Chapter 551: Dispatch troops

"Your Highness, a telegram from the Minister of the Navy!" A staff officer reported to Qin Tian.

Qin Tian took the telegram, and after reading it, a gleam of relief flashed in his eyes.

"The Secretary of the Navy has ordered that the 1st Division of the Marine Corps set off for Berlin. It is expected that the 1st Division of the Marine Corps will arrive in Berlin tomorrow morning. The 1st Division of the Marine Corps is the most elite of the five Marine divisions. Yes. If they arrive in time, the rebels in Berlin will definitely not be their opponents." Qin Tian said.

At the beginning, he suggested that Marshal Earl Tirpitz form the Marine Corps, on the one hand, of course, to strengthen the navy. On the other hand, it is also to consider that he can get the support of the navy when he needs it. Now, isn't it just such a moment?

"Your Highness, if only the Guards are involved in the rebellion, the 1st Marine Division can undoubtedly eliminate them. However, we must prepare for the worst. In case other troops are involved If it is among them, the problem may be even more serious." Major General Manstein reminded.

Qin Tian nodded, indeed, he found that he thought everything was too optimistic.

"Send a telegram to General Hindenburg, asking him to lead an infantry division and the 9th Armored Division to Berlin to quell the rebellion. If you encounter resistance, shoot and kill!" Qin Tian ordered.

The 9th Army and the 10th Army are both subsequent legions. The defense areas are East Prussia and Poland, both of which are direct descendants of Qin Tian. The main officers were also drawn from the 8th Army. The 11th Army and the 12th Army that were subsequently formed were also commanded by members of the 8th Army. Therefore, Qin Tian was very relieved of these legions.

"In this case, an infantry division plus an armored division, plus a marine division, should be foolproof." Major General Manstein said.

Each legion of the German army has an armored division. Among them, the eight main armored divisions fought on the Western Front. The 9th Armored Division of the 9th Army is undoubtedly the most powerful one among the remaining troops. It is also one of the most well-organized. The Guards staying around Berlin did not have armored units. The arrival of the 9th Panzer Division in Berlin would be enough to crush any resistance.

"In addition, order other ministries to continue to follow the previous order. Without my order, you are not allowed to act without authorization." Qin Tian continued.

If there are other troops involved in the rebellion, it can be easily distinguished from this. Qin Tian believed that with the prestige in his army, once he gave the order, there should be very few people who would dare to continue to participate in the rebellion. In this case, the rebellion in Berlin will be much easier to solve.

"Yes, Your Highness. I will focus on monitoring the troops." Major General Manstein said.

Qin Tian nodded: "Let the commanders of the armies on the western front rush to Versailles immediately. Before returning to Berlin, I need to communicate with them and unify our thinking. No matter what happens in Berlin, the front line must not be chaotic. Otherwise, our battle will be in vain."

In Qin Tian's view, the rebellion in Berlin involving the Guards was nothing more than a small problem. Once the troops he mobilized arrived in Berlin, the problem could definitely be solved easily. In this case, the Western Front is undoubtedly the main problem. It is absolutely impossible to affect the frontline battlefield because of the rebellion that broke out in Berlin. Qin Tian hoped that Germany would win this battle.

"Yes, Your Highness, I will immediately send a telegram to all the legions on the front line." Major General Manstein said.

"By the way, Your Highness, the Crown Princess and the little prince are still in Berlin? What about their safety?" Major General Manstein was a little worried.

"Don't worry, perhaps because of God's blessing, they went to Munich last week. I will send a telegram to Munich, telling them not to return to Berlin for the time being." Qin Tian said.

It was precisely because of this that Qin Tian had no worries and dared to mobilize troops into Berlin to suppress the rebellion. This is also his luck. If Princess Gundlinda and his son are still in Berlin, he will definitely be tied up.

"God bless!" After Major General Manstein said this, he immediately sent a telegram.

After Major General Manstein left, Qin Tian's face became ugly.

There was a rebellion in Berlin, which was completely beyond his expectations. You know, under the current good situation, such an accident unexpectedly happened, which made Qin Tian very angry. At the same time, he was also dissatisfied that his intelligence department did not detect it in advance. Of course, things have already happened, and it is meaningless to pursue responsibility now. What Qin Tian needs to figure out now is why there is a rebellion in Berlin. Also, who led this rebellion.

"Damn it, who is in charge of this rebellion?" Qin Tian had a headache.

Although, Qin Tian still has many enemies. For example, the former chief of the general staff Moltke, and Lieutenant General Prittwitz who was squeezed out of the 8th Army. However, Qin Tian didn't think that with their abilities, they could lead the rebellion this time.

In addition, Qin Tian also believed that he had offended many people over the years. However, the feud between the two sides is not to the point of launching a rebellion! You know, the possibility of launching a rebellion is not high. If it fails, the consequences will be disastrous. Life is often the price.

It is precisely because the cost is so high that Qin Tian believes that not everyone will have the determination to do that.

What's more, even if the rebellion is successful, how will it be explained to the army and all the people? Without a legitimate reason, the citizens will definitely not accept it. At that time, it will not be so easy for the rebels to sit safely in their seats.

Qin Tian never expected that Crown Prince William would wake up. In his eyes, Crown Prince William, who has become a vegetative state, is no longer threatening. In fact, Qin Tian once thought that Crown Prince William was doomed, and that he would spend his entire life in a deep sleep until he died. However, who would have thought that a miracle would happen to Crown Prince William? After sleeping for such a long time, he actually woke up, which is really unexpected. It is precisely because of this that the mutiny launched by Crown Prince William was able to succeed.

Since he couldn't guess who led the rebellion this time, Qin Tian didn't force it. As long as this rebellion is suppressed, everything will naturally come to light.

Chapter 552: Mutation

"Marshal Earl Tirpitz really took a lot of risks this time. It is worth my support for the development of the Imperial Navy!" Qin Tian heard that Marshal Earl Tirpitz directly dispatched a marine division to Berlin. , could not help sighing.

Although, Marshal Count Tirpitz is the Minister of the Imperial Navy, an absolute senior official of the Empire. However, it is undoubtedly very taboo to send troops to Berlin without the emperor's order. Once the responsibility is investigated, the Marshal Earl Tirpitz can't afford to go around. In light cases, he was dismissed from his post, and in severe cases, he was tried by a military court.

Of course, this is undoubtedly of great benefit to Qin Tian. By doing this, Marshal Earl Tirpitz undoubtedly went to fight for Qin Tian. Before obtaining the exact information, Marshal Earl Tirpitz did this to further ascertain the situation.

Several group army commanders fighting in France rushed to Versailles overnight after receiving Qin Tian's order. Fortunately, France is not that big. Several legions are actually not far from Versailles, and it only takes a few hours to drive.

At 5 o'clock in the morning, several legion commanders rushed all the way to Versailles. Everyone's faces were full of tiredness. After all, most of these legion commanders are not young. Except for Prince Ruprecht, the commander of the 6th Group, and Lieutenant General Ludendorff, the chief of staff of the 8th Army who commanded the 8th Army on behalf of Qin Tian, most of them were in their fifties or sixties. Everyone was a little surprised that Qin Tian summoned them in such a hurry. After all, the current war in France is already very beneficial to the German army. There shouldn't be anything major happening.

"His Royal Highness, has something happened?" Admiral Crook asked.

The gazes of other people also focused on Qin Tian. From the stern expression on Qin Tian's face, everyone also felt that something big had happened.

"Everyone, there is a rebellion in Berlin. The Imperial Guards have launched a mutiny. The Admiralty and the General Staff have been captured by the rebels. Your Majesty can't be contacted either. It is estimated that the imperial palace has also fallen." Qin Tian said .

"What? How is this possible?" The generals all had expressions of disbelief.

"Your Highness, this is not a joke, right? We are fighting on the front line, and we are fighting against many European powers that are not our opponents. Now, the Imperial Guard in the capital has launched a mutiny?" Admiral Bilo couldn't laugh or cry.

The other generals also expressed their own doubts. After all, the Janissaries were the confidants of Kaiser Wilhelm II, how could they launch a mutiny? This is so strange.

"Because I have limited information, I don't know what's going on. However, I received a telegram from Berlin a few hours ago. The telegram was sent in the name of His Majesty, declaring that His Majesty was seriously ill. , and asked me to rush back to Berlin immediately. When I was about to leave, His Majesty's housekeeper, Kanjiao, sent someone to send a message, saying that a mutiny broke out in the Imperial Guards and the palace was under attack." Qin Tian said.

"Trap, Your Highness. This is definitely a trap. Those guys really betrayed the empire. Letting His Highness go back to Berlin at this time is to harm His Highness!" Prince Ruprecht said immediately.

"Yes, Your Highness. They want to harm you." Even a fool can see such a strategy, let alone their generals who have been in command all year round.

"I also know that this is a trap. However, I have to go to Berlin! Your Majesty and the Queen have fallen into the hands of the rebels, and their lives are unknown. Besides, if I don't return to Berlin, how can the rebellion be put down?" ?" A murderous look flashed in Qin Tian's eyes. Apparently, he had already planned to kill those rebels.

"Your Highness, I'll go back with you. Sending two infantry divisions from the front line to go back together is enough to put down the rebellion." Admiral Crook said immediately.

The other generals also asked for orders. After all, putting down the rebellion is also a great achievement.

"Everyone, I have already made arrangements to put down the rebellion. Marshal Earl Tirpitz has sent a marine division to Berlin. In addition, I have dispatched an infantry division and an armored division from the 9th Army to go to Berlin. Berlin is here. I think, two infantry divisions plus one armored division will have no problem dealing with the Imperial Guards!" Qin Tian said.

"Your task is still to defeat the British and French coalition forces on the French battlefield. No matter what the domestic situation is, the war must continue. We have paid a huge price to win this war. We must not give up halfway !" Qin Tian said.

"Yes, Your Highness." Several legion commanders nodded. Although they wanted to return to the country with Qin Tian to quell the rebellion. But they know that the current battle situation on the front line is tense, and they really cannot do without them.

In addition, they also knew that Qin Tian had sent two infantry divisions and one armored division to Berlin. Then, the rebels there probably won't be able to make waves.

"Your Highness, after catching those * rebels, you must not let them go lightly." Admiral Howson said.

"Yes, Your Highness. Hang all those masterminds behind the scenes!" Admiral Dimlin also said.

They fought hard against the enemy on the front line, and those guys launched a rebellion in the rear. It was basically stabbing them in the back! This naturally couldn't make them very angry.

"I won't make it easy for them!" Qin Tian said.

At this moment, Major General Manstein walked in, his face a little ugly.

"Your Highness, there is a change in the 4th Army. Their troops are preparing to leave. According to the information we have received, they are preparing to withdraw to the country." Major General Manstein reported.

Qin Tian's complexion suddenly became very ugly. The 4th Army wants to withdraw to the country at this time, so it is naturally conceivable what the purpose is.

"Damn, I said how could the Duke of Württemberg return home at this time, so he wanted to launch a rebellion!" Admiral Crook cursed.

"Your Highness, the 4th Army must not be allowed to return home. Otherwise, the situation will become even more chaotic!" Admiral Howson also said with a serious face.

Qin Tian nodded. If it was just the rebellion of the Imperial Guards, then there were only about 20,000 Imperial Guards, which was nothing at all. The army he sent was enough to crush those rebels. However, if the 4th Army is also involved, it will be completely different. The 4th Army has 200,000 people. Even if it lost a lot in the previous battles, there are still more than 100,000.

Chapter 553: return to berlin

7-9 minutes

"Manstein, send me a telegram to the Deputy Commander and Chief of Staff of the 4th Army to come to Versailles to meet me immediately! Tell them that the 4th Army will immediately stop moving and return to its station. The Duke of Württemberg is suspected of participating in the rebellion, if they follow the order of the Duke of Württemberg, it will be tantamount to rebellion!" Qin Tian said with a serious face.

At this time, you have to be more ruthless. Otherwise, once the 4th Army is allowed to return to the country, the consequences will be disastrous.

"Yes, Your Highness." Major General Manstein immediately went to send a telegram. He also knew that the situation was urgent.

"Your Highness, we still need to make preparations early. If the 4th Army doesn't obey His Highness's order, the problem will be serious." Admiral Crook reminded.

"Yes, Your Highness. No one can guarantee whether the generals of the 4th Army participated in it." General Bi Luo also said.

"General Ludendorff, the 8th Army immediately turned around and went north, preparing to intercept the 4th Army. If they don't obey the order, I authorize you to launch an attack." Qin Tian ordered.

"Yes, Your Highness." Lieutenant General Ludendorff stood up and saluted before leaving immediately.

Although, the strength of the 8th Army is similar to that of the 4th Army. The 8th Army was formed later than the 4th Army. However, after the 8th Army's strength has been reborn, it is far stronger than the 4th Army.

"General Crook, after the 8th Army is temporarily transferred, the battle against the British Expeditionary Force will rely on the 1st Army. If necessary, the attack can be suspended." Qin Tian said.

After all, there are still more than 300,000 troops assembled by the British Expeditionary Force in Le Havre. In terms of strength, it is not much less than the 1st Army.

"Yes, Your Highness." Admiral Crook nodded.

"Okay, everyone. Go down and have a rest, and then return to your respective troops. I will deal with the rebellion with all my strength. And I will ensure that it will be quelled as soon as possible, and the country and the army will not be affected too much. And you What we have to do is to defeat our enemies on the front line and not give them any chance to take advantage of it." Qin Tian said.

"Yes, Your Highness." Several legion commanders replied.

They all know that Qin Tian's arrangement is already the best. Although there was a rebellion, they all believed that it would not have much impact on the German Empire.

The current task of the 4th Army is to ensure the safety of the army's logistics supply line and suppress the resistance forces in France. Therefore, their headquarters was located in Compiègne, a little further north.

The Duke of Württemberg, the commander of the army group, has returned to the country, so now it is Lieutenant General von Fabeck, the deputy commander of the army group, and Lieutenant General Kurus, the chief of staff.

The two received a telegram from the Duke of Württemberg at two o'clock in the morning. The Duke of Württemberg asked them to lead the troops back to the country immediately. Although, the two don't quite understand what's going on. However, they carried out the telegram from the Duke of Württemberg. After all, most of the members of the 4th Army came from the Kingdom of Württemberg.

"Report to the general, the 15th Army has completed preparations and is ready to go." A staff officer reported.

However, Lieutenant Generals von Fabeck and Lieutenant General Kurus did not immediately issue an order to allow the departure. This made the staff officer a little puzzled. However, there was no urging.

"Kulus, I always feel that something is wrong this time! His Highness the Crown Prince's previous order was to let the 4th Army ensure the smooth flow of the logistics supply line. Your Excellency Commander, now let us go back to the country. But we did not Received an order from His Royal Highness the Crown Prince. If we carry out the order of His Excellency the Commander in this way, once the Crown Prince pursues it, the problem may become serious." Lieutenant General von Fabeck said.

Lieutenant General Kurus nodded: "Yes! This is really strange. Your Excellency Commander's order is indeed a bit confusing." Lieutenant General Kurus said.

"Kulus, do you think this will involve political struggle?" Lieutenant General Von Fabeck asked.

Lieutenant General Kurus' face suddenly changed. They are all soldiers and don't know much about political struggle. However, I know that every political struggle is cruel. Once involved, the consequences will be unimaginable, and if it is not done well, it will lose its life.

"Then do we still have to fulfill the orders of His Excellency the Commander?" Lieutenant General Kurus asked.

"This..." Lieutenant General Von Fabeck also hesitated.

"How about we send a telegram to His Royal Highness the Crown Prince to inquire. After all, His Highness the Crown Prince is the commander of the Western Front, and can be regarded as our immediate superior. It is always right to ask his opinion." Feng ? Lieutenant General Fabeck said.

Lieutenant General Kurus nodded: "Okay, in this case, it is undoubtedly the safest."

At this moment, a staff officer ran in anxiously.

"General, a telegram from His Royal Highness the Crown Prince!"

Lieutenant General Von Fabeck and Lieutenant General Kurus immediately took the telegram, and the two got together to read the telegram. After reading the telegram, the faces of the two of them were already pale.

The content of the telegram was precisely Qin Tian's request that their troops stop marching and return to the barracks. In addition, there is the involvement of the Duke of Württemberg in the rebellion.

Lieutenant General Von Fabeck and Lieutenant General Kurus were both shocked. Obviously, the Duke of Württemberg would actually participate in the rebellion, which was completely beyond their expectations.

"Kurus, what should we do now?" Lieutenant General von Fabeck wanted to cry but had no tears. They didn't even know that the Duke of Württemberg would participate in the rebellion, which made them feel like they had encountered an indiscriminate disaster!

"It seems that we can't follow the command of His Excellency Commander. What he did has nothing to do with us. We can't get involved because of it. That would be too unfair to us It is." Lieutenant General Kurus said.

Lieutenant General Von Fabeck nodded again and again.

Under Qin Tian's strict order, it was obvious that they had decided to betray the Duke of Württemberg's order.

Lieutenant General Von Fabeck and Lieutenant General Kurus quickly sent a telegram to the Western Front Command, informing Qin Tian that they had ordered the army to stop their operations, and they both rushed to Versailles to see Qin Tian.

After meeting Lieutenant Generals von Fabeck and Lieutenant Kurus and knowing that they did not know, Qin Tian did not hold them accountable. Instead, they are required to continue to perform the task of ensuring the safety of logistical supply lines. After all, millions of troops are fighting in France, and the safety of the logistics supply line cannot be underestimated.

After that, Qin Tian set off for Berlin. And this has already delayed a lot of time.

Chapter 554: Siege of Berlin

7-9 minutes

On the railway from Wilhelmshaven to Berlin, a series of military trains passed by. More than 18,000 officers and soldiers of the 1st Division of the Imperial Marine Corps rushed from Wilhelmshaven to Berlin with their equipment in five special trains.

The order they received was that there was a rebellion in Berlin, and the life of His Majesty the Emperor was threatened. Their task is to block the traffic arteries around Berlin after arriving in Berlin, and capture the train station, waiting for the troops transferred from the Ninth Army.

In the first-class compartment of a military column, a young general is studying combat deployment. He is the commander of the 1st Division of the Marine Corps Alexander Linsingen Major General.

As the first Marine division formed by the Navy, the 1st Marine Division has the best equipment and the hardest training. This makes the combat effectiveness of the 1st Marine Division the most powerful among the five Marine Divisions. Although they are the Marine Corps, their equipment is comparable to that of the Army's main infantry division. Even, the division headquarters has an armored battalion with more than 20 tanks.

"General, according to the information we have received, the rebels have clearly taken full control of Berlin. The Imperial Palace and other important transportation points in the city have already fallen into the control of the rebels. Most importantly, His Majesty the Emperor and others I am afraid that the important people have become hostages in the hands of the rebels at this moment. If we launch an attack rashly, we are afraid that the rebels will harm His Majesty and the other hostages." A staff officer said.

"Now we don't know anything about the situation of the rebels. Whether they will do that is still unknown. His Highness the Crown Prince will rush back to Berlin as soon as possible. At that time, we will directly obey the orders of the Crown Prince. In Before that, take down the outer strongholds of Berlin and the train station." Major General Alexander Linsingen said.

He is also full of respect for Qin Tian who proposed to form the Marine Corps. Otherwise, he might still be the head of the colonel now. It was precisely because of the formation of the Marine Corps that he was promoted exceptionally. Originally, he thought that after finishing the war that landed in the British mainland, he could get promoted again. But I didn't expect that the opportunity came so quickly now. Before landing on the British mainland, he will be able to get another battle immediately.

Major General Alexander Linsingen is not worried at all about the rebels occupying Berlin. Although, the Imperial Guard is known as the most elite unit in the army. But in fact, the Praetorian Guard has not fought a battle for many years. Without the experience of war, what kind of elite army is it? What's more, the equipment of the imperial guards is also very old. In the absence of actual combat missions, the replacement of their equipment is naturally not as good as the main combat force.

Thanks to the developed railway network, the 1st Marine Division arrived in Berlin in just one day. There was no way for them to enter Berlin directly because of the checkpoints set up by the Janissaries. The train stopped at a small station more than ten kilometers away from Berlin. ,

"Get out of the car immediately, complete preparations within an hour, and head to Berlin!" Major General Alexander Linsingen ordered.

"Yes, General." The various units of the 1st Marine Division began to get out of the car. The soldiers stepped out of the carriages and began to form. All kinds of equipment were also loaded and unloaded from the train. Marshal Earl Tirpitz has already mobilized a large number of trucks from other places to stand by here.

At 7 o'clock in the morning, the 1st Marine Division began to attack Berlin.

Although there are a lot of guards in Berlin. However, they are scattered everywhere. Facing the attack of the 1st Marine Corps Division, they were in a hurry and could not resist at all.

The real fierce battle broke out around the Berlin train station. The imperial guards have deployed two battalions here. They knew that if the train station was lost, the army loyal to Qin Tian would be able to take the train and rush to Berlin quickly.

In order not to damage the train station as much as possible, the 1st Marine Division did not use heavy artillery when attacking. After all, Berlin was occupied by rebels though. But a large number of ordinary people in the city are innocent.

In fact, when the guns sounded, the people in Berlin were terrified.

"Da da da!"

The heavy machine guns began to fire, and the Praetorian Guards set up heavy machine guns on the barricades outside the train station, using intensive firepower to block the attack of the 1st Marine Division.

However, when Alexander Linsingen Major General did not hesitate to put the armored battalion into the offensive. The Imperial Guard immediately collapsed. The Praetorian Guards were not equipped with tanks, let alone weapons against tanks. After all, if Berlin, which is in the hinterland of the empire, is attacked by the enemy's armored forces, then Germany is not far from defeat, right? In that case, there is naturally no need to equip those anti-tank weapons.

However, this is undoubtedly bad news for those who launched the mutiny.

The guards stationed at the railway station, under the attack of the 1st Infantry Division of the Marine Corps, failed after only holding on for half an hour. Most of the officers and soldiers of the two battalions surrendered to the 1st Marine Division. Others fled.

On the railway from Königsberg to Berlin, civilian trains have stopped running, and military trains are passing through. General Hindenburg, commander of the Ninth Army of the German Army, is leading an infantry division and an armored division to Berlin.

At this moment, Admiral Hindenburg's face was serious. There was a rebellion in Berlin at this juncture, which greatly exceeded his expectations. However, the current him can be regarded as Qin Tian's person. His honor and disgrace are all tied to Qin Tian. Therefore, he absolutely cannot sit back and watch the rebellion succeed, and Qin Tian's position as crown prince is threatened. Therefore, after receiving Qin Tian's order, he immediately gathered his troops and prepared to rush to Berlin.

"Your Excellency, the 1st Marine Division has called. They have occupied the train station and cleared the obstacles along the line. We can directly enter the train station." A staff officer reported.

Admiral Hindenburg nodded: "Well, let the troops get ready!"

"By the way, when will His Royal Highness the Crown Prince return to Berlin?" Admiral Hindenburg asked.

"Your Excellency, Commander, His Royal Highness the Crown Prince has already set off from France. It is expected to return to Berlin tomorrow."

"Well, after we arrive in Berlin, we will surround Berlin first, and wait until His Royal Highness arrives, and then follow his orders." Marshal Hindenburg said.

"Yes, Your Excellency Commander."

After the 8th Armored Division and 101st Infantry Division of the 9th Army arrived in Berlin, they joined forces with the 1st Marine Division to surround Berlin. All the rebels were surrounded inside.

Chapter 555: Frightened

7-9 minutes

Berlin, Imperial Palace.

The blood in the hall has been cleaned up, the carpet has been replaced with a new one, and the body of William II has been brought down. However, the smell of blood in the hall seemed to be unable to dissipate.

Crown Prince William sat in the hall with a gloomy face. Although, the mutiny appears to have succeeded. However, he was not able to do his best! Although they have occupied Berlin, occupied the palace. But what's the use? What they were most worried about, still happened.

After the mutiny was launched, the most important thing for Crown Prince William was to trick Qin Tian into Berlin, put him under house arrest, or even kill him, so that future troubles could be avoided. After all, Qin Tian already controlled more than 70% of the country's military power. And the rest, Crown Prince William is not able to grasp all. This makes the strength of the two very different. Under such circumstances, if Qin Tian noticed that something was wrong, would their mutiny still succeed?

In addition, Crown Prince William originally wanted to force William II to issue an abdication edict and pass on the throne to him. But unexpectedly, he accidentally killed William II. This undoubtedly made the situation more complicated. If this situation is exposed, the consequences will be even more unimaginable. It is even more impossible for him to inherit the throne. The German people will never let a person who killed his father inherit the throne.

The Duke of Württemberg walked into the hall with an ugly expression on his face.

Seeing the face of the Duke of Württemberg, Crown Prince William suddenly had a bad feeling in his heart.

"Your Excellency, has something happened to the 4th Army?" Crown Prince William asked. The 100,000 to 200,000 troops of the 4th Army have now become the most important force under Crown Prince William. If this force can return home, it might be able to stabilize the situation. Once there is any mistake in this army, the consequences will be serious.

"The 4th Army betrayed my life. Damn von Fabeck and Holmes, they actually betrayed me and obeyed Oscar's orders. Now, I have lost command of the 4th Army." Duke Tenberg looked angry.

Without the 4th Army, the power and status of the Duke of Württemberg will be greatly reduced. Even, after the failure of this mutiny, he will pay an extremely heavy price for it. If it is not done well, even his own life will be threatened. If he mastered the 4th Legion, he still had room to bargain with Qin Tian. So now, he has become meat on the chopping board.

"How could this be? Isn't most of the 4th Army from the Kingdom of Württemberg? How come they don't even listen to your orders?" Crown Prince William was astonished, and a trace of panic flashed in his eyes. Without the support of the 4th Army, their mutiny this time, the possibility of success is almost negligible.

"His Royal Highness, we have underestimated Oscar's influence in the army. My people reported to me that Oscar sent a telegram to the 4th Army, asking the army to return to the barracks. And von Fabeck and Holm Those two fellows, just obeyed Oscar's order, and rushed to Versailles. I really regret that I didn't see the essence of these two guys at the beginning, so that it fell into this position now. "The Duke of Württemberg had a look of hatred, and even a hint of regret in his eyes. However, it seems that it is completely useless to say these now.

"Then what should we do now?" Crown Prince William asked.

The Duke of Württemberg didn't say a word, and now he doesn't know what to do. If possible, he would like to leave Berlin immediately, as if nothing had happened. However, he could act as if nothing had happened, but would anyone else? Qin Tian must have known that he was involved in the rebellion. After the rebellion in Berlin is quelled, he will definitely not let him go.

At this moment, Little Maoqi also came in. Moreover, Xiao Maoqi's complexion is also very ugly.

Seeing such a situation, Crown Prince William's heart sank even more. He knew that this must be another bad news.

"Your Excellency, what's the matter?" Crown Prince William asked.

"Your Highness, the 1st Division of the Marine Corps has arrived in the outskirts of Berlin by train and is now heading towards Berlin." Xiao Maoqi reported.

"What? The 1st Division of the Marine Corps? What kind of unit is that?" Crown Prince William frowned. When he became a vegetative state, the Marine Corps had not yet been formed. Of course he didn't know.

"Your Highness, the Marine Corps is a force that Oscar and Tirpitz jointly persuaded His Majesty to form. It is essentially a force controlled by the Navy for landing operations. However, it is well-equipped and its combat effectiveness is not inferior to that of the Army. The main battle force." Xiao Moqi said.

Crown Prince William was completely speechless. The navy has actually mastered a powerful land combat force. This undoubtedly allows the navy to use it for greater strength!

"Can our Guards withstand their attack?" Crown Prince William asked.

But Little Moltke didn't answer. The Duke of Württemberg opened his mouth, but didn't say anything.

Crown Prince William immediately understood the meaning, that is, the Janissary is definitely not the opponent of the 1st Division of the Marine Corps. Once there is a fight, the Praetorian Guard will be defeated. At that time, the mutiny they launched will naturally end in failure.

"God! What should we do now?" Crown Prince William only felt that he seemed to have made a huge mistake, an irreparable mistake. If the mutiny was successful, perhaps okay, he would become Emperor of the Empire. However, if he fails, he will die. After all, he killed his father himself, which is undoubtedly a felony.

"Your Highness, although the current situation is somewhat unfavorable to us, it has not reached the worst point after all. Maybe there will be a turning point." Xiao Maoqi said.

"Boom! Boom! Boom!"

At this time, the sound of cannons came faintly. This immediately made Crown Prince William's face even uglier. Although he graduated from a military academy, he also served in the army. However, after all, he never went to the battlefield.

"Fire, they actually fired. Don't they know that this is Berlin? This is the capital of the empire! That guy Tirpitz sent troops into Berlin without His Majesty's order and launched an attack. This is a rebellion Ah!" Crown Prince William was furious. However, he seemed to have forgotten that even if it was a rebellion, he was the one who started it!

There also seemed to be obvious horror on his angry face. Obviously, he was still frightened when the gunfire sounded.

Chapter 556: Suppression by force

7-9 minutes

Little Moltke and the Duke of Württemberg's expressions became very serious. Obviously, after the marines arrived, they launched an attack without hesitation. This undoubtedly showed that Qin Tian had already learned of the changes in Berlin and would directly suppress them by force. This is of no benefit to them. After all, with the Imperial Guards under their control, it is impossible to withstand the opponents of the Marine Corps and the Army that arrived later. At that time, there will be no good end for those who wait for them.

"Damn it, Tirpitz is simply rebelling! After we succeed, I will have him tried by a court-martial, deprived of his title, relieved of his duties, and sent to the gallows!" Crown Prince William shouted loudly.

But whether it is Moltke or the Duke of Württemberg, they undoubtedly think that the possibility of his success is very, very small. After all, under the pressure of the army loyal to Qin Tian, they might not be able to hold on for long. At that time, they will probably be sent to the gallows!

"Boom! Boom! Boom! Bang! Bang! Bang!"

The sound of the guns became more and more intense. Although he didn't see it with his own eyes, Crown Prince William still imagined that the battle must have become more and more intense.

"God bless! I hope the Guards can withstand the attack of the Marine Corps! Otherwise, everything will be over." Crown Prince William secretly prayed to God, which seemed to have become his only way.

Not long after, Lieutenant General Prittwitz ran in in a panic.

"His Royal Highness, the marines are attacking fiercely. They even used tanks. Those strongholds and traffic arteries outside Berlin have fallen into the hands of the marines. Now, they are attacking the railway station. General Graff, is leading the troops to resist. However, the Marine Corps has used a large number of heavy weapons, and the Guards, which lack heavy firepower and anti-tank weapons, may be difficult to resist." Lieutenant General Prittwitz looked terrified.

Before launching the mutiny, he was undoubtedly high-spirited and thought he could succeed. At that time, he will be able to take this opportunity to occupy a high position. But I didn't expect that the reality was so cruel. Their mutiny started off smoothly. But now, it has gradually failed.

"Bastard! They actually used tanks. Don't they care about the life and death of His Majesty the Emperor and other important military and political officials?" Crown Prince William was furious. Undoubtedly, the fierce attack of the Marine Corps also showed Qin Tian's tough attitude. This made Crown Prince William even more worried.

"Give General Graf an order to guard the train station as much as possible. If the train station is taken away by them, they can use the train station to send troops to Berlin continuously. By then, we will no longer be opponents." Little Mao Qi Said.

"Your Excellency, we don't have many troops now. If we fight hard with them, we may suffer heavy losses. What should we do then?" Crown Prince William hesitated.

"Your Highness, I don't care so much anymore. If we lose the train station, we will fail faster!" Little Maoqi was also anxious. He realized that he had been blinded by lard before. Otherwise, how could he be persuaded by Crown Prince William to join the rebellion? Now it seems that this rebellion is so absurd, there is no possibility of success at all!

It's just that it's hard to ride a tiger now, and I can only go to the dark one by one.

"Well, let's do what Earl Moltke wants!" Crown Prince William said.

Crown Prince William was originally a person who was headstrong and conceited, but at the same time did not have much opinion. In a critical situation, it is impossible to make up your own mind at all, and you can only follow the advice of others.

Although, the rebels want to hold the train station. However, under the fierce attack of the Marine Corps, the railway station was eventually lost.

The 9th Armored Division and 101st Infantry Division of the German 9th Army arrived in Berlin by train. The arrival of the two divisions put the rebels at a disadvantage. The whole of Berlin has been surrounded by the Marine Corps and the Army.

On the evening of April 28th, Qin Tian arrived at Berlin Railway Station on a special train.

After the train stopped, the guards came down first. After they confirmed that the surrounding area was safe, Qin Tian stepped off the train accompanied by the chief guard.

General Hindenburg, Commander of the Ninth Army, Major General Rommel, Commander of the 9th Armored Division, Major General Carter, Commander of the 101st Infantry Division, and Major General Alexander Linsingen, Commander of the 1st Marine Division, all rushed to the train station to welcome The arrival of Qin Tian.

After all, with the mutiny taking place in Berlin and the life and death of Wilhelm II unknown, Qin Tian, the crown prince, is undoubtedly the supreme ruler of the empire. What's more, Qin Tian already had a lofty influence in the army.

"Your Highness, was the journey safe?" Admiral Hindenburg asked.

"Fortunately, there is no problem. But everyone is in Berlin, you have worked hard." Qin Tian said.

"Your Highness, Berlin is currently under our siege. All major traffic arteries are under our control. However, we have not launched an attack on the important strongholds in the city occupied by the rebels." Admiral Hindenburg Said.

Qin Tian nodded: "Do you know who initiated this mutiny?"

"Your Highness, according to the information we have, it was Crown Prince William who initiated the mutiny." Major General Alexander Linsingen replied.

"Crown Prince William? How is this possible? Didn't he become a vegetable?" Qin Tian was taken aback for a moment.

"Now, he's awake."

"So that's the case!" Qin Tian nodded. If this is the case, then everything can be explained.

Originally, Qin Tian thought that Crown Prince William would never wake up again. But what he didn't expect was that a medical miracle actually happened to him.

However, even so, Qin Tian will not hand over the succession to the throne. The current empire has finally achieved its current achievements, if it is just let go, Qin Tian will not do it. He also believes that Crown Prince William is definitely not someone who can lead the empire to a stronger state. What's more, Qin Tian was still worried that if he handed over the succession to the throne, Crown Prince William would not let him go. Therefore, Qin Tian will not back down this time.

"Even if he is the crown prince, he is just the former crown prince. At the most critical moment of the war, there was a rebellion, which is absolutely unacceptable to us. Regarding this rebellion, I only have one request, That is to carry out force suppression to completely put down this rebellion. The longer the delay, the more detrimental it will be to the empire!" Qin Tian said with a serious face.

"Yes, Your Highness." Hindenburg and the others answered seriously.

Chapter 557: Vulnerable

7-9 minutes

Crown Prince William actually woke up, which was undoubtedly very surprising to Qin Tian. Even in later generations, there are quite few cases of vegetative people waking up, let alone the current technology and medical technology, which is far from being comparable to later generations.

So, Qin Tian can only think that this is Crown Prince William's luck. However, although he was lucky, he tried in vain to launch a mutiny in order to take back the right to inherit the throne. Well, he was dead wrong. After these years of development, especially the amazing performance in this war. The current Qin Tian can be said to have formed wings. Even William II would not easily want to depose Qin Tian as Crown Prince. Let alone Crown Prince William.

This rebellion is undoubtedly an opportunity for Qin Tian. As long as he can take this opportunity to step down Crown Prince William in one fell swoop, it will be done once and for all.

In Qin Tian's heart, an idea also popped up. Now that the palace has been contributed by the rebels, I don't know what happened to William II. If he was accidentally injured or even killed during the rebellion. Then, history changed completely. As the crown prince, he can justifiably inherit the throne and become the emperor of the most powerful empire in the world.

You know, before Qin Tian always thought that if he wanted to inherit the throne, he might have to wait another twenty years. By that time, he was already in his fifties. But he did not expect that the current historical trend is completely different from what he is familiar with. It's no wonder, because of his appearance, the history has already been falsified beyond recognition.

Although William II is his own cheap father, it would be somewhat treasonous to want him to die. But this kind of thinking, like a weed, grows uncontrollably and rapidly. The taste of power is like a drug, once you get it, it's hard to get rid of it. The same is true for Qin Tian now. If he wanted to let him give up the power in his hands, he couldn't do it at all. He has already enjoyed all the tastes of power. If someone deprives him of his power, it will make him more uncomfortable than killing him.

If William II really died in this rebellion, it would undoubtedly be the best for Qin Tian. In this case, he would not have to wait another twenty years to become emperor.

Of course, Qin Tian didn't know that William II had indeed died as he wished. And was killed by Crown Prince William himself.

After Qin Tianxia ordered the force to quell the rebellion, Admiral Hindenburg and others immediately carried out his order. Major General Rommel's 9th Armored Division became the main force to quell the rebellion. More than 200 tanks, divided into multiple units, launched an attack on the predetermined target. The 1st Marine Division and the 101st Infantry Division cooperated with the 9th Armored Division.

Although, it is already night. However, field battles are nothing to the elite German army. On the contrary, the Praetorian Guards did not expect that the German army would launch an attack overnight, which meant that they could not resist it.

"Crunch! Crunch!"

The tracks of the tank crushed on the streets of Berlin, leaving deep ruts on the ground. The headlights of the tank were turned on. Because the information obtained is that the Guards are not equipped with anti-tank weapons, so these tanks do not have to be afraid of being destroyed. After all, they would definitely not have the guts to let those pampered Janissaries explode explosive packs or grenades and rush towards these tanks.

"Boom!"

A tank aimed at the barricades set up by the Janissaries on the street. A violent explosion sounded, and the barricade was blown apart at once.

Immediately, the infantry fighting behind the tanks, under the cover of their own fierce machine gun fire, launched an attack on the barricade.

"Da da da!"

The dense bullets fired by the heavy machine gun left trails of flames under the night.

Facing the army's tank attack, the Praetorian Guards simply couldn't resist it. The moment the barricade was blown down, he fled immediately.

The 9th Armored Division and 101st Infantry Division of the German Army and the 1st Marine Division launched a full-scale offensive throughout the city of Berlin. The imperial guards stationed in various important places in the city were attacked fiercely. They were defeated one after another with heavy casualties. More and more positions were recovered by the Germans.

The Army Staff Headquarters became an important location where the German army first recovered. Under the cover of more than a dozen tanks, an infantry battalion defeated the Praetorian Guards stationed here. At the last moment, the imperial guards stationed here chose to surrender. This is why a group of army generals, including the Minister of War and Chief of Staff von Falkenhain, who were imprisoned here, survived.

Of course, the guards who rebelled may not really dare to kill these senior generals.

Marshal von Falkenhain rushed to meet Qin Tian immediately after he got out of trouble.

After seeing that Marshal von Falkenhain was safe and sound, Qin Tian also breathed a sigh of relief. What he is most worried about is the safety of these important imperial ministers during the process of armed suppression.

Fortunately, it seems that these rebels have not yet reached the point of madness.

A few hours later, other important ministers of the empire were also rescued. When the rebellion broke out, senior officials, including the prime minister, were put under house arrest by the rebels.

Crown Prince William did not embarrass them. After all, once his mutiny is successful, he will have to rely on these people to continue to manage this huge empire. Perhaps, Crown Prince William did not expect that his mutiny would fail so quickly.

All the important officials of the empire who were rescued came to meet Qin Tian. On the one hand, they were grateful to Qin Tian for saving them. On the other hand, they were a little confused about this rebellion, and they didn't know why such a rebellion happened.

After learning that the rebellion was actually instigated by Crown Prince William, these important imperial ministers were even more stunned. It is indeed a miracle that the vegetative person wakes up. However, it was indeed beyond their expectations that Crown Prince William would do such a thing.

Of course, this is not incomprehensible. After all, the original crown prince belonged to Crown Prince William. But after waking up, everything changed. Not only is the position of crown prince gone, but there is even no chance to regain the position of crown prince. Under such circumstances, Crown Prince William would naturally choose to take the risk.

Everyone knows the character of Crown Prince William very well. He was originally, like William II, a headstrong and conceited person. It is only human nature to choose such an extreme method for the sake of one's own crown prince.

Chapter 558: Nowhere

7-9 minutes

"His Royal Highness, I really didn't expect His Royal Highness Prince William to do such a thing. The palace has been captured by them for a long time, I don't know how His Majesty is doing now!" Prime Minister Bernhard von Bülow was very worried.

Crown Prince William lost his position as Crown Prince a long time ago, so Bernhard von Bülow no longer calls him Crown Prince.

"Yes! It is God's blessing that His Royal Highness Prince William can wake up. But why did he do such a thing." Foreign Minister von Kidrun Wachter also shook his head again and again.

In his view, since Crown Prince William has lost the position of Crown Prince, he should not try to regain it. After all, Qin Tian has served as the crown prince of the empire for these years, and his talents and contributions are obvious to all. His performance was undoubtedly much better than Crown Prince William's. Even if William II agreed to return the position of crown prince to William, I am afraid that these important ministers of the empire would not agree.

After all, the empire has achieved what it is now, and it is hard to come by! None of them hope that the empire's development will have problems again because of Crown Prince William. In that case, wouldn't all the efforts of these years be in vain?

"I know what happened to the father now. The entire palace is under the control of the rebels. I just hope that the eldest brother will not embarrass the father!" Qin Tian sighed.

"His Royal Highness Prince William should not dare to do anything to His Majesty. What he wants is nothing more than the position of Crown Prince. The reason why he launched the mutiny must be to force His Majesty to hand over the position of Crown Prince to him again." Byrne Prime Minister Hart von Bülow said.

"Your Excellency Prime Minister, it's hard to say. Your Majesty is a man of firm will. His Highness Prince William wants to use this method to persecute the empire and regain the crown prince. His Majesty will definitely not agree. In case His Royal Highness Prince William If you become angry and hurt His Majesty, then the problem will be troublesome!" Admiral Hindenburg said.

Prime Minister Bernhard von Pineapple and Minister of Foreign Affairs von Kidren Wachter couldn't help but feel a chill in their hearts. Even if they think this possibility is very small, they have to admit that this possibility exists. Once such a thing really happened, it would undoubtedly be a huge crisis for the German Empire.

"If such a tragedy really happened, then His Royal Highness Crown Prince Oscar will immediately inherit the throne and become the new emperor of the German Empire. I think this is what the government, the military, and all the people want to see. After all, no one He is more suitable to lead the German Empire than His Royal Highness Crown Prince Oscar!" Prime Minister Bernhard von Bülow stated.

"Yes, if there is something wrong with His Majesty, then His Royal Highness the Crown Prince is the legal heir to the throne and should inherit the throne." Von Kidren Wachter also said immediately.

The attitude of the two of them almost represented the attitude of the imperial civil servants. Although Qin Tian's main foundation is in the military. However, within the government, he still has a lot of supporters. After all, none of them are fools, and they all know why the German Empire was able to win this war. It can be said that this is inseparable from Qin Tian's efforts. Under such circumstances, of course everyone knows that Qin Tian is the most suitable candidate for the emperor of the empire.

The statements of Prime Minister Bernhard von Bülow and Foreign Minister von Kidren Wascht made Qin Tian very satisfied. Of course, he couldn't show this kind of thing. Otherwise, wouldn't it be looking forward to the death of William II? In that case, it will leave a bad influence in the hearts of these ministers.

"Everyone, I believe that Father will be blessed by God, and he will be fine. As long as we suppress the rebellion, Your Majesty will be safe." Qin Tian said.

"God bless Your Majesty!" The others also said quickly. Obviously, everyone has also realized that it is indeed inappropriate to talk about the life and death of William II at this time.

While Qin Tian and the others had already secured the victory, Crown Prince William and his henchmen who were hiding in the palace were in a state of panic.

"His Royal Highness, the current situation is very unfavorable to us. His Royal Highness Oscar and the others are indeed preparing to defend us to the death. They have mobilized more than 50,000 elite troops to launch an attack, including more than 200 tanks. Guards It's almost overwhelmed. All the strongholds in the city have been captured by the army and the marines, and the defense line of the Imperial Guard is shrinking. It is estimated that it will not be long before they can only hide in the palace." Graf The lieutenant general looked serious.

Crown Prince William and his henchmen couldn't help but turn pale after hearing such words. Obviously, they all knew that once the Imperial Guard retreated to the palace, it meant that their mutiny was about to fail. At that time, these people will definitely not end well.

"Why did this happen? Why did this happen? Oscar, how did he react so quickly? He mobilized heavy troops to attack Berlin so quickly?" Crown Prince William panicked.

Originally, he thought he had planned this mutiny very thoughtfully. Various places have been considered. After capturing Berlin, they only need to trick Qin Tian to come to Berlin, put him under house arrest or kill him. Then, they won the victory of this mutiny. But unfortunately, Qin Tian was not fooled, and even mobilized heavy troops to suppress them, which directly caused a fatal loophole in their plan.

Little Maoqi's face also became very ugly. There was a hint of regret in his eyes. If he could refuse the temptation of the conditions offered by Crown Prince William at that time and not join them, he would not be implicated now. After all, judging from the current situation, the possibility of Crown Prince William's success is very slim. In addition, William II was actually killed in this mutiny. This undoubtedly made each of them who participated in the mutiny commit a felony. Once Qin Tian learned that William II had been killed, they would all be hanged. If little Moqi was given another chance to choose, he would definitely not embark on this road of no return.

Even Lieutenant General Prittitz, who had always hated Qin Tian, turned pale at this moment. He was blinded by hatred before, and he wanted to pull Qin Tian down from the crown prince. Now, not only was he unable to pull Qin Tian down, but he even put himself in.

Chapter 559: last struggle

7-9 minutes

"Everyone, what should we do now? Don't we just watch Oscar lead the army, defeat the imperial guards little by little, and then surround the palace. Finally, break into the palace and capture us all? We not only Not only launched a rebellion, but also killed His Majesty the Emperor. At that time, Oscar will definitely not let us go. What is waiting for us is probably the gallows erected high up." The Duke of Württemberg said.

The Duke of Württemberg also regretted it terribly. If he knew that Crown Prince William was so unable to accomplish anything, he said that he should never be involved in this incident. After all, as the Duke of the Kingdom of Württemberg and the commander of the 4th Army, he is definitely a high-ranking person in the German Empire. There's no point in putting yourself in because of the bad check issued by Crown Prince William! Moreover, maybe the entire Württemberg royal family will also be involved. In that case, he will become a sinner of the Württemberg royal family.

The reason why the Duke of Württemberg participated in this rebellion was entirely because Crown Prince William proposed to him that if successful, he would give the Kingdom of Württemberg maximum autonomy. Apart from diplomatic and military power, all other powers belonged to the royal family of Württemberg. Even, he can further become the king of the Kingdom of Wurttemberg from the Duke of Wurttemberg. This makes the status of the Kingdom of Württemberg just like the Kingdom of Bavaria in the empire. It has even greater autonomy than the Kingdom of Bavaria.

This is undoubtedly an irresistible temptation for the Duke of Württemberg. Of course he wants to expand the power in his hands. If possible, he even hoped that the Kingdom of Wurttemberg would one day become an independent kingdom. Of course, he knew that in a short time, that was impossible. But the food needs to be eaten bite by bite, and the road needs to be walked step by step. The Duke of Württemberg believed that his goals could one day be achievable. It is precisely because of this that he defeated Crown Prince William. But who knows, this is actually a huge pit! Completely entrapped him. It is even more impossible to jump out of the pit now. This made the Duke of Württemberg very speechless.

"Oh! If I had known earlier, I shouldn't have been obsessed with ghosts back then. It wouldn't be like this now." The Duke of Württemberg sighed in his heart. It is precisely because of this that he wants to actively find a solution.

"No, we absolutely can't just sit and wait like this, we have to find a way. Otherwise, we will die!" Crown Prince William also said.

However, what else can be done now? The strength of the two sides is so disparate. It is impossible to reverse the situation with the Imperial Guard alone. Once the army led by Qin Tian takes down the palace, they are doomed.

"Your Excellency, Chief of Staff, is there anything else you can do?" Crown Prince William looked at Little Mao Qi.

There is no doubt that Mao Qi is the most capable one among his henchmen. If even little Moqi can't do anything, then they are really doomed.

"Your Highness, the current situation is indeed very, very unfavorable to us. If we want to reverse the situation, the possibility of success is very slim." Xiao Maoqi sighed.

"Is there no way at all?" Prince Ethel Friedrich asked.

As the second son of William II, Prince Ethel Friedrich originally had no extravagant hopes for the throne. But Crown Prince William accidentally gave him a chance when he became a vegetable. After all, according to the heir to the throne, he is the second in line to the throne. But unexpectedly, William II directly passed him and passed the crown prince to Qin Tian. This is undoubtedly a heavy blow to him. This also made Prince Ethel Friedrich not only full of hatred for Qin Tian, but also full of hatred for William II.

However, if he had known that the mutiny would not succeed, then he would definitely not have participated in anything. After all, as a prince, his treatment is still very good. But once the mutiny fails, he will inevitably be dealt with. Although William II was not killed by him himself, he was an accomplice after all. Qin Tian will definitely not let him go.

"His Royal Highness, the matter has come to an end, we can only work hard at the end. After all, this matter concerns the lives of all of us!" Little Maoqi said.

"Your Excellency, what can you do?" Crown Prince William asked.

"Once again, in the name of His Majesty, send someone to inform His Highness Oscar to come to the palace. Your Majesty summoned him, and His Highness Oscar should come to visit him in every sense and reason. As soon as he enters the palace, we will immediately control him and let him Order the Army and Marine Corps to withdraw. Then, we can implement it step by step." Xiao Moqi said.

Crown Prince William couldn't help frowning, because he knew that Qin Tian would never be so easily fooled. Every fool knows that the palace is now under the control of the rebels. Entering the imperial palace is undoubtedly entering the lair of the rebels on their own initiative. Isn't that a suicide attempt?

"Your Excellency, Oscar won't be so easy to be fooled, right?" Crown Prince William said.

"Indeed, but what if we use His Majesty's life as a persecution? If he doesn't come to the palace, we will kill His Majesty. At that time, he may be caught in a dilemma!" A ruthless look flashed in Xiao Maoqi's eyes .

Crown Prince William and the others immediately understood what Little Moltke meant. Although, Wilhelm II is dead. However, this did not prevent them from using the name of William II to lure Qin Tian into the palace. In that case, they still have a chance.

Moreover, Crown Prince William and others believe that this also has a certain chance of success. After all, Qin Tian is the crown prince. He can't ignore the life and death of William II! In that case, once the matter gets out, it will have a great impact on Qin Tian's reputation.

"Very good, very good. Your Excellency Earl, this will be a very good solution. As long as Oscar can be eliminated, those troops will no longer follow his orders. We can turn defeat into victory." Crown Prince William Very satisfied.

However, he didn't see the worry in little Maoqi's eyes. Xiao Maoqi was worried that even if they killed Qin Tian, those troops might not be able to capture him without a fight. At that time, under the anger of the army, it is possible to kill them all. At that time, the emperor of the German Empire did not know who would inherit it. Maybe, the German Empire will fall into chaos because of this! It's just that, for the sake of his own life, Xiao Maoqi didn't care so much anymore.

Chapter 560: Dilemma (seeking a monthly ticket)

7-9 minutes

"Crunch, crunch!"

The tracks of the tank ran over the last barricade of the rebels. As this barricade was captured by the 9th Armored Division of the Army, it marked that all the strongholds of the rebels in Berlin except the Imperial Palace had been lost. More than 10,000 rebels who participated in the rebellion suffered heavy casualties, and many people directly surrendered. The remnants were even only more than 2,000 people, and finally entrenched in the palace.

Qin Tian and others, after confirming the safety of the surrounding area, directly moved the headquarters to a place not far from the imperial palace, so that it is convenient to direct the battle nearby. The rest of the palace is already the final battle. If the imperial palace is taken down, then the rebellion this time will be completely suppressed.

"Your Highness, there are not many rebels entrenched in the palace. If we launch an attack, we can take this place within two hours at most. In this case, it won't be delayed until dawn." Admiral Hindenburg said .

The fierce battle overnight made the residents in the urban area of Berlin very nervous. Many people are afraid of suffering from unwarranted disasters, and the doors and windows of every household are closed. However, there were still many people who quietly opened the windows and looked at the tanks and soldiers running on the street with serious faces.

Such a situation made the people of these empires, no matter how stupid they were, know that there may be great changes in Berlin. Otherwise, how could they openly use force in the capital.

Although this is a matter for the upper class, it is far from ordinary people. However, they all hope that their country can always be strong. Especially now it is still at war. If the country fails in the war because of this, it will be unacceptable to the people of the empire. Of course, they don't know what happened for the time being.

Qin Tian didn't give the order to attack immediately. After all, Kaiser Wilhelm II was still in the palace. If he launched an attack rashly, no one knew whether Crown Prince William would lose his mind and do something crazy when he was desperate. things come. If he hurt Wilhelm II, then the problem would be troublesome. Of course, that would actually be of great benefit to him. However, as the Son of Man, he certainly can't show any regrets in this regard. How else would this make other people think? It will destroy his image in the minds of the important ministers of the empire and the people, and it will also have a negative impact on his subsequent succession to the throne and leadership of the entire empire.

"His Royal Highness, can we launch an attack? We can't delay any longer." The young Major General Rommel asked.

Qin Tian looked at the imperial palace in the distance, and seemed a little uncertain.

"Your Highness, why don't we persuade them to surrender first. It would be best if the rebels entrenched in the palace could surrender." Prime Minister Bernhard von Bülow suggested.

Qin Tian nodded, and was about to adopt this suggestion. But at this time, an officer reported that the rebels had sent envoys to see Qin Tian.

"I think we should meet. I want to see what else they have to say." Qin Tian said.

"Pay attention to the body search and seize the weapons on the opponent's body." Admiral Hindenburg reminded.

The more this time comes, the more attention must be paid to Qin Tian's safety. No one can guarantee whether the rebels will take the risk at this juncture. Take this opportunity to assassinate Qin Tian. If Qin Tian was assassinated, the situation would become even more complicated and difficult.

A few minutes later, little Mo Qi with a livid face walked into Qin Tian's headquarters.

That's right, the envoy sent by the rebels is Little Maoqi. Because this plan was proposed by Little Maoqi, there was no one in the rebel army who was more suitable for the task of being an envoy than him.

If possible, Xiao Moqi would certainly not be willing to be this messenger. After all, this is an extremely embarrassing thing. However, for the sake of his own life, he had no choice. If it is left to other people to do it, if it goes wrong, then their plan this time will be a complete failure. At that time, the troops loyal to Qin Tian will definitely storm the palace. And the few rebels entrenched in the palace will definitely not be the opponents of these elite army and marines. At that time, what will happen to those who participated in the rebellion will naturally be predictable.

Before entering the headquarters, the German soldiers actually forcibly searched him, which was regarded as a great shame by Xiao Maoqi. No matter what, he was also the earl of the German Empire, he also served as the chief of staff, and he was even a close friend with William II. Now, Qin Tian's people treat him like this, which is a complete trample and insult to his personality. If he could, he would have turned around and left immediately. However, for the sake of the overall situation, he had to hold back his breath. Therefore, his face naturally became ugly.

"Earl Maoqi, Father treats you very well. I really didn't expect that you would actually participate in this rebellion." Qin Tian looked at Xiao Maoqi calmly.

Little Mao Qi's eyes flashed a trace of shame. Of course, this is mainly because William II lost his life in this rebellion. Even though little Mao Qi participated in the rebellion, he never thought that he would kill William II, which made him feel that he was really sorry for his old friend William II.

"Your Highness, what's the use of talking about it now? We are just our own masters." Little Mo Qi said coldly.

"Count Moltke, you are betraying the empire. The imperial army is in a decisive battle with the Allied Powers, but you are launching a mutiny in the capital. Have you ever thought about how much impact this will have on the empire? What if the empire loses? In this war, you are all sinners of the empire!" Prime Minister Bilo accused.

"Your Excellency Prime Minister, we haven't thought about it that much. We only know that the position of crown prince belongs to His Royal Highness Crown Prince William. His Highness Oscar won the position of Crown Prince just by taking advantage of others' danger. Now that His Royal Highness Crown Prince has awakened, of course there is The power has taken back his crown prince. In view of the huge gap in strength between the two sides, we had no choice but to do this." Xiao Maoqi said.

"Exaggerated words, even if you want to get back the crown prince, you don't need to launch a mutiny, right? Let your majesty and the important officials of the empire discuss and solve the problem in a peaceful way, instead of being so extreme!" Von Kidren Wachter Said.

Little Maoqi raised the corners of his mouth slightly, with a sneering smile on his face.

"A peaceful solution, do you think it's possible?" Little Maoqi asked back.

Feng? Kidren? Wachter suddenly speechless. He also knew that with Qin Tian's current strength, no one could depose him from the position of crown prince, not even William II.
