

Intelligent 1776

Chapter 1776: Make Her Famous In The Internet

Tang Jin Wei responded to her first saying that it was a pretty good statement. Yu Qi explained every detail that needed to be explained. Then, her uncles and others also thought it was good. Since they already let Yu Qi handle everything, they allowed Yu Qi to do everything that she wanted to do. Early in the morning, Yu Qi asked Neko-chan to post the statement. The moment the post went public, a lot of people started commenting on the post. She was a little bit speechless since she thought people would not respond right away.

"Wow, a post about the Tang Family."

"What a plot twist."

"Slacking off work is not a good example."

"Am I the only one who cares about the salary?"

"I am also looking at the figure. Wow. The salary is pretty high."

"6000 yuan per month? Are you kidding me?"

"Can I apply to be working as a maid there?"

"Commentor above, your profile picture shows you are a man."

"I can change my gender."

"Stealing from your employer. What a good worker you are." "Her name is Duan Chunhua. I think I know her."

"Me too... We went a high school together."

"Me too... She was bragging to us that she would go to the big city and work there. Because her auntie got her a job there."

"She always pretends that she is an innocent person to make men fall in love with her." "Tang Family should sue her for stealing things from their house."

"If she did not go public about this, she might be safe."

"If I am Tang, I will not pay a dime to her." "Why do I think it is more than this?"

"Tang family accused her of stealing but did they have evidence to back it up."

"Yeah. They could not easily accuse her of something like that." "Show us the proof."

Yu Qi told Neko-chan to observe the flow of the situation. Neko-chan had been ordered to post one of the pieces of evidence that Duan Chunhua was stealing from their house whenever a comment like this started to appear. So, Neko-chan posted two videos. However, it was the same video but from the different angles. "Fk! Tang Family did have the evidence."

"It is a clear-cut video."

"From what I read, this Duan Chunhua probably stole many times. And this is one of them."

"She is such a good-looking woman."

"Good looking? Man, you should get your eyes checked."

"I will not dare to date such a woman. Otherwise, I don't know what missing from my house."

The citizens were discussing that online. They were saying that Duan Chunhua was ungrateful. After having a good salary and did not worry about rent and food, she stole from her employer. Not only that she even tarnished Tang Family's reputation after getting fired. They agreed that the Tang Family should sue her. Duan Chunhua who currently staying at her auntie's house was sleeping until the afternoon. So, she still did not know what happened in the internet. However, her cousin, Fang Daiyu already woke up. She logged in to her account and saw the post. She was shocked. She rushed to find her mother. Her mother needed to know about this. "Mom... Mom..." Fang Daiyu called her mother several times. Her mother, Duan Jiaying was making breakfast in the kitchen. She frowned when hearing her daughter calling her name several times.

"What is it? Can you keep your voice down? Your father is not wake up yet as well as your cousin." Duan Jiaying reminded her daughter.

"Mom, you need to read this." Fang Daiyu showed the post to her mother.

Duan Jiaying took her daughter's phone and read the post. The more she read, the more pale her face was. "Is this true?" Duan Jiaying asked.

"Probably." Fang Daiyu said. "Mom, we can not allow someone like Duan Chunhua to stay at our house anymore. What if she steals our thing too?" "She would not dare." Duan Jiaying said.

"Mom, think about this. She even dares to steal things from the Tang Family. Not to mention, our family. Moreover, the things that she stole from the Tang Family might not be cheap. What if the Tang Family comes over demanding that we pay compensation for the stolen things?" Fang Daiyu tried to persuade her mother. Fang Daiyu disliked Duan Chunhua. Duan Chunhua was kind of arrogant just because she was a little prettier than Fang Daiyu. Because Duan Chunhua was prettier than her, their grandparent liked Duan Chunhua more than her. They treated Duan Chunhua better than her. Luckily Fang Daiyu did not live near her grandparents. Otherwise, she would be jealous of Duan Chunhua all the time. She was lucky that she would follow her parent to stay at the FINN City even though it was just a small house.

"No! We can not pay for her doing." Duan Jiaying said. "So, Mom, let's chase her out from our house." Fang Daiyu said. "But we can not chase her out like that. She did not have any place to stay." Duan Jiaying hesitated again. Her mother told her to take care of Duan Chunhua when she was here. "Mom... She has money. She can rent a room by herself. Why do I have to share my room with her? Only one day, my room has become a mess because of her." Fang Daiyu complained.