

Irresistible 1051

Chapter 1051 The Same Habit

Crystal's POV:

My heart sank. I made this wooden whistle by copying the one Rufus had made for me in the past. Rufus now scrutinized the whistle carefully. Did it shake loose some memory of his?

Laura and I glanced at each other at the same time and guessed each other's thoughts. She was also afraid that Rufus would remember something.

After studying the whistle for a long time, Rufus turned to me and asked, "Did you make this yourself?"

"Of course," I replied firmly.

I was a little flustered and didn't know what was running through his mind.

My own mind was thoroughly muddled up. But whatever.

Chapter 1052 Allergic Reaction

Crystal's POV:

If I thought that Rufus from five years ago was a profound book, then Rufus at this time was a whole abstract painting for me. I could at least try to understand a book as long as I read it thoroughly, but I might never understand the real meaning behind an abstract painting.

Hearing what he said, I was upset and wanted to make an excuse to leave, but Beryl suddenly had a stomachache at this time.

All the thoughts in my head vanished and all I could think about was Beryl's well-being.

Beryl's face was pale because of pain. She covered her stomach and cried out between gasps. Laura also went alert and immediately sent someone to call the doctor.

Chapter 1053 Taboo

Rufus' POV:

After putting Beryl to sleep, I left her room and went downstairs. I swept my eyes around the living room, but didn't spot the she-wolf I was seeking.

"Who are you looking for? Crystal left." My mother was sitting at the table and leisurely sipping her coffee.

"I'm stepping out for a while." After saying that, I quickly marched out of the lycan king's palace.

Chapter 1054 A Gray Wolf

Rufus' POV:

The invisible barrier shielded me from the outside. No one could set up such an enchanted barrier except for witches and wizards.

I took a couple of steps back and closed my eyes as I willed the lycan power in my body to feel around my surroundings and take in whatever detail was worth noting. I could tell that the barrier had just been set up, and that the air inside was much denser than in other areas.

I opened my eyes and had a theory of my own. It was probably Crystal.

Chapter 1055 An Old Acquaintance's Provocation

Rufus' POV:

The gray wolf sat there and barked at me as if I was an old acquaintance.

Soon, the other two came over as well, and proceeded to rub against my shins.

I was at a loss for words. I felt like I had just run into three huge puppies.

"Rufus, don't be fooled," Omar warned. "Wild wolves are very cunning. They're only buttering you up so that you would let your guard down."

Chapter 1056 Spies

Crystal's POV:

I took my son out for a walk that evening when I received a call from Blair. I declined without a second thought, not wanting to get involved in any trouble.

But Blair was persistent, and kept calling me for the next few minutes. In the end, I had no choice but to find a quiet place to take the call.

"Hello, what's up?" I asked in a low voice. "Do you have any news about Ian?"

"Why are you whispering like a thief?" Blair teased, chuckling to herself.

Chapter 1057 The Black Death Curse Has Been Removed

Crystal's POV:

The new speculation left me upset for a long time and I couldn't reign in my agitation.

My mind flashed back to my first year as Alpha. I had gone to negotiate with Hubson on behalf of my pack. When I met Hubson that day, his condition was worse than I had expected. He was huddled in a black robe, looking like he was on his deathbed. He was frail, and his prominent hand bones were horribly deformed. Thanks to the curse, he could only lean weakly against the chair.

Chapter 1058 Daddy Abandoned Me

Crystal's POV:

"Is Rufus aware of this?" I asked.

Blair sighed. "He already knows. I'm guessing that he will take action soon. I'm afraid there won't be any peace to speak of in the coming days. You must be vigilant while you're in the imperial capital. You've been the Alpha of the border pack for five years, and the vampires hold a lot of grudges against you. Some of them might even be very familiar with your identity. If you're not careful, you might get exposed to Rufus."

"All right, I understand. I promise to be more careful."

Chapter 1059 The Vampires' Plot

Crystal's POV:

My daughter couldn't seem to accept that fact that Rufus had suddenly left. She was so distraught that she even refused to eat her favorite cookie. She kept looking out the window in morose silence, her chin resting on her tented hands.

Since she had lost her memory, Beryl and Rufus had seldom been separated from each other. They were attached to the hip, no matter where Rufus went.

The worst part of this predicament was the fact that Rufus' date of return was uncertain. It was understandable that Beryl was upset.

Chapter 1060 Wine And Friends

Crystal's POV:

In the following two days since Rufus had left the imperial palace, nothing significant had happened. As for me, I only needed to go to the kindergarten in the morning. My son and I would then spend the rest of the day in our own palace, or go and pay Laura a visit.

Today, it snowed. Arron and I decided not to go out. Instead, we sat in front of the fireplace and ate roasted sweet potatoes.

"This is yummy. I'm sure Beryl will like it." Arron blew at his sweet potato.