Chapter 361: Changing the sky

"Your Majesty, something is wrong. Those ***** untouchables launched an armed riot. The whole of St. Petersburg is about to fall into their hands." Stolypin reported to Nicholas II with a look of horror.

"What? How could this be? Didn't I ask you to suppress those untouchables? How could it be like this?" Nicholas II was greatly surprised. If the entire St. Petersburg falls, the consequences will undoubtedly be quite serious.

"Your Majesty, I have indeed started to suppress those untouchables. According to our previous method, after killing the leaders, those untouchables should give in quickly. But this time, everything seems to be different. They not only Instead of being frightened, they resorted to more violent riots." Stolypin said with a sad face.

"Idiot!" Nicholas II cursed.

"Your Majesty, now we must find a way to solve the problem. Otherwise, once the situation spreads to other cities, the consequences will be disastrous." Prime Minister Vyacheslav Previ said.

"Prime Minister, what can you do?" Nicholas II asked.

"Your Majesty, the current situation is already very critical. We might as well negotiate with those rioters and make some appropriate concessions to let them stop the riots first. As for the future, we will slowly find opportunities to deal with them." Previ suggested.

"What? You want me to bow to those despicable rioters. No, absolutely not! I will never bow to those guys!" Nicholas II was firm.

"Your Majesty, this is just a temporary compromise. As long as we can get through this time, we can find another chance to deal with them!" Prime Minister Previ tried hard to persuade.

"Hmph! Those despicable rebels are nothing but clowns. There is no need to use this method. Sukhomlinov, order the troops of the St. Petersburg Military District to march into St. Petersburg and suppress those guys! Anyone who participated in the riot, Kill them all!" Nicholas II gave the order indifferently, he didn't seem to know how many people would die because of his order.

"Your Majesty, doing this will only further intensify the conflict!" Prime Minister Previ believed that this order from Nicholas II would not help solve the problem at all. However, Nicholas II, who was in a rage, could not listen to any persuasion at all.

"Your Majesty, the troops of the St. Petersburg Military District are all recruits. Many of them have only just learned how to shoot. In addition, their positions are not firm." Minister of War Sukhomlinov was a little worried.

"There is nothing to worry about! I believe that my army must finally be mine. Even if they have just learned how to shoot, they are much stronger than those rebels." Nicholas II looked very confident. However, it turned out that he was still too confident.

"Yes, Your Majesty!" Sukhomlinov stopped persuading, and issued an order to let troops from the St. Petersburg Military District enter the city to suppress the riot.

One hundred thousand recruits left the barracks outside the city and marched into the city to suppress the riot.

However, many of these recruits have already been infiltrated by the cloth party. With the support of Germany, the cloth party began to develop its influence in the Russian army very early. It's just that, in view of the fact that the tsar's power is too great, he has been afraid to reveal it. Now, the tsar's direct troops are already in the middle of the war, and they have lost almost all of their losses. So, they naturally have nothing to fear.

After the Russian army entered St. Petersburg, those recruits who were under the control of the cloth party immediately rebelled. They cooperated with the uprising workers and attacked the troops loyal to the tsar. The situation in St. Petersburg became even more chaotic.

I have to admit that the Russian cloth party in this time and space is much stronger than that in another time and space. The armed forces they control are also much stronger. If, in another time and space, they had to unite with the bourgeoisie, this overthrew the rule of Tsar Nicholas II. Then, in this time and space, they can do it themselves. Therefore, in this time and space, the cloth party does not need to unite with the bourgeoisie at all, relying on its own strength, it can do everything.

After a night of fierce fighting, the troops loyal to the Tsar were defeated. The entire St. Petersburg has fallen into the control of the cloth party.

"Leader! We have won. The Tsar's army has been defeated by us. Now, we have controlled the entire St. Petersburg." Joseph looked excited.

"Haha, good, that's really great!" Ulyanov was equally overjoyed. Perhaps, even he himself did not expect that all this would go so smoothly.

"Where is Nicholas II now? We must catch him. Only in this way can we control the situation." After the initial joy, Ulyanov calmed down and began to analyze the current situation .

There is no doubt that their uprising has been successful in St. Petersburg. However, the Russian Empire is too vast, and there are many people who are loyal to the Tsar. If they are left alone, Nicholas II will soon gather a powerful force to attack them. At that time, it will be very difficult to say whether the rebel army can defeat the tsar's counterattack.

"Nicholas II has returned to the Winter Palace." Joseph replied.

"Joseph, you immediately organize the troops that we can fully control, attack the Winter Palace, arrest Nicholas II's family, and don't let anyone go!" Ulyanov ordered.

"Yes, leader. I will definitely handle it well." Joseph nodded. He also knows the urgency of this matter.

On the evening of November 8, the rebel army launched an attack on the Winter Palace. Although, the guards loyal to Nicholas II resisted desperately. However, they were ultimately outnumbered. After paying a heavy price, the rebel army finally captured the Winter Palace.

The family of Tsar Nicholas II was also found in a small room in the basement.

After Joseph learned that Tsar Nicholas II's family had been arrested, he immediately asked his confidants to quietly transport their family to the outskirts of St. Petersburg and put them under secret custody. As for how to deal with Nicholas II's family, it was up to Uriano Husband to make up his mind.

An uprising broke out against the rule of Tsar Nicholas II in St. Petersburg, the capital of Russia, and it was successful. This news shocked the whole world. The countries of the Allies and Ententes who were at war reacted very strongly to this. Everyone is watching this. And, do everything possible to push towards the side that is beneficial to you.

Chapter 362: Responses from various countries

The rule of Tsar Nicholas II was overthrown, and the Russian regime fell into the hands of the cloth party. This was undoubtedly a heavy blow to the entire Western world. In the capitalist world, the Bu Party and their ideas have always been regarded as fallacies, heresies, and scourges.

In the past, the cloth party has been suppressed, whether in Russia or around the world, their situation is very bad. But now, the cloth party has opened a gap in the weakest chain of the capitalist world. It is conceivable how much panic this will cause in the capitalist world.

Of course, judging from the current world situation, the fear of the Allies is obviously much greater than that of the Bu Party. Although Russia suffered a disastrous defeat on the Eastern Front, in any case, with their strength, they are one of the most important members of the Allied Powers. Among other things, the millions of Russian troops on the Eastern Front can contain a considerable part of the forces of Germany and the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

Now, Russia has changed. After taking power, it is undoubtedly very difficult to say whether the Bu Party will fulfill the treaty and continue the war. This will be a great challenge for the Allies in the next battle.

Comparatively speaking, the Allies are not under so much pressure. Although, Germany and the Austro-Hungarian Empire are also hostile to the cloth party. However, for them, winning the current war is the most important thing. Great changes have taken place in Russia, so that they no longer have to worry about the threat of the Eastern Front, and can concentrate their forces on other fronts to launch attacks.

Behind the Russian cloth party, there is support from Germany. Therefore, the German Empire is not worried at all that they will turn their faces and deny people. Especially now, when they come to gain a foothold, they will definitely not do that. Unless they wait until they have completely mastered Russia. Of course, by that time, the German Empire might have won the World War and become a superpower. At that time, there will be no need to be afraid of the cloth party. This is why Qin Tian dared to fully support the Russian cloth party. Now that the Russian cloth party has indeed won the victory, then it is time to consider how to get the most benefit from it.

The Austro-Hungarian Empire is gearing up for another attack. Before, after the return of the German 8th Army, the Austrian army had already launched an offensive. However, there were setbacks. Coupled with the lack of logistical support, after losing some troops, they had to withdraw. Now, drastic changes have taken place in Russia, and this is naturally a good opportunity for them.

It's just that the Austro-Hungarian Empire was stopped by Germany before it started to act. The German government formally sent a letter to the Austro-Hungarian Empire, asking them to stop their actions against the Russian Buddhist Party. The German government has sent people to contact the Russian cloth party, and is ready to use negotiations to solve the problems on the Eastern Front. Most of the senior officials of the Austro-Hungarian government and military were somewhat dissatisfied with the demands of the German government. However, no one dared to show it openly. After all, the German Empire is their most powerful ally, and its military strength is much stronger than that of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. They had to carefully consider the opinions of the German government.

Crown Prince Karl was very dissatisfied with this, claiming that the German Empire was considered an ally of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, but the two sides were originally equal. There was no need for Austria-Hungary to follow the orders of the German Empire.

It's just that not many people support him this time. Last time, he received a lot of support because the German side did not make a clear statement. This time it's different. If Germany has already expressed its attitude, if it still confronts it, isn't that provoking the German Empire? At that time, not everyone can bear the anger of the German Empire. Grand Duke Friedrich, Baron Marshal Herzendorf and others clearly expressed their opposition. Therefore, Emperor Franz Joseph I of Austria naturally ordered the army to maintain a defensive posture and not to take the initiative to attack.

Such a result naturally annoyed Crown Prince Karl very much. It's just that he didn't have any other way, except to curse a few times and vent his anger and dissatisfaction in his heart, there was no other way.

Germany is indeed ready to negotiate with the Russian cloth party. This aspect has always been dominated by Qin Tianlai. Qin Tian has already started to plan all this since he strongly supported the Bu Party. Can force the Russian cloth party to sign a treaty and withdraw from the war. That is undoubtedly the best. In this case, Germany can end the Eastern Front. At the same time, more benefits can be obtained at the minimum cost.

The Allied Powers are also actively thinking about countermeasures for the drastic changes in Russia. How can they get greater benefits. In other words, to ensure that their interests are not damaged. If there is no world war breaking out now, they will definitely send troops to attack the Russian cloth party and help Nicholas II restore without saying a word. However, things are different now. Under the attack of the Allies, they were already struggling. If you send troops to Russia, it will not be possible at all.

London, England, Downing Street, Prime Minister's Office.

All the cabinet members gathered in the meeting room of the Prime Minister's Office, their faces sinking like water. The green smoke emitted from the cigar filled the entire conference room with smoke. However, no one pays attention to these at all.

"Gentlemen! What do you think of the drastic changes in the Russian Empire?" Prime Minister Asquith asked.

He is in a very bad mood now. The Russian Empire has just suffered a disastrous defeat on the Eastern Front. This is undoubtedly a serious blow to the Allied Powers. They have just reached an agreement that they are willing to spend money and weapons to rearm Russia so that this populous country can fully play its role on the Eastern Front. But now, such a thing happened in Russia. This undoubtedly made the situation of the Allies even worse.

Lost the containment of Russia, and they can imagine it with their buttocks. Next, they will have to face the full-scale attack of Germany and the Austro-Hungarian Empire. The Austro-Hungarian Empire is nothing to worry about. Although they are one of the great powers, their military strength is too weak. But Germany is different. If the British and French allied forces want to resist the German attack again, I am afraid that they will have to use their strength to survive. If it cannot withstand the German attack, northern France may all fall. At that time, it will be very difficult to say whether the French are willing to continue the war.

Chapter 363: Interference

"The riots that broke out in Russia are really at the wrong time! Nicholas II and his rule are too fragile, aren't they? They were overthrown so easily. And this has brought us a Big trouble!" said Sir Edward Gray.

"Nicholas II was too confident. He thought he could solve the riot well, so he didn't leave St. Petersburg immediately. Otherwise, as long as he fled St. Petersburg, even if St. Petersburg fell, he would be able to organize The army launched an attack on St. Petersburg to suppress the riots. The situation will not evolve into what it is now." Churchill said.

"How is Nicholas II now? I don't know whether he is dead or alive!" said Lloyd George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

"Who knows? According to our embassy, the Winter Palace has been captured by those rebels. Nicholas II's family was there at that time.

Therefore, he should not have escaped and fell into the rebels hands!" said Sir Edward Gray.

"Your Excellency, in view of the current situation, we should send people to contact the Russian cloth party. If they are willing to fulfill the treaty and continue to fight against Germany, we can not interfere in the situation in Russia." Churchill suggested.

"Mr. Churchill, do you mean that we want to abandon Nicholas II and cooperate with those rebels?" Prime Minister Asquith couldn't help frowning. For him, this seemed to be a difficult thing for him to accept.

"Your Excellency, Nicholas II committed suicide. We have no way to save him. Maybe he is dead now. For us, winning this war is the most important thing. As for the others , can be ignored for the time being. As long as the Germans can be defeated, it is understandable even to cooperate with those rebels." Churchill emphasized.

Although, Churchill's words made many cabinet members frown. However, they have to admit that Churchill's words are very reasonable. For the British Empire, the most important thing at this stage is to defeat Germany and the Allies and win the World War. As for the others, you can ignore them for the time being. Wait until the world war is won and the British Empire's status as the world hegemony is preserved before thinking about it.

"Your Excellency Churchill, I'm afraid your suggestion will not work at all!" Sir Edward Gray shook his head with a wry smile.

"Why?" Churchill frowned.

"The relationship between the Russian cloth party and Germany is very close. Even, they have always received the full support of Germany. Otherwise, how could the Russian cloth party develop so powerfully in just a few years?" Edward? said Sir Gray.

"What? Is this true?" Churchill was dumbfounded. If this news is true, it is almost impossible for them to persuade the Russian cloth party to continue to implement the treaty and start a war against the German Empire.

"Of course it is true. The embassy has confirmed the news." Sir Edward Gray said with certainty.

"Damn, how could the Germans have thought of this in advance? They actually started planning a few years ago. This is undoubtedly a great crisis for the British Empire!" Churchill sighed.

"Gentlemen, since the Russian Bundesliga is unlikely to choose Germany, what should we do with them?" Prime Minister Asquith asked.

"Your Excellency Prime Minister, if this is the case, we must not allow them to develop and grow. Although St. Petersburg has fallen into their hands. Even other major Russian cities have gradually been controlled by them. However, Russia is still There are many people who are loyal to the tsar. We need to support them and let them deal with the cloth party, and it is best to eliminate them. If necessary, we will even send troops to Russia to join the war!" Churchill gritted his teeth.

"Your Excellency Churchill, are you crazy? We can't even resist the pressure of Germany. If we go to provoke the Russian cloth party at this time, isn't that asking for trouble for ourselves?" Sir Edward Gray exclaimed.

"If the Russian cloth party is allowed to develop, it will make them the enemy of the entire capitalist world." Churchill said.

"However, we simply don't have the extra power to interfere with the Russian revolution." Richard Haldane said.

"Yes, this is indeed a problem. However, we can think of other ways. Didn't we order a large number of arms from the United States? Those weapons were still shipped to Russia. However, they were handed over to troops loyal to the Tsar. Let them go and fight the rebels of the cloth party!" Churchill said.

Prime Minister Asquith nodded: "There is no problem!"

Anyway, those weapons and equipment were originally intended to be used to equip the Tsar's troops. Now, it is also used on them. It's just that last time they were asked to deal with the German Empire, and this time they were asked to deal with the Bu Party.

"From the current situation, neither we nor France can send troops to intervene in Russia. At least until Germany is defeated, there is no way to intervene in them. However, we can let other countries go! Japan in the Far East, There is also the United States. They can all interfere in the Russian Revolution. Once the Bubu Party develops and grows, it will also be a threat to them. What's more, haven't those dwarfs in Japan always coveted the territory of the Russian Far East? Let them go To intervene in the Russian revolution, the big deal is to give them a little benefit." Churchill said.

"This is a way. Your Excellency, we can try it!" Sir Edward Gray said.

"Well, let's do it like this!" Prime Minister Asquith nodded and accepted the suggestion.

Subsequently, Britain actively linked up with France, the United States and Japan*. Many capitalist powers regard the Bu Party as a scourge. If they can be wiped out, that would be the best.

Especially Japan*, the most active, they have long coveted the Russian Far East. However, since everyone is a member of the Allied Powers, there is no chance to start. Now, the Russian cloth party uprising and the rule of Nicholas II were overthrown, which undoubtedly gave them a godsend opportunity. Especially with the full support of Britain, France and other countries, of course they will not give up this excellent opportunity. Therefore, the Japanese cabinet quickly made a resolution to send 100,000 people to land in Vladivostok to interfere in the Russian revolution.

The United States will also send some troops to land in Murmansk. Britain and France will also send some troops symbolically to participate in the intervention.

Chapter 364: Execution of the Tsar

Winter Palace, the former palace of the tsar, has now become the leadership center of the cloth party. Ulyanov and others all work here. After the cloth party seized control of St. Petersburg, their army immediately began to march around. At the same time, the cloth party also launched uprisings in other cities of the Russian Empire.

The uprising launched by the Budang Party, like a spark, spread like a prairie fire.

The revolutionary situation is very good, so that Ulyanov and others are in a state of high excitement. But at the same time, it also makes them very busy. As the leader of the cloth party, Ulyanov has not had a good rest for several days. However, he didn't care. As long as their revolution can be completely victorious, even if they are exhausted, it is worth it.

"Leader, our people have already controlled Moscow. Now, the army loyal to the revolution is marching around Moscow. The enthusiasm of the people is also rising with our victory. Soon, we will control more areas ." Lev Davidovich Trotsky happily reported to Ulyanov.

In the division of labor within the cloth party, Trotsky was responsible for leading the armed forces.

"Very well, Comrade Trotsky. Our revolution is heading towards victory. I dare say that we are not far from victory! However, Comrade Trotsky, our speed of development must be faster. Okay. Our time is running out." Ulyanov's eyes flashed a trace of worry.

"Leader, what happened?" Trotsky couldn't understand why Ulyanov was worried when the revolutionary situation was so good.

"Although there are still many people in China who oppose us. However, I don't care. Because I believe that we can defeat them. However, those imperialist countries will never stand by and watch us win and gain a country with Western powers. The leadership of the most populous country in the world. They will definitely try to interfere with us. Therefore, we need to crush those opposing forces as soon as possible. Comrade Trotsky, I hope that your actions can be faster. Those who dare to Those who resist us will be dealt with mercilessly!" Ulyanov's eyes flashed a ruthless look.

Although, they advertised as the savior of the Russian working people. But they were ruthless when dealing with opponents of the Russians at the same time.

"Okay, leader. I understand." Trotsky nodded. He knew what Ulyanov meant, that is, those who dared to oppose them would be wiped out by them. Clean it all up mercilessly!

"What's the matter? Comrade Joseph?" Ulyanov asked.

"The leader, our German friend, informed us about the international situation. The current international situation is very unfavorable to us." Joseph said with a black face.

Hearing what Joseph said, Ulyanov couldn't help but feel tense. He realized that what he was most worried about might still happen.

"Leader, the Allied Powers are secretly contacting us to interfere with us. Of course, if we can continue to fulfill the treaty and fulfill our combat obligations to Germany, they will not do anything to us. Otherwise, their troops will attack us." said Joseph.

"Impossible, we can't do anything to Germany. The war between imperialist countries has nothing to do with us." Ulyanov shook his head resolutely. But another reason is undoubtedly that they have received a lot of German aid. If you dare to use force against Germany, once the Germans expose all these, the consequences will be disastrous. Although Ulyanov and his faction are the most powerful faction in the cloth party, it does not mean that they have no opponents. Once their acceptance of German aid is exposed, they will definitely be used to make a big fuss. At that time, if they still want to continue to lead the Russian cloth party, it will be impossible.

Ulyanov absolutely does not allow such a thing to happen. He takes his own power very seriously.

Joseph nodded, he naturally knew this.

"Isn't the Allied Powers fighting against Germany? They are exhausted under the threat of Germany. Where can they have extra strength to attack us?" Ulyanov asked.

"Britain and France do not have many troops to attack us. However, the powerful country in the east has always coveted our territory. In addition, the United States on the other side of the ocean does not have a good impression of us. These countries are all likely to send troops directly interfering with us. Not to mention, they will continue to support those opponents in the country and launch attacks against us!" Joseph said.

"The opposition forces in the country are indeed a problem. I have asked Trotsky to speed up the elimination." Ulyanov said.

"Leader, I suggest that that person be executed. If he is alive, those rebels will have a target. If he is dead, the problem will be much easier." Joseph suggested.

Ulyanov hesitated for a long time, and finally nodded: "You handle it, make it clean, and don't let it out."

"Yes, leader!" Joseph nodded.

On the outskirts of St. Petersburg, in a farm. Tsar Nicholas II's family was imprisoned here.

Suddenly changed from the emperor of the empire to a prisoner, which undoubtedly made Nicholas II's spirit suffer a great blow.

On November 22, Yurovsky came to the farm, and he brought an order from the Supreme Council of the Burundi Party.

Yurovsky came to Nicholas II arrogantly, and read the order of the Supreme Council of the Burundi Party: "Nicholas II, since your relatives have been opposing our revolution. Therefore, The Supreme Council of the Burundi Party has decided to execute you!"

Nicholas II was stunned for a while.

"No, you can't treat me like this, I am the emperor of the empire!" Nicholas II roared, his eyes full of horror.

"Please, let us go! My sons and daughters are still children." Queen Alexandra cried and begged. However, her pleading was ignored at all.

"Execution!" Yurovsky ordered deadpan.

"Bang! Bang! Bang!"

The rifles in the hands of the execution team rang, and bullets shot at Nicholas II's family. Tsar Nicholas II, Empress Alexandra, and their four daughters and one son all fell in a pool of blood. The last emperor of the Romanov dynasty was thus killed.

Chapter 365: william ii ambition

The capital of Germany, Berlin, the Imperial Palace, the office of Wilhelm II.

Kaiser Wilhelm II, Prime Minister Bernhard von Bülow, Minister of Foreign Affairs von Kidren Wachter, Minister of the Navy Marshal Tirpitz, Minister of War and Chief of the General Staff von Falkenhay Because the marshal, as well as Qin Tian, the crown prince of the empire, all gathered here.

It has been a full month since the revolution broke out in Russia. Now, the territory controlled by the Russian cloth party is also getting bigger and bigger. But at the same time, with the support of Britain, France, the United States, Japan and other countries, the troops loyal to the tsar also launched an attack on the area controlled by the cloth party. The Russian Civil War has begun on a large scale.

William II and others had smiles on their faces. For them, the outbreak of revolution in Russia and the outbreak of war between the Bu Party and troops loyal to the Tsar are undoubtedly a great thing for the German Empire. Originally, the German Empire's advantage in this war was gradually losing. But with Russia, an important member of the Allied Powers, withdrawing from the war, this allowed the German Empire to regain its dominance in the war. Even everyone believed that the victory of the German Empire in this war would be inevitable.

"Oscar, you did a very good job. I never thought that those people would actually be able to accomplish something. Although the strength of the Russian Empire is not comparable to that of the German Empire, it is still a powerful country!" William II sighed.

Initially, when Qin Tian supported the cloth party, William II disagreed. Because the German Empire also belongs to the empire that the Bu Party wants to overthrow. Qin Tian believes that supporting the activities of the Bu Party can mess up Russia. William II was also noncommittal, allowing Qin Tian to operate. Unexpectedly, Qin Tian actually succeeded.

"Your Majesty, although Russia is also one of the most powerful countries, their internal conflicts are too sharp. Nicholas II is incompetent and unable to manage such a country with the most extensive territory in the world and the largest population in Europe. Therefore, this led to They collapsed during the revolution of the Budang Party. If it were in other countries, the Budang Party would definitely not be so easy to succeed." Qin Tian said.

"His Royal Highness, even if this is the case, the influence and destructive power of the Burundian Party must not be underestimated. I suggest that we must fully guard against the activities of the Burundian Party in Germany. Before, we supported them only to destroy It's just Russia. Now, Russia has collapsed. We must think about the future security of the empire." Prime Minister Bernhard von Bülow said.

Qin Tian nodded: "Your Excellency, I think so too. After we have gained enough benefits from the Budang, it is time to suppress them in an all-round way. Although, the current Budang is still in front of the empire. They are relatively weak. However, they will inevitably develop into the main opponents of the empire in Europe in the future. From now on, the empire can plan for future wars with them."

"The cloth party will threaten the empire? How is this possible?" William II frowned, not quite convinced. In comparison, the strength of the German Empire now has the momentum of the world's most powerful country. If they win this war again, they will undoubtedly truly become the hegemony of the world. At that time, even if the cloth party controls Russia, it will absolutely be unable to confront the German Empire.

"Father, the potential of the Bu Party cannot be underestimated. If we underestimate them, we will suffer a lot." Qin Tian said solemnly. Qin Tian clearly remembered how terrifying Bu Dang's potential was. On the land of ruins, it quickly developed into a superpower that kept pace with the US imperialism. If they don't pay attention to it, the cloth party in the future will inevitably become a serious problem for them.

"Your Majesty, His Royal Highness the Crown Prince must have a reason for saying this. It seems that we really need to take precautions against the cloth party." Foreign Minister von Kidren Wachter said.

"Okay, Oscar. I will leave everything to you about the cloth party. We have only one goal, and that is to ensure the long-term prosperity of the empire!" William II said.

"Yes, father." Qin Tian nodded solemnly.

"Everyone, the most important thing for us next is to win the current war. After the upheaval in Russia, I think there will be no doubt that the empire will win the final victory of the war." William II said .

"Yes, Father. Now we only need to keep a small amount of troops on the Eastern Front. The rest of the main force can be transferred to the Western Front. In addition, various legions are also increasing their armaments and forming armored divisions. Once we After the preparations are completed, we will definitely be able to defeat the British and French allied forces again and completely win a decisive victory on the Western Front!" Qin Tian said.

"Well, what about the navy? Tirpitz, when can the High Seas Fleet fight the British?" William II asked.

In the naval battle with the British Navy, the Imperial Navy has now firmly occupied the dominant position. However, the British Navy is not completely powerless to fight back. Therefore, William II has always been looking forward to the Imperial Navy's High Seas Fleet being able to completely defeat the British Royal Navy and pull the British from the throne of maritime supremacy.

"Your Majesty, the navy plans to fight the British in the first half of next year. If the British dare not go to war, the imperial navy will attack the British coastal cities and force them to go to sea to fight us." Marshal Earl Tirpitz said . In the first half of next year, the German Navy's five "Bavaria-class" battleships and three "Makensen-class" battlecruisers will all enter service, which will make the German Navy's strength reach its peak. In the whole world, no country's navy can compete with the German navy. Even the British Royal Navy is also unable to compete with the German Navy that has reached its peak.

What's more, this is just a surface fleet. The German Navy also has a powerful underwater force, as well as an aircraft carrier formation. Although, there are only two aircraft carriers. But that was undoubtedly the first of its kind. When the carrier-based planes take off from the aircraft carrier and attack the British warships, they will know that the gap between them and the German Navy is definitely not the difference in the number of surface warships, but in terms of hardware strength and combat philosophy. the all-round gap.

In front of the German Navy, the Royal Navy, which used to be the number one in the world, has only been crushed.

King William II nodded with satisfaction: "Very well, in the first half of next year, the Imperial Army will achieve a decisive victory on the Western Front, and the Imperial Navy will completely defeat the British Royal Navy. Then, the Empire will definitely win this battle!"

Chapter 366: Proposal for peace talks

"Father, ladies and gentlemen, I suggest that we have peace talks with the cloth party. The Russian civil war has broken out, and the cloth party has no intention of continuing to participate in the war. For them, defeating the royalist forces loyal to the tsar, it is the most important thing. In this process, they undoubtedly hope not to be interfered by foreign forces. Therefore, if we can negotiate peace with them, it is undoubtedly what they desire. It just so happens that we can also be at the negotiating table, get what we want." Qin Tian said.

William II nodded. He also coveted Russia's vast territory and resources. If it weren't for the fact that the battle on the Western Front is more important to Germany now, he might have decided to send troops to attack Russia. However, for Germany now, defeating Britain and France and winning the World War is the most important thing. Therefore, William II could only temporarily suppress his ambitions. It would undoubtedly be the best if the cloth party can agree to cede territory and pay compensation to Germany at the negotiating table. The German Empire will be able to get everything they want without breaking a sweat.

"Your Highness, if we want to have peace talks with the Buddang Party, we will inevitably make many harsh demands. At that time, will they be able to agree? After all, those people in the Buddang Party are not soft-boned!" Prime Minister Bernhard Feng ? Bilo said.

"Your Excellency, the leaders of the cloth party are indeed very tough people. However, their toughness is relative. In their eyes, the interests of the party are the most important, and the country must come after the party. Therefore, if they can withdraw from the war and deal with domestic opposition forces and foreign interference forces with peace of mind, they will definitely sell out their national interests." Qin Tian must say affirmatively.

"Your Highness, are you joking? How is this possible?" Foreign Minister von Kidren Wachter looked surprised.

Others, including William II, were also full of disbelief. For them, the country is definitely the most important. Isn't everything they do for the benefit of the country? It was the first time they knew that it was really strange that someone would harm the interests of the country for the interests of the political party.

"Father, everyone. This is indeed unbelievable. But, I promise, it is absolutely true. If they don't agree, we will act as if we are going to attack. When the time comes, they will definitely give in." Qin Tian looked affirmative.

"Your Majesty, if the cloth party is really like this, it will be very beneficial to the empire! The empire can take this opportunity to hit them hard." von Kidren Wa Hitt smiled.

"Well! Then follow the advice of His Royal Highness the Crown Prince!" William II nodded.

After the imperial meeting ended, Qin Tian, Prime Minister Bernhard von Bülow, and Foreign Minister von Kidren Wachter began to discuss what conditions they should raise in the negotiations with Russia.

"Your Highness, what's your opinion on our next peace talks with the Russian Bunker Party?" Bernhard von Bülow asked. With Qin Tian's outstanding military and political talents, and Qin Tian's position as crown prince being fully consolidated, the civil servant faction of the empire has basically turned to Qin Tian. Of course, there is a prerequisite for this, that is, William II also supports Qin Tian. If William II didn't like Qin Tian and wanted to replace Qin Tian, they would definitely stand by William II's side without hesitation. After all, William II was the real master of the empire, and Qin Tian could at best be regarded as a more reliable heir.

"Your Excellency, Prime Minister, I have generally thought about it. The conditions we put forward to the Russian cloth party must be very, very harsh. Even if the lion opens his mouth, it can be regarded as giving the Russians a room for bargaining. In the end, they will definitely agree. Our conditions." Qin Tian said.

At the same time, in Qin Tian's mind, he began to think about the content of the "Brest Treaty" signed by Germany and the Burundi Party in another time and space. In another time and space, since the Burundian Party was able to sign the "Treaty of Brest" with Germany, in this time and space, even if Germany proposes the same conditions, or even harsher conditions, it is estimated that the Russian Burundian Party will accept it. .

"Your Excellency Prime Minister, Your Excellency Minister of Foreign Affairs, I think that our main requirements in terms of territory and war reparations can be as follows. In terms of territory, Russia must give up its claims to Poland, Lithuania, Courland, Livland and Estland (that is, Poland and the three Baltic countries) jurisdiction and sovereignty, hand over these areas to the German Empire. In addition, allow Finland and Ukraine to be independent. If possible, occupy the whole or half of Belarus. In terms of war reparations, let the Russians pay at least Our war indemnity of 6 billion marks, if possible, it is not a bad idea to increase it to 10 billion marks. This time, the Buddhist party can be regarded as having fully accepted the huge wealth left by the tsar. In addition, they are raging in Russia. Land. Paying the empire's war reparations of 10 billion marks is nothing to them," Qin Tian said.

Prime Minister Bernhard von Bülow and Foreign Minister von Kidren Wacht were stunned. Qin Tian's conditions in these two aspects cannot be described as harsh at all. If the Russians accepted these conditions in full, the German Empire would benefit greatly from it. However, they did not think that the Russian cloth party would accept such harsh conditions.

"Your Highness, will the Russians really accept our conditions?" Von Kidren Wascht swallowed hard.

"Of course, I firmly believe! As long as we act like they will use force if they don't agree. I think they will definitely agree to our request. Besides, they can have what they are today, but it is inseparable from our strong support. Now, it's their turn to pay the price!" Qin Tian smiled.

"Then let's negotiate with the Russians according to His Highness's request. Your Excellency, Minister of Foreign Affairs, you, as the representative of the Empire, have full powers to negotiate with Russia on behalf of the Empire." Prime Minister Bernhard von Bülow said.

"It's my honor!" Von Kidren Wachter readily agreed. If he can win huge benefits for the German Empire in this negotiation, he will get a great credit.

Chapter 367: Hypocrisy

Russia, St. Petersburg, Winter Palace, Ulyanov's office.

Joseph is reporting to Ulyanov at the request of the German side. As Ulyanov's assistant, Joseph has been in charge of maintaining contact with the German side. Germany had always been their biggest supporter until the success of the Burundian revolution. This also made Joseph's status in the cloth party very high, almost second only to Ulyanov.

"Leader, Germany has conveyed its willingness to have peace talks with us. How should we respond to them?" Joseph asked.

"Peace talks? What do the Germans want to do? Could it be that they want to take this opportunity to blackmail us?" Ulyanov frowned. Ever since he received help from Germany, he has known for a long time that this day will come soon. However, he did not expect that it would come so soon. German money is not so easy to get!

"Leader, based on what I know about the Germans, it is estimated that they are really going to cut off a piece of flesh from us this time." Joseph said.

"Ah! There was no way to accept their support back then. If we hadn't accepted their support back then, it would have been a problem for us to survive, let alone achieve the success of the revolution." Ulyanov sighed in one breath.

"Leader, there is no way. For our cause, we could only do that." Joseph said.

Ulyanov nodded: "Since the Germans want peace talks, let's talk with them! However, we have to pay as little price as possible. Now, Russia will be ruled by us. We will develop If you want to be strong, you must have a good foundation."

"Yes, leader. However, the Germans have an absolute advantage. Therefore, I am afraid it will be difficult for us to refuse their request." Joseph said.

Ulyanov was also bitter. Germany's military power is too strong. If they reject the Germans' request, then what awaits them will be a German attack. At that time, they will not only lose a large area of territory, but even fail under the attack of the German army. At that time, they will pay a higher price. Even if the Germans made public the evidence of their acceptance of German support, it would be a devastating blow to them.

"Talk to the Germans as much as possible. If the Germans' conditions are not so harsh, you can agree to them. If they are too harsh, try your best to find a way to refuse." Ulyanov said.

"Yes, leader." Joseph nodded.

Subsequently, Ulyanov convened a meeting of the Supreme Council of the Burundi Party and informed everyone of the preparations for peace talks with Germany. As expected by Ulyanov, many people were in favor of peace talks with Germany. But at the same time, they demand that their interests be guaranteed as much as possible.

"Everyone, we need to appoint a representative who is fully responsible for negotiating with the Germans? Who do you think is the most suitable?" Ulyanov asked.

"Leader, isn't Comrade Joseph always in charge of contacting the Germans? Let him represent us!" Kamenev said.

"No, no! Comrade Kamenev, it is precisely because I have always been in charge of contacting the Germans, so the Germans know me very well. In this case, it will be difficult to bargain with them during the negotiation. Therefore, I suggest that Comrade Trotsky should be responsible for negotiating with the Germans, and he is our People's Commissar for Foreign Affairs, responsible for foreign affairs." Joseph hastily declined.

Although, negotiating on behalf of the Burundi Party and Germany will have a lot of power. However, Joseph did not want this drudgery to fall on his own head. That's right, Joseph thought it was a chore to be in charge of negotiating with Germany this time. Otherwise, with his character, would he still refuse if it was really profitable?

Joseph can be sure that in this negotiation, the German side will put forward very harsh conditions. Also, the hardline Germans will directly force Russia to accept their terms. In the end, the humiliating traitorous surrender treaty will definitely be signed. No matter who is in charge of negotiating with Germany, it will become a stain in his life. Therefore, Joseph did not want this stain to exist in his resume. He also thought about becoming his successor after Ulyanov retired or died!

If he wants to become Ulyanov's successor, Trotsky is undoubtedly his biggest opponent. Therefore, Joseph can't wait to dig a hole for Trotsky now.

"Well, do you have any other opinions?" Ulyanov asked.

The others are not fools, so they stopped expressing their opinions immediately.

"In this case, I think Comrade Trotsky will negotiate with the Germans on our behalf. I only have one request, and that is to preserve our interests as much as possible during the negotiations." Ulyanov said.

"Yes, leader, I will try my best to complete the task!" Trotsky nodded and accepted the task.

After discussions between Germany and the Bundesliga Party, they decided to negotiate in Brest. On the German side, Foreign Minister von Kidren Wachter was the plenipotentiary, while on the Burund side, Trotsky, the People's Commissar for Foreign Affairs, was the plenipotentiary.

On December 12, the two sides held talks in Brest.

"Your Excellency, the German Empire and your party have always maintained a very good relationship. Therefore, we hope that after your party has gained power in Russia, we can continue to coexist peacefully. However, your country has already participated in this war after all. , and also caused huge losses to Germany. Therefore, we hope to quell this war and end this war through peace talks!" German Foreign Minister von Kiedren Wachter had a hypocritical smile on his face.

"Your Excellency, Minister of Foreign Affairs, our party is also very grateful to Germany for its support. We also sincerely hope to maintain good relations with your country. We are willing to withdraw from this war through peaceful negotiations. From now on, we will hold the power of Russia After that, I am more willing to live in peace with the German Empire forever." Trotsky said.

Anyway, on such a diplomatic occasion, it's all about talking on the spot. When it comes time for peace talks, the two sides will fight with each other and will not give an inch. Undoubtedly, this is a typical Minute being a **** and setting up a chastity archway.

However, this can at least show that the atmosphere of the peace talks this time is relatively good. Of course, all this is superficial.

Chapter 368: strict condition

Members of the German Reich and the Burundian delegation began formal talks after enjoying a sumptuous lunch. Compared with the previous atmosphere, the atmosphere of the formal talks has undoubtedly changed significantly. If the atmosphere between the two sides was relatively harmonious before, the atmosphere has become tense now.

"Your Excellency, Commissioner. In view of the fact that the Russian army has caused huge losses to the German Empire in this war. Therefore, we hope that your party can satisfy the following aspects of the empire.

The contracting parties declared an armistice. The Russian army was fully demobilized. Before the signing of the universal peace treaty, the Russian warships sailed back to the Russian port or disarmed immediately. After the conclusion of the treaty, all the main battleships of Russia would be transferred to the German Empire. Russia renounces jurisdiction and sovereignty over Poland, Belarus, Lithuania, Courland, Livland and Estland (ie Poland, Belarus and the Baltic States). Pending the conclusion of a universal peace treaty and the complete demobilization of Russian troops, Germany will continue to occupy the areas east of the above-mentioned areas occupied by German troops on the eve of the signing of the peace treaty. Russia recognized the independence of Ukraine and Finland and immediately withdrew its troops from Finland, Ukraine and the Åland Islands. Russia paid Germany 12 billion marks in war reparations. Germany promised not to interfere in the internal affairs of Soviet Russia and not to attack Russia from Finland. "

German Foreign Minister von Kidren Wachter, without blinking an eye, fully revealed the conditions of Germany. Moreover, these conditions are even harsher than those proposed by Qin Tian before. Of course, those conditions proposed by Qin Tian are the bottom line that Germany needs to stick to in this peace talks. In order to give the cloth party a room to bargain, so von Kidren Wachter raised the asking price.

It's just that the conditions in Germany have obviously shocked the cloth party. They simply could not imagine that the German side would propose such conditions. These conditions are undoubtedly too harsh. It was so harsh that Trotsky and other members of the cloth party delegation were stunned.

As the head of the Burundi delegation, Trotsky knew that this time the Germans would definitely open their mouths. However, he still did not expect that the appetite of the Germans would be much greater than he expected. If the cloth party agrees to these conditions of the Germans, then they will lose a lot of benefits. Even in the future, even if the Budapest Party controls the whole of Russia, it will not be able to develop into a powerful country on the basis of Russia. This is especially true when the Germans dominate Europe.

After listening to the conditions put forward by Germany, Trotsky wanted to leave the meeting immediately and protested. They would never agree to such a condition. However, Trotsky knew that if the peace talks failed, the Germans would definitely tear off their hypocritical masks and attack Russia immediately. With the strong combat effectiveness of the German army, they could not resist the German attack at all. At that time, with heavy losses, will they be able to defeat those opposing forces?

"Your Excellency, Minister of Foreign Affairs, the conditions of your country are too harsh. It was Tsar Nicholas II who got Russia involved in this war, not us. We are very peace-loving. Therefore, Germany should not put such harsh conditions on us," Trotsky said.

"Your Excellency, no matter what you say, Russia has already joined this war. If this is the case, if you want to withdraw from the war, you will naturally have to pay a sufficient price. Otherwise, the empire will not be able to explain to the people." Von Kidren? Wachter is also a look of embarrassment.

"Your Excellency, Minister of Foreign Affairs, we agree to cede the Kingdom of Poland to your country. In addition, we will compensate your country with two billion marks in war reparations. This is the only condition we can accept." Trotsky said.

Von Kidren? Wachter smiled and said nothing. However, his expression gives people a feeling, that is, are you sending beggars away? How could the German Empire, as the winner of this war, at least the winner of the Eastern Front, only need such a little profit? In that case, isn't Germany busy in this war? Germany will not accept such conditions.

"Your Excellency, Minister of Foreign Affairs, this is really our bottom line. Otherwise, we will not be able to explain to the Russian people." Trotsky said.

"Haha, Commissioner, do you need to explain to the public? You only need to be satisfied with yourself, and the opinions of the public have no influence on you at all." Von Kidren Wachter smiled Said.

Of course Trotsky could understand the sarcasm in von Kidren Wachter's words. Indeed, the Budapak regards the interests of the party as paramount. As for the interests of the people and the country, they don't care so much. But while they've always done it this way. But if someone pointed it out in person, it would undoubtedly be a slap in the face. This made Trotsky's complexion very ugly. However, he also knows that now is not the time to turn against the Germans, so he can only endure it.

"Your Excellency, Minister of Foreign Affairs, your country's conditions are indeed too harsh for us to accept." Trotsky blushed.

"Well, Your Excellency. If you can't accept the conditions of the empire, then the empire can only regard this peace talks as over. In that case, we can only use the army to take everything we want. Hope, we The relationship between the two parties will not be affected by this." Von Kidren Wachter said.

Suddenly, Trotsky's face turned from red to blue. He knew very well that it was the Germans who were threatening them. The intention is also very obvious. If the cloth party does not accept Germany's conditions, then Germany will be ready to use force. At that time, the cloth party will pay a greater price.

"Your Excellency, Minister of Foreign Affairs, I will report your request to the country. However, I still insist on my point of view. Your country's request is too harsh. We cannot accept it." Trotsky said.

"Of course, Your Excellency, member. We have already proposed the conditions. Whether you can accept them or not is up to you. Three days, our country can give you three days to consider. If your party cannot give us a satisfactory answer after three days. Then , we have no choice but to terminate the negotiation." Von Kidren Wascht pressed harder and harder.

Trotsky nodded with an ugly face. Facing the threats and persecution from Germany, he had nothing to do. Who put them at a disadvantage now?

Chapter 369: Argument

St. Petersburg, the Winter Palace, in the meeting room, members of the Supreme Committee of the Burundi Party sat at the meeting table. Everyone held a copy of Trotsky's telegram from Brest in their hands. The content of the telegram is the tough attitude of the German side and the conditions put forward by the German side. Of course, the harsh conditions put forward by the German side made these leaders of the Burundi Party stupid.

"The Germans are clearly talking to the lions. We absolutely cannot accept such conditions. Otherwise, Russia will be completely reduced to a second-rate small country." Kamenev blushed and looked angry.

If the Burundi Party accepts the conditions of Germany, they will not only lose millions of square kilometers of territory, but also lose 40% of the country's population and more than half of the industry. Coupled with the loss of resources, this will make Russia completely lose the capital to become a big country! The leaders of these cloth parties do not want the country they will command in the future to become like this.

Ulyanov was also pale. He was equally intimidated by the German appetite. Originally, he thought that even if Germany wanted to kill Russia, it should not be too harsh. After all, Budang is not a fool, how could he agree to such harsh conditions? But now, Ulyanov had to admit that he underestimated the appetite of the Germans too much. This clearly meant to eat up a small part of Russia in one bite! And it is still the most essential half.

Ulyanov obviously could not accept such a condition. However, he was a little worried. Once the conditions of the Germans are rejected, what serious consequences will there be. If the German army launched an attack on Russia, would they be able to resist it? Will their revolution fail because of this. At that time, I am afraid that they will not only lose their lives, but also have no possibility of success in their ideals.

This made Ulyanov couldn't help worrying about gains and losses.

People may be like this, before they succeed, they can still fight forward. However, after success, he becomes hesitant and cares about gains and losses. Even a leader like Ulyanov will inevitably have problems in this regard.

Joseph was a little thankful that this hard work did not fall on his head. Otherwise, he should be the one who is struggling now. Joseph was very satisfied to be able to dig a hole for Trotsky, a powerful opponent.

Although, these members of the Supreme Council are now filled with righteous indignation, scolding Germany for being despicable and shameless, and the lion opened his mouth. However, Joseph knew that under the threat of Germany, they had no choice but to compromise.

Sure enough, when everyone scolded Germany sternly, Ulyanov began to ask everyone for their opinions.

"Everyone, should we agree to the harsh conditions of the Germans? If we don't agree, what will happen? Let's analyze it carefully!" Ulyanov said.

"Leader, the conditions of the Germans are too harsh, we absolutely cannot agree!" Kamenev immediately expressed his strong opposition.

Immediately, several committee members agreed. They also believed that the conditions offered by Germany were too harsh and insincere. If they agreed to such a condition, it would inevitably make them sinners of Russia.

At this time, Joseph spoke: "Everyone, if we don't agree to the conditions of the Germans, what actions will the Germans take? Can we bear the consequences?"

Joseph's words, like a bomb, made everyone stop talking. Everyone knows that Joseph's words are very reasonable. After all, Germany is so powerful now, after rejecting Germany, it means that it will be prepared to bear the wrath of Germany. And whether it can withstand the anger of Germany, no one dares to guarantee it.

After all, the current cloth party is still too weak. The armed forces they control, although numerous. But in front of the powerful German army, it was just a mob. They are not unclear about the German army's record on the Eastern Front. At the time, Russia's most elite standing army was not an opponent of the German army. Not to mention, they are now.

"Everyone, especially now that we are still facing internal and external troubles, it is even more important to properly handle this matter. Otherwise, everyone has to think carefully about the consequences!" Joseph continued.

Sure enough, the expressions on many people's faces became very serious.

"Joseph, are you advocating that we should accept blackmail from the Germans? In that case, how is it different from betraying the country?" Kamenev retorted.

"Comrade Kamenev, I am not traitorous, I am thinking for the interests of the party. We have worked so hard to get to this point, it is not easy! How many of our comrades were killed by Tsar Nicholas II for the success of the revolution? Killing? If we offend Germany and cause the German army to attack us aggressively, resulting in the failure of our revolution, then we will never have another chance." Joseph looked like he was thinking about the party and the cause.

However, Joseph's words did resonate with many people. It is undoubtedly very difficult for the cloth party to come to this day. Before, Tsar Nicholas II had always suppressed and persecuted them, and I don't know how many people lost their lives because of this. Even Ulyanov was exiled to Siberia? Almost lost his life.

"Hmph! Joseph, you are scaremongering. The Germans are busy fighting with Britain and France, the two imperialist countries, and there is no extra force to deal with us." Kamenev is not so easily persuaded .

"It is true that the main force of the Germans will not be used on us. But even if they only send an army to attack us, we may not be able to resist it? What's more, the Austro-Hungarian Empire is also eyeing us. They launched Although the attack was defeated, no one can guarantee that they will make a comeback. If the German army attacks us, the Austro-Hungarian Empire will definitely join in. At that time, the consequences will be very serious. Besides, if Germany If they win in future wars, they will definitely attack us with all their strength. At that time, do we have the strength to fight against them? Therefore, I think it is better to conclude an agreement with Germany as soon as possible and withdraw from the war!" Joseph continued.

Chapter 370: intimidation of force

The meeting of the Supreme Council of the Russian Burundian Party did not reach any resolutions. Some people supported making peace with Germany, while others supported rejecting Germany's request. The whole meeting was full of hype. In the end, Ulyanov left the meeting room with a sullen face, which ended the meeting.

For several days in a row, the Russian cloth party was arguing about what to do, and time passed slowly like this.

Three days later, the Russian cloth party has not given an accurate answer to the German side. German Foreign Minister von Kidren Wachter immediately left Brest and led the German delegation back to Germany despite Trotsky's persuasion.

As soon as the German delegation left, this immediately made the Burundi Party even more anxious. Everyone knows that after the breakdown of the negotiations, they will have to face the military threat from Germany.

After returning to Berlin, von Kidren Wachter met Qin Tian immediately. Prime Minister Bernhard von Bülow, also together.

"Your Highness, isn't our asking price too high? It scared the Russians." Von Kidren Wachter said.

"Yes! Your Highness. If the Russians refuse to agree to our conditions, then do we really have to use force against them?" Bernhard von Bülow was also a little worried.

After all, they all know it. Now Germany's main energy will be on the Western Front. On the Eastern Front, only a small number of troops will be retained.

"Of course it is impossible for us to use force against them. However, it is still possible to intimidate them. Since the Russians have been unable to make a decision, let's help them! I will ask the 8th and 9th armies, put aside Make a big attack. At that time, I think the Russians will make a choice." Qin Tian looked like he was sure of winning.

It's just that, this is just his faking. In fact, he didn't know whether the cloth party would succumb as easily as in another time and space. After all, in this time and space, many things have changed. The cloth party in this time and space is also stronger than the cloth party in another time and space.

"His Royal Highness, how about we lower our requirements appropriately!" said von Kidren Wachter. If you don't get anything because the asking price is too high, then it's not worth it.

"No! Although we are still cooperating with the Russian cloth party, the honeymoon period will end soon. By then, we will be enemies. Therefore, the harder we kill them at this time, the more we can Weaken them. This will give us a favorable position in future confrontations." Qin Tian said.

"Wachter, let's do it according to His Highness the Crown Prince's opinion! I also believe that His Highness the Crown Prince will succeed." Bernhard von Bülow said.

"Okay then!" Von Kidren Wascht nodded and had no choice but to say no more.

"Your Excellency, Minister of Foreign Affairs, you must not be impatient during the negotiations with the Russian Burton Party. The Russians will not shed tears when they see the coffin. They will compromise when our troops start marching towards them," Qin Tian said.

"I hope so!" Von Kidren Wachter said.

Afterwards, Qin Tian personally issued orders to the 8th Army and the 9th Army, asking them to go to the border, pretending to march on Russia, and intimidating Russia with force.

"This time, I want to see if those Russians have the courage to resist!" Qin Tian's eyes flashed a cold look.

After receiving Qin Tian's order, the German 8th Army and 9th Army, regardless of whether it was still winter, immediately left the station and headed for the border. Although, the 8th Army suffered a lot of losses after the first battle that annihilated the Russian Southwest Front Army. But after returning to East Prussia, it was immediately replenished. Germany's mobilization has been completed, and the second phase of mobilization has also begun, which makes them not short of soldiers in a short period of time. Of course, if the war drags on for too long, the disadvantage of Germany's lack of troops will inevitably appear.

The Ninth Army, although it is a newly formed army. However, ten infantry divisions plus one armored division still have a total of more than 180,000 people. The configuration of various weapons and equipment is exactly the same as that of the 8th Army. The only thing they lack is battlefield experience. As long as they have experienced the battlefield test of blood and fire, their combat effectiveness can be improved and they will become a truly elite force. Qin Tian proposed that General Hindenburg be the commander of the 9th Army, because he valued General Hindenburg's talent. He believed that Admiral Hindenburg would be able to train the Ninth Army into a powerful force, a force loyal to him.

Two elite legions of the German army marched to the border and launched an attack formation. The cannons with hideous muzzles and the dark tanks all represented powerful attack power. And this scared the leaders of the Russian cloth party enough.

"What should we do? What should we do now? The two elite German legions have already marched to the border. If they attack, what can we use to resist? How can we resist? One of the German legions will almost be wiped out Two million Russian troops were killed. The two legions joined forces, and they can easily destroy us!" Joseph looked panicked.

Ulyanov also looked very ugly. The Germans have now made their attitude clear, as if they are going to attack them. Although, Ulyanov believes that this may be the Germans intimidating them. However, he didn't dare to take the risk. Otherwise, once the Germans are serious, the consequences will be very serious.

Ulyanov knew very well that if the German army really launched an offensive, even if they only invested two legions, they could wipe out all the troops they currently control. What's more, there are still a large number of troops loyal to Tsar Nicholas II, ready to attack them. At that time, the situation of the Russian cloth party will be very critical. If it is not done well, it will be destroyed.

"Comrade Joseph, we can't take risks. At least at this stage, we can't tear ourselves apart with the Germans. Therefore, after bargaining for the Germans' demands, let them agree!" Ulyanov said.

Between betraying the country and keeping himself, Ulyanov chose the latter.

"Yes, leader, I understand. However, Comrades Kamenev and Comrade Trotsky strongly oppose it. If their attitudes don't change, it may be difficult for us to reach an agreement." Joseph was a little worried.

"Try to find a way! They didn't understand the situation, but we can't let them make our revolution fail!" Ulyanov's eyes flashed with determination.
