Chapter 1141 The Secret Passage

Crystal's POV:

I was furious and summoned my confidant inside.

When he saw the empty bed, he was also baffled. "Where is Arron?"

"I should be asking you that question. Where is my son?" I glowered at him. My blood boiled with rage.

Chapter 1142 Bold

Rufus' POV:

I waited anxiously as the doctor tended to Beryl's wound. "How is she?" I asked.

The doctor checked on Beryl carefully. Then, he took off his glasses and said respectfully to me, "She is fine. Her only injury is a scratch on her arm, which will heal in a few days. As for why she suddenly fainted, I honestly find it little strange. We need to do further examinations to figure it out."

Chapter 1143 The Mainstay

Crystal's POV:

Using the torch of my phone, I entered the secret passage under the bed.

It was filled with meandering and spiraling steps. Both sides of the narrow passage were lined with stone walls, making me feel a bit claustrophobic.

I counted the steps, which went down and then up. The entire structure was laid out in a U shape.

After walking over five hundred steps, I came to three identical forks.

After walking over five hundred steps, I came to three identical forks.

I was puzzled and didn't know which path to choose.

"Try them all," Yana suggested.

"Well, you're right."

Chapter 1144 She Is Arrogant

Rufus' POV:

I had already been informed of the matter on the way here. Arron was missing. No wonder Crystal had made such a ruckus.

But I still couldn't control the anger I felt at her impulsiveness. Instead of first coming to me, she took her own people to create trouble in the imperial palace. Neither did she consider my feelings, nor did she take me seriously.

I'd thought that I would give her a severe dressing down when I saw her.

Chapter 1145 Who Is The Perpetrator

Crystal's POV:

Rufus' soft words and the fleeting caress on my head transported me back to the old days when we were still together.

For a moment, I thought the Rufus who loved me with all his heart, was back. But when our eyes met, his cold and arrogant demeanor brought me back to reality.

For a moment, I thought the Rufus who loved me with all his heart, was back. But when our eyes met, his cold and arrogant demeanor brought me back to reality.

I sighed deeply in my heart. He had forgotten me. I was so stupid to even think about the past!

Chapter 1146 The Groom

Rufus' POV:

Crystal was obviously upset and she didn't conduct the questioning in an organized manner.

"Why don't you just confess?" Her eyes blazed with rage as she asked the servants loudly.

Crystal's bluff successfully caught the attention of most of them.

And when she combined her threats with inducements, their expressions changed dramatically.

And when she combined her threats with inducements, their expressions changed dramatically.

However, it was still difficult to figure out if they were pretending or not.

Chapter 1147 Hypocritical

Crystal's POV:

It was now obvious that the one behind this was the person who provoked the groom.

I rushed forward and questioned the man kneeling on the ground, "Who ordered you to take Arron away?"

The groom's face was stiff. His tanned face was severely grazed and bleeding because of Rufus' kick. He tightened his lips and pretended not to hear my question.

Irritated, I paced around the room frantically. I didn't know how to get the truth out of him.

Chapter 1148 Pray

Crystal's POV:

"Okay." I struggled to come up with a satisfactory response to Rufus. This was the best and only option left.

Again, Rufus stroked my hair tenderly and murmured, "Don't think too much. Go back and have a rest. Wait for my news."

I nodded mechanically. My mind was a mess now, so I agreed and went back to my place.

Chapter 1149 The One Who Used To Live Here

Crystal's POV:

I gave serious consideration to the idea that Adela might have orchestrated this whole thing, but in the end I decided against accepting it.

Adela had just turned 18, and this was her first time entering the palace. Her actions up to this point suggested she was still a young girl with not much life experience.

Chapter 1150 The Truth

Crystal's POV:

Rufus texted back with a question mark.

I was a little bit flushed with embarrassment. I felt like I acted too hastily. How shocked he must have been to read my message.

I hesitated for a while and didn't know how to explain. Rufus would definitely ask me why I insisted on the layout and owners of the palaces back then. There were too many things that I couldn't tell Rufus.

What if he questioned me?
