Chapter 1221

As the saying goes, after serving in the army for three years, a sow turns into a mink. This makes it inevitable that soldiers will do some violations of military discipline on the battlefield during the war. Especially the side that has the upper hand on the battlefield. Their behavior in the occupied area is often very cruel.

Although, no one wants that to happen. But many times, these things are unavoidable. Soldiers are highly nervous on the battlefield, and they will lose their lives if they are not careful. Therefore, they often need to vent. And the best way to vent is to do something. As long as they are not doing these things to the people of their own country or allied countries, military judges will often turn a blind eye.

With the approval of Major Schultz, the German troops in the village naturally started their venting journey.

Although there are not many young women in the village, they often have to queue up. But those German soldiers didn't care at all.

Irina is the most beautiful girl in the village. Therefore, the German soldiers who coveted her are also the most.

However, according to the practice on the battlefield, the most beautiful girl is often reserved for the person with the highest rank. After Major Schultz has enjoyed it, it will be the turn of others.

After arranging the plan to wait for a rabbit, Major Schultz walked into the house where Elena was held.

"God! What are you doing?"

Soon, Irina's screams and curses came from the room. However, this couldn't stop Major Schultz, the leader of the special forces squad, at all.

Cursing quickly turned into crying, and it was not until more than half an hour later that Major Schultz walked out of the room.

The other officers and soldiers couldn't wait to walk in.

Major Schultz specifically warned, don't kill people, it will be needed in the future. Therefore, Elena was not killed alive like other women. But even so, it was still very miserable.

In the evening, a young Russian man walked out of the forest carrying a generation of flour. He trudged through the snow with one deep foot and one shallow foot. Although there were already many beads of sweat on his forehead, there was a smile on his face.

Soon to be able to see his beloved girlfriend, this is his happiest thing.

This young man is none other than Ivan. Vasily promised to give him a generation of wheat. However, because of his performance, the wheat was eventually replaced with flour. This made Ivan very happy.

Perhaps because he had just joined the army and was excited, Ivan didn't notice anything wrong. It wasn't until he carried the flour into the village that he realized something was wrong.

Although it is cold winter, there is no one on the road in the village! What's more, now is the time to cook, but there is no house with smoke rising from it.

Ivan stopped in his tracks and looked around vigilantly. His hand reached his waist, where there was a pistol. It was captured on the battlefield yesterday, and Vasily rewarded him with this pistol.

"Don't move, move your hands away from your waist!" A voice sounded.

Ivan didn't listen to the other party, he threw away the flour on his shoulder and wanted to draw a gun.

However, as soon as he took out the pistol, the other party shot.

"boom!"

A bullet hit Ivan's hand, piercing his palm. The pistol also fell to the ground.

Several wolf-like German soldiers rushed out from the next room and pinned Ivan to the ground. Despite his constant struggle, he had no choice but to be subdued in no time in the face of a few tall and burly German soldiers. This also made Ivan's heart sink continuously. There were actually German troops in the village, which meant that he was in danger this time. At the same time, he was also very worried about Elena's safety.

"What are you going to do? I'm just an ordinary person!" Ivan said loudly.

"Ordinary people? Mr. Ivan, we know you are a guerrilla!" A German officer said in Russian.

Ivan was stunned immediately, he knew there was no way to justify.

Soon, Ivan was brought in front of Major Schultz.

Looking at the young guerrilla, Major Schultz couldn't help but smile. He knew that his goal was about to be achieved.

"Nice to meet you, heroic partisan!" Major Schultz said.

However, Ivan stared at him coldly, unmoved at all.

"Mr. Ivan, I hope you can cooperate with us and tell us your hiding place. In this case, we can let you go." Major Schultz continued.

But Ivan still didn't respond at all, as if he didn't understand Major Schultz's meaning at all.

"It seems that you don't plan to cooperate with us!" Major Schultz said.

"Come on, bring Miss Irina!"

"What are you guys going to do?" Hearing Elena's name, Ivan couldn't express anymore.

Soon, Elena was brought. At this moment, Elena was very emaciated from the torture. He was wearing a coat, but he could clearly see that he was not wearing anything underneath, and his body was still covered with scars.

"Bastards! You bastards! What did you do to my Elena?" Ivan cursed with red eyes. He struggled desperately, but those German soldiers held him tightly.

"Mr. Ivan, please calm down first. If you tell me where your guerrillas are hiding, I can choose to let you go!" Major Schultz walked in front of Ivan and asked.

"Bah! You devil, I will never betray my comrades!" Ivan stared at Major Schultz viciously. If glances could kill, I believe Major Schultz would have died many times.

"Really? That's really a pity." Major Schultz said with a smile, as if he didn't feel sorry for it.

Schultz walked to Elena's side, grabbed her hair, and lifted her entire face. At the same time, another hand moved over her body.

"What a beautiful face! What a beautiful body! Mr. Ivan, it is really enviable to have such a beautiful girlfriend. You may not know that many of my soldiers are very fond of the beautiful lady Irene. , are very eager. However, so far, only a few officers have been able to taste her beauty. If you don't cooperate with us, then I can only reward Ms. Irina to my soldiers. At that time, you should be very clear about the consequences!" Major Schultz still had a smile on his face.

However, in Ivan's eyes, Major Schultz at this moment is like the most vicious devil.

Chapter 1222

"Devil! You are all devils! You will go to hell!" Ivan cursed loudly. He desperately wanted to pounce on Major Schultz and kill the devil. However, the wolf-like German army held him tightly.

"Mr. Ivan, are you able to make a choice now?" Major Schultz asked.

"Devil! You will definitely go to hell!" Ivan stared fiercely at Major Schultz.

"Haha! Even if I'm a devil, so what? If our empire can win the war, I won't complain even if I go to hell." Major Schultz laughed.

Indeed, in the eyes of these Russians, they are like devils. However, what they did was entirely for the German Empire to be able to win the war. Therefore, they are devils in the eyes of the Russians, but at the same time they are heroes in the eyes of the Germans.

"Come on, take Miss Elena out, let the brothers enjoy it!" Major Schultz ordered.

"Yes, sir!" Several soldiers were about to take Elena away.

Seeing this scene, Ivan's eyes were about to bleed. He knew that once Elena was taken out, she would definitely be tortured to death. He absolutely cannot let this happen.

One side is his girlfriend, and the other side is his comrade-in-arms, which makes Ivan fall into a tangle.

However, when he saw that the German soldiers were about to drag Elena out, Ivan finally gave in.

"Let Elena go, I'll tell you!" Ivan said loudly.

"Very good, Mr. Ivan, it would be the best if you can cooperate." Major Schultz couldn't help laughing. Obviously, this time he won again.

"I told you the whereabouts of the guerrilla stronghold, and you are going to release Elena!" Ivan said.

"Of course, but let me remind you, you can't play tricks. Otherwise, we will never let you go. We will take you to find the guerrillas with us. Only when we are sure that we have found the guerrillas will we release you." Miss Lianna's. Otherwise, you will know the consequences of lying to us. At that time, not only Miss Irina, but the whole village will be destroyed because of you!" Major Schultz said. He didn't immediately believe Ivan just because of what he said.

Ivan couldn't help but feel a little regretful. He really wanted to fool the Germans by talking about a random place. But now it seems that these Germans are not stupid, and they are not so easy to fool.

When there is no other way, since you have already made a choice, you have to accept it.

"Captain Franz, leave a platoon to guard the entire village. If we don't find the guerrillas, we will execute all the Russians here!" Major Schultz ordered.

"Yes, sir." Captain Franz replied.

Subsequently, the German army left the village with Ivan and went to the forest to search for traces of the guerrillas.

Along the way, Ivan was very honest. Because he knew that these German troops were too strong. Now that it has fallen into their hands, it is impossible to escape. What's more, the Germans threatened him with the civilians in the village, and Elena was still in the hands of the Germans. This left Ivan with no other choice but to follow the wishes of the Germans.

It was not until midnight that Ivan led the German army to a place not far from the guerrilla stronghold.

"I can't move forward anymore, there are guerrilla sentries in front!" Ivan said.

Major Schultz nodded: "Come on, arrange someone to investigate!"

The two special forces then disappeared into the darkness. They are the most elite soldiers selected by the entire army, and things like investigation are completely trivial matters.

In less than an hour, the two scouts came back.

"Sir, there is indeed a camp fifteen kilometers ahead. We looked at it from a distance and found that at least two hundred people live here. There are many traps and sentries left by the guerrillas along the way. In order not to startle the enemy, we did not move them." A special soldier said.

The translator probably intended to let Ivan know the content, so he translated it to him verbatim.

Ivan's eyes suddenly showed a hint of surprise. Originally, he knew that these Germans were very powerful, but now it seemed that the strength of these Germans was far beyond his expectations!

Just two people can avoid the traps and secret sentinels set by the guerrillas, and find out what's going on inside. It can be seen that these German troops are definitely the elite among the elite. He also knew that this time the guerrillas were probably doomed. For the guerrillas, he was full of guilt, and he could only pray for their forgiveness in his heart.

Major Schultz nodded, and then said: "Everyone, take a break! Tomorrow morning, surround the stronghold of the guerrillas and launch an attack! This time, we must wipe them all out."

"Yes, sir!" Everyone replied.

This time, in addition to more than 20 elite special forces, Major Schultz also had two reconnaissance companies. Although the second reconnaissance company lacked a platoon, their total strength was close to 400. In addition, these elite special forces and scouts, no matter the weapons and equipment they use or their personal combat effectiveness, are definitely not comparable to these guerrillas. Therefore, there will be absolutely no surprises in this battle. There will be no problem in getting rid of these guerrillas.

After a few hours, the sky gradually brightened.

Major Schultz looked at the time on his watch, it was already 8 o'clock in the morning.

This is deep in the forest, and there are few people. In addition, the weather is very cold now, and the guerrillas almost all hid in the wooden huts to keep warm. Except for a small number of sentries, there is no threat at all to the German army.

"Special forces dispatched first, cleared out the guerrilla sentries! The 2nd reconnaissance company and the 3rd reconnaissance company spread out and surrounded them. This time, not a single guerrilla can be let go." Major Schultz ordered.

"Yes, sir."

The special forces were dispatched, and they began to clean up the secret posts of the guerrillas. In this way, it will not be discovered by the guerrillas in advance.

At the same time, the scouts of the two reconnaissance companies also dispersed far away. Wait until the special forces succeed before launching an attack.

Major Schultz had a smile on his face. He believed that they were about to win.

And Ivan's face was full of self-blame. He seemed to have seen that one by one his comrades died tragically in front of him. If it weren't for him, these partisans would not have been wiped out by the Germans.

Chapter 1223

A guerrilla leans against a pine tree, yawning. He is a sentinel sent by the guerrillas. It's daylight now, and it won't be long before someone comes to replace him. This made him relax as a whole.

Suddenly, a man in a white camouflage suit appeared behind him. He covered his mouth and nose with one hand. The guerrilla wanted to struggle, but a dagger pierced his chest with lightning speed.

Blood flowed from his body and fell on the snow, leaving a shocking red color.

The special forces of the German army fought one after another. In less than half an hour, the sentries sent by the guerrillas, whether they were clear or hidden, were all cleaned up. Some traps used for early warning were also completely destroyed. These are nothing to the most elite special forces of the German army.

"Sir, it has been cleaned up." A special soldier reported to Major Schultz.

"Attack!" Major Schultz ordered.

The scouts of the two reconnaissance companies immediately went to the guerrilla camp. In order to strengthen the firepower of the attack, four tracked armored combat vehicles and 12 half-track armored personnel carriers also participated in the attack. The top of the armored combat vehicle is equipped with a twin 20mm cannon and two 7.62mm heavy machine guns. The top of the personnel carrier is equipped with a 12.7mm heavy machine gun and a 7.62mm heavy machine gun.

"Crunch, crunch!"

"Crack!"

The tracks of the tank crushed the snow, making a sound. In particular, some trees were crushed by armored vehicles, making loud noises.

When the German troops were not far from the guerrilla camp, the guerrillas hiding in the wooden house finally found out, and a guerrilla opened the door and walked out.

When the guerrilla saw the black armored vehicle, the expression on his face suddenly became very ugly, and it could even be described as panic.

"Enemy attack! The Germans are coming!" The guerrilla shouted in horror.

The other guerrillas rushed out immediately after hearing the shout. They also found German armored vehicles and soldiers approaching them from all directions.

"Boom boom boom!"

The armored combat vehicle opened fire, and the dense shells fell on the Russian camp and exploded.

Although the power of the 20mm machine gun is not great, it is enough to pose a fatal threat to the fragile human body.

In a panic, the guerrillas were blown to pieces. The wooden house they lived in was also destroyed in the explosion and began to burn.

"Bang! Bang! Bang! Da da da!"

The attacking German special forces and scouts also took this opportunity to start shooting, shooting and killing these Russian guerrillas.

"Ah! Ah!"

The screams continued to sound, and under the attack of these elite German troops, the guerrillas were constantly shot and killed. In front of these elite German troops, they were completely vulnerable, and they didn't even have the power to fight back.

"Quick, retreat! Retreat!" The guerrilla captain Vasily shouted. He knew that this time, for the entire guerrilla team, it was a matter of life and death. Although, it is not known why their stronghold was exposed, but there is no time to think about it now. Finding a way to break out is the most important thing.

"Uncle Vasily, there are Germans on all sides. They have strong firepower and armored vehicles. We can't rush out at all!" said a guerrilla covered in blood.

At this time, there was a strange sound in the sky. It was the sound of the helicopter's propeller stirring the air.

Four helicopters flew over the camp.

"Whoo! Whoo! Whoo!"

The rocket launching nest mounted under the helicopter began to shoot, and one after another, the rockets roared towards the guerrilla camp.

Intensive explosions sounded immediately, and it is unknown how many guerrillas were torn to pieces in the explosion.

"Da da da!"

The heavy machine guns on the helicopter began to fire, and the condescending firepower made the guerrillas on the ground invisible.

A guerrilla lying on the ground and shooting at the German army had his entire back beaten into a sieve.

The hatch of the helicopter opened, and a German soldier with a safety rope was manipulating a 7.62mm heavy machine gun, pouring firepower on the ground, and further used powerful firepower to attack these guerrillas.

There were screams one after another, and under the superior firepower of the German army, the entire guerrilla camp seemed to be engulfed in a sea of flames.

Under the attack method of the German army, the guerrillas had no power to fight back at all, and the losses were very large.

Not far from the guerrilla camp, Major Schultz watched this scene with a smile on his face. And Ivan was beside him. Seeing that the entire camp was engulfed in flames, and countless comrades in arms were slaughtered by the Germans, Ivan's face was full of self-blame. He knew that if it wasn't for his betrayal, the Germans wouldn't have come here so easily. The guerrillas might not die either.

"It's all me, I'm the one who killed everyone! You devil, I'll fight with you!" Ivan roared angrily, and he rushed towards Major Schultz, trying to kill Major Schultz.

However, Major Schultz moved much faster than him. He punched Ivan in the stomach, knocking him to the ground, bowing his body like a shrimp.

But when Ivan struggled to get up from the ground, Major Schultz took out a pistol and aimed it at his head.

"Now, you are useless! Thank you, Mr. Ivan!" Major Schultz showed a cruel smile on his face.

"I regret it so much, I knew that cooperating with you devils would not end well!" Ivan cried, his intestines were green from regret.

"Mr. Ivan, you woke up too late. In order to thank you, I will let Miss Irina accompany you!" Major Schultz finished speaking and pulled the trigger.

"boom!"

Gunshots sounded, and a bullet hole appeared in Ivan's head. His eyes were full of hatred, but there was nothing he could do. Eventually, his body fell to the ground in the snow.

The battle ended soon. Under the powerful firepower of the German army, the guerrillas had no power to resist at all. Some partisans wanted to surrender, but no one paid any attention to them, and the German army shot them directly with powerful firepower.

The battle ended when the entire camp was reduced to scorched earth.

"Clean the battlefield, make sure there are no survivors, and then evacuate!" Major Schultz ordered.

"Yes, sir!"

The German army quickly withdrew from the forest, and when they left the village of Ipoca, they set the whole village on fire.

Chapter 1224

The cloth party is undoubtedly very good at developing guerrillas and leading guerrillas to fight. Before launching the revolution and successfully seizing the leadership of Russia, under the suppression of the Tsarist Russian government, they formed guerrillas in various places, especially in the mountainous areas. Even the current supreme leader of Bu Russia, Joseph, also led the guerrillas. There's even an occasional cameo as a bandit.

In this war, Bu Russia suffered heavy losses. Therefore, they once again resorted to the magic weapon of guerrillas, hoping to develop a large number of guerrillas to threaten the German occupied areas, further contain the power of the German army, and help Bu Russia resist the German attack on the frontal battlefield.

However, when the German army dispatched a large number of elite guerrillas to encircle and suppress Bu Russia, the effect they achieved was far less than expected. The German army invested a large number of special forces and reconnaissance forces in the occupied area as the main force to encircle and suppress these guerrillas. Helicopters, armored vehicles, etc. cooperated with each other, making the Russian guerrillas unable to parry.

In the cold winter, guerrillas lacking supplies for the winter had to attack German military depots or supply lines. Only by grabbing those supplies can they survive this winter. Otherwise, they would starve to death and freeze to death. The German army also seized this opportunity and launched a large-scale encirclement and suppression campaign against the guerrillas.

Almost every day, a large number of guerrillas are wiped out. The guerrillas developed in Bu Russia were almost devastated. This has also greatly changed the security situation in the German-occupied areas. Especially after the main force of the guerrillas was wiped out, the German logistics supply line can be regarded as safe.

All that the German army has done is naturally to prepare for the next large-scale offensive. 1940 will be a crucial year for Germany. The German army is preparing to completely defeat Bu Russia in this year's war. Even if Bu Russia cannot be destroyed, most of Bu Russia's power must be eliminated in this battle, so that Germany can turn its energy to other enemies.

Emperor Qin Tian also paid attention to the encirclement and suppression of the guerrillas in the occupied area many times during the war meeting. This made the Supreme Command and the front-line generals pay great attention to the war to wipe out the guerrillas. It also enabled the front-line troops to mobilize elites to participate in the war of encircling and suppressing the guerrillas. From the current point of view, these encirclement and suppression undoubtedly played a very good role, which made Qin Tian also express his satisfaction.

Although, in the cold winter, it is not suitable for large-scale military operations. However, the German army regarded encirclement and suppression of guerrillas and strategic bombing as two important tactics launched against Bu Russia. The former is to clean up the occupied area and prepare for the next large-scale offensive, while the latter is to weaken the war potential of Bu Russia and also prepare for the future large-scale offensive.

Moscow, Kremlin.

All the staff have been cautious recently, because they are very clear that Comrade Joseph has become more and more prone to anger recently. Several staff members have been angered before, exiled to Siberia, or sent directly to the front line. This made the other staff members have to be more careful, fearing that they would follow in the footsteps of others.

The reason why Joseph's temper is getting worse and worse is precisely the military strikes launched by the German army against Bu Russia during this period of time. In particular, the strategic bombing of the Luftwaffe caused one after another the rear cities to be bombed into ruins, a large number of factories were bombed, and the production of various weapons and equipment was greatly affected. This also made the armed mobilization of Bu Russia inevitably affected.

There is no doubt that this will make the war potential of Bu Russia continue to decline. Once the troops lost on the front line cannot be replenished in time, can they be counted on to resist the continuous attack of the German army and the slave army?

In addition, Germany's planned extermination of the guerrillas is also constantly weakening the war power of Russia. Joseph originally placed great expectations on these guerrillas. But now, they can only watch them being wiped out by the German army. It is foreseeable that after these guerrillas have suffered heavy losses, they may not be able to help much in the next war.

"Comrade Joseph, the United States has agreed to provide us with a batch of air defense warning radars and aircraft engines. In this way, we will be able to establish an air defense warning network in three months at the latest. In the future, we will be able to detect Germany in advance. Human air strikes have been dealt with in advance." Admiral Astakhov reported to Joseph.

"What's the use of that? Can we prevent the Germans from attacking us?" Joseph asked coldly.

"This... I'm afraid we can't. At best, we can evacuate the workers in the factory in advance, let the anti-aircraft fire enter in advance, and deploy them well. When the Germans start air strikes, they will cause them greater losses." Admiral Astakhov Said.

"Just this is not enough. We must have the strength to fight against the Luftwaffe, and we must stop their air strikes on us. In that way, we can defend our airspace and ensure that we are no longer attacked by the Germans." Air strikes," Joseph said.

"Yes, Comrade Joseph." Admiral Astakhov said hastily.

However, he also knew that it would undoubtedly be very difficult to complete the task assigned by Joseph. With the current strength of the Russian Air Force, it is almost very difficult to do it.

"In addition, the United States will provide us with a batch of aircraft engines. On this basis, we can serve the Yak-1 fighter jets as soon as possible. And the performance is more advanced than the Yak-1 fighter jets equipped with our domestic engines. At that time, We have the strength to compete with the Germans for air supremacy." Astakhov continued.

Joseph nodded. After all, the Russian Air Force needs to become stronger so that it can withstand the attack of the Luftwaffe. However, they need time. What the Russian Air Force lacks the most is time.

"Comrade Joseph, during the German air strikes, we shot down many fighter planes. We also captured hundreds of German pilots. How should we deal with those pilots?" Admiral Astakhov asked for instructions. road.

Joseph thought for a while, and then said: "Execute! They killed so many Russians, they can't let them live anymore."

"Yes, Comrade Joseph." Admiral Astakhov nodded.

Whether it is Joseph or Astakhov, they seem to have never considered the existence of the "Geneva Convention".

Chapter 1225

Moscow, Red Square, crowded with people.

A large number of Muscovites gathered here, because today the execution of the German pilot will be executed.

In the center of Red Square, hundreds of gallows were erected, and a German pilot was hung on each gallows. They were pilots of German warplanes shot down in previous wars. Most of them were bomber pilots.

When the German Air Force carried out strategic bombing of Russia, it bombed targets located in the hinterland of Russia. This makes it almost impossible for them to escape if they are shot down. Except for those pilots who died on the spot, the rest fell into the hands of the Russian army.

After capturing these German pilots, the Russian NKVD interrogated them. They hoped to get something useful from these pilots. For example, the aircraft performance of the Luftwaffe and so on.

Actually, apart from understanding the performance of the aircraft, these pilots didn't know much about the rest. But this is already very useful for the Russian Air Force. At least, they can better understand the performance of the Luftwaffe's fighter jets, and then use this to formulate a better response plan. Once they have fighters that can match the Luftwaffe's fighters, they will be able to fight it.

Some pilots are very brave and loyal. Even if they are captured by the Russians, they will never reveal the slightest confidence. Their fate was undoubtedly miserable, and they were killed by the Russian NKVD in a cruel way. The remaining pilots were all taken to Red Square and dealt with uniformly. The purpose of doing so is nothing more than to further stimulate the people and enhance their confidence.

"Comrades, these people are all devils from Germany. They flew planes, destroyed our cities, blew up our factories, and slaughtered our people. I don't know how many people died in their bombing. Our country is being ravaged by them. However, the great Russians will not retreat and compromise. We will fight back against the Germans under the leadership of the party and finally defeat them. Let them know that the great party is absolutely impossible to defeat the country and the country!" said the Russian general in charge of the disposal.

The Russians watching almost all stared at the hanged pilots with hatred. Although Moscow was not bombed by the Luftwaffe, they knew what the Germans were doing through the radio and newspapers. Almost everyone hates Germany very much and wants to destroy Germany.

"Kill them! Kill these Germans!" The Russians all shouted.

On a gallows, a young German pilot is watching these Russians perform. He knows Russian, so he knows what they are talking about. He knew that this time they were doomed.

"Hey, Hans, what are the Russians saying?" asked a pilot next to him.

"The Russians are going to hang us all!" Hans said.

"Damn, these savages. They are a serious violation of the Geneva Conventions."

"These Russians will not abide by the 'Geneva Convention.' However, if they hang us in such an open manner, the empire will definitely know what they have done. At that time, the empire will definitely avenge us!" An older man said the pilot.

"Yes, we are dead this time. However, the empire will never let the Russians go. They will pay a greater price for this!"

The other pilots also said. Everyone knows that at this point, it is almost doomed to survive. Frightened as some were, they believed that the Empire would avenge them.

"Execution, hang these Germans!" The Russian general gave an order.

"The Empire will win! The Empire will avenge us!" shouted the German pilots.

Countless Russians watched this scene fanatically, they screamed loudly, as if they had won a great victory by hanging these German pilots.

Hundreds of meters of German pilots were all hanged on Red Square. The German intelligence personnel who were among the crowd watched all this angrily. The Russians wantonly massacred prisoners of war, which is a serious violation of the "Geneva Convention." But now it seems that the Russians don't take the so-called "Geneva Convention" seriously at all!

"No, we must pass the news back, let the country know the atrocities of these Russians, and let them avenge these dead pilots!" An intelligence officer said secretly.

Before the war began, German intelligence agencies had left a lot of seeds in Russia. Many of these are leftovers from a time when the two countries worked closely together. Others are white goose elements who oppose Bu Russia. They are extremely hostile to Bu Russia, so they choose to cooperate with German intelligence agencies and sell Bu Russia's intelligence. If Germany can destroy Bu Russia and destroy this country, I believe they will be very happy to see it.

The fact that Bu Russia hanged hundreds of pilots in Red Square cannot be hidden from anyone at all. Not only Germany soon found out, but other countries also learned about it. However, except for Germany, other countries did not respond. In particular, the United States, which uses the slogan of defending human rights, seems to have ignored the news. You know, although they are not participating in the war now, they and Russia are about to wear a pair of pants. Russia's execution of captured German pilots certainly violated the "Geneva Convention", but the United States will never condemn Bu Russia for this, they will just turn a blind eye.

Germany, Berlin, Imperial Palace.

General Heydrich, the head of the Imperial Intelligence Bureau, immediately reported the news to Emperor Qin Tian.

After Qin Tian found out, his face immediately became very ugly. Although human life is very fragile in war, the fate of prisoners of war is even more miserable, and it is even more common to be killed. However, the blatant execution of the captured German pilot by the Russians is undoubtedly a slap in the face of Germany. It will even have a great impact on the morale of the Luftwaffe. In that case, many pilots will worry that they will be shot down when they carry out the strategic bombing of Russia.

"The behavior of the Russians is too cruel! The empire will never tolerate it. I demand revenge on the Russians from now on!" Qin Tian said with a dark face. He knew that this issue had to be dealt with properly, otherwise, it would affect the morale of the army, which would not be conducive to the large-scale attack to be launched next.

"Your Majesty is right. We absolutely cannot tolerate the cruel behavior of the Russians. We must retaliate against them!" Air Force Minister Albert Kesselring immediately expressed his opinion.

Hundreds of pilots died tragically, which made him very distressed. Although, when those pilots were shot down, he knew that their chances of surviving were very small. But such a loss still made him unacceptable. You must know that every pilot is precious. Even the pilots of bombers need to spend a lot of time and materials to train them. After being shot down, if it can be rescued again, it can also attack again. But now, the Russians directly hanged them, cutting off all hope.

"Yes, Your Majesty. We must retaliate against the Russians, and we cannot let those pilots die in vain. Since the Russians do not abide by the Geneva Convention, there is no need for us to abide by it. We can also not take Russian prisoners during the war!" Marshal Manstein said.

"In this case, I am afraid that it is in the arms of the Russians." The new Foreign Minister Ribbentrop said.

"Oh? Why do you say that?" Marshal Manstein asked.

"If we don't want Russian prisoners of war, those Russian soldiers will still die after they are captured. Then, they will fight us desperately during the war. In this way, their combat effectiveness can be improved instead. Let us pay more on the battlefield Large casualties. Russia generally doesn't care about the life and death of those prisoners of war. What they want is to win the war. As long as they can win the war, they don't care no matter how many people die. Therefore, the Russians absolutely I wish we could execute the prisoners!" said Ribbentrop.

"Cunning Russians!" Marshal Manstein couldn't help cursing.

Qin Tian's face became even more ugly. The Russian government clearly set a trap, waiting for Germany to jump into it. If Russia also executes prisoners of war, this is exactly what they want.

"Then what should we do? Should we do nothing?" Marshal Albert Kesselring asked.

"Of course we can't just do nothing, we have to fight back against the Russians!" Qin Tian said.

All eyes fell on Qin Tian.

"Order our air force to shoot down Russian planes during missions and find some pilots who have parachuted, shoot them! Those Russian pilots, after successful parachute jumping, will still take off to fight next time! In addition, in the strategic bombing When the time comes, you don't have to worry about it anymore." Qin Tian said coldly.

Since Russia dared to execute the captured German pilots, it ignored the Geneva Convention. Then, Germany also no longer has to abide by the "Geneva Convention".

"Yes, Your Majesty." Marshal Albert Kesselring replied.

Such a means of retaliation, although not as drastic as the execution of all Russian prisoners of war. However, there is no doubt that the attack on the Russian Air Force can be further increased. Although Russia has a large number of pilots, it has also lost a lot after the war revenge. If these Russian pilots can also be killed during the battle, then the strength of the Russian Air Force will become weaker and weaker. After all, training a pilot is not that easy.

At the same time, the German government also reported the execution of the captured pilot by the Russian government to the people of the German Empire and all allied countries through television, radio and newspapers. This almost aroused the indignation of the people of the entire Allied countries. Everyone regarded the Bu Russian government as a demon, and demanded that the Bu Russian government be severely punished and completely eliminated.

At the same time, the pilots of the Luftwaffe were also filled with righteous indignation. Although the Russians' actions did make these German pilots feel a little worried, for fear that they would be killed after being shot down during the battle. However, what they think more about is to save those comrades who died.

Next, the Luftwaffe's strategic bombing of Russia was not affected and continued. Moreover, as the number of BF-110 fighter jets in service increases, the strength of escorts becomes stronger and stronger. Once the Russian Air Force dares to launch fighter jets to intercept them, they will often be defeated.

On January 18, 1940, the German Air Force launched a strategic bombing of Ufa. The Russian army dispatched more than 200 P-40 fighter jets and more than 300 I-16 fighter jets to intercept. However, they were attacked by more than 400 escorted BF-110 fighter jets.

The performance gap between the fighters of the two sides is too large, and the gap in the quality of the pilots is also very large. So much so that in air combat, the battle is almost one-sided. The pilots of the Russian Air Force could not resist the attack of the * fighter jets of the Luftwaffe. A large number of Russian fighter planes were shot down almost in an instant.

The Russian pilots who were shot down almost all chose to parachute. This is the hinterland of Russia. They can be rescued after parachuting. As long as their luck is not too bad, there is no problem in keeping their lives alive. If the plane is lost, it can be remanufactured, and the pilot is the real precious wealth. Therefore, the Russian Air Force also attaches great importance to the rescue of these pilots.

However, those Russian pilots who parachuted quickly knew that it was not so easy to survive. Because those German fighter jets rushed at the parachuting pilots.

"Da da da!"

Aviation machine guns began to fire, and the Russian pilots who parachuted were shot one after another. Bullets pierced their bodies, and blood flowed out and drifted with the wind.

"Damn, those Germans actually did something to the parachuting pilot!"

The pilots of the Russian Air Force were all frightened. They thought that even if they were hit, it would be no big deal and they could escape by parachuting. But now they know that even skydiving can't survive!

"Despicable Germans, you will go to hell!"

"Damn the Germans, they are so cruel!"

Those Russian pilots who parachuted cursed the Luftwaffe pilots. After skydiving, they don't even have the ability to dodge. This left them at the mercy of the Luftwaffe.

These Russian pilots seem to have forgotten how elated they were when they saw the news of the hanging of the German pilot. In a blink of an eye, retribution came, and the Germans directly ignored the "Geneva Convention" and opened fire on these skydivers.

Many Russian pilots were shot dead before landing after parachuting. This made the Russian Air Force's losses begin to increase further, even much greater than that of the German Air Force.

In addition, the German Air Force often had no scruples when conducting strategic bombing, causing greater casualties to Russia.

Chapter 1227

In Tokyo in late January, the weather is very cold. A lot of snow accumulated on the roofs, and even some people's houses were crushed and collapsed. The ground in the street is muddy and dirty everywhere.

The Tokyo of this era is not the Tokyo of half a century later. Because almost all of the gross national product is used to develop military power, this makes the island government's investment in other areas naturally less. Even the government is so indebted that it is on the verge of collapse. If it weren't for the continuous support of the Americans and the frenzied exploitation of ordinary people by the island government, the island government would have been unable to sustain it for a long time.

After failing to seek to join the Allies, the island government also gave up those unrealistic thoughts, continued to be a dog to the Americans, and began to mobilize, preparing to join the war.

The elites of the island government are very clear that after Germany rejects their request, it will be impossible for the two sides to live in peace, and both sides will be rivals. Therefore, the only thing they can do is to do their best to participate in this war and win this war so that they can win the war. Only in this way can the island country continue to exist and develop better and stronger! Once Germany wins the war, in order to stabilize its status as the world's hegemon, it will definitely destroy the island country. Therefore, the island nation has no other choice.

As a country with a population of more than 70 million and completed industrialization, the strength of the island country is beyond doubt. Although the tactics used by their army are still in the last world war, the weapons and equipment are not very advanced. However, their fearless will to fight still makes other countries panic. Once the fighting power of the island country is fully released, it will undoubtedly be very terrifying. Therefore, the United States has great expectations for island countries to participate in the war. Otherwise, they would not have crazily supported the island country after the end of the last world war, in order to make the island country stronger. Fortunately, in this world war, it will bring greater power to Germany. Trouble.

Although, during the period, it almost happened that the dog of the island country turned against its owner. However, in the end everything is still in the hands of the Americans. The island nation has returned to the right path. This time, Hopkins went to the island country for a secret visit as President Roosevelt's special envoy, precisely because the time promised by the island country was approaching.

Tokyo, Prime Minister's Office. Prime Minister Konoe Fumimaro, Foreign Minister Kazunari Ugaki, Prime Minister Ikeda Narumi, Minister of Land Seishiro Itagaki, and Minister of Marine Mitsumasa Yonechi are in a meeting. After the emperor had become a puppet and the elders passed away one by one, the five ministers of the cabinet finally fully controlled all the power of the country. In the absence of human constraints, the entire island country is completely in their hands. They can decide the fate of this country, and they can decide the way this country will go next.

"Ugaki-kun, when will the US special envoy arrive in Tokyo?" Konoe Fumimaro asked.

"Your Excellency, Prime Minister, calculate the time, and you will arrive in Tokyo tomorrow morning. At that time, will I come to have a meeting with him, or should he come to see Your Excellency the Prime Minister directly?" Ugaki Kazushige asked.

Konoe Fumimaro thought for a while, and then said: "Just let him come to the Prime Minister's Office!"

The island country's participation in the war is already on the verge of death, and it has to be done. If they refuse again this time, the US government will definitely impose sanctions on them. Last time, the island nation intended to join the Allies, but failed, and the US government threatened them. It was only when the island countries swore not to betray that the United States let them go. Although the island country is a big country, its own resources are too frequent, which makes them attach great importance to the support of the United States. Without the steel, oil, and even food backed by the US, the island nation would collapse very quickly. Therefore, the current island countries simply cannot disobey the orders of the United States.

However, the island government is very unwilling. They were willing to be the dogs of the Americans at the beginning, but there is no way. But now, their situation is much better. Coupled with the expansion of military strength, their ambitions will naturally revive. Besides, in the current war, Germany has the absolute upper hand, and the United States urgently needs the help of the island country, which gives the island country a chance to raise conditions.

Ugaki Kazunari nodded and didn't say much.

"My lords, the empire is about to join the war, and no one can change this. Are we ready for battle?" Konoe Fumimaro asked. He was still a little uneasy about it. After all, based on their previous wargame deduction and the strong strength shown by Germany, they all believe that Germany has a high possibility of winning. It is very difficult to win unless you do your best. This also means that they only have one chance. If it fails, the island nation may never have a future.

"Your Excellency Prime Minister, the army has completed the mobilization of one hundred divisions. And the mobilization will continue. By the end of this year, we will form a total of two hundred divisions. By then, our army will occupy Nanyang, Occupy Australia and even India," said Lu Minister Seishiro Itagaki. In the past, the standing army of the Japanese Army had only fifty divisions. But after being rejected to join the Allies, they quickly mobilized 50 divisions, bringing the strength of the island army to 100 divisions and more than 2 million people. However, this is far from the limit for the island country. With their population, mobilizing five million troops is a breeze.

"The Imperial Navy is also ready for battle. Once the war starts, we will do our best to defeat the German Pacific Fleet and Indian Ocean Fleet!" Said the Minister of the Sea Mitsumasa Minai.

However, Minai Mitsumasa did not have complete confidence. Although the strength of the navy of the island country is very strong, the strength of the German navy is also not weak. The island nation's navy does not even have a clear advantage. Therefore, they can only pray that their luck will be better. In this case, it may be possible to win a big victory at sea. By then, almost the entire Western Pacific will belong to them. Only when the navy wins, can the army of the island country be able to sweep across the entire Southeast Asia and Australia like locusts, and even further afield.

"Very good! Gentlemen, although this war is very dangerous for the empire, why is this not an opportunity? If we can win, then the empire will become one of the most powerful countries in the world!" Prime Minister Fumimaro Konoe said.

Chapter 1228

"Gentlemen, the US special envoy is coming soon. So, what should we ask of the Americans this time?" Konoe Fumimaro asked.

Although, they are very clear that Americans have been raising the island country as a dog. However, they definitely don't want this to go on forever. Now the island nations have to take part in the war, but they want to be able to do so as allies. And after defeating the Germans, they can share the benefits they deserve. In this case, they will undoubtedly be able to satisfy them. After all, Germany is too powerful. Even if the island country can win this war, the losses it will pay will not be small. Therefore, they must fight for more interests for themselves.

"Your Excellency, after the war, if we can defeat the Germans, then Southeast Asia, Australia, and the islands occupied by Germany in the Pacific Ocean must belong to us! Only in this way can we have enough room for strategic maneuvering. Only in the future international society will we have the capital to confront the United States!" Foreign Minister Kazushige Ugaki said.

Once Germany really falls, the United States will undoubtedly become the most powerful country in the world. In the Pacific Ocean, the island countries and the United States will have great confrontations and even conflicts because of their interests because of the absence of the threat of Germany. The mainland of the island country is too small and lacks resources, so there is little room for maneuver. But if they can win Nanyang and Australia, then their room for maneuver will be much greater.

"That's right, Nanyang and Australia must be taken. This is what our soldiers snatched from the hands of the Germans through sacrifice. Those lands must belong to us." Seishiro Itagaki said.

If Nanyang and Australia are combined, the territory is dozens of times that of the island country. Moreover, these areas are rich in resources, which have long made the islanders salivate. If the island country can occupy these territories, there is no doubt that the strength of the island country will be further improved. There may not be no chance of competing with the United States for hegemony in the future.

Although, the island country has not yet joined the war, let alone defeated Germany. But this does not prevent them from starting to fantasize about what kind of benefits the island country will get after winning the victory.

"The United States should not refuse our request in order to let us participate in the war against the Germans. If possible, it is best to get India as well. The Germans are crazily plundering India's wealth and resources, which makes Germany In the past two decades, it has grown stronger. If we can occupy India, the take-off of the empire is just around the corner." Said Prime Minister Ikeda Chengbin.

For India, this rich land, the island country is naturally coveted. It's just that their strength is relatively too weak, so that they have no way to occupy India at all, and can only drool on one side. Now, the opportunity has finally come. If Germany can be defeated, perhaps India can be snatched from the German rule.

"We can use India as a condition for negotiating with the United States. However, it is estimated that the Americans will not agree." Konoe Fumimaro said. Although he is also eager to occupy India, he knows how unrealistic this requirement is.

"We asked for a lot of money, and the Americans paid back the money when they landed. Let's talk to them first!" Ikeda Chengbin said.

Konoe Fumimaro nodded.

"Your Excellency Prime Minister, don't forget that after defeating Germany, you can claim huge war reparations from Germany and its allies. We must get a large part of this huge war reparation!" Ikeda Chengbin continued Said.

The current island government is so poor that it is almost like pants. If Germany can be defeated, and then huge war reparations are extorted from the entire Allied member states, then they can not only pay off all foreign debts, but also have a lot left. At that time, they will have more money to develop the country's economy, which has already improved the living standards of the people. Although the islanders are tough in character, they can bear hardships and stand hard work. However, since the Meiji Restoration, they have been tightening their belts to support the government. It has been suffering for more than half a century now, if they are allowed to continue to suffer, the people will definitely not be able to accept it. In order to maintain the stability of the country's rule, they must make changes.

Konoe Fumimaro nodded: "We can discuss this issue with the Americans. This time we will be the main country fighting against Germany. Even if the Americans want a little more, we can at least get a quarter of the war reparations." Row."

The main countries of this anti-German alliance are the United States, Russia, the Islands, and the United Kingdom. The United Kingdom is lingering on its last legs and lacks strength. Naturally, it is impossible to obtain much war reparations. But the island government believes that they are the main force comparable to Russia. Therefore, they deserve a quarter or more. Of course, the United States, as the leading brother and also the master of the island people, received more war reparations after the war, which is also a matter of course.

"Your Excellency, in addition to the distribution of benefits after the war, the Americans also need to do their best to support us during the war. Once the war starts, the consumption of various resources will soar rapidly. We need enough steel and coal, oil and other resources. These resources are heavily dependent on the support of the Americans. If these materials are not supplied in time, this will seriously affect the combat effectiveness of our army. Therefore, this is absolutely the most important point." reminded.

What I said before is the division of interests after the war, and there is a prerequisite, that is, Germany must be defeated. Only by winning against Germany can they share these benefits. If defeated, then naturally everything will be over. At that time, let alone those coveted benefits, even if you want to keep the country, it will become a delusion.

"Yes, winning this war is the most important thing. The warriors of the empire went to fight the Americans, and the Americans naturally had to ensure our supplies. Otherwise, how would we fight this battle?" Konoe Fumimaro said .

"Gentlemen, I know everyone's request. After the American ambassador arrives, I will have a meeting with him. I believe that the Americans will definitely agree to our request. As long as we can win in future wars Then, the future of the empire will be bright!" Konoe Fumimaro said.

"The empire will win!" The ministers of these island countries also have infinite visions for the future.

Among the expectations of the island government, the US special envoy Hopkins arrived in Tokyo on a transport plane converted from a B-17 bomber.

Chapter 1229

The foreign minister of the island, Kazushige Ugaki, personally greeted Hopkins at the airport. When he saw the B-17 bomber and heard about it, Ugaki Kazusei immediately went up to meet it.

The huge B-17 bomber brought great shock to Ugaki Kazushige. Although he doesn't understand military affairs, he knows that the island country does not have such a huge fighter plane as the B-17 bomber. On the one hand, island countries lack relevant technologies. On the other hand, building heavy bombers is too costly and resource-intensive. The resources of the island country are not rich in the first place, and there are not so many resources to waste. If you have the resources to build heavy bombers, you might as well build a few more Zero fighters.

Of course, this does not prevent the islanders from hating heavy bombers. The senior officials of the Army Air Force of the island country have applied for the construction of heavy bombers many times. In particular, Germany began to carry out strategic bombing against Russia, and the powerful power of heavy bombers was revealed, which made the islanders eager to own such heavy bombers. But unfortunately, the high-level officials of the island country still rejected their request. Because war is about to break out. All the resources of the island nation must be used to win the war. Unless the island countries occupy Southeast Asia and Australia and have a lot of resources, it is impossible for them to build such heavy bombers.

Hopkins came down the gangway. With a smile on Ugaki's face, Ugaki immediately went up to meet him.

After a brief exchange of pleasantries, the two sides drove to the Prime Minister's Office.

Originally, Kazusei Ugaki planned to arrange for Hopkins to go to the post house to rest first. After all, in this era, taking a long-distance flight by plane is definitely not an enjoyment, but a deep torture. Hopkins also looked tired when he got off the plane.

However, Hopkins was unwilling to waste time and directly asked for talks with the Prime Minister of the island country Fumimaro Konoe.

When Hopkins arrived at the prime minister, the five cabinet ministers of the island were all gathered here. They will all participate in this meeting. Of course, Konoe Fumimaro talked with Hopkins most of all. Others are at best offering opinions.

"Your Excellency Special Envoy, welcome to the island country!" Konoe Fumimaro smiled.

In the conference room at this moment, there are no other people except Hopkins and the five ministers of the island's cabinet. The translation was performed by Foreign Minister Kazunari Ugaki. It can be seen that this meeting is undoubtedly very confidential.

"Your Excellency, hello. I am an envoy to the island country under the order of Your Excellency the President. Presumably, you are also very clear about my purpose. The current war situation is already very critical. The war launched by Germany against Bu-Russia, let Bu Russia has already paid a huge price. Now, the Russian government is almost unable to survive. Therefore, the US government hopes that the island country government can fulfill its promise and start war against Germany as soon as possible! Otherwise, if it continues to drag on, it may be An accident happened. Once Germany wins this war, it will be a disaster for other countries in the world, and no country will be able to mobilize Germany's hegemony anymore! Other countries will suffer The Germans were suppressed and even destroyed." Hopkins said straight to the point. He did not hide anything about his intentions and the intentions of the US government. In fact, there is no need to hide it. After all, it's a well-known fact. He believes that the island government also understands this very well.

Besides, now they can be said to be people on the same boat. If the ship sinks, no one can escape.

The cabinet ministers of the island country are also well aware of this. They all know that no one can change the fact that they participated in the war. It's just that they hope to take this opportunity to grab as many benefits and benefits as possible for the island country.

"Your Excellency, we promised to go to war with Germany in January this year. This will never change. However, the Germans are too strong, and we must use all means to defeat the Germans. Therefore, we are War will not be declared against the Germans until the actual attack is launched. However, our troops will be dispatched!" Konoe Fumimaro said.

Hopkins finally breathed a sigh of relief when he heard Fumimaro Konoe say this. The islanders did not push back and forth, which left a lot of trouble. As for the way the islanders will adopt undeclared war, although it is a bit despicable, if the Germans can really make the Germans pay a big price for it, then the United States will undoubtedly be happy to see it.

"However, Your Excellency, Special Envoy, we also have our own difficulties. Although we have already prepared for war, we have mobilized more than 3 million troops for this purpose. We will invest more troops in the future. However, our foundation is too weak. Once a war breaks out, the consumption of various resources will continue to soar. Therefore, we hope that the US government can support us as much as possible and provide us with sufficient war resources. Otherwise, there is no way to fight this war Go down." Konoe Fumimaro said.

"This is laissez-faire. The United States will increase the steel and oil resources of your government. In addition, our spies have obtained a piece of information from the Germans. I believe you will be interested." Hopkins laughed. said.

The important ministers of the island government are all engrossed.

"The Germans sent many geologists to investigate Southeast Asia and Australia. They discovered a large number of oil fields with huge reserves in the Dutch East Indies in Southeast Asia. It's just that the Germans did not exploit them. On the one hand, Germany The Middle East controlled by humans has been able to provide them with enough oil. On the other hand, it is from the perspective of war security. In Australia, the Germans also found a large number of iron ore mines. However, they also did not exploit them. If your army can defeat the Germans and occupy these areas, then resources will no longer be your country's bottleneck," Hopkins said.

This information was obtained from Germany by the US intelligence agencies at a great cost. They believe that this will be an irresistible temptation for the island nation.

In fact, this is indeed the case. After hearing the news, the important ministers of these island countries couldn't help but feel a little short of breath. Resource issues have always been the biggest bottleneck plaguing the development of island countries. This has also made the people of the island countries always sigh with emotion, why other countries have rich territories and resources, but tens of millions of them have to live on small islands with poor resources, dense volcanoes, and frequent earthquakes. If the resource-rich and fertile Southeast Asia and Australia can be snatched during the war, the bottleneck that plagued them will disappear. By then, the island nation will become even stronger.

Hopkins looked at the expressions of the ministers of the island countries and smiled inwardly. This is the mentality of the islanders! He knew that it was absolutely impossible for these islanders to refuse this temptation. He has studied these islanders deeply, and he has already guessed their reaction.

Of course, this is just a bait thrown by the Americans, in order to let the islanders do their best to fight. Only in that way will they burst out with 100% fighting power. Otherwise, once the islanders steal and play tricks, the United States will have to bear tremendous pressure. Using the islanders to hold back part of the strength of the Germans is also using the Germans to weaken the island nation. This is undoubtedly the strategy of the US government. Now, the U.S. government is already planning for the post-war period. If they can win this war, the U.S. government will also be able to gain world hegemony. All other countries will become enemies of the US government. Even the current allies will become targets of US suppression in the future. Not to mention the island country, a dog that was originally rebellious. The United States has not relaxed its vigilance against them.

"Your Excellency, the rich resources in Southeast Asia and Australia are naturally what we desire. But even if we can defeat the Germans entrenched there, and then exploit those resources, it will take a lot of time. So, before that, The United States must not have any problems with the supply of our war materials. Otherwise, this will make it impossible for us to defeat the Germans!" Konoe Fumimaro is not a fool, and he is not so easily fooled.

"Of course. Once the island country enters the war, the United States will fully support the island country. This is our guarantee. We all have a common enemy. We also hope that the island country can win on the battlefield." Hopkins said.

"Your Excellency Special Envoy, when will your country join the war?" Konoe Wenmaro asked.

"Our country's war preparations have not yet been completed. However, the current situation is critical, so it should be soon. It is expected that we will join the war by the end of this year at the latest. At that time, the Germans will face a third-line battle. No matter how strong they are, it will definitely not be our opponent!" Hopkins said.

All the important ministers of the island cabinet breathed a sigh of relief. After hearing the exact time when the United States will enter the war, they know that the pressure will be much less in the future. After all, Europe is Germany's center of gravity. Once the United States enters the war, Germany and the United States will inevitably break out in an extremely tragic war in the Atlantic Ocean. At that time, Germany's investment in other battlefields will be relatively reduced. And this, for the island country, is undoubtedly an opportunity. Maybe they can seize this opportunity and easily occupy Southeast Asia and the whole of Australia.

"Your Excellency Special Envoy, does the U.S. government have any plans for the distribution of benefits after the war?" Konoe Fumimaro asked.

"Your Excellency, this is not yet. After all, the Germans are too powerful, and it is undoubtedly very difficult to defeat them. Therefore, it seems a little too early to talk about this now." Hopkins said calmly.

He knew that the islanders wanted to blackmail the U.S. government and make clear the distribution of benefits before joining the war, so that the U.S. government would not deny it after the war ended.

"Your Excellency Special Envoy, please make it clear first, so that you will save a lot of trouble in the future!" Konoe Fumimaro said.

Hopkins nodded, and then said: "Your Excellency, if you have any requests from your country, just ask. Even if I can't agree, I will report to the country. Our two countries are allies, and now we have common interests. Enemy, there is nothing that cannot be discussed."

"Okay, Your Excellency the Special Envoy." Konoe Fumimaro said.

"Your Excellency Special Envoy, we hope that after defeating Germany, Southeast Asia and the whole of Australia, as well as those islands in the Pacific Ocean controlled by Germany, will become our territory. In addition, India will become our colony. The oil resources in the Persian Gulf in the Middle East, we have to have our own!" Konoe Fumimaro said.

Hopkins' complexion suddenly became a little unsightly. These islanders really know how to talk like a lion! Such a request has completely exceeded the expectations of the US government. They are not afraid of so many benefits, will they not be able to swallow it, will they all be exhausted?

"Your Excellency Prime Minister, your country's request is too great. Such a request is unacceptable to the U.S. government!" Hopkins shook his head.

"Your Excellency, in order to win this war, the empire will dispatch millions of troops. Many of them will even lose their lives in the war. Therefore, I think these requests we have made are not excessive at all. The United States As our ally, the Republic should consider our interests." Konoe Fumimaro said.

Although he also knew that he had asked too much, the so-called exorbitant price paid back the money. This is true in business, and it is also true in diplomatic negotiations. First put forward harsh conditions, and then the two sides bargain, and if they make a little concession, they may be able to reach an agreement. This also makes the island government desperately want to get more benefits from the Americans. This also made them put forward harsh conditions when they proposed conditions.

"Your Excellency, even if this is the case, this condition is unacceptable. Most of India, Australia, and Southeast Asia are British colonies. Although these colonies were all occupied by the Germans, the British Empire government has never Give up these territories. The United Kingdom is also an ally of the United States of America, and we cannot use the interests of one ally to satisfy other allies." Hopkins said.

Konoe Fumimaro sneered in his heart, of course he knew that this was just an excuse for Hopkins. Although the British Empire was very powerful before the last world war, it was once the target of the island government's tight thighs. However, the current British Empire has lost its former glory. They lost their homeland and all their colonies except Canada, and now they can only linger in Canada. How could such a British Empire be compared with a powerful island country. The country is weak, and it is impossible to protect its own interests. All in all, Fumimaro Konoe directly ignored the British Empire.

"Your Excellency Special Envoy, if the British Empire can make the same contribution as us in this war. Then we can recognize that they continue to own these colonies." Konoe Fumimaro said.
