Chapter 1421

"Your Majesty, the Imperial Navy's home fleet is ready for battle! Once a war with the U.S. Navy begins, the Imperial Navy's home fleet and the Atlantic Fleet will be able to resist the U.S. Navy and even defeat them!" Marshal Lütjens said.

Although, the strength of the U.S. Navy has expanded very rapidly. But the local fleet and the Atlantic Fleet combined have eight fleet aircraft carriers and 16 capital ships. In terms of overall strength, it is not much worse than the US Navy. Of course, in terms of the performance and quantity of capital ships, the German Navy has disadvantages. But on the aircraft carrier, the German Navy can take advantage.

Of course, the number of aircraft carriers owned by the US Navy has far exceeded eight. Especially after the "Essex-class" aircraft carrier began mass production, the number of aircraft carriers owned by the US Navy is still soaring. However, in terms of the quality of carrier-based aircraft and carrier-based aircraft pilots, the German Navy still has a great advantage. What's more, four of the German Navy's "Lord God-class" aircraft carriers are currently in service, and the second batch of four ships is also undergoing sea trials and will enter service soon. The third batch of four "Lord God-class" aircraft carriers is also expected to enter service in the first half of next year. As for the more advanced "Nordic God-class" aircraft carrier, the construction of the first four ships has also started. Calculated in this way, the strength of the German Navy in terms of aircraft carriers is already far ahead of the US Navy.

Qin Tian nodded: "Marshal Raeder, when will our second batch of 'Lord God-class' aircraft carriers be ready for official service?"

"Your Majesty, the second batch of four 'Lord God-class' aircraft carriers have all started sea trials one after another. It is expected that they will be commissioned one after another from next month. They will all be commissioned within the next three months." Marshal Raeder replied.

"Isn't the carrier-based FW-190 fighter jets onboard the 'Zhushen-class' aircraft carrier?" Qin Tian continued to ask.

"Yes, Your Majesty." Marshal Raeder replied.

"So, from now on, the first batch of four 'Lord God-class' aircraft carriers will be allocated to the local fleet. The second batch of four 'Lord God-class' aircraft carriers will be allocated to the Atlantic Fleet. To strengthen the strength of these two fleets. I hope that you can defeat the Americans in one fell swoop in the next war!" Qin Tian said.

"Yes, Your Majesty!" Marshal Lütjens and Admiral Rolf Karls both replied.

Their fleet has once again added four aircraft carriers, and it is also the most powerful "Lord God-class" aircraft carrier in active service in the German Navy, which will further enhance the strength of their fleet. You know, this is not just as simple as adding four aircraft carriers. Each aircraft carrier also has supporting warships, such as large air defense cruisers, heavy cruisers, light cruisers, destroyers and so on.

"Everyone, this war between the Empire and the United States is very important. I hope you can defeat the U.S. Navy and win a victory for the Empire!" Qin Tian said.

"The empire will win!" All the admirals and generals of the navy have greatly increased their confidence.

After the navy matter was arranged, Qin Tian's attention was once again placed on the army and air force. As the weather gradually warms up, the German army's large-scale offensive on the Russian battlefield is about to begin. A large amount of combat materials are being transported by rail to the Eastern European plains.

Although the traffic on the Eastern European Plain is still very bad, thanks to Germany's efforts, many destroyed railways can be re-operated. Although the railway standards in Bu Russia are different from those in continental Europe, during the war, the German army seized a lot of carriages and locomotives, all of which can be used. In addition, before the outbreak of the war, Germany secretly produced a batch of locomotives and carriages that could run on Russian railways. This allowed the German army to use the Russian railway network to transport combat materials and troops, which greatly guaranteed the German army's logistical supplies on the Eastern Front.

On April 1st, April Fool's Day, Qin Tian once again listened to reports from the Imperial War Minister, Marshal Manstein, and the Imperial Air Force Minister, Marshal Kesselring.

"Your Majesty, according to your instructions, the Imperial Army and Air Force are ready to launch an offensive in half a month!" Marshal Manstein reported.

In April on the Eastern European Plain, the snow has begun to melt. This made the road very muddy, and the march of the troops was greatly affected. Especially when Russia was carrying out transportation construction, almost all of them were concentrated in the west. After passing Smolensk, the traffic was very bad, which greatly affected the German army and the army of the slave country.

But even with these difficulties, the German army must overcome these difficulties and defeat the Russian army.

Fortunately, the German army is equipped with a large number of trucks and tracked or half-tracked vehicles, which can overcome many bad road conditions. Although the fuel consumption is a bit higher, Germany is not short of oil now. It can fully support the consumption of the German army. Therefore, the restriction of traffic conditions is also reduced to a minimum.

In addition, the German army also organized a large number of prisoners of war to repair the transportation facilities in the occupied area, making the traffic situation better and better. In this case, the logistical supplies of the German army will be guaranteed.

In the combat plan submitted by Marshal Manstein, there are two main directions for the German army to attack. One is in the direction of Moscow. The Imperial Army's Army Group A, Army Group B, and Army Group C all use Moscow as the main direction of attack. Their combat goal this year is also to take Moscow and wipe out the Russian troops entrenched here and nearby. The other is in the direction of Josephgrad. The Imperial Army D Army Group and E Army Group will be responsible for attacking here. Their task is also to eliminate the Russian army entrenched here. If the German army can succeed in these two main attack directions, then the Russian army will suffer heavy losses. Especially Moscow,

Joseph will never give up Moscow easily. Around Moscow, the two sides will launch a series of fierce battles. The German army also hopes to let Bu Russia shed blood in Moscow. In this way, in the follow-up operations, the German army will be able to destroy Bu Russia more easily.

Qin Tian agreed with the battle plan submitted by the General Staff, and he had nothing to add. He believes that the marshals and generals of the Imperial Army can accomplish these strategic goals well.

"Marshal Kesselring, on the Eastern Front, the Imperial Air Force not only wants to seize air supremacy and support the army's offensive. At the same time, the large-scale strategic bombing of Bu Russia will continue. We want to further weaken the war potential of Bu Russia, Only in this way can we win the war faster!" Qin Tian said.

"Yes, Your Majesty!" Marshal Kesselring nodded.

Chapter 1422

In Moscow at the beginning of April, although the temperature was not high, it rose above zero. This is already very warm weather for Russians who are very frost-resistant.

If it weren't for the tense battle situation now, the Russians would probably start to enjoy the coming beautiful spring.

But unfortunately, it is now during the war, and the Germans have captured Smolensk, which is only 300 kilometers away from Moscow. With the terrorist advancing speed of the Germans, it would take up to three months to reach Moscow. At that time, will the Russian army be able to withstand the German attack?

Although, Bu Russia's current military strength is still very large. And they are still mobilizing frantically to further expand the size of their troops. However, I am afraid that the Russian army does not have much confidence in whether it can withstand the German attack. After all, last year's crazy attack caused a great shock to the Russian army. It also made them deeply aware of the gap between the two sides.

Kremlin, Joseph got up very early. Since realizing that Russia is in the midst of life and death, Joseph has worked harder. There are countless documents he needs to look at every day. But even so, this will undoubtedly play a very limited role in improving Bu Russia's military strength and helping Bu Russia defeat the German army.

"Comrade Joseph, Comrade Shaposhnikov is here!" The secretary reported.

"Well, let Comrade Shaposhnikov come in!" Joseph put down the document in his hand.

Shaposhnikov, who had been promoted to Marshal, walked into Joseph's office. Although there was no member of the Politburo who could succeed Marshal Voroshilov, Shaposhnikov was very satisfied with being promoted to marshal.

"Comrade Joseph, good morning!" Shaposhnikov was very humble in front of Joseph.

"Sit down, Comrade Shaposhnikov!" Joseph nodded.

Although, the great purge killed many military talents in Bu Russia, which led to a very rapid decline in the soft power of the Bu Russia army. However, the big cleaning is not without the slightest benefit. At least, the political commissar system strongly promoted by Joseph has been promoted throughout the army. This put Joseph in complete control of Buo's army, and no one could disobey his orders anymore. Of course, it is undoubtedly hard to say whether this is a good thing for Buer.

"Comrade Joseph, according to the information we have obtained, the Germans are probably preparing for the next large-scale offensive. A large amount of war materials are being transported from Germany to the front line. At the same time, the German army is also rushing from the second line to the front line. Germany The human servant army is also gathering. This time, more German servant countries will send troops to the battlefield. This means that we may have to face more enemy attacks!" Shaposhny Cove said.

Joseph's face suddenly became very ugly. In terms of the number of troops, Bu Russia has never been afraid of Germany. After all, Russia has a larger population than Germany. Even if Germany implements a policy of rewarding births, it is obviously impossible for the population to surpass Bu Russia in a short period of time. At the same time, Russia's mobilization efforts are far stronger than those of Germany. This allowed Bu Russia to arm more troops. However, if you want to add the vassal states of Germany, Bu Russia will not have the slightest advantage in the army. After all, Germany has a large number of slave countries, even if a country cannot mobilize many troops. But when the accumulation of small amounts becomes large, the number is still very large.

"This also means that the German offensive may start soon. Moreover, the Germans are trying their best to defeat us this time. Can our army withstand the German attack?" Joseph asked.

"Comrade Joseph, our army will definitely do its best to resist the Germans' attack. However, we have to admit that there is a big gap between the combat effectiveness of our army and the Germans. The German armored forces are much stronger than ours." Powerful. The firepower of their troops is also far above ours. The performance of their air force fighters is also fully capable of crushing our fighters." Shaposhnikov said. These gaps exist objectively, so Shaposhnikov is not afraid of Joseph being angry.

Although Joseph's face became increasingly ugly, he knew that Shaposhnikov was telling the truth. The foundation of Bu Russia is still too weak, so that there is still a very big gap between them and Germany in terms of military technology. This also led to the fact that the Russian army was not an opponent of the German army in the war. However, this obviously cannot be made up in a short time.

"That is to say, are we sure to lose this time?" Joseph asked.

"Comrade Joseph, the probability of us defeating the Germans is indeed very low. However, this is not absolute. After all, the Germans are not the only opponents of us. In the Pacific Ocean, the island countries have already fought the Germans. If the island countries If people can behave better and restrain the strength of more Germans, it will undoubtedly be of great help to us. In addition, didn't the Americans promise that they would declare war on the Germans soon? The United States has a powerful industrial strength and military strength. If they can participate in the war, they will definitely be able to further contain the strength of Germany. Now, the Germans have devoted most of their military strength to fighting us. If the Americans can attract some of Germany If we don't have human military power, then our situation will be much better. Not to mention anything else, at least we can survive. As long as the time is delayed, it will be more beneficial to us." Shaposhnikov said.

Joseph nodded, although he didn't want to admit it, it was the truth. It seems impossible for Bu Russia to resist the German attack with its own strength, and it can only pin its hopes on other people.

Of course, there is nothing to be ashamed of. Who made Germany's military strength so strong, no country in the world may be able to contend against the mighty Germany alone.

"The islanders are already in the war, hopefully they can hold back the Germans for more strength. The Americans, I'll let the representatives in the United States urge the Americans. If we lose the war, it's not good for the Americans. A good thing. I hope the Americans can join the war as soon as possible!" Joseph said.

Shaposhnikov nodded. If Bu Russia is defeated, then the United States will have to resist Germany's powerful military power. With the strength of the United States, I am afraid it will be difficult to resist.

"Comrade Joseph, after our analysis, the Germans regard this year as a crucial year for the war. They are trying to completely defeat us this year, or at least eliminate our main military force. Therefore, our pressure this year will be very high!" Shaposhnikov went on.

"Huh! The Germans have a big appetite. No matter what, we still have tens of millions of troops. We can mobilize five million troops in the future. With such a huge army, the Germans want to eat us within a year, It's just wishful thinking!" Joseph said disdainfully. Although he admits that Germany is strong, the Russian army is no match for the German army. But he believes that this will be a protracted war. Even if Germany can gain an advantage, it will definitely not be able to completely defeat Russia in just over a year. After all, Bu Russia is a country with strong military strength. In Joseph's view, this war will last at least four or five years.

"Comrade Joseph, although the Germans are a little arrogant, we have to be careful. Although we have a large number of troops mobilized now, many of the hastily formed troops have very low combat effectiveness, and even lack weapons and equipment. The real combat effectiveness is probably only It is comparable to a slave country of the Germans. If this is the case, it will be very detrimental to us." Shaposhnikov reminded.

Joseph's brows were tightly frowned, if the combat effectiveness of the Russian army really became comparable to that of the German slave country. Then they may not be able to fight against Germany at all. After all, in addition to the elite German army, there are also those powerful slave country armies, but they are not so easy to deal with. At that time, the possibility of Russia's defeat will undoubtedly be very high. And this is definitely not acceptable to Joseph.

"The combat courage of our troops is not comparable to those of the German servants!" Joseph said.

Shaposhnikov nodded. Indeed, the soldiers of the Russian army fought bravely, which few countries can compare with. However, many people don't even have weapons, so we can't let them go to the battlefield with bare hands, right?

"In terms of weapons and equipment, I will let the department in charge of production speed up. In addition, I will ask the Americans to assist us with more weapons and equipment. No matter what, we must be prepared in this regard!" Joseph said.

"Comrade Joseph, the United States has been providing assistance to us throughout the winter. However, due to the transportation capacity of the Siberian Railway, what is currently being transported is mainly urgent supplies such as aero engines. In addition, gasoline and diesel are also supplies that we urgently need. Others Supplies, I can't take care of them for now," Shaposhnikov reminded.

The Yak-1 fighter jets of the Russian Air Force can enter service ahead of schedule, which is inseparable from the fact that the Americans have provided a lot of aero engines. If it weren't for the help of the Americans, the Yak-1 fighter jets of the Russian Air Force might have to wait for a while before they can enter service.

In addition, after the Baku oil field was lost, Russia would no longer have its own oil fields. This makes them only able to rely on their own oil combat readiness for support. However, once a large-scale battle is launched, the oil combat readiness storage will soon be unsustainable. Whether it is the air force or the armored forces of the army, they are all big eaters! Once the oil reserves are exhausted, the Russian army will be completely finished. At that time, they will lose the support of the air force. Meanwhile tanks, armored vehicles and trucks will be lying down. Under such circumstances, how could they stand against the mighty German army?

Joseph nodded. After losing the Baku oil field, the entire Bu Russia had to implement oil control. In addition to the military, even the use of oil by government departments has been restricted. But there is no way to do it. Resources must be concentrated at the military level.

"Have we got any results from oil exploration elsewhere?" Joseph asked.

When the Baku oil field was not occupied, the oil there alone was enough for Russia to consume. There is even a large balance. But now, the Baku oil field is lost, and Russia has lost its source of oil at once.

As early as when the Baku oil fields were threatened, Joseph signed an order requiring Russian geologists to search for oil in Baku. Joseph believes that the vast territory of Russia will definitely not only have an oil field like Baku. As long as new oil fields can be found, the oil crisis will be resolved.

"Comrade Joseph, our geologists have found oil resources in the West Siberia Plain and near the Caspian Sea. However, due to the natural environment and technological reasons in the West Siberia Plain, we cannot exploit the oil there. The permafrost is too thick to As for the fact that we can only give up there. As for the oil resources near the Caspian Sea, we have found a way to start mining. However, it will take time to carry out large-scale mining." Shaposhnikov knew.

After all, extracting oil is not that simple. Drilling wells need to be erected, a series of factories have to be built, and so on. At the same time, it must be kept confidential. The Caspian Sea was not far from the German-occupied Middle East. Once the Germans launch an offensive to the east of the Caspian Sea, or directly send bombers to bomb the oil fields that Burusa finally discovered, they will be finished. Therefore, at this stage, Russia still has to rely on oil from the United States. If all goes well, the oil in the Caspian Sea will not be able to meet part of Bu Russia's consumption until next year.

Joseph nodded, he also knew that some things cannot be rushed. But unfortunately, what they lack now is time.

"Comrade Joseph, according to the information we have received, the Germans will launch an offensive this time with Moscow and Josephgrad as the main targets. Therefore, the main battle will probably be around these two cities!" Shaposhnikov Then he said.

"Comrade Shaposhnikov, Moscow is our capital, and it must not be occupied by the Germans. We must defeat the German conspiracy here! Josephgrad is also very important, and we must also hold it there!" Joseph demanded with a serious face.

"Yes, Comrade Joseph!" Shaposhnikov nodded. The former is the capital of Bu Russia, so it is natural to defend it. And the latter is a city named after Joseph, if it is lost, wouldn't it be a slap in the face of Joseph? Therefore, I am afraid that these two cities will have to stick to it.

"Shaposhnikov, there is no way out for Russia now. If we defeat the Germans, not only will our country perish, but our leaders will probably die! Therefore, in this war we must You have to win!" Joseph said.

"Yes, Comrade Joseph!" Shaposhnikov replied.

Chapter 1424

On April 8, German Emperor Qin Tian summoned the generals above the army group deployed by the Empire on the Eastern Front at the Supreme Command. At this time, it was only a week before the German army launched another large-scale offensive.

In order to ensure that the German army can annihilate the main force of Bu Russia in one fell swoop in 1940, Germany has tried its best this time. Except that the 18 armies deployed to the Eastern Front have all been supplemented and their full combat power has been restored. The protectorates and slave states were also required to send more troops to the Eastern Front, striving to complete their combat missions before this winter.

"Marshals, generals, have you completed the preparations for the frontline battle?" Qin Tian asked.

"Your Majesty, all preparations for war are almost complete. Eighty percent of the mobilization of war supplies has been completed. The remaining twenty percent will be completed within the next week!" Marshal Manstein reported road.

Throughout the past winter, the main force of the German army was resting. However, they have also been gearing up for this year's showdown. The marshals and generals of the German army also know that this year will be a critical year. So, everyone has done their best.

"Very good! So, are you all ready to defeat the Russians in one fell swoop this year?" Qin Tian continued to ask.

"Get ready, the empire will win!" The marshals and generals of the imperial army and air force replied one after another.

Next, Marshal Manstein began to introduce the attack plan this time. What will be implemented this year will be the third and most important stage of the 'Barbarossa Plan'. In the first two stages, the Russian army has suffered heavy losses. And the third stage is to destroy the foundation of Bu Russia in one fell swoop, so that Bu Russia will be completely powerless in this war.

According to the combat plan, this attack is mainly divided into two combat directions. One combat direction is Moscow, which is completed by Army Group A, Army Group B and Army Group C.

In addition to the 1st, 4th and 10th Army of the Imperial Army, Army Group A also includes the 1st Army of Finland and the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Baltic Armies, with a total strength of 1.2 million people.

In addition to the 3rd, 8th, 13th, 14th and 15th armies of the Imperial Army, Army Group B also included the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 5th Polish armies, and the 1st and 2nd Belorussian armies, the Hungarian 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 5th Army, and the Bohemian 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Army, with a total strength of four million people.

In addition to the 7th, 9th, 16th, 17th, and 18th Army Groups of the Imperial Army, Army Group C also includes the 4th, 5th, and 6th Army Groups of Ukraine, the 6th and 7th Army Groups of Hungary, Bohemia The 4th and 5th Army, the 1st Army of Dalmatia, the 1st Army of Croatia, and the 1st Army of Bosnia and Herzegovina have a total strength of three million people.

The army that the German army plans to use to attack Moscow alone has reached a full 820 people. It can be seen how huge the scale of this battle is.

Of course, among these armies, only the 18 German Army Groups are truly powerful. The remaining more than four million people are the army of the slave country. Their main task is still to ensure the smooth flow of logistics supply lines and the maintenance of the security of the new occupied area.

Once the German army advances aggressively to Moscow, it will inevitably gain more occupied areas. Under Bu Russia's call, more Russians will inevitably take up arms and resist the German attack. The threat of the Russian guerrillas to the German logistics supply line alone is enough to cause headaches for the German army. Therefore, this must require a large number of troops to garrison.

The armies of these slave countries may not have enough combat effectiveness to use them on the frontal battlefield to counter the Russian army. But against the guerrillas in the rear, there is still no problem.

Even, when the main force of the Russian army was almost wiped out, the combat effectiveness of those armies formed later may not be much stronger than that of the German servants. The armies of Germany's vassal states can still go to the frontal battlefield.

In fact, in the first two stages of operations, the troops from Finland, the three Baltic countries, Belarus, Poland, and Ukraine all performed fairly well. Therefore, in this battle, their troops will also be dispatched to the frontal battlefield.

In the fourth and fifth stages of the follow-up "Plan Barbarossa", the armies of these slave countries will even become the main force. The elite troops of the German army need to be prepared to attack another powerful enemy on the other side of the ocean.

In addition to Moscow, another main direction of attack is Josephgrad. This important city is in charge of Army Group D and Army Group E.

In addition to the 2nd, 19th, and 20th Army Group D, it also includes the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Army of Ukraine, the 1st and 2nd Army of Yugoslavia, and the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Army of Italy. reached 2.2 million people.

In addition to the 21st and 22nd armies, the E army group also includes the Turkish 1st, 2nd, and 3rd armies, and the Persian 1st, 2nd, and 3rd armies, with a total strength of 1.6 million.

Army Group D and Army Group E add up to only 3.8 million people, which is less than half of the troops attacking Moscow. The elite German army has only five group armies, which is only one-third of the elite German army that attacked Moscow.

However, this is also because the Russian army deployed in Josephgrad is far less than the army deployed in Moscow. Moscow is the main attack direction of the German army this time, and Joseph Grad is just a secondary attack direction.

In addition to the army, the Imperial Air Force also dispatched the main force. In addition to the five aviation groups previously dispatched to the battlefield, the newly formed aviation group also dispatched three to the Eastern Front to assist the Army in operations. The number of tactical aircraft dispatched by the Luftwaffe reached more than 4,800.

In terms of the strategic air force, the bombers of the four strategic aviation clusters will assist the German army in operations. At the same time, strategic bombing of major cities and industrial bases in the hinterland of Russia will be launched, further weakening the war potential of Bu Russia, and doing its best for Germany to defeat Bu Russia.

After listening to Manstein's overall introduction, Qin Tian was very satisfied. In his view, this time Germany has gone all out. Although the strength of the German army is not as good as that of the Russian army, with the addition of the slave countries, the strength of the German army exceeds that of Russia by a large amount. This gives Germany an even greater advantage in this war. The possibility of winning will also be greatly increased.

"Gentlemen, now that the military preparations have been completed. Then, after a week, we will launch an attack according to the plan! I believe that this time we will be able to defeat Russia in an upright manner and crush them! Future victories must belong to Ours!" Qin Tian said.

"The empire will win!" The marshal and generals shouted one after another. Everyone is obviously full of confidence in the upcoming war.

After the war has progressed to this stage, it is not very useful to use conspiracies and tricks. Now it's time to use strength to defeat the opponent openly.

Qin Tian and the German marshals and generals have great confidence in the strength of the German army. They all believe that in the next battle, Germany will win. Because the current German military power has reached its peak. Although Bu Russia's military strength is also strong, compared with the German army, the gap is still not a little bit. With Germany's strength, there will be no problem in defeating Bu Russia. Even if the United States intervenes in this war, it will not be able to change the outcome of the war.

"Marshal Kesselring, the Air Force still has to be the vanguard in this attack. Are you ready?" Qin Tian asked.

"Your Majesty, all the soldiers of the Air Force are ready to fight. We will definitely crush the Russians!" Marshal Kesselring replied confidently.

Several aviation clusters deployed by the German Air Force on the front line have all been replaced with advanced FW-190 fighter jets. Even if the Russian Air Force began to equip the Yak-1 fighter jets. But the gap between the fighters of the two sides is still very obvious. Under the strong attack of the German Air Force, it is almost impossible for the Russian Air Force to persist.

In the previous wars, the Russian Air Force had already suffered heavy losses and lost its air supremacy. Their backward I-16 fighters and I-15 fighters, as well as the P-40 fighters obtained from the United States, are not opponents of the Luftwaffe's ME-109 fighters and FW-190 fighters. Coupled with the sudden attack launched by the German Air Force, a large number of Russian Air Force fighter planes were blown up on the airport, which further severely damaged the Russian Air Force. Although within half a year, the Russian Air Force is also recovering its strength. Their large number of pilots still retains a strong combat effectiveness. However, the strength gap between the two sides has not narrowed because of this, but continues to expand. Because the strength of the Luftwaffe is still rising rapidly.

Qin Tian nodded, he believed that the German Air Force would be able to easily win this battle. The performance gap between the fighters of the two sides and the quality gap of the pilots are not so easy to make up.

Time passed bit by bit, and the German military preparations continued. A large number of troops who have been transferred to the front line are adapting. Especially the armies of those slave countries, many of them have never been on the battlefield.

A large amount of war materials are also being transported to the front from Germany and other European countries. In the case of Germany integrating the whole of Europe, the industrial production capacity has been further improved. In addition to the production of the most important military materials in Germany, a large number of secondary military materials were handed over to the slave countries and protectorate countries for production. In order to maximize the industrial production capacity of the whole of Europe.

After all, war is about industrial strength. It is very easy to defeat Bu Russia. But another industrial power on the other side of the ocean is very powerful. This made Germany have to unite the power of the whole of Europe and twist it into one rope. Otherwise, once it loses in the war, Germany will be over. The empire that was finally built will collapse.

Germany's military preparations are not concealed, and they cannot be concealed at all. The Russian army, through the information obtained from various channels, has already felt that the war is imminent.

Especially Marshal Voroshilov, the commander of the Russian Army's Western Front, is even more like an enemy. The Western Front under his command confronted Army Group B, the most powerful German army. Although, after strengthening the strength of the Western Front Army, it has reached more than three million. But too many of these troops were formed later. Although the equipment in front of him is replenished, the combat effectiveness is obviously not comparable to that of the veterans, let alone confronting the powerful German army. Therefore, Marshal Voroshilov was not at all sure whether he could withstand the German attack.

What's more, the German Army Group A will also go south from Ulyanovgrad. That is also a huge army of more than one million people. Once Army Group A and Army Group B cooperate to besiege the Russian Army's Western Front, Marshal Voroshilov knows that he will never be able to resist it.

For this reason, Marshal Voroshilov repeatedly asked Joseph to send more troops to reinforce him. It's just that it wasn't allowed. Allowing Voroshilov to control more than three million troops has already made Joseph feel a little worried. If he is given more troops, once Voroshilov has a disobedient heart, then Joseph will die. Are you sure?

However, in order to ease the pressure on Voroshilov, Joseph still dispatched the reserve front army with Zhukov as the commander to deploy on the flank of the Western Front to resist the German Army Group A.

Although, the Russian army has fully mobilized and deployed a large number of troops on the front line. However, the Russian army has no confidence in whether it can withstand the German attack. Even Joseph himself knew that this time it might be a bad one. If the United States cannot win in the Atlantic, then Bu Russia may be dead.

So, Joseph could only order the Russian army to do everything possible to resist the German attack. Then pin your hopes on the Americans.

On the morning of April 15th, at the field airport of the Luftwaffe at the front line, fighter jets and bombers that had been prepared began to take off one after another.

8 aviation clusters, it can be said that they are all dispatched. FW-190 fighter jets carry auxiliary fuel tanks. This increases the hang time. Small bombs are also hung under the wings so that they can perform ground strike missions after seizing air supremacy.

Dive bombers and ground attack aircraft also carry bombs to the maximum extent. Their goal will be the front-line airport of the Russian Air Force.

Farther away, the medium bombers and heavy bombers of several strategic aviation clusters are also ready. They will be involved in operations after the Air Force has seized air supremacy. Launch a larger-scale bombing of the Russian Air Force's front-line airfields.

Just after 6:00 in the morning, the first FW-190 fighter took off from the field airfield of the Luftwaffe. Followed by a huge fleet.

Chapter 1426

The German Air Force Command, although it is thousands of kilometers away from the front line, relying on the advanced communication system, Air Force Minister Albert Kesselring can still keep abreast of the situation on the front line.

Albert Kesselring Field Marshal's armrest Edward Milch Marshal, although he is now in charge of the Strategic Aviation Cluster. However, he also attached great importance to this operation and arrived at the headquarters early.

"Your Excellency, Chief of Staff, have the troops on the front line set off as planned?" Marshal Kesselring asked.

"Yes, Your Excellency Marshal. The front-line aviation wings are taking off! Soon, our fleet will cross the actual control line of both sides and enter the Russian airspace." Air Force Chief of Staff General Hugo Speller replied.

Marshal Kesselring nodded. This time, the large-scale operation of the Luftwaffe will be carried out in the direction of Moscow and Joseph Grad at the same time, trying to destroy the Russian Air Force in one fell swoop and seize the air supremacy on the entire battlefield. Of course, you don't need to think about it, this will inevitably be fought back desperately by the Russian Air Force. If it is not done well, the Luftwaffe will also pay a lot of losses because of it. However, as long as the air battle for air supremacy can be won, then the next battle will be relatively much easier. The Russian Air Force, which has been suppressed again, will never be able to make waves again. In the subsequent operations of the Luftwaffe, the losses will be much smaller. Therefore, the German Air Force is ready this time, no matter how big the loss is, it must seize air supremacy.

"This time we may not be able to launch a surprise attack again. According to the information we have obtained, the Russians have obtained a lot of air defense warning radars from the Americans, and they have been deployed by the Russians in important areas. This will make the Russians feel uncomfortable. There is less warning time." Marshal Edward Milch said with some regret.

Although the air defense radars provided by the United States to Russia are all old models retired by the United States, the air detection range is only more than 200 kilometers. However, this is enough to leave a long warning time and space for the Russian Air Force. With the help of the early warning radar, the Luftwaffe was able to launch a large number of fighter jets in time to fight the Luftwaffe. This also makes the German Air Force pay a greater price in air combat.

If Bu Russia does not have an air search radar, the Luftwaffe can still launch a surprise attack like last time. Before the Russian Air Force could react, it blew up those fighter planes of the Russian Air Force on the airport. In this way, the Luftwaffe will be able to seize air supremacy at a minimal cost.

"There is no way around this. Our enemies are also making continuous progress. However, our overall strength is far stronger than that of the Russian Air Force. Under such circumstances, even if we fight the Luftwaffe in an upright manner, we will We can win. However, the price to pay will be relatively high. There is no immortal in war. As long as you can gain air supremacy, no matter how big the loss is, it is acceptable!" Marshal Albert Kesselring said.

Indeed, after suffering a big loss last time, the Russian Air Force is ready this time. The air search radar obtained from the United States is deployed in a hidden place to monitor the airspace at all times. At the same time, Russian scientists are also carrying out reverse imitation based on these air search radars provided by the Americans, and even conducting research and development on this basis, so as to be able to develop more advanced air search radars for Russia.

Not long after take-off, the German Air Force fleet had been spotted by the Russian air search radar before it crossed the actual control line between the two sides.

"Damn it, the German attack has started again!" Seeing the dense dots of light on the radar screen, the radar commander of the Russian Air Force looked very ugly.

"Call the airport quickly and let them take off fighter planes to meet the enemy. In addition, report to the superior immediately, the German attack has begun!"

"Woo! Woo!"

The shrill air defense sirens sounded on the major airports of the Russian Air Force, and the pilots ran out of their dormitories and ran to their planes.

Ground crews are already helping to start these planes, and at the same time, pulling more planes out of the hangar, let these planes take off.

"Quick, quick! Take off immediately. The Germans dispatched a large-scale fleet. They must be stopped!"

A Yak-1 fighter was launched with the help of the ground crew, and with the help of the pilot, it flew into the sky.

More planes follow, taking to the sky. Although the Luftwaffe is very powerful, advanced aircraft such as the Yak-1 fighter jet gave them a little courage to fight against the Luftwaffe. Even if they know that the Luftwaffe's fighter jets are more powerful, at least they are not as helpless as before.

However, the number of Yak-1 fighter jets currently equipped by the Russian Air Force is still too small, and the entire German Air Force is equipped with less than 500 fighters. The monthly output has reached more than 300 after three shifts. But such output is obviously not enough for frontline consumption.

This made the Russian Air Force still have to use the old I-16 fighter jets and the P-40 fighter jets supported by the Americans to deal with the Luftwaffe.

After the German Air Force has replaced the more advanced FW-190 fighter jets, it will undoubtedly be more difficult for the Russian Air Force to compete with the German Air Force.

"Comrade Marshal, the Germans have dispatched a large number of planes. The battle may have begun again." Marshal Voroshilov's secretary reported to him.

Marshal Voroshilov's complexion suddenly became very ugly. Although he knew that this day would come sooner or later. However, he still didn't expect this day to come so soon.

"Order the front-line armies to prepare for battle! This time, we must resist the German attack!" Marshal Voroshilov ordered with a serious face.

At the same time, the commanders of other front forces of the Russian army also learned that the Luftwaffe had launched a large-scale deployment. Everyone also gave the order to prepare for battle.

After the fighter jets of the Russian Air Force took off, they were also discovered by the air search radar of the Luftwaffe. The air search radar of the German Air Force has a detection range of 400 kilometers, far exceeding that of the Russian Air Force's air search radar. Even many airports of the Russian Air Force are within the detection range of the German Air Force's air search radar. The fighter planes of the Russian Air Force will be spotted as soon as they fly.

The German Air Force Command immediately issued an order for the air wings to prepare for battle. Guide those FW-190 fighter jets, rush to the Russian Air Force fleet first, and protect the dive bombers and ground attack aircraft in the rear.

The eight aviation clusters of the German Air Force, this time can be said to be the main force. For the FW-190 fighter jets alone, more than 2,000 to 500 fighters took off. The remaining dive bombers and ground attack aircraft add up to nearly 2,000.

However, dive bombers and ground attack aircraft cannot participate in air combat. Their air combat strength is too weak. Once they encounter fighter jets of the Russian Air Force, there is only one dead end. Therefore, in the order of takeoff, the FW-190 fighter jets take off first, and then rely on their speed advantage to arrive at the battlefield first to clear the Russian Air Force fighter planes.

Dive bombers and ground attack aircraft, after being loaded with bombs, fly relatively slowly, and they will rush to the battlefield later. If all goes well, the fighters of the Russian Air Force will be almost cleaned up by the Luftwaffe. At that time, they only need to launch an attack on the Russian Air Force's airport under the cover of fighter jets.

"Attention all squadrons, attention all squadrons! We are about to encounter the Russians. We must kill them within half an hour and clear this airspace!" the captain of a fighter brigade ordered.

"Understood, sir!" The squadron leaders of each squadron replied one after another.

A few minutes later, they encountered Russian Air Force fighter jets in the air. The FW-190 fighter jets of the Luftwaffe dropped the auxiliary fuel tanks and the bombs hanging under the wings one after another. These will become a burden in air combat, thereby affecting the performance of fighter jets.

"A new Russian plane? I haven't seen it before!" said a German pilot.

This is the first time they have encountered the Yak-1 fighter of the Russian Air Force.

"This is the Yak-1 fighter jet newly equipped by the Russians. Compared with the aircraft used by the Russians before, the performance is a little stronger. However, the data of this aircraft has been sent to the squadrons before. Everyone knows how to deal with it Isn't this a new plane?" asked the captain.

After confirming that the Russian Air Force was equipped with the Yak-1 fighter jets in advance, Emperor Qin Tian, in the name of an intelligence agency, disclosed the relevant performance of the Yak-1 fighter jets to the German Air Force, and asked the Air Force to summarize a set of fighter jets specifically for the Yak-1 fighter jets. 1 fighter tactics. In this way, the pilots of the Luftwaffe can know what to do after encountering this kind of aircraft.

"Understood, sir!" The pilots replied one after another.

"The Germans are coming, shoot them all down!" The head of the aviation regiment of the Russian Air Force also discovered the German Air Force fleet and issued an order.

"Yes, Comrade Commander!" Perhaps because of the new aircraft equipped, the pilots of the Russian Air Force have also greatly increased their confidence, thinking they can compete with the Luftwaffe.

The battle began immediately, and dozens of planes from both sides strangled in this airspace.

The limit speed of the Yak-1 fighter jet is only 600 kilometers, which is a lot worse than the FW-190 fighter jet equipped by the German Air Force. In terms of weapons, the Yak-1 fighter is equipped with two 12.7mm aviation machine guns and a 20mm cannon. Although compared to the FW-190 fighter, it is still relatively weaker. But overall, it's pretty good.

"Boom boom boom!"

A FW-190 fighter took advantage of its speed to throw off a Yak-1 fighter, circled behind the opponent, and launched an attack.

Several machine gun shells roared and fired at the Yak-1 fighter jet.

The pilots of the Russian army are also veterans, and immediately manipulated the plane to roll, trying to avoid these shells. However, it failed. A 20mm machine gun shell hit the tail of the Yak-1 fighter jet, blowing up the entire tail.

The plane immediately lost its balance and fell to the ground. However, soon a white flower bloomed in the sky. This is the Russian pilot parachute. The airspace involved in the battle was controlled by Russian forces. So after skydiving, they are very likely to be rescued.

It's just that the pilots of the German Air Force are far more ruthless than they imagined.

The pilot of the Luftwaffe immediately drove the plane down and aimed at the parachute.

"Da da da!"

The aviation machine gun fired, and the parachute was riddled with bullet holes, almost useless. The Russian pilot quickly fell to the ground and fell into a pulp.

After the German intelligence agency learned that Russia would execute all captured German pilots, the Luftwaffe pilots had an unwritten rule that even if the Russian planes were destroyed in air combat, their pilots will never let go.

After all, pilots are more valuable than airplanes. Airplanes were lost and could easily be produced. However, if the pilot died, it would not be so easy to replenish. A qualified pilot is not so easy to train.

This is why the Russian Air Force has been silent for a long time, avoiding fighting with the German Air Force. They would rather hand over air supremacy to the Luftwaffe, and try to keep their excellent pilots as much as possible. Once those outstanding pilots lose too much, the strength of the Russian Air Force will become weaker and weaker.

This time, in the face of the massive attack of the Luftwaffe, the Russian Air Force had no other choice but to bite the bullet and fight. Of course, they also know that this will inevitably cause greater and greater losses to the pilots of the Russian Air Force.

"Yakov, you have been bitten, quickly dive to get rid of it!" A reminder from the wingman came from the headset of a Russian pilot.

"Damn, I want to get rid of it too! But the German plane is too fast, I can't get rid of it!" The pilot named Yakov roared angrily.

Behind him, a Luftwaffe FW-190 fighter jet, like brown sugar, stuck behind the Yak-1 fighter jet, making it impossible for him to shake it off.

The pilots of the German Air Force, relying on the advanced performance of their fighters, can completely suppress the pilots of the Russian Air Force.

"Da da da!"

The aviation machine gun fired, and the dense bullets strafed the Russian aircraft. The bullet hit the aircraft's body, leaving bullet holes one by one.

Soon, the wing of the Yak-1 fighter jet was shattered, and the plane fell headlong to the ground. The pilot had no choice but to parachute to escape. However, there was still no escape. What was waiting for him was still brutally killed by the pilots of the Luftwaffe.

During this operation, the German Air Force dispatched more than 2,500 FW-190 fighter jets, and the number of fighter jets launched by the Russian Air Force was no less than this. In order to compete for air supremacy, the two sides have tried their best. A large-scale air battle unfolded over the plains of Eastern Europe.

"Da da da!"

A FW-190 fighter jet dived down, and the aviation machine guns began to fire rapidly. Dense bullets hit the pilot cockpit of a Yak-1 fighter jet. The glass of the cockpit was easily pierced, and the pilot inside was even more bloody, spraying on the glass of the pilot's cockpit, staining the glass red.

After the pilot was killed, the plane lost control and fell to the ground. It soon fell to the ground and fell into a ball of fire.

"Huh! Is this the latest Russian aircraft? It doesn't seem to be doing well?" A young German pilot said nonchalantly. His name was Buckhorn, and he was already an ace pilot. In this war, more than 20 Russian Air Force fighter planes were shot down by him. Among the many pilots of the German Air Force, it can be regarded as one of the best.

"Okay, Buckhorn. No matter how advanced the Russian aircraft is, it is definitely not comparable to our aircraft. However, the performance of this Yak-1 fighter is not bad. If it is replaced by BF-109 fighter jets, it may be relatively difficult to kill the opponent. Fortunately, all of our fighter jets have been replaced with FW-190 fighter jets. Otherwise, our losses will be even greater." The voice of the squadron leader came from the headset.

The performance of the Yak-1 fighter is slightly worse than that of the BF-109 fighter. However, it can be regarded as barely able to fight against it. But compared with the FW-190 fighter, it is still a bit worse. Coupled with the gap in the quality of the pilots of the two sides, the pilots of the German Air Force can easily crush these Russian Air Force pilots.

Fierce air battles unfolded on a front thousands of kilometers long. The FW-190 fighter jets of the German Air Force continued to shoot down the fighter jets of the Russian Air Force. Although, the FW-190 fighter jets of the Luftwaffe also suffered losses. But compared with the losses of the Russian Air Force, the losses of the Luftwaffe are undoubtedly much less. Often several or even more fighter planes of the Russian Air Force are shot down, in exchange for a fighter plane of the Luftwaffe being shot down. Such a battle loss ratio is still satisfactory. Although the Russian Air Force has a large number of fighters, if the fight continues like this, I am afraid that it will be lost soon. At that time, the Luftwaffe will be able to easily gain air supremacy.

Although the performance of the Yak-1 fighter is good, there are still many opponents of the FW-190 fighter. In particular, the number of Yak-1 fighter jets is very limited. Although these Yak-1 fighter jets also caused some losses to the Luftwaffe. But overall, such losses are not large.

When the Russian Air Force's Yak-1 fighter jets were gradually exhausted, those old I-16 fighter jets and the P-40 fighter jets assisted by the Americans were no longer the opponents of the German Air Force's FW-190 fighter jets.

"Damn, didn't those aircraft designers claim that the Yak-1 fighter is a very advanced fighter? Why is there still no power to fight back against German fighters?" Some Russian Air Force pilots couldn't help complaining.

"Those Jacques-1 fighter jets are not opponents of German fighter jets, let alone these I-16 fighter jets and P-40 fighter jets. We lost this air battle again, and they are not German opponents at all!"

Facing the advanced fighter jets of the Luftwaffe, the Russian Air Force suffered heavy losses in air combat. Even this air battle has completely turned into a massacre. Relying on the advanced fighter performance and pilot quality, the German Air Force wantonly slaughtered those fighters of the Russian Air Force.

On the ground, many officers and soldiers of the Russian Army are looking up at this air battle. Although, the good treatment of pilots is the envy of many infantrymen. But at this moment, they realized how dangerous the pilot is.

"Shit! What's going on? Why is our air force so vulnerable? Those air force pilots, who eat much better than us and receive much higher allowances than us, are as easy as we are Massacred by the Germans!" murmured an infantryman.

His words aroused the approval of other Russian infantrymen. Although the Russian army was also defeated by the German army, it was vulnerable. But they don't think they're doing much worse than the Air Force. However, the treatment of the two parties is very different. This also made the infantry very dissatisfied.

"Okay, shut up! Brothers in the Air Force are desperately trying to win the air supremacy for us, don't make sarcastic remarks here!" A Russian battalion commander looked worried.

Although they had expected it a long time ago, the air battle between the two sides would be such a result. But seeing one's own fighter planes being shot down continuously, as if it was raining, still made the commanders and fighters of the army worried. Having experienced last year's battle, they knew how terrible it would be if they lost air supremacy. The German Army would attack them with fire support from the Air Force. Under the coordinated air-ground attack, the Russian army could not resist the German attack at all.

"Ah! Our plane was shot down again." A Russian infantryman cried regretfully.

I saw a P-40 fighter jet falling to the ground with thick smoke. The pilot jumped out just in time.

However, then the German fighter planes attacked the parachuting pilot and began to shoot the parachuting pilot with aviation machine guns. Before the Russian pilot landed, he was hit by a bullet from an aviation machine gun.

"Despicable! The Germans are so despicable!" A Russian machine gunner cursed. He picked up his machine gun and fired into the air.

The sudden bullets from the ground startled the German pilots and quickly pulled up the plane.

But then, he retaliated.

"Da da da!"

The aviation machine guns on the wings of the FW-190 fighter jets began to fire at this area. The dense bullets of aviation machine guns easily took the lives of many Russian soldiers. Some soldiers were even cut in half by bullets from powerful aviation machine guns.

"Idiot! Don't provoke the German planes. We don't have anti-aircraft machine guns, so we can't fight them at all!" The battalion chief cursed. Looking at the subordinates who suffered heavy casualties, I wanted to cry but had no tears.

The air battle in the sky is almost one-sided. The fighter jets of the Luftwaffe are slaughtering the Russian Air Force. Fighter planes were shot down one after another, whether it was the Yak-1 fighter jet, the I-16 fighter jet or the P-40 fighter jet, none of them were opponents of the Luftwaffe.

In less than half an hour, more than 1,500 fighter planes were shot down by the Russian army. The remaining Russian fighter planes were also fleeing in embarrassment. Obviously, they were already frightened by the beating, and they didn't have the courage to continue fighting.

Chapter 1429

"Your Excellency, Marshal, the latest battle report from the front line shows that the Imperial Air Force has defeated the interception of the Russian Air Force." Admiral Hugo Speller, chief of staff of the German Air Force, reported.

"Very good! It's less than half an hour. It seems that our pilots didn't carry it after a winter rest." Marshal Albert Kesselring smiled.

"Yes, Marshal. The performance of the FW-190 fighter jet has undoubtedly been verified once again! It is simply impossible for the Russian Air Force to compete with us." Marshal Edward Milch also said.

"Well, is our loss big?" Marshal Albert Kesselring asked.

"Your Excellency Marshal, our losses are not large. We have probably lost hundreds of fighter planes since the beginning of the battle." Admiral Hugo Speller replied.

Losing hundreds of combat aircraft in half an hour, such a loss is undoubtedly very fast. However, if you compare the results obtained, it is actually nothing. The number of warplanes lost by the Russian Air Force is far more than that of the German Air Force. Although there is no way to count the final battle damage yet, it can be easily seen from the front-line reports.

"Hundreds of pilots! I hope they can escape safely!" Marshal Albert Kesselring said.

Marshal Edward Milch and Admiral Hugo Speele did not speak. They both knew very well that it was almost impossible for the pilots of the downed fighter planes to escape safely even after parachuting successfully. Especially after the fighter jets on both sides began to attack the parachuting pilots of the other side, being shot down meant death in battle. Even if they land safely, those German pilots will never end well once they are caught by the Russian Army. What awaits them is to be brutally tortured and killed.

"Has the follow-up bomber force arrived? It's up to them!" Marshal Albert Kesselring asked.

"Your Excellency the Marshal, the dive bombers of the 8 aviation wings and the ground attack aircraft of the 8 aviation wings have all rushed to the battlefield. Under the cover of fighter jets, they will launch an attack on the airfield of the Russian Air Force and destroy it in one fell swoop. Get rid of those airfields of the Russian Air Force," General Hugo Speller reported.

Marshal Albert Kesselring and Marshal Elda Milch nodded.

Actually, with the success of the Luftwaffe's fighter force, there will not be much change in the next attack on the airport. At most, under the anti-aircraft firepower of the Russian Air Force, the dive bomber unit and the ground attack aircraft unit will suffer relatively large losses. But as long as it can seize air supremacy, no matter how big the loss is, it can be borne.

On the frontline battlefield, the dive bombers and ground attack aircraft of the Luftwaffe have arrived on the battlefield. These dive bombers and ground attack aircraft all carry a large number of bombs. The target of their attack will be the front-line airport of the Russian Air Force.

With the fighter units of the Russian Air Force already dispersed, their flight will be safe. The only thing to worry about is the anti-aircraft fire on the ground. Fortunately, the fighter force will provide them with fire cover, so that their losses can be further reduced.

"Quick! Let the air defense units get ready. Our combat troops have failed, and the German bombers are coming soon!" At an airfield of the Russian Air Force, the commander was giving orders loudly.

"Yes, Comrade Commander!"

In the air defense positions around the airport, the Russian air defense forces have already made preparations. A series of anti-aircraft guns and anti-aircraft machine guns have been aimed at the sky. Shells and cartridges are loaded and ready to fire.

Some young air defense soldiers who experienced such a scene for the first time were very nervous, and even their palms were sweating. After all, their fighter force had failed, and the remaining fighters had fled. The heavy responsibility of defending the airport fell on their shoulders. Once the airport is blown up by the Luftwaffe, the Russian Air Force will lose its air supremacy.

"Attention all squadrons, suppress ground anti-aircraft fire, cover dive bombers and ground attack aircraft!" The captain of a German fighter brigade ordered.

In the previous battles, their brigade lost several FW-190 fighter jets. However, they almost wiped out a complete aviation regiment of the Russian Air Force. If calculated in this way, the battle loss ratio is undoubtedly very astonishing.

"Yes, sir!" All squadron leaders replied.

Because it is going to attack dozens of airports deployed by the Russian Air Force on the front line. Therefore, the dive bomber unit and the ground attack aircraft unit of the Luftwaffe operate in squadrons. A squadron of dive bombers and a squadron of ground attack aircraft attack an airfield. The bombs carried by these dive bombers and ground attack aircraft are enough to destroy a small field airfield. Of course, a large airport will have to carry out a second attack.

"Da da da! Boom boom boom!"

When the Luftwaffe fighter planes appeared, the Russian anti-aircraft guns and anti-aircraft machine guns started firing.

However, the battle groups of the Luftwaffe in the sky have dispersed, rushing towards these air defense positions, using aviation machine guns and machine guns to suppress these air defense positions.

The fierce battle began immediately. The fighter force of the Luftwaffe, with its powerful firepower, caused heavy losses to the air defense firepower of the Russian Air Force.

Taking this opportunity, the dive bombers and ground attack aircraft of the Luftwaffe also launched an attack.

"Start dropping bombs!"

After the magazine was opened, the bombs carried by the ground attack aircraft fell like raindrops. The air defense positions, artillery shells and hangars of the Russian army at the airport have all become targets of attack.

The dive bombers attacked the main buildings of the airport. Each dive bomber could carry two 500kg heavy aerial bombs, which were powerful enough to destroy those main buildings.

Oil depots, ammunition depots, conning towers, dormitories, etc. were all destroyed in constant explosions. The entire field airport was blown into ruins in just ten minutes.

Although, during the offensive, some fighter planes of the Luftwaffe were shot down by ground anti-aircraft fire. But overall, the loss is still within an acceptable range.

A round of attacks by the German Air Force's 8 dive bomber wings and 8 ground attack wing wings destroyed dozens of front-line field airports of the Russian Air Force.

Just two hours later, the second round of attacks began again. And this time, the H-01 medium bombers and H-11 heavy bombers of the four strategic aviation clusters also joined in. Once again attack the surviving airfield.

In the afternoon, the airports west of Moscow were completely destroyed by the German air force. Air supremacy is also firmly in the hands of the Luftwaffe.

Chapter 1430

Moscow, Russian Air Force Command.

The entire Air Force Command is in a tense atmosphere. The news of the German Air Force's large-scale deployment is no longer a secret. But the generals of the Russian Air Force are very worried. The last time they played against the German Air Force, it can be described as a disastrous defeat. This time, they also have little confidence in victory.

In the office of Air Force Commander Admiral Novikov, a group of air force generals are gathering here. However, everyone's faces were very ugly. Especially when the staff officers who ran in and out brought bad news one after another, it made everyone's face more and more ugly.

"Comrade Commander, the situation is probably very unfavorable to us!" Air Force Chief of Staff General Glovanov said.

"Yes, Comrade Chief of Staff. The Yak-1 fighter jet we have high hopes for still seems unable to compete with the advanced German fighter jets!" Admiral Novikov sighed.

The other generals of the Russian Air Force also turned pale. The Yak-1 fighter is already the best fighter they can get at the moment. Even the MiG-3 and LaG-3 fighter jets that are being tested and have not yet been mass-produced have slightly worse performance. Originally, the Russian Air Force had great confidence in the Yak-1 fighter jet, thinking that it could rely on this fighter jet to hold the Russian sky. But now it seems that they think everything is too simple. The strength of the Luftwaffe is still very strong, and even stronger than they imagined.

"Comrade Commander, Comrade Chief of Staff. The troops of the Luftwaffe on the Eastern Front have all been replaced with more advanced FW-190 fighter jets. This fighter is more advanced than the BF-109 fighter jets. Before, the German Air Force was on the Eastern Front. China's fighter force is only equipped with a small number of such fighters. The vast majority of fighters are still BF-109 fighters. Now, the Germans have replaced all fighters on the Eastern Front with FW-190 fighters, which is undoubtedly even more serious. It's hard to deal with," said an air force general.

"Yes, Comrade Commander. The German BF-109 fighter jet alone is already very difficult to deal with. Let alone the more powerful FW-190 fighter jet. Judging from the information obtained from the front, our Jacques The -1 fighter is not an opponent of this fighter at all. Let alone other I-16 fighters and P-40 fighters."

"In addition, the number of Yak-1 fighter jets is too small, so it is even more unable to pose a threat to the Luftwaffe."

The generals of the Russian Air Force explained in a hurry. They have said so much with only one purpose, which is undoubtedly to justify the defeat of the air battle. It's not that the pilots of the Russian Air Force don't work hard, but because the enemy is too strong. This led to their loss to the Luftwaffe in the air battle.

Admiral Novikov and Admiral Glovanov, why don't they know this? Compared with the German Air Force, the Russian Air Force's defeat gap is too great. Therefore, it is difficult for them to defeat the Luftwaffe in air combat. But the two of them knew it, and it didn't help at all. The key is that Joseph can understand it! If Joseph can't understand it, talking too much is tantamount to farting!

"Comrade Commander, the German dive bombers and ground attack aircraft have launched bombing. Our air defense forces are fighting back desperately. However, the German firepower is too strong, and all field airfields have been bombed, and the losses are heavy." a staff officer reported.

"Comrade commander, once all the field airports on the front line are destroyed, we will completely lose our air supremacy!" said a Russian air force general.

Although, the Russian Air Force still has many airports in the area east of Moscow. However, in the case that the Luftwaffe has destroyed the airports west of Moscow, the remaining airports will inevitably become the target of the Luftwaffe's next attack. With the Russian Air Force already suffering heavy losses in air combat, it is almost impossible to resist the attack of the Luftwaffe.

"Comrade Commander, what should we do now?" Chief of Staff General Glovanov's face paled. He seemed to have thought about what Joseph would do with them after learning about this situation.

After the Luftwaffe paled last year, Joseph wanted to dispose of them. It's just because the Russian Air Force really doesn't have any talents available, so the two of them were allowed to commit crimes and meritorious deeds. This time, the Russian Air Force failed again, and without thinking about it, Joseph would definitely not let them go.

Actually, the two of them were also very aggrieved. The reason why the Russian Air Force failed was not because there was a problem with the capabilities of the two of them, but because the enemy was too powerful!

"What else can I do, report the truth to Comrade Joseph!" Admiral Novikov also paled.

At this time, the phone rang, and after picking it up, I learned that it was from Joseph's office. Joseph wants to listen to the air force's combat situation report immediately.

General Novikov and General Glovanov had to rush to the Kremlin to report the situation to Joseph.

"Comrade Joseph, our fighter force suffered heavy losses in the air battle with the Luftwaffe. Dozens of field airfields on the front line were bombed by the Luftwaffe. The Air Force once again suffered heavy losses in this battle. We are no longer able to fight with the Luftwaffe. The Luftwaffe is vying for air supremacy on the battlefield." In front of Joseph, Admiral Novikov bit the bullet and reported.

Joseph stared fiercely at Admiral Novikov and Admiral Glovanov, his eyes seemed to be eating people.

"Comrade Novikov, Comrade Glovanov, I have given you another chance. But, is this how you two repay me?" Joseph was very angry.

"Comrade Joseph, we have tried our best. It is true that the German air force is too powerful. Compared with the Luftwaffe, we have a huge disparity in strength. Therefore, we will fail!" Admiral Glovanov argued road.

"Sophistry! This is completely sophistry. Since you can't lead the Russian Air Force to defeat the Luftwaffe and win us a victory, then you are no longer suitable for your current position. I now announce that the two of you will be dismissed Guards, arrest them and exile them to a labor camp in Siberia!" Joseph roared angrily.

"Comrade Joseph, this is not our fault!"

"Comrade Joseph, please forgive us and give us another chance!"

General Novikov and General Glovanov desperately wanted to beg for mercy. However, the guards were unmoved and dragged them out directly.
