic control period,no one objected.After all,the infrastructure in Y City was sponsored by The Konev Group free of charge,and it was too late for them to thank Chris.

Lavinia had put on her makeup and was waiting at home.

There was no suspense in the bridesmaid.It was Nicole.

To take care of the woman,Chris only found a groomsman.

Initially thought this position must be Hawn's,even Hawn himself thought he could be the groomsman.However,the groomsman candidate was announced by Chris a few days before the wedding.

Frank,Nicole's boyfriend,who had nothing to do with Chris before,could stand beside Chris as the best friend,well known by the public.Of course,it was all depended entirely on the relationship between Nicole and Lavinia.

This was a rare opportunity for Frank and even their Joy family.

"Frank,I didn't expect that you still know Chris.Several projects in The Konev Group have earned money before. Why don't your family get them?

When someone knew that Frank had something to do with Chris, they all wanted to curry favor with Chris through Frank. It was just a groomsman, but Frank was bothered.

"I'm busy. Let's talk again when we have time."

Frank didn't want to talk nonsense to others. He straightened the bow tie and corsage of the best man and got off the wedding car. Frank carried a pocket full of red envelopes in his hand to help Chris rob relatives and marry his wife.

Lavinia didn't have many family members, but many neighbors join in the fun. Lavinia grew up with their neighbors, just like seeing their children. Now they could send her to marry, everyone was happy.

"Lavinia, the wedding team has come. Can we block the door later? I always feel that the other party is prepared, and we are not rivals."

Sweat came out from Nicole's palms.

Wearing a light blue bridesmaid dress, she was still pure and moving, standing with Lavinia in a diamond-encrusted white gauze. They were good sisters with the same value at first glance.

Lavinia was getting married. Nicole naturally couldn't let Lavinia be taken away so quickly.

"There is no need to block the door. If they break the door, we will buy another one. It is not worth it."

Lavinia was not married yet, and she had already started to count the accounts.

But both of them came from hard times. Nicole was agreed with her.

So it became like this.

The group, those who came to meet relatives, held tools in their hands and invited several unlocking masters, thinking that the technical work of robbing relatives would not be easy. Who knew that when they came in, the bride's room was not even closed?

Maybe it was a trap?

Just when they suspected that there was no bride in the room, some curious people had already taken a look.

Lavinia sat on the bed in the room, wearing a door gauze. There was also a layer of gauze on the head. Everyone just felt that things were going too smoothly. There must be some other unknown routines.

"If you have any tactics, just show us. We have more people than you and will not be afraid of you. We don't believe that you can be so kind. Just say it. Do you want a red envelope or what?"

Lol.

Lavinia laughed with Nicole.

They didn't have a routine of their own, so they just let people pick them up aboveboard. See, this means. The men had a heavy tendency to be abused, and they needed some hardships to be satisfied?

"What are you still doing? Don't you want to pick up the bride?"

One of the red envelopes was initially expected to be used uselessly,so it didn't look great to pick up the bride.After Chris entered the door and took Lavinia away,the red envelopes with 100-dollar bills were scattered towards the crowd,and neighbors flocked to them,just wanting to celebrate.After seeing the big bills in the red envelopes,the momentum of grabbing red envelopes at least doubled several times.

From the room to the wedding car,Lavinia hasn't recovered.

So she was picked up,and then she saw her mother following her,looking reluctant to go.For a moment,she wanted to get off the bus and hold her mother and didn't plan to marry.

"What do you think?Even if we get married,we can come back at any time.Our mother can follow us in the future.Don't worry about that.Now you have many relatives to accompany you to happiness."

Chris consoled that it was with his words that Lavinia's heart slowly let go.

The wedding was set in the most prominent international hotel in Y City,which was an industry in The Konev Family.Chris got married and once again advertised the hotel.

On that day,all the hotels were packed,and no privacy measures were taken.If the reporter made an appointment and registered,he could not only enter the live broadcast but also get a red envelope.

Everyone wanted to know what kind of woman a man like Chris would be impressed by.

Until the wedding scene,Lavinia was led by Judy.

The complicated but suffocating wedding dress was worn on Lavinia,which added a lot of lasting appeal to women.Standing on the big stage,watched by so many people,she thought she would be nervous.But at the moment she saw Chris,Lavinia's heart was calmer than ever.

Standing opposite would be the man who accompanied her through her life.He had a white suit and a bouquet in his hand,like a prince coming out of a fairy tale.

This was specially chosen by Chris to match Lavinia.

The age difference between the two was quite extensive,and he didn't want to stand on the stage to show his old age.

Reward

10

Comments

5