In another time and space, the American empire has military bases all over the world. Their aircraft carriers are cruising in the world's major oceans, declaring the hegemony of the United States and demonstrating the powerful force of the United States. Other countries have to rely on the United States. It can be said that US imperialism is the most powerful country on this blue planet.

Now Germany, although it has become the hegemon of the world, is still far from the level of the American emperors of later generations. Among other things, so many opponents are enough to give Germany a headache. To establish hegemony, you must first defeat all of these opponents. Only in this way can Germany's hegemony be stabilized.

What's more, the US imperialists' troops stationed in various countries are not stationed in vain. All countries need to pay for it. Although it is not responsible for all military expenditures, it is at least half. This is equivalent to those countries spending money to support the US military. This enables the United States to achieve global deployment and dominate the world.

In Qin Tian's view, these are all things worth learning from Germany. After killing all the opponents one by one, Germany will also station military forces around the world like the US Emperor, so that the German armed forces can directly control the world.

"Your Majesty, what if the Kingdom of Najd is allowed to accept the help and guidance of the empire like the Kingdom of Kuwait?" Prime Minister Biluo asked. In that case, these two countries can be regarded as completely under the control of Germany.

"It can be used as a reference. However, give them more autonomy in internal affairs. However, diplomacy must be consistent with the empire. The army must use the weapons and equipment of the empire, and officers and generals must be trained by the empire. The police system must also accept Guidance from the empire. In addition, the empire has the right to exploit mineral resources in their country. The oil extracted, after deducting the cost, can give them 20% of the profit!" Qin Tian said.

"Yes, Your Majesty!" Prime Minister Pilot and Foreign Minister Vasht nodded. Because of their guidance, the next negotiations with the representatives of the Kingdom of Nazhi and the Kingdom of Kuwait will be led by them. As the emperor of the empire, Qin Tian naturally wouldn't have time to take charge of these special negotiations. He has already set aside time to meet the princes of the Kingdom of Naidd and the Kingdom of Kuwait.

"Your Majesty, with the support of the Kingdom of Najd, our army's operations in the Middle East will be very smooth. If this is the case, it is expected that we will be able to directly attack India next month." Von Falkenheim The marshal said excitedly.

Compared to Egypt and the Middle East, the German military and political ministers undoubtedly value India the most. India, by contrast, is where the real riches are. Before, Germany could only watch the British make a lot of money from India, and they could only drool aside. But now, India has become a big piece of fat on Germany's mouth, and it can be bitten as long as it works hard. For such a piece of fat, they have long coveted it.

"Well, the advancement of Egypt and the Middle East has gone smoothly beyond our expectations. In this way, we can save a lot of time to attack India! However, it is not enough to attack India with the strength of the 8th Army alone. The 4th Army should go too," Qin Tian said.

Although, the United Kingdom is already fully shrinking its troops. However, the troops deployed in India are still the largest except Canada, with more than 200,000 troops. This still does not include the situation of the British and Indian troops. The British Indian Army is a force composed of British recruits from India as ordinary soldiers and junior officers, and then British officers as officers. In the world war, the British and Indian troops armed millions of people. They are active in both the French battlefield and the British mainland battlefield. It's just that the fighting power of these Indian Assams is really terrible. If the combat effectiveness of German soldiers is one hundred, then the combat effectiveness of British soldiers is about eighty. And India's Asan's combat effectiveness is only about forty or less. With such combat power, can they be expected to play a big role on the battlefield? That is obviously impossible. Most of the time, it is best for these Indian * not to back off.

However, despite the poor combat effectiveness of the Indian Asan, the ants killed more elephants. Judging from the information held by Germany, in order to defend India, or to persist in India for a longer period of time, so that the United Kingdom can get a longer breathing period. The British are crazily arming Indian Asan.

There are countless merchant ships transporting weapons, equipment and ammunition from the United States to India. Obviously, the Americans also intervened in it, wanting Germany to make a big fall in India. It even plunged Germany into the quagmire of the Indian war. In that case, it is also very beneficial to the United States.

"Yes, Your Majesty!" Marshal von Falkenhain nodded. Of course he knew that the British were frantically expanding the size of the British and Indian troops. However, he didn't care about that. He has already experienced the combat effectiveness of Indian soldiers. How much combat power can those Indian Assams who have just put down their hoes and picked up their rifles have? He didn't believe it at all. He believes that once the German army lands in India, it will be very easy to defeat these Indians.

While Qin Tian was discussing the strategy of the Middle East and India with the ministers, someone was also discussing him in the Strait of Gibraltar. A light cruiser of the German Navy is returning to the German mainland through the Strait of Gibraltar.

Although this is just an ordinary light cruiser, there is a group of special guests on board. They wear traditional Arabic robes. These people are missions from the Kingdom of Najd and the Kingdom of Kuwait. Because it was a secret visit, there were not many people. Apart from Prince Abdul of the Kingdom of Najd and Prince Salim of the Kingdom of Kuwait, there are only the foreign ministers of the two countries and a handful of entourages.

"Brother Salim, are we going to arrive in Germany soon? Will the great emperor receive us?" The young Prince Abdul looked forward to it.

For the thirteen-year-old Prince Abdul, Qin Tian is undoubtedly a legend. Although Qin is only 28 years old, he rules the most powerful empire in the world. Moreover, Qin Tian was not the number one heir to the throne in the first place, and he got to where he is today through his own struggles, which is undoubtedly even more inspirational.

"I have asked the people on the ship. We will arrive in Germany in two days. As for whether we can see His Majesty the Kaiser, I don't know. However, we should be able to see him!" Prince Salim said. He was already in his thirties, so he was naturally much more mature than Abdul.
