Chapter 1778: Her Identity Had Been Exposed

However, on the internet, someone uploaded Duan Chunhua's picture with a caption.

"I found this woman. The woman who stole from her boss."

A lot of people jumped to comment on the post.

"Oh... I walk passing her just now."

"Me too... She seems to look as to why we are looking at her."

"May she still not know that she already became famous." "She is bringing the luggage... Is she being kicked out?"

"Probably... Hahaha..."

Duan Chunhua still felt that people were staring at her when she was in the bus. She felt uncomfortable. She held her luggage closer to her tightly. She thought these people wanted to grab her luggage. The bus stopped to take the passengers at the bus stop. Some of the passengers who just entered the bus were middle school students. When one of them took at Duan Chunhua, he was surprised. Her mouth immediately said. "Thief." While pointing his finger at Duan Chunhua

This made people look at Duan Chunhua. Duan Chunhua felt flustered and angry.

"You brat. How dare you call me that?" Duan Chunhua shouted to the kid. The kid became scared. He hid behind his friends. He actually did not mean to shout like this. It was just his reflex. He knew about Duan Chunhua when he heard his mother talking to his father. His mother then showed him and his father the picture of the mentioned woman. It was Duan Chunhua. So, he immediately shouted 'thief' when he saw Duan Chunhua face to face.

"You don't have to get mad at a kid like that. It is not like the matter is not true. You are indeed a thief." A woman of the same age as Duan Chunhua came forward and protected the kid.

"What did you just say to me? You also call me a thief?" Duan Chunhua looked at the woman. "Everyone knows what you doing." A woman said.

"What?" Duan Chunhua was confused.

"Oh, you don't read the news? Tang Family post something about you. You should read it." A woman smirked.

Duan Chunhua was surprised. She quickly opened her phone and searched for that. She saw the post. The more she read, the pale she became. She did not know that the Tang Family knew everything that she had done. The last part that made Duan Chunhua shiver was the part when the Tang Family mentioned that they would sue her for stealing and tarnishing their names. No... No... She became panicked. She did not want to be sued. She did not want to go to jail. She did not want to have a criminal record. "Now, you know to be afraid." The woman snorted. Duan Chunhua did not care about that woman anymore. Her mind was full of how to escape. She needed to run away. She could not allow herself to be caught by the police. She needed to calm down. There was no way that Tang Family knew where she was right now. She needed to hide first. She got off the bus when she arrived at the centre of the city. She felt that the Tang Family would not be able to find her when she hid among the people. She felt she was smart. She went and found a hotel to hide first. Duan Chunhua entered a hotel. It was not too big or too small. She needed a place to stay for tonight. When she entered the hotel, there was no one except for the receptionist. The receptionist smiled when she heard the sound of the customers entering the hotel. However, the smile froze when she saw Duan Chunhua. Of course, she also knew about Duan Chunhua's news. "I want a single room, please." Duan Chunhua said.

"We are sorry, miss. We don't have any available room." The receptionist stated.

"Then, give me any available room." Duan Chunhua said.

"We are sorry again, miss. We don't have any available room for you today." The receptionist said.

"What? How can that be? It is not a holiday season." Duan Chunhua smacked the counter.

"Miss, we don't have any available room for you. Please leave now. Otherwise, I will call the police." The receptionist stated.

Hearing the word police made Duan Chunhua flinch. She did not dare to stay here anymore. "Humph! Just a cheap hotel. You dare to be arrogant toward me." Duan Chunhua said. The receptionist looked at Duan Chunhua who leaving the hotel. "You can go around looking for a hotel. I don't think anyone would dare to let you stay at their hotel." That was the truth. Whatever hotels that she went to, they told her that they did not have any available room for her. They also threatened to call the police when she refused to leave. They knew Duan Chunhua ahead because of the Tang Family statement. It was getting dark. She was tired and wanted to rest but still, she did not have any place to stay. She thought she had already gone to about 10 hotels around here. She decided to call the person who helped her before, the one who published the post about the Tang Family. She tried to call several times. However, no one answered the call. She gritted her teeth feeling angry. She wanted to smack her phone but thinking it was the only phone that she had, she held back on doing something like that.
