

Jagged 101

Chapter 101: Daimler sedan

"The French can think of such a way to solve the recoil problem of the artillery. It has to be said that it is admirable. They actually want to hide its performance. Obviously, they want to wait until the war starts and cheat the empire." Gu Staf Krupp said.

Qin Tian nodded. The performance of the French 75mm field gun on the battlefield was indeed amazing. However, even so, it still cannot restore the decline of the French Army on the battlefield.

"Mr. Krupp, after knowing the method used by the French, can we develop a similar cannon and apply it to other cannons to increase the rate of fire of our cannon as much as possible." Qin Tian asked.

"His Royal Highness, it should not be a big problem. With Krupp's technical strength, it is easy to do this." Gustav Krupp said proudly.

Although, the solution to the recoil of the artillery that the French thought of was very subtle. However, German technology is definitely not bad. After learning the method adopted by the French, they were able to imitate it immediately, and even make further improvements on this basis.

"If this is the case, it would be great. I hope that once the war starts, our artillery will be able to let the French and other enemies know how powerful we are." Qin Tian is full of expectations for the future war.

"His Royal Highness, it will definitely be like that." Gustav Krupp said firmly.

Qin Tian's trip to Krupp this time can be said to be fruitful. Not only did Krupp agree to speed up the development of larger-caliber naval guns, but it also allowed them to start the development of new infantry artillery. Of course, the biggest achievement is that the two parties partnered to establish a German arms company and entered the field of light weapons.

Qin Tian left the Krupp company after seeing off the Krupp couple.

"If the standard equipment of the German Army can be changed because of this, the combat effectiveness may be further improved. In that case, it will be easier to defeat those opponents in future wars." Qin Tian secretly thought.

In order to improve the combat effectiveness of the German army, Qin Tian spared no effort, from the navy to the army, he thought of all the ways he could think of. It would be unreasonable if the German Army hadn't won the war despite all his efforts.

After meeting with the Krupps, Qin Tian didn't stay in Berlin for long. A few days later, he received a notice from Paul Daimler, the general manager of Daimler, to Stuttgart.

Daimler has been developing rapidly during this period, and its motorcycles have been rising steadily. Not only caused a wave of sales in Germany, but also exported to other European countries and even the United States. Many young men and women, in order to buy motorcycles produced by Daimler, give everything they have. Under such circumstances, even if Qin Tian donated motorcycles worth 50 million marks to the military, that would be nothing. After all, just two motorcycles are enough to make a lot of profits for Daimler.

"His Royal Highness, welcome to Stuttgart." Paul Daimler had a smile on his face. Although Daimler AG has become a subsidiary of Deutsche Motor Vehicle Manufacturing Company, the profits of the Daimler family have also been reduced to 5%. However, the profit brought by this 5% stake is obviously much more than that of the previous Daimler.

"Mr. Daimler, hello, I can see that you are in a good mood!" Qin Tian said with a smile.

"His Royal Highness, of course. You don't know how popular our products are now. The factory is already working on three shifts, but it still can't meet the demand of the market. The new factory is also under construction, and it is estimated that three It will be put into production in a month. At that time, it will relieve our pressure to some extent." Paul Daimler said.

In order to meet market demand and further increase market share, Daimler began to expand production capacity frantically, so as to seize as much market share as possible before other competitors developed the same type of products. .

Qin Tian nodded, it is very necessary to expand the company's production capacity. In this way, more markets can be obtained and more profits can be obtained at the same time. Of course, further research and development of new products cannot be given up. Otherwise, it will soon be surpassed by competitors. It is impossible for any company to continue to develop with only one product.

"How is the research and development of new products going?" Qin Tian asked.

"Your Highness, according to your request, we have already started the research on the second-generation motorcycle. Mr. Maybach, you are now in charge of the research and development of new products. The progress is very fast. It is expected that our second-generation motorcycle will be able to complete the research and development next year. now," said Paul Daimler.

Although, he has some disagreements with Qin Tian's request to develop new products, thinking that their motorcycles will not be challenged by competitors so soon. However, he didn't dare to refuse Qin Tian's request, so he could only follow through. Although developing new products will cost a lot of money. But now the company's profits are so amazing that it is enough to support the development of new products.

Qin Tian nodded: "I have to speed up the production of motorcycles that I personally donate to the military."

"Yes, Your Highness." Although this will squeeze the company's production capacity, Paul Daimler has no objection to this. Now, Qin Tian's status is different. When Qin Tian bought Daimler before, he was just an ordinary prince. And now, Qin Tian has become the crown prince of the empire. The army is an important supporter of Qin Tian, so it is natural to give priority to meeting the military's requirements.

Wrinkled Accompanied by Paul Daimler, Qin Tian came to Daimler again.

Qin Tian didn't go to the office, but went straight to the R&D department. Because, the main purpose of his visit to Daimler this time is to take a look at Daimler's new products and the upgraded version of the 'Phoenix' car, which is officially named after 'Daimler'.

"Your Highness, you are here. This is a new generation of car developed according to your requirements. I have to admit that this is a work of art!" William Maybach looked excited. He believes that once their car is put into the market, it will cause such a big sensation. This will be a shock to the entire automobile industry. This will also give Daimler, after motorcycles, a second major product.

Qin Tian nodded and looked at the car parked in the R&D department. Although it is still not as good as the cars of the later generations, it already has the characteristics of the cars of the later generations.

Chapter 102: Automotive Industry Benchmark (for collection)

The streamlined body, large headlights, rearview mirrors, turn signals, leather seats, and the engine and gearbox provided by Deutsche Engine Manufacturing Company make this car a huge difference compared with the current mainstream cars. different. It can be said that this is completely an epoch-making change. Qin Tian can guarantee that once the new 'Daimler' car is launched, it will definitely sweep Mercedes-Benz and other car brands into the trash.

"Not bad, very good! I believe it will be a masterpiece!" Qin Tian praised. With the technological strength of this era, it is already very good to be able to develop such a car.

After hearing Qin Tian's appreciation, both William Maybach and Paul Daimler had smiles on their faces.

"Your Highness, when will this sedan be available for sale?" Paul Daimler asked.

Obviously, this is another product that has caught the attention of the market. Similarly, this means huge profits!

"It's the end of the year now, let's wait until January 1 next year. However, there is still one month left, can we prepare for the listing?" Qin Tian asked.

"Your Highness, we have already started mass production of this car when it was developed. However, the current output is not large. After one month, the monthly output can be increased to about 5,000. In this case, It can almost satisfy the German domestic market." Paul Daimler said.

Current cars are still luxury goods, not everyone can afford them. Often only the rich can afford it. In addition, the current level of comfort in cars is not high, and some people even prefer to take a horse-drawn carriage rather than a car. Therefore, there are not many sales of cars. Of course, if Daimler can develop a larger market, then they may have to further increase production.

Qin Tian shook his head: "Five thousand cars a month is not enough at all. I firmly believe that the automobile field is a huge market, but this market has not been released. Once released, it will be a huge market. market. Therefore, our company's output must be gradually increased, and it is best to reach a monthly output of 50,000 or even more!"

"50,000 vehicles? Didn't there be 600,000 vehicles in that year?" Paul Daimler and William Maybach were both shocked beyond measure. From the invention of the automobile to the present, the sum of all the automobiles produced in various countries is probably not 600,000. Therefore, in their opinion, Qin Tian's production requirement is really too advanced.

"Increasing the output to 50,000 vehicles will not be achieved overnight. I hope that within the next three years, this goal can be achieved." Qin Tian said. He knew very well how crazy the sales would be after Ford launched the Model T on the other side of the ocean.

"Yes, Your Highness!" Although there were still many doubts in their stomachs, Paul Daimler and William Maybach had no choice but to suppress the doubts in their hearts and obey Qin Tian's arrangement. They also believed that with Qin Tian's foresight, the prediction would definitely not be wrong.

"How much does our Daimler cost? How much is the price going to be?" Qin Tian asked.

"Your Highness, after mass production, the cost of the Daimler sedan has reached 7,000 marks, and we tentatively set the price at 10,000 marks." Paul Daimler said.

Qin Tian nodded. The price of 10,000 marks is not expensive, and indeed it is not very expensive. But if it's cheap, it's definitely not cheap. The average working class can't afford it at all, at least people above the middle class can afford it.

Of course, the price of 10,000 marks is not high compared to this Daimler sedan. This car is totally worth the price. Even compared with other cars of the same price, the cost performance has a crushing advantage.

"The price of 10,000 marks is more appropriate. However, there are still too few people who can afford it." Qin Tian sighed.

"His Royal Highness, cars are inherently expensive commodities, and ordinary people cannot afford them." Paul Daimler said.

"It's true to say that, but if Daimler wants to be the benchmark in the automotive industry, then we have to find a way to make cars affordable for everyone. This car, I plan to name it Daimler On the basis of the B-class sedan, the research and development department further conducted research and development and developed two sedans, namely the Daimler A-class sedan and the Daimler C-class sedan. Among them, the A-class sedan is positioned as a luxury car, while The C-class car is positioned as a car that the general public can afford." Qin Tian said.

Paul? Daimler and William? Maybach, the expressions on the faces of both became serious. They naturally hope that Daimler will become the benchmark of the automotive industry. Therefore, for Qin Tian's strategy, he naturally attached great importance to it.

"The so-called A-class car refers to the lengthening of the car body and the expansion of the space inside the car on the basis of the B-class car. At the same time, the interior decoration of the car is improved, the taste of the car is improved, the shock absorption system is improved, and the ride comfort is improved. Speed and so on. Let the A-class sedan become the car of choice for the rich. In this way, we can make our A-class sedan a luxury car in everyone's mind. And the C-class sedan can shorten the body length, the top can also be made of canvas instead of steel plate. The seat does not need to be made of leather, but can be made of fabric directly. The performance of the engine does not need to be so high, and the maximum speed can be controlled at 40 kilometers to 50 kilometers per hour. All in all, it is to further reduce the cost under the premise of ensuring the reliability and safety of the car, so as to control the selling price. It is best to control the selling price below 2,000 marks. If you save a little, you can afford a car." Qin Tian said.

The concept of A-class car and C-class car made Paul Daimler and William Maybach dumbfounded. At the same time, this method also gave them a sense of enlightenment. If Daimler can provide the market with three types of cars, high, middle and low, so as to realize the occupation of the entire automobile field, it will make Daimler become a giant in the automobile industry and a benchmark in the industry. In the future, Daimler's position in the industry will not be shaken.

"His Royal Highness, this is really a genius idea! Our research and development department will immediately conduct research and development according to the request of His Royal Highness, and strive to produce A-class cars and C-class cars in a short period of time." William Maybach excitedly said.

Chapter 103: free advertising

Qin Tian has always attached great importance to the automobile industry. Because this can not only bring huge profits, but also further promote the development of industrialization and enhance the country's overall strength.

Qin Tian clearly remembered that since the first Ford Model T car was born on September 27, 1908, a total of 15 million Model T cars had been produced. This is undoubtedly an extremely large number. If Daimler can sell so many cars, even surpassing Ford's Model T, this will undoubtedly make Daimler overwhelm other car companies and become a real giant in the automotive field.

"Then let's arrange it like this. On January 1st, the B-class car, A-class car and C-class car will be launched first. After they are developed, they will be introduced to the market at an appropriate time. Whether Daimler can become a legend depends on this time." That's right. Especially the C-class car, we must speed up the progress of research and development. It is best to put it on the market in the first half of next year." Qin Tian urged.

Qin Tian hoped that Daimler would be able to launch the C-class car before Ford launched the Model T, so that the model car would block Ford. In this case, even if Ford cannot be suppressed in the North American market, at least it can seize the European market. You know, the current European market is much larger than the US market. Only by occupying the European market can we be able to rule the roost in this industry.

"Yes, Your Highness the Crown Prince." William Maybach nodded heavily. Although, he didn't know why Qin Tian had such a strict requirement on time. But he knew that Qin Tian always had his reasons for making such a request.

"Has our truck been developed yet?" Qin Tian asked.

Although cars are very important, Qin Tian also attaches great importance to trucks. Qin Tian hoped that the German Army would become the first army in the world to completely replace mules and horses with cars.

"Your Highness, the research and development has been completed and a prototype has been produced. Please move on, Your Highness." William Maybach said.

Qin Tian followed William Maybach to the place where the truck was parked. I have to admit that the truck developed by Daimler looks very crude. However, it has also possessed most of the characteristics of later generations of trucks. Of course, in terms of performance, it may not be able to compare with the trucks of later generations. This is because there is still a big gap between the current technological conditions and the future generations.

"Your Highness, this is the truck we designed. It can carry cargo weighing up to 1.5 tons, and its maximum speed can reach 40 kilometers per hour." William Maybach said.

Qin Tian nodded, although in Qin Tian's eyes, such a truck is nothing but rubbish. However, in the current situation, such performance is already very good.

"How's the reliability?" Qin Tian asked.

Qin Tian intends to promote this truck to the military. If the reliability is not good, the military will definitely not accept it. The military doesn't want these cars transporting supplies to the front line to lose their chains after the outbreak of the war. In that case, it will seriously affect the front line warfare.

"Your Highness, we have already conducted a reliability test. Basically, there will be no major problems. However, minor problems will inevitably occur. However, as long as there are accessories and specially trained personnel, it will be easy to solve. No It has too much impact on the use." William Daimler said.

"Hmm!" Qin Tian knew that under the constraints of technical conditions, such problems were inevitable. But at least the problem of having or not has been solved. In another time and space, the reliability of German tanks in World War II was also not good? But the German army still achieved amazing results with such weapons.

"The reliability of the truck should be improved as much as possible. After all, our main customer will be the army." Qin Tian said.

"Yes, Your Royal Highness. The research and development department will conduct further research on this issue, and strive to further improve reliability." William Maybach said.

"Is this truck named?" Qin Tian asked.

"not yet."

"Then let's name this truck a Maybach truck!" Qin Tian said.

"Yes, His Royal Highness the Crown Prince." Paul Daimler nodded.

William Maybach beside him, his old face has turned into a chrysanthemum with a smile. As the original founder of Daimler, it is also a very high honor for him to make his name the name of a car.

Qin Tian didn't stay long in Stuttgart, and left the next afternoon. However, he left with him, as well as one hundred Daimler B-class cars produced in advance by Daimler Motor Company. Qin Tian planned to give away these cars. Of course, this is also an advertisement for Daimler. The people Qin Tian wanted to send were all big figures in the empire, including the emperor, important members of the royal family, government prime ministers and other ministers, as well as senior officials of the navy and army, and other important entrepreneurs.

Once their cars are replaced by Daimler B-class cars, this is undoubtedly a free advertisement. Once the Daimler B-class car is actually on the market, it will definitely cause hot sales.

"Father, this is a car produced by my car company. It was specially given to Father as a means of transportation. Father can take a test ride. How is the comfort compared to the car produced by the Mercedes-Benz company before?" Qin Tian With a smile on his face, he said to William II.

King William II looked at the Daimler B-class car parked in front of him with a look of surprise. Compared with his previous cars, the Daimler B-class car undoubtedly has a crushing advantage in terms of appearance and performance.

Afterwards, William II got into the car and took a circle in the palace. Comfortable seats, excellent shock absorption system and sound insulation facilities make the ride experience in the car very good.

"Oscar, a very good car. It's unbelievable that your car company can produce such an excellent car, which is very good." William II naturally praised Qin Tian greatly.

"Thank you, Father, I will work harder." Qin Tian replied.

Qin Tian believed that once Wilhelm II and other important imperial ministers replaced their cars with Daimler B-class cars, this car from Daimler would definitely become popular before it went on sale.

Although, one hundred Daimler B-class cars are worth as much as one million marks. But the advertising effect formed is definitely not something that one million marks can achieve. Qin Tian is tantamount to letting these big shots in the empire advertise his products for free.

Chapter 104: crown prince salesman

In less than a week, the high-level executives and famous entrepreneurs of the entire empire received gifts from Qin Tian. They were very satisfied with the Daimler Class B car presented by Qin Tian. This is undoubtedly much better than the car they rode in before.

At the same time, these people have a great demand for cars, and one car can't satisfy them at all. For example, buying for your family members. Or purchase in batches to become a department or company's car.

It's just that Daimler's B-class car is not yet on sale, so they have to wait a little longer. And this also makes, although the Daimler B-class car has not yet been launched, many people are already looking forward to it. Anyone with a little wealth probably hopes to buy a car like this, and it will save face if they drive it out!

"Your Highness, the ministers of all ministries are very satisfied with the cars you donated to the government. The government has decided to purchase a batch of official vehicles for the government. In terms of price, please give us more discounts!" A meeting before the imperial court ended. Finally, the prime minister of the empire, Bernhard von Bülow, held Qin Tian back and said to him with a smile.

Foreign Minister von Kidren Wacht also watched all this with a smile.

"Your Excellency Prime Minister, there is no problem at all. How much does the government need to purchase? I will ask Daimler to give you a 10% discount. In addition, I will give priority to supplying to you." Qin Tian couldn't help being overjoyed. Once the government uses Daimler's B-class cars as designated vehicles, governments at all levels will compete to imitate them. The government procurement alone is enough to make Daimler work overtime in production.

"In that case, it would be great." Prime Minister Bernhard von Bülow nodded in satisfaction.

January 1st is fast approaching, although Daimler AG is preparing 10,000 Daimler B-Class cars for it. However, what made them unbelievable was that all the 10,000 Daimler B-class cars were sold out within one day. The central government of the empire alone, the governments of the states, and the governments of the kingdoms eat up half of it. The remaining half was also snatched up by those big businessmen. And, many people haven't bought it yet. Orders drifted to Daimler AG like snowflakes, which surprised and delighted the general manager of the company, Paul Daimler.

The good news is that these orders mean huge profits. Daimler Motors only needs to desperately expand its production capacity, and there is no need to worry about the cars produced not being sold. What is surprising is that according to the total amount of these orders, Daimler's production may really need to be expanded to 50,000 vehicles per month. After all, the current orders are only from the domestic market. Once it expands to foreign markets, there will be more orders.

What's more, this is only a B-class car. Once the lower-priced C-class car also interviews, the sales will definitely be even hotter. If you don't speed up the expansion of the company's production capacity, there will be no way to deal with it at that time!

Paul Daimler immediately accelerated the construction of the new factory building after consulting Qintian, and has already begun to actively plan to build a large-scale automobile factory in northern Germany in order to satisfy the northern market. The booming sales have made Paul Daimler no longer have to worry that the cars produced will not be sold. We don't know how long this situation will last.

While sales of Daimler's B-class vehicles are booming, Qin Tian is promoting Daimler's Maybach trucks to the army and navy. Now Qin Tian has completely become a salesman, frantically selling his company's products to the military.

Of course, Qin Tian did this not just to make a profit. What's more, it is hoped that with these products, the strength of the military will be further strengthened. In Qin Tian's view, making money is very important. However, to win future wars, that is always the first priority. The current Qin Tian is trying to do everything possible to improve the strength of the army, no matter whether it is hard power or soft power, it must be raised to the highest level before the war breaks out. In that case, Germany will be more likely to win in future wars.

"Everyone, this is the latest product of Daimler Motor Company. This truck can travel at a speed of 40 kilometers per hour with a load of 1.5 tons. At the same time, it can also tow a cannon. This also means that this car can carry a squad of fully armed soldiers and rush to the battlefield quickly. Although the railway network in Germany is very dense, through convenient railways, we can quickly transport troops and mobilize war materials. However, once we break out of the border and enter the enemy's territory, then everything may be different. Western Europe is okay, and the infrastructure here is relatively good. However, the vast Eastern European plains are worse. The infrastructure construction there is very bad. Once we invade there, the supply and transportation of the troops alone will be a disaster. If our army can equip enough trucks, it will undoubtedly alleviate this problem very well." Qin Tian introduced to these generals with a smile on his face.

"It's really good to be able to carry a squad of soldiers at a speed of 40 kilometers." Deputy Chief of Staff General Waldsee nodded. Now the logistics transportation of the German Army mainly relies on railways when it is in the country. However, once you leave the country, you may have to rely on a horse-drawn carriage. This forced the German Army to raise a large number of poor horses. If trucks can be used to replace these mules and horses, it will undoubtedly save a lot of manpower, material and financial resources.

"His Royal Highness, how reliable is this truck?" Xiao Moqi asked.

"Your Excellency, Chief of the General Staff, the reliability of this heavy-duty truck is relatively high. I can't guarantee that there will be no problems at all, but there will be no major problems. At most, there will be some small problems that can be easily solved." Qin Tian said .

"If one of our infantry divisions can be equipped with one hundred or two hundred of these trucks, it can almost meet the consumption of an infantry division. Your Excellency, Chief of Staff, what do you think?" General Waldsee asked.

"It is very good, but the current military expenditure is very tight." It is obviously impossible for Xiao Moqi to nod so easily.

"His Royal Highness, do you know the price of this truck?" General Waldsee asked.

"The market price will be 8,000 marks. However, I can give the military a discount. You only need to buy it at 6,500 marks each." Qin Tian said with a smile.

Chapter 105: Diamond king and five (for collection)

After discussions with the generals of the Imperial Army, they finally decided to purchase 20,000 trucks from Daimler. However, the payment needs to be paid in five installments. The army's military expenditures are very tight, and if they can buy trucks with more than 100 million marks, it will already make them tighten their belts.

Of course, in Qin Tian's view, 20,000 trucks are far from enough. Once war breaks out, Germany needs to mobilize more than 3.5 million troops. The army alone may have more than three million people. This also means that the Army needs more trucks to transport personnel and supplies.

However, Qin Tian also knows that the army is now headed by little Maoqi. Although, he and Little Maoqi were no longer fighting head-to-head. However, the relationship between the two parties is still not good. It is obviously impossible for Little Maoqi to agree to purchase in large quantities. Unless, replace Maoqi and let another person serve as the chief of staff.

However, even if Qin Tian has now become the crown prince of the empire, it is impossible for him to have the power to replace Mao Qi in a short period of time. Therefore, he could only think of other ways.

Qin Tian decided to ask Daimler to produce more trucks as a reserve. Once a war breaks out, it can be delivered to the army immediately, or even in the form of a loan, first handed over to the army for use, and the relevant payments will be paid after the war is over. In this case, the pressure on the Army can be further reduced. At the same time, it can also make the army remember his goodness.

On the other hand, it is increasing the sale of such trucks to the private sector. In this way, after the outbreak of war, these trucks can be requisitioned in the name of the military, so that the military can have enough trucks to go to the front to support the battle.

In addition to the 20,000 vehicles purchased by the Army, the Navy also purchased 5,000 vehicles. Trucks are much less useful in the Navy than in the Army. After all, the naval bases are all built by the sea, and they use ships to transport them, which can almost solve most of the problems. Of course, the navy is the most supportive of Qin Tian, and of course it will support Qin Tian's products. It can be said that now the German Navy and Qin Tian are completely wearing a pair of trousers.

On the way back to Berlin, Marshal Count Tirpitz and Qin Tian took the same car. Qin Tian's car had already been replaced by a Daimler Class B car.

"Your Highness, although it is our navy, from my personal experience, the army's demand for trucks is obviously greater, and it is simply not enough for 20,000 trucks." Earl Tirpitz The Marshal sighed.

Qin Tian nodded his head, his expression was a little unsightly. Trucks can be used not only to transport troops, but also to tow artillery and transport logistical supplies. Compared with mules and horses, trucks do not need to be fed, and they hardly need to rest, and their load capacity is larger than that of mules and horses. Compared with the overall efficiency, it is naturally far above that of mules and horses. However, this is obviously an extremely useful piece of equipment for improving the combat effectiveness of the army, but because of some people's obstruction, it has encountered a big problem in promoting it in the army.

Qin Tian was very angry about this, if possible, he would like to shoot such a guy. But it is a pity that now he is only the crown prince, and he is still the 'acting' crown prince, not the emperor of the empire. He has no right to replace the chief of staff who is highly valued by the emperor.

"Your Excellency, Marshal, there is no way to do it. Father trusts little Mao Qi too much." Qin Tian shook his head, looking a little helpless.

Marshal Earl Tirpitz naturally knew the character of William II very well. Although William II was very talented, he was headstrong and conceited, and could not listen to other people's opinions. Even though he knew that Maoqi's ability was problematic, he would not easily replace him. After all, little Maoqi is his man.

Of course, the reason why Marshal Earl Tirpitz became the head of the navy is also because he is deeply trusted by William II. Otherwise, he wouldn't be able to speak his mind in the navy.

"Your Highness, if I have the opportunity, I will raise this point with Your Majesty. With His Majesty's wisdom, I believe he will know what to do." Marshal Count Tirpitz hesitated, then said.

Qin Tian shook his head: "Let's forget it, this will definitely arouse the disgust of the father."

Navy and Qin Tian are very close, which already made William II feel a little dissatisfied. If Marshal Earl Tirpitz accused another minister who was heavily used by William II in front of William II, it would definitely make William II even more disgusted. Qin Tian hoped that Marshal Earl Tirpitz would be in charge of the navy and lead the navy to defeat the Royal Navy. He didn't want to cause extra problems because of this.

Marshal Earl Tirpitz nodded and had no choice but to stop talking about this topic.

"By the way, Your Highness, you will soon come of age!" Marshal Earl Tirpitz asked suddenly.

Qin Tian was taken aback for a moment, then nodded.

Yes! The current Qin Tian is about to turn twenty years old. There is only one month left before his twentieth birthday. And it has been five years since he was reborn into this world. During these five years, he tried every means to strengthen Germany's military strength, and took this opportunity to become the acting crown prince of Germany by accident.

It can be said that the five years of Qin Tian's rebirth were not wasted. Thanks to his efforts, the German navy has made great progress compared with another time and space. At the same time, the strength of the German Army is also improving little by little. Qin Tian believes that once war breaks out in the future, the combat effectiveness of the German army will be even more terrifying. The possibility of winning this world war will also be greater.

Although, if Qin Tian's mental age is added together, he is more than forty years old, and he can be regarded as a middle-aged man. But his current biological age, after all, is less than twenty years old. Compared with his previous life, he is stronger and stronger. But it's a pity that, as the acting crown prince, he is still a virgin because he is too busy, and he has never even held a girl's hand. It has to be said that among the royal family of the empire, and even among the heirs of various countries, this is definitely the only one.

"Your Highness, I learned from His Majesty that on your twentieth birthday, His Majesty will hold a grand coming-of-age ceremony for you in the palace. At that time, important ministers and celebrities of the empire will be invited to attend. Especially those young beautiful ladies of the nobility are probably already looking forward to it." Marshal Earl Tirpitz couldn't help laughing.

Qin Tian was speechless for a moment. As he was about to become an adult, it was indeed time for him to find a girlfriend and get married. Moreover, in terms of his identity and status, Wuyu is the biggest diamond kingpin in Germany and even the whole world, and many girls are staring at him.

Chapter 106: Bar mitzvah

"Oscar, you will be an adult tomorrow. You should also consider your marriage. There will be many noble ladies at your coming-of-age ceremony tomorrow. I hope you can choose one of them and become a Your partner in life." Queen Victoria said to Qin Tian. She purposely called Qin Tian to the palace the day before his twentieth birthday, and specifically told him about this matter.

Crown Prince William has become a vegetative state, and although Qin Tian is the acting crown prince, but his performance is becoming more and more dazzling, Queen Victoria has to accept this reality. After all, Qin Tian is also her son, but he was not reused before. Moreover, Qin Tian's performance now is even more outstanding than that of Crown Prince William back then.

"Yes, Queen Mother!" Qin Tian nodded.

As a member of the royal family, especially the crown prince, Qin Tian knew that it was almost impossible for him to decide on his own marriage. His wife could only be the daughter of a great nobleman in Germany, or a princess from another country. As for the common people, it is simply impossible to become his wife, the future queen of Germany.

Of course, Qin Tian never expected to have a vigorous love. Right now, he simply doesn't have that kind of time, nor does he have that kind of experience. Qin Tian, who was a standard nerd in his previous life, had no experience in dating. Qin Tian only hoped that he could find a beautiful and kind-hearted girl to be his wife, and that was enough.

Queen Victoria nodded in satisfaction: "Oscar, you are the most outstanding prince of the royal family and my best son. I hope that this time you can find a girl you like."

Qin Tian nodded and didn't say much. Although, he also held such expectations. But Qin Tian knew that the royal families in Europe were very chaotic. These aristocrats looked dignified, but behind their backs, they were full of thieves and prostitutes. Whether they could find a wife that satisfied him depended on God's arrangement.

The next day, July 2, 1908, Qin Tian turned twenty years old. For the German Empire, this day is undoubtedly a very important day. Kaiser Wilhelm II will hold a grand coming-of-age ceremony for Qin Tian in the imperial palace. The great nobles in Germany hope that their daughters will be valued by Qin Tian on this day, so that they can become the crown princess of Germany, and become the princess of Germany in the future. Queen. In this way, their family can gain huge prestige and benefits.

Especially, Qin Tian was already a household name in Germany. This is not only because Qin Tian is the crown prince of the empire, but also because of Qin Tian's achievements in the business field. Deutsche Industries Group has now become one of the few large conglomerates in Germany, and its speed of making money has left others dumbfounded. And Qin Tian is also known as the youngest rich man in Germany.

I don't know how many noble women want to marry Qin Tian. If Qin Tian wanted to choose a concubine, the applicants would probably go straight from Berlin to Potsdam.

Many foreign envoys were also invited to attend this coming-of-age ceremony. Especially the allies of the German Empire hope to further consolidate the close relationship with Germany. Emperor Franz Joseph I of the Austro-Hungarian Empire sent a special envoy to Germany to persuade William II to marry the Austro-Hungarian Empire. The princess of the Habsburg Dynasty married the heir of the Hohenzollern family, further to cement the alliance between the two empires.

However, William II was not going to interfere with Qin Tian on this issue, and handed over the power of choice to Qin Tian. In the words of William II, the current German Empire is already very strong, so strong that we need allies, and there is no need to sacrifice the happiness of the Crown Prince.

Qin Tian was very satisfied that he was not persecuted by William II and Queen Victoria in this regard. Although he cannot decide the identity of his wife, he can always decide who his wife is. He wants to choose a wife who satisfies him, rather than using his marriage as a political bargaining chip.

The coming-of-age ceremony has a lot of cumbersome rituals. The archbishop of the Catholic German Diocese presided over this coming-of-age ceremony in person, making the whole coming-of-age ceremony even more sacred.

Qin Tian endured his temper and finally made it to the end of the ceremony, which made him heave a sigh of relief.

"Gentlemen and ladies, elites of the German Empire, thank you for being able to attend the coming-of-age ceremony of Crown Prince Oscar." At the end of the ceremony, William II made a routine speech.

Although, William II still has a preference for Crown Prince William in his heart. However, he had to admit that when Crown Prince William could no longer fulfill his duties as Crown Prince, Qin Tian was undoubtedly the best candidate for Crown Prince. What's more, Qin Tian's performance in this position should have been better than that of Crown Prince William. William II often thought that perhaps it would be the best choice for Qin Tian to inherit the throne.

"The German Empire has become one of the most powerful empires in the world, and it will continue to grow stronger. Thank God for giving us the crown prince Oscar and giving us the best heir to the crown prince in the world. May God bless Crown Prince Oscar, bless the German Empire!" William II said loudly.

"May God bless Crown Prince Oscar and the German Empire!" Everyone shouted.

However, not everyone who participated in the coming-of-age ceremony wished Qin Tian sincerely. For example, the hostile countries of the German Empire, Britain, France, Russia and other countries, they do not want the German Empire to continue to grow stronger. A powerful German Empire is not a good thing for them. It would have been nice if the heir to the German Empire had been an incompetent. But it is a pity that Crown Prince William, who was previously ambitious and talented, became a vegetable, and the current Crown Prince is even more difficult to deal with.

Besides these people, Qin Tian's brothers were also completely filled with jealousy and hatred. According to the law of succession to the throne, when Crown Prince William was unable to perform the duties of Crown Prince, they should be appointed as Crown Prince, and it would never be Qin Tian's turn. However, William II violated the law of succession to the throne and directly deprived them of their qualifications to be crown princes according to the law, which naturally made them very hateful. You know, their coming-of-age ceremony is far inferior to Qin Tian's coming-of-age ceremony this time! This made these princes extremely jealous.

Chapter 107: british warning

"Damn, why should he be on top and accept the blessings of everyone? If I were the crown prince of the empire, then I should be the one who attracts the most attention!" Prince Ethel Friedrich roared in his heart. His two hands have been clenched tightly into fists, and the nails have sunk deeply into the flesh.

Prince Albert and Prince August William also looked unhappy. Although, after Crown Prince William became a vegetable, according to the law of succession to the throne, it was not their turn to inherit the position of Crown Prince. However, it was also unacceptable for them to see their least valued younger brother suddenly surpassing them and becoming the crown prince of the empire. In their view, why could Qin Tian violate the law of succession to the throne and become the crown prince, why couldn't they?

Even though, William II had already warned them about this matter. However, the jealousy and ambition in their hearts are not so easy to suppress. Once the flame of ambition is ignited, if it wants to be extinguished, it must be completely wiped out.

However, Qin Tian now is different from before. After the assassination, Qin Tian already regarded the throne as his own. No matter how long it takes for the throne to succeed. But if anyone else wanted to take the throne from him, it would be courting death. This time, he will not back down.

After the coming-of-age ceremony, it's the banquet. Young noblemen and ladies, you can take this opportunity to get to know each other better. Of course, I don't know how many noble women will hide their husbands and hook up with other men at banquets. The life among the nobles was originally relatively peaceful. This is why Qin Tian doesn't like these nobles.

Qin Tian became the well-deserved protagonist at the banquet. Many people's eyes were focused on him. Many gazes are fiery. Especially those young and beautiful noble ladies, they can't wait to drag Qin Tian away right now. In that case, they might be able to become queens of the German Empire in the future.

"His Royal Highness, congratulations, can I invite you to dance?" A slender, fair-skinned young noble lady boldly extended the invitation. Her low-cut dress revealed a large area of white flowers on her chest, and the deep groove made people want to bury their eyeballs in it.

"I'm sorry, miss, I don't want to dance now, you can find someone else!" Qin Tian shook his head, although this woman is very beautiful and has a good figure, but Qin Tian doesn't want to find a bus. Although he was reborn as a German, his thinking was still that of an Oriental, and he hoped that his wife would be a pure girl.

The smile on Miss Noble's face stiffened suddenly. Maybe she didn't even think that her invitation would be rejected.

Other aristocratic ladies who were eager to try, saw this situation, and they also retreated in their hearts.

Qin Tian walked around the banquet hall and found that most of the noble ladies, although they were good-looking, were all heavily made up and very mature, not his type. Although people kept inviting him to dance, Qin Tian refused them all. And this also made many people who followed him very puzzled.

"Honey, doesn't Oscar look down on these noble ladies? This is the best noble lady in the whole of Germany." Queen Victoria was a little worried.

"It seems that Oscar has a high vision! But let him go. If Germany can't find a wife candidate that satisfies him, he will look for it in other countries. I believe that as the Crown Prince of the German Empire, he is worthy of it." Any unmarried noble lady in this world." William II said.

Queen Victoria nodded. She naturally trusted Qin Tian very much. She believed that Qin Tian was the best with his identity, status and talent.

"His Royal Highness, Your Excellency Marshal, do you mind if I join your topic?" Qin Tian had no choice but to see Earl Tirpitz and Marshal Count Tirpitz chatting with Prince Heinrich, so he wanted to join in. Otherwise, this banquet would be too boring for him. As the protagonist of the banquet, it is obviously impossible to leave early.

"Oh, no, Your Royal Highness, this banquet is specially held for you. You should seize this opportunity and have a good exchange with those noble ladies. Don't waste this good opportunity." Prince Heinrich said with a smile.

"Yes! Your Royal Highness, there are so many young and beautiful girls. If I were twenty years younger, I would be very excited. So, Your Royal Highness, it would be a shame to waste time on us old men. Not a wise choice." Marshal Earl Tirpitz said with an exaggerated expression.

"Okay, okay!" Qin Tian couldn't help being even more speechless, so he had no choice but to join their conversation and find other ways to relieve boredom.

At this moment, a middle-aged man in a black suit with a false smile on his face came to Qin Tian with a glass of wine.

"His Royal Highness, congratulations." The middle-aged man said.

Qin Tian knew this person, he was Vincent, the British ambassador to Germany, a guy who claimed to be the world hegemon with the British Empire.

"Ambassador, thank you for coming to my coming-of-age ceremony." Qin Tian smiled humbly.

"His Royal Highness, as the heir to the throne of a world power, you must have your own views on the current world situation. The British Empire hopes that His Royal Highness can contribute to world peace. Otherwise, once war breaks out, the It is unbearable for anyone," said Ambassador Vincent.

Qin Tian couldn't help but frowned. What does the British mean? Is it a warning to him? Or do you hope to influence Germany's foreign policy through him? If it is the former, then the British are too arrogant. This is Germany. Even if the British Empire is still the hegemon of the world, their hegemony has long since faded away. What qualifications do you have to warn the German Empire, which is now in full swing?

If it is the latter, it is simply delusional. The conflict between Britain and Germany is becoming more and more acute, and future wars are inevitable. Anyone who tries to stop this historical trend will be crushed to pieces. Even if Qin Tian was the crown prince of the German Empire, he didn't want to avoid the outbreak of war. What he wants is to help win the war, pull the British Empire from the throne of world hegemony, and replace it!

Chapter 108: Love at first sight (for collection)

"Your Excellency, I think you have made a mistake. The German Empire is a peace-loving country. We don't want to start a war or invade other people. If a war is bound to break out, then we must have no choice but to fight back." Qin Tian Start talking nonsense with your eyes open.

As a political figure, especially a big man like the Crown Prince of the Empire, telling lies with open eyes is also a must-have ability. Otherwise, how to deal with those old foxes?

Ambassador Vincent was speechless. Is Germany a peace-loving country? Then what are they building so many warships like crazy? Their unity is entirely based on defeating a series of opponents. Otherwise, how could they complete the unification?

"His Royal Highness, I am serious. I am not joking. The British Empire does not want to be an enemy of the German Empire. However, if the German Empire continues to provoke the British Empire, this will cause very serious consequences. This consequence, even the German Empire The empire cannot afford it. As a great empire that has dominated the world for hundreds of years, the British Empire has the strength to deal with any challenge." Ambassador Vincent said in a deep voice.

"Your Excellency, the German Empire did not provoke the British Empire. On the contrary, it is Your Excellency who is aggressively provoking the German Empire. The British Empire is very powerful, and I completely agree with that. However, the German Empire is definitely not to be bullied by others." Qin Tian attitude has also become tougher. Today's Germany, even in the face of the powerful British Empire, has the confidence and qualifications to say nothing.

"His Royal Highness, the German Empire's crazy development of armaments and continuous construction of warships, isn't that a provocation to the British Empire?" Ambassador Vincent didn't seem to back down at all, and responded **** for tat.

As a diplomat of the British Empire, he has the British Empire as a support, and has always been arrogant, thinking that other countries have already prostrated at the feet of the British Empire.

"Hmph! As a sovereign country, doesn't the German Empire even have the right to develop its own armaments? We build warships not to provoke others, but to defend the interests of the empire." Qin Tian replied.

Obviously, the conversation between Qin Tian and Ambassador Vincent was not at all harmonious and full of gunpowder. If it wasn't for the wrong occasion, they might have already started arguing. But even so, many people still noticed them.

"Well, Your Royal Highness, since the German Empire wants to go its own way, then, I hope you will not regret it. The British Empire has the ability to step on all its competitors." Ambassador Vincent said with a serious look on his face. Angry, after dropping these words, he left the banquet hall straight away.

"Hmph! Proud and arrogant British people, one day, we will pull you down from the throne of the overlord and trample on the soles of your feet!" Qin Tian looked indifferent. Qin Tian also didn't like the proud and arrogant British people at all. These guys always feel too good about themselves, thinking that the whole world should be under their rule.

"What's the matter, Your Royal Highness?" Marshal Earl Tirpitz and Prince Heinrich, who were closest to Qin Tian, came over.

"It's okay, the arrogant British warned us not to provoke them anymore. They also claimed that the British Empire has the ability to defeat all opponents." Qin Tian said with a smile.

"Damn the British, they are still so arrogant. Soon, they will know that the world is no longer in their hands." Prince Heinrich said. Now he is still the commander of the High Seas Fleet, so he naturally knows how terrifying the warships under construction in German shipyards are. Germany is already making final preparations to challenge the British Empire's maritime hegemony. Once the war breaks out, it will definitely surprise the British. Even, they have a great chance to pull the British from the throne of maritime supremacy.

"Your Highness, there is absolutely no need to take what the British say to heart." Marshal Earl Tirpitz said.

Qin Tian nodded: "I know, it's just that the British are unwilling to give up their hegemony, and they are making their last struggle."

"Haha, Your Highness is right. The British are making their last struggle. Soon, we will crush them." Marshal Count Tirpitz and Prince Heinrich couldn't help laughing .

The scene of Qin Tian talking and laughing with Count Tirpitz and Prince Heinrich attracted many people's eyes. The relationship between Qin Tian and the navy is very close, which is well known in Germany. The support of the military is also a favorable guarantee for the consolidation of Qin Tian's crown prince status. Of course, this also made the other princes who did not get the support of the military very dissatisfied.

"Damn Oscar, why is his relationship with the navy so good? It's almost good enough to wear a pair of pants. If I can have the support of the military, my father will definitely let me be the crown prince." Ethel Fowler Prince Redrich thought unwillingly. He simply believed that the reason why Qin Tian would squeeze him out and become the Crown Prince of the German Empire was because of the support of the military.

At the same time, Prince Adalbert and Prince August William couldn't help but have other thoughts in their hearts. If they can get the support of the military, does this also mean that they can squeeze Qin Tian from the position of crown prince? Regardless of whether this method is useful or not, they have already decided that they must strengthen their ties with the military next.

Qin Tian held the wine glass and wandered aimlessly in the banquet hall. Suddenly, his gaze fell to the corner of the banquet hall. There, there were two girls in white dresses, talking in a low voice. One of the girls was younger. However, the appearance is very beautiful. Especially the pure taste, it feels like an elf left in the world.

Qin Tian was immediately attracted, and then walked towards the two girls involuntarily. He had a feeling that was the man for the wife he wanted.

Qin Tian was originally the protagonist of this dinner party, and his every move has attracted people's attention. Many people's eyes were on him. This is especially true for those aristocratic women attending the banquet.

When they saw Qin Tian walking towards the corner of the banquet hall, and there were two young women in the banquet hall, they couldn't help breathing quickly.

"God! What's going on? Why did His Highness the Crown Prince walk towards those two young women?"

Chapter 109: Crown Prince's Choice

"Who are those two girls? Why did His Highness the Crown Prince take a fancy to them?"

"That seems to be the daughter of His Majesty King Ludwig III of Bavaria, Princess Helmchud and Princess Gundlind. I don't know which princess the Crown Prince is looking for."

"It turns out that they are the princesses of the Kingdom of Bavaria, and they are probably the only ones worthy of His Royal Highness the Crown Prince!"

Even so, the eyes of many noble women looking at Princess Helmchud and Princess Gundlind are still full of jealousy. How much they wished that Qin Tian had his eyes on them!

Indeed, among the noble ladies present, Princesses Helmchud and Princess Gundlind are considered to be of relatively high status. The Bavarian royal family was originally one of the oldest royal families in the German Empire. You know, the German royal family, the Hohenzollern family, was nothing more than the royal family of the Kingdom of Prussia before the unification of Germany. At that time, the Kingdom of Bavaria was a powerful state second only to the Kingdom of Prussia. In the German Unification War, the Kingdom of Bavaria was the main force against the Kingdom of Prussia among the southern German states. Even though it was defeated and became part of the German Empire, the Bavarian royal family still ruled the Kingdom of Bavaria. In the German Empire, it had great power and a very high status.

Qin Tian didn't hear these discussions at all, he only had eyes on that beautiful elf-like woman, and he told himself in his heart that that was the wife he was looking for.

Princess Helmchud and Princess Gundlind, who were eating, also felt that something was wrong with the atmosphere.

Princess Helmchud raised her head, just in time to see Qin Tian walking towards them step by step.

"God! Why does His Highness the Crown Prince come like us? Could it be that His Highness the Crown Prince has taken a fancy to me?" Princess Helmchud suddenly had a feeling of being favored by God. After all, she is very confident in her appearance. However, she is two years older than Qin Tian. So when she came to attend Qin Tian's coming-of-age ceremony, she didn't think Qin Tian would take a fancy to her. But now, she thought a miracle was about to happen. As long as they are in love, age is not a problem at all, what's more, she is only two years older than Qin Tian.

"Gundlind, don't eat, the crown prince is here, don't give him a bad impression!" Princess Helmchud pulled her sister beside her, and at the same time put on the most ladylike appearance, waiting Qin Tian came over to say hello to her, asked her name, and then started a perfect relationship, and finally married Qin Tian, becoming one of the most honorable women in all of Germany.

Thinking of this, Princess Helmchud became very excited, which was completely beyond his expectation, as if a pie fell from the sky suddenly, and even hit her on the head.

Princess Gundlinde realized what had happened, and hurriedly put down the food in her hand, a trace of panic flashed across her face, like a frightened deer.

Qin Tian came in front of the two princesses.

"Hello, Your Royal Highness!" Princess Helmchud called out sweetly, and saluted Qin Tian at the same time.

Princess Gundlinde also greeted timidly.

"Hello! Beautiful young lady, can I know your name?" Qin Tian looked at Princess Gundlinde and asked.

"My name is..." Princess Helmchud couldn't wait to answer, but then she found that Qin Tian's gaze was completely on her sister, which immediately caused Princess Helmchud to fall from heaven to hell.

"God! What's going on here? Is God joking with me? Why is it not me that His Royal Highness is looking at, but the little girl Gondlind?" Princess Helmchud looked very embarrassed, looking There was even a trace of jealousy in the eyes of his sister. Although, she had to admit that Princess Gundlinde's appearance was completely above hers. However, the current Princess Gundlinde is relatively young, and she is completely a budding flower, unlike her, she is already a mature woman.

Princess Gundlinde was also taken aback, as if she didn't expect Qin Tian to pay attention to her. She glanced at her sister, and then replied in a low voice: "Your Highness, my name is Gundlinde."

"Gundlinde, the little princess of His Majesty King Ludwig III of the Kingdom of Bavaria?" Qin Tian had read the information of these noble ladies who participated in the coming-of-age ceremony before, and immediately took his seat.

"Yes!" Princess Gundlinde nodded.

"Your Royal Highness, can I invite you to dance?" Qin Tian leaned over, making an invitation gesture.

Princess Gundlinde hesitated for a moment, then put her hand on Qin Tian's and agreed to his invitation.

Beautiful music sounded, and Qin Tian and Princess Gundlinde danced lightly. Both of them were born in the royal family, and among the court etiquette they learned, there was naturally a lesson in dancing. Therefore, although the cooperation between the two is a bit unfamiliar, the dance is very beautiful.

However, those noble ladies looked at Princess Gundlinde with jealousy. If eyes could kill, the beautiful little princess Gondlind must have been burned to ashes!

"God! Why does His Highness the Crown Prince take a fancy to that little girl's film? Does His Highness the Crown Prince like younger ones?"

"Don't talk nonsense, His Highness the Crown Prince is only twenty years old, only three years older than Princess Gundlinde, and their ages are exactly the same!"

"Hmph! I'm obviously more beautiful than Gundlinde, but why didn't His Royal Highness choose me?"

There is no doubt that Qin Tian invited Gundlinde to dance, and he has undoubtedly expressed his heart. This also sent out an obvious signal to everyone, that is, Princess Gundlinde has become his goal. Such a result, naturally some people are happy and some are worried. Countless noble ladies were discouraged because of this, they thought they had lost a chance to fly on the branches and become a phoenix.

"It seems that His Highness the Crown Prince has found his target, which is a happy thing!" Count Tirpitz said with satisfaction.

"The combination of the Prussian royal family and the Bavarian royal family will make the German Empire more united." Prince Heinrich also said.

As the two most powerful states in the German Empire, if the Kingdom of Prussia and the Kingdom of Bavaria can marry, it will be very beneficial to stabilize the interior of the German Empire and unite the power of the entire empire. After all, the Prussian Empire has always represented the north of the German Empire, and the Kingdom of Bavaria has always represented the south of the German Empire.

Chapter 110: feeling in love

In another corner of the banquet hall, the emperor Ruprecht of the Kingdom of Bavaria was talking to his younger brother, Prince Karl. The Kingdom of Bavaria is an important state of the German Empire, and these Bavarian princes also have a high status in the empire.

Rupprecht**** himself served in the German Imperial Army, and he already had the rank of general. In addition to his outstanding personal ability, he has always been hailed as the best military commander among the members of the royal family.

"Big Brother, Second Brother, something big has happened!" Prince Franz, the third son of King Ludwig III of Bavaria, walked over with a look of excitement.

"What's the matter? Franz. This is the coming-of-age banquet of His Royal Highness the Crown Prince. What big event can happen?" Prince Karl was a little dissatisfied with his younger brother's recklessness.

"His Royal Highness has invited Gundlinde to dance!" Prince Franz said.

"What?" Mrs. Ruprecht and Prince Karl were taken aback for a moment, and they obviously didn't expect such a thing to happen. Qin Tian, with his eyes above his head, actually fell in love with their youngest sister.

"Brother, this is a great thing! If Gundlinde can be handed over to Crown Prince Oscar, the status of the Bavarian royal family in the German Empire will be further improved!" Prince Karl also said excitedly.

Obviously, if Qin Tian can really get together with Princess Gundlinde, they will undoubtedly be happy to see it happen.

*** Ruprecht nodded, and he didn't object to it in his heart. In his opinion, Qin Tian was undoubtedly the most outstanding young man in Germany, with a noble status, outstanding ability, and wealth that even the royal family of Bavaria could not compare to. Coupled with Qin Tian's huge influence in the imperial navy and army, even though he is still the acting crown prince, his succession to the throne in the future is almost a certainty.

"You guys are staring here, I'm going to find my father." Ruprecht **** said.

*** Ruprecht immediately went to King Ludwig III. Now King Ludwig III is in his sixties, old and not very energetic. Not long after the banquet started, he went to the lounge to rest.

"Father, Crown Prince Oscar invited Gundlinde to dance together. Among so many noble ladies, he invited Gundlinde. Does this mean that Crown Prince Oscar has taken a fancy to Gundlinde?" Ruppre Hitt was very excited.

King Ludwig III was also stunned by this sudden news. Although, the Bavarian royal family has a respected status and has great influence in the southern part of the German Empire. But it is precisely because of this that the imperial family has always been very wary of them, for fear that they will rebel. After the ambitious William II succeeded to the throne, they began to suppress the royal families in the German Empire, so that they could be more powerful. Further integrate the German Empire and launch wars abroad. Therefore, the life of the Bavarian royal family is not easy.

If the Bavarian royal family can marry the Hohenzollern family, this will undoubtedly bring the relationship between the two royal families closer. At the same time, it will also allow the Bavarian royal family to gain the trust of William II to survive this crisis.

However, even though there are many benefits, Ludwig III does not want to sacrifice the happiness of his daughter, especially Princess Gundlinde, who is his most beloved youngest daughter.

"Rupprecht, it depends on Gundlinde herself! If she likes Crown Prince Oscar, then let them be together. If Gundlinde doesn't like it, we can't force it. Do not put any pressure on them!" said King Ludwig III. This shows how much he loves his little daughter.

"Yes, Father!" Ruprecht **** nodded. However, he still believes that this is a good opportunity that the Bavarian royal family cannot miss. At the same time, he also believed that Qin Tian was undoubtedly the best match for Princess Gundlinde. Miss Ruprecht made up her mind that when she returned, she must hint to Princess Gundlind that she would not let this opportunity go.

Qin Tian invited Princess Gundlinde to dance, causing an uproar during the entire banquet. The eyes of countless people are focused on them. Of course, many people have jealousy in their eyes. For the noble ladies who put so much effort into dressing up and participating in this coming-of-age ceremony, their goal is all on Qin Tian. But Qin Tian didn't even look at them, and was directly captured by Princess Gundlinde. This undoubtedly made them very angry.

Of course, the beautiful Princess Gundlinde naturally attracted the attention of many men. It's just that Qin Tian snatched this flower that hadn't bloomed yet, which naturally made them a little bit unwilling. But even if you are not reconciled, what else can you do? They don't have the guts, and they don't have the qualifications to compete with Qin Tian for a woman. After all, they are far from being able to compare with Qin Tian in terms of status, wealth and talent.

Although, Qin Tian has no experience in dating girlfriends since his previous life. But, have you never eaten pork, haven't you seen a pig run? Especially his identity and status in this life, as well as a series of achievements, made him very confident.

While Qin Tian was dancing with Princess Gundlinde, Qin Tian was also talking to her in a low voice. Although Princess Gundlinde seemed a bit shy, Qin Tian had already set out Princess Gundlinde's preferences before the dance music was finished. This will be very helpful for him to launch the next offensive.

That's right, Qin Tian has identified this beautiful and pure girl, and wants to make her his wife.

"My dear, it seems that Oscar has a good eye! Princess Gondlindé is a very nice girl. If she can get together with Oscar, I have no objection." Princess Victoria looked at Qin Tian in the middle of the dance floor. Speak to Princess Gundelinde.

William II nodded, but didn't say much. He may be thinking about whether the marriage between the Hohenzollern family and the Bavarian royal family is a good thing or a bad thing for the empire, or whether it is good for further consolidating the Hohenzollern family's rule in the empire.

Of course, William II will not interfere with Qin Tian's choice. This son is really outstanding. He didn't want to affect the relationship between their father and son because of this matter. In that case, the gain would not be worth the loss.

After the song ended, Qin Tian said to Princess Gundlindé: "Your Royal Highness, may I have the honor to invite you to visit the garden of the palace together? There are many flowers in bloom in the garden, very beautiful!"