Chapter 761 Establishing A Small Family

Sylvie's POV:

When I had made it halfway through my run, Rufus strode over to me and picked me up, carrying me back to my ward. "Why didn't you put on any shoes before going out of the ward? You're pregnant. You should be taking care of yourself."

I wrapped my arms around Rufus' neck and murmured, "I forgot because I rushed out in a hurry. I just wanted to see you."

When I was in the ward just now, there was an uneasy feeling in me all of a sudden. I felt as if I was going to lose something very dearly to me. That was why I hurried out of the ward to see Rufus.

Rufus' POV:

A hint of panic momentarily flashed across Sylvie's face as she raised her head and cautiously asked, "Why are you asking me that?"

I looked at the chair beside the bed. "It looks like the chair has been moved."

She looked in the direction of the chair and smiled. "I ran out in a hurry, so I accidentally bumped into it. Besides, I just woke up. I wouldn't know if anyone came here, anyway."

I nodded. "That makes sense."

Sylvia rubbed her eyes and yawned. "I'm kind of sleepy, Rufus."

"You should go to bed, then." I kissed her lips, put her on the bed, and covered her with a blanket.

Chapter 763 Being Poached

Rufus' POV:

I ordered my private soldiers to secretly investigate what Sylvie had done after she left the palace today.

In less than an hour, one of my subordinates came back to report the result of the investigation.

In less than an hour, one of my subordinates came back to report the result of the investigation.

"Miss Todd went to the black market to see Murray during the day. We don't know exactly what they had talked about because when we went there, Murray wasn't in the cottage. However, our people have taken photos of Miss Todd in the black market," my subordinate said before handing me a sealed envelope.

Chapter 764 An Aloof Man

Sylvie's POV:

The doctor gave me another general check-up during the night, and the results showed that I was fine.

I didn't want to stay in the hospital anymore, so I insisted on leaving that night.

When I went back to my dormitory, my eyes widened in shock. It was empty, and all my belongings were gone!

I looked around in shock. Did someone steal all my stuff while I was in the hospital?

Chapter 765 Night Talk

Sylvie's POV:

I was startled and froze in my tracks, my puzzled eyes flying to him.

He tossed the cigarette butt he was holding into the trash, took his coat off, and left it on the balcony.

Then he walked in and closed the balcony door.

He came closer to me, touched my cheek, and softly explained, "You're pregnant. It's not good for you to inhale the smoke."

I grabbed his hand and scrutinized his forehead carefully. "Maya told me you got into an accident while driving. Are you alright?"

"It's not a big deal. Why did you leave the hospital without informing me?" Rufus frowned, picked me up, stepped over the broken porcelain pieces that were lying on the ground, and deposited me on the bed.

Chapter 766 Cunning Trick

Sylvie's POV:

I eventually felt depressed. Rufus' aura was too imposing and domineering for me. Every time I confronted him, I would always lose even if my point was reasonable enough.

It was all his fault! I doubted anyone could say no to that goddamn handsome face. No matter how mad I was at him, my heart would always melt at the sight of him.

I pouted and whispered, "I didn't mean that."

"What do you mean then? Do you want to live with me or not?" Rufus frowned. "It's a simple question, Sylvia."

This man had completely misunderstood my intentions.

Chapter 767 Barbie Doll

Sylvie's POV:

Taken aback, I immediately covered my chest with my hands. Although we were very intimate, I couldn't help but feel shy now that I was almost naked while Rufus still had his clothes on.

"What... What are you doing? I'm pregnant right now. This is not a good time..." Embarrassed and flushed, I didn't dare to look him in the eye.

Rufus came over and set the body wash and essential oil by the bathtub. He then looked at me and said, "Of course, I know. I just want to help you take a bath."

Chapter 768 The Ring Is Missing

Sylvie's POV:

I was stunned. My keen intuition told me that this wasn't a simple, silly question as it sounded.

Soon, the corners of Rufus' mouth curved into a smile. He extended his hand to wipe away the bubbles off my face and said, "I was just kidding."

I breathed a sigh of relief. I wasn't sure why, but I had a feeling that Rufus was being really serious just now. I had the impression that if I had continued nodding, I would be shackled and imprisoned in this palace, to be his own doll.

Chapter 769 Plan To Leave

Sylvie's POV:

"Where is your ring? Why don't you wear it?" The tone of Rufus' voice was flat, but it still made me very flustered.

I stammered, "I... I hid it away."

"Hid it away? Why?" It seemed that Rufus was not going to stop until he was satisfied with my answer. I felt like a criminal he was interrogating, and he was always patient when he had to do that. Now, he patiently waited for me to expound on my answer.

Chapter 770 A Tangle Of Thoughts

Sylvio's POV:

When I woke up from my dream, cold sweat had already accumulated on my forehead. The horrible scene had been imprinted in my mind, which made me unable to snap out of it for quite a while.

Sylvia's POV:

When I woke up from my dream, cold sweat had already accumulated on my forehead. The horrible scene had been imprinted in my mind, which made me unable to snap out of it for quite a while.

Rufus didn't wake up, but he was holding me in his arms—comforting me with his warmth.

When I saw him sleeping so peacefully, I felt tears well up in my eyes.

I really didn't want to leave him, but if I stay, he would die.

If it wouldn't end well whether I stay or not, I would choose to leave and let myself suffer alone. At least in that case, Rufus would have a chance to live.
