Chapter 931 Difficult To Deal With

Rufus' POV:

"Let her in."

I swallowed my anger for the time being.

The she-wolf had good timing. I wanted to ask her about something anyway.

I nudged Beryl towards the doctor and said to the latter, "Take good care of her."

The doctor nodded respectfully.

I took one more look at the strawberry-embellished hair band in Beryl's hair with satisfaction and then stood up.

Unexpectedly, Beryl suddenly grabbed my arm, so I accidentally lifted her tiny body as I stood up.

Crystal's POV:

Rufus allowed me to enter his palace, but he kept me waiting for a long time. Gradually, I ran out of patience and had half a mind to break in when Rufus finally showed up.

And he didn't come along. There, hanging around his waist, was a little girl. It was my Beryl!

I was so excited and relieved that I reached out to hug my darling daughter, but unexpectedly, Rufus dodged me and even shouted at me.

I was stunned, but I didn't think too much. I still stretched my arms to hug Beryl.

Chapter 933 Just A Child

Rufus' POV:

The masked she-wolf claimed to be the girl's mother, but my first instinct was to not believe her. However, when I saw the sadness in her eyes, I couldn't help but feel that she was telling the truth.

The girl in my arms slumped her shoulders. It seemed she was also in a bad mood.

The she-wolf's hand holding the candies slowly dropped to her side, and her dark green eyes were full of disappointment. At this moment, my heart inexplicably softened. Before I could stop myself, I suddenly blurted, "You're married?"

Chapter 934 Fate Is Amazing

Crystal's POV:

Seeing the sincerity in Rufus' eyes, I doubted he was lying. I grumbled to express my dissatisfaction.

Rufus looked away. He seemed to be embarrassed, but then he put on a serious look and explained, "It was the doctor who told me that. Only God knows if Beryl will ever get her memory back. Maybe when the congestion in her brain is completely cleared, she'll go back to normal."

Chapter 935 A Family

Crystal's POV:

It was getting late, and I knew I couldn't stay here any longer. On the other hand, my heart wanted me to stay because Beryl was here.

But Beryl didn't recognize me. She didn't even want me to touch her. She seemed to be afraid of the mask on my face and stuck out her lower lip every time she saw it.

I was at a loss. I couldn't take off my mask in front of Rufus. If I had known it earlier, I would've chosen a less scary mask instead.

"Daddy, I'm hungry." Frowning, Beryl tugged Rufus' sleeve and rubbed her belly.

Chapter 936 Damn The Bad Man

Crystal's POV:

Even after eating, Beryl still refused to let me touch her. She flat-out rejected my attempts to even grasp her hand. The moment I touched her, she began crying.

Eventually, I gave up and didn't get close to her anymore. Instead, I sat on the couch and watched her talk to her father.

Frustrated, I took out my phone and saw a voice message from Harry. He sent it about two hours ago.

When I clicked on the voice message, I heard a young boy's voice saying, "Mommy, I miss you."

Chapter 937 Born To Torture Him

Crystal's POV:

Laura caught sight of me as soon as she walked in. We exchanged glances for a brief second. And although I was wearing a mask now, she knew it was me.

Rufus asked in surprise, "Mother. What brings you here?"

"I heard that you saved a little girl, so I came to have a look." Laura had not lost any of her grace. Her tone was calm and deliberate, so that no one could infer real her thoughts and emotions.

As she spoke, she pretended to glance at Beryl and raised her eyebrows. "So... is she the little girl?"

Chapter 938 An Exception

Crystal's POV:

Sure enough, Laura pretended to feel helpless and said, "Beryl doesn't remember her mother right now, so it's best to keep her here until she gets better. Otherwise, she will be scared."

Quickly, I butt in and said, "I'm afraid King Rufus is too busy to take care of my daughter."

If Beryl did stay here with him, I would be expected to make frequent visits. And knowing how sharp Rufus was, he would soon find out about the truth of our past if I made even the smallest mistake.

Chapter 939 The Side Effect Of Concussion

Laura's POV:

After being separated from Beryl for five long years, I was finally reunited with my beloved granddaughter. I hugged her tightly, evidently too ecstatic to keep it to myself.

My little granddaughter was even more beautiful in person than in video and photos. Her milky fragrance permeated every inch of her. Her nose and mouth were a dead ringer of Rufus' when he was a child, but he didn't seem to notice it. After all, she was still young. Rufus would be able to tell when she got older.

Chapter 940 Stay Longer

Crystal's POV:

I knew Laura wanted to speak to me alone, so I came with to her palace.

After Ethan's death, she moved to a quiet place to live. She had since seldom showed up in public unless there was something important.

Along the way, Laura caught me up with the events in the imperial palace as if nothing had happened.

The Royal Military School was now under Blair's command.
