

Irresistible 1091

Chapter 1091 Similar To Sylvia

Lucy's POV:

Adela's expressions shifted at my words. She kept wringing her hands, and looked like she wanted to say something. In the end, though, she only hung her head.

I wasn't stupid. I could instantly tell that something else was wrong. "What is it now?" I asked in a cold voice. "Don't tell me Rufus has already found out that you've been lying to him."

Adela immediately shook her head, but she was biting her lips as though she was debating to say something or not.

Chapter 1092 Future Sister-In-Law

Adela's POV:

There was a snide quality to the way Lucy looked at me, and she sounded as though she was speaking to an idiot.

I felt outraged as soon as the thought formed in my head. Perhaps Lucy did, in fact, see me as a fool.

Chapter 1093 Who Is She

Lucy's POV:

"It's a she-wolf who wears a mask. She seems to have an attractive figure. I don't know why she wears a mask. Anyway, she looks strange. She is quite intimidating and frightening, but Rufus' attitude towards her is ambiguous. The other day, she had barged into Rufus' room without warning. Laura was also present. But for some strange reason, Laura didn't reprimand her either. In fact, she sounded rather nice to that she-wolf. People always claim that Laura is strict, but I don't think so." Adela pursed her lips, her unhappiness evident on her face.

Chapter 1094 I Can't Accept It

Crystal's POV:

I trudged back to my palace in low spirits, slumping on the bench in the garden. I could feel my heart slowly dying inside me.

Rufus had been so cold to me, as if I were an outsider. It had only been last night when we made love so passionately, yet he had treated me like I was some garbage to be disposed of.

A sob broke out of me. It wasn't his fault. He hadn't been completely sober last night, and probably hadn't recognized me.

Chapter 1095 Logical Analysis

Crystal's POV:

"If I hadn't come, you'd probably run out of tears." Laura poked my forehead with her finger in rebuke. I knew she expected me to handle matters better than this.

I hurriedly wiped my tears away and ducked my head in embarrassment.

"Aren't you usually tough and unfazed by anything?" Laura asked, though I could hear a hint of sympathy in her tone. "Why did you turn into a coward and ran away after some scolding from Rufus? You are on the right side. If anyone had to run away, it most definitely isn't you."

Chapter 1096 Waiting For The Right Time

Crystal's POV:

When I heard Laura, my temper flared.

I furiously punched the bench I was sitting on and said with gritted teeth, "Rufus has no memory of me. What's the point of Adela imitating me? She's just a pathetic imposter, and it won't work!"

Laura sighed and smiled helplessly, as if she was witnessing a child throwing a tantrum.

I stopped, scratched my nose, and looked away sheepishly. Every time I dealt with some matter related to Rufus, I couldn't stay calm and easily lost my cool. Laura must be laughing at me inwardly.

Chapter 1097 Great Scourge

Rufus' POV:

I sat at my desk and massaged my temples. Too many issues had bothered me lately, and each one of them was responsible for my current headache.

The vampires had managed to infiltrate the werewolf pack, and had even murdered and manipulated an Alpha for a long time, but no one had noticed it.

Such a serious matter didn't come to light until a few days ago. The situation had become graver than expected.

Chapter 1098 Food Was Terrible

Rufus' POV:

As usual, Adela brought dinner for me. She would prepare something different each time, and she had never served me soup again. It seemed that my sudden burst of temper that day had scarred her.

"Your Majesty, please try this beef stew. I made it myself." Adela's voice was overly sweet as she set the dish and tableware in front of me.

Besides the stew, there was also a small array of exquisite pastries. I eyed them blankly, vaguely thinking that they were all my favorite. My restless heart slowed its pace. Even though Adela was weak, she was earnest. She must have studied the things that I liked in order to cater to me better.

Chapter 1099 My Wife

Rufus' POV:

The girl's presence immediately calmed my pouncing head. Even my soul felt warm just by having her close.

A faint voice inside my head told me that it was time to wake up.

And so, I opened my eyes, only to flinch and squint from the bright light that flooded the room. It took me a while to finally get adjusted and take in my surroundings.

The clock on the wall said that it was just a little after eight in the morning. I had no idea how it happened, but I was back in my former palace. Despite my slight confusion, I felt refreshed and at peace for the first time in as long as I could remember.

Chapter 1100 Focus On The Important

Rufus' POV:

"Rufus, you are distracted," the she-wolf whispered teasingly in my ears. She naughtily licked my earlobe with the tip of her tongue, immersing me in my dream again.

An irresistible desire seemed to be burning in my lower belly. Unable to withstand this fire, my dick stood up straight, as if it would tear through my underwear in the next second.