

Keep A Love Profile, Sir! Chapter 12

Chapter 12 I Will Give You a Life

"Then what else do you want?"

"My father is already dead! We are divorced! Micah, how long do you want to pester me?" She raised her face, looking as stubborn as when she was at Creek Club.

"Back then, Onyx Frankie killed my parents. Now that he is dead, it is only one life for two lives." The man's voice was deep like he was sentencing her!

Micah pinched her chin so hard that her bones were popping, but Galilea did not say a word.

At this moment, Galilea seemed to understand something from Micah's deep and disgusted eyes.

One life for two lives.

It turned out that she owed him a life.

"If that's the case, then I'll pay you back with my life, alright?" Her pale lips trembled as she forced herself not to shed a single tear. Her stubbornness even made Micah couldn't help but reveal a trace of emotion.

Perhaps it was the hot blood that rushed into Galilea's mind, or perhaps it was the extreme desperation that caused Galilea to lose confidence for a moment. = =

She walked past Micah's shoulder and no one noticed a speeding van. Micah's body shook. By the time he reacted, it was already too slow. With a loud bang, the van collided with her. The speed of the car plummeted, and with a harsh braking sound, the driver quickly got out of the car, facing a woman lying in blood. "No, no, no! Someone call an ambulance!" The driver screamed.

He was in a hurry to take out his phone and call an ambulance when he was pushed away by a strong force.

Micah took three steps forward and crouched down to hug the woman who was bleeding. Her entire body exuded a cold aura. He obviously did not expect that this woman's toughness was far beyond his imagination. "Chip, immediately drive to the hospital."

In her daze, Galilea seemed to smell the faint scent of tobacco beside her. Accompanied by the man's deep and commanding voice, his rough fingertips patted her face. "Galilea, wake up. You are not allowed to sleep."

But she was really tired and sleepy. As long as she closed her eyes, she would see her father standing against the light and reaching out to her. "Galilea, daddy misses you. Come to daddy..."

Galilea finally closed her eyes. Staring at her bloody fingers, Micah pinched his suit until it was wrinkled and bloody. Then, it fell from his body. Micah's expression was terrible. He raised his head and ordered the driver in a cold voice, "Drive faster."

In the hospital, after eight hours of surgery, Galilea slowly woke up, but her whole body was in pain. She endured the pain and sat up, trying to remove the needle on the back of her hand, but she was immediately stopped by the nurse who had just entered the ward to change the medicine. "Miss Frankie, you better not move. You just had a car accident and had a miscarriage. Your body is very weak and needs to rest." "What did you just say? A miscarriage?" Galilea stopped moving, her face pale. "Yes, Miss Frankie, don't you know? You have been pregnant for more than a month! It's a pity, this child..."

At this point, the little nurse felt a little regretful, but she could not bear to continue, "Miss Frankie... Don't be too sad. Take good care of your body. You will have another baby." The nurse changed her medicine and left the ward with lingering fear. Galilea was alone, her mind buzzing.

The child...

Her child. She raised her hand to touch her lower abdomen, and her tears finally fell down. She actually had a child. It was... Micah's baby from the funeral that day. Didn't all of this just show that the relationship between her and Micah was really a bad fate? She wanted to cry and laugh. After a long time, she calmed down, but her eyes were attracted by a half heart-shaped pendant on the bedside table.

Galilea had an impression that she had taken it from Micah when Micah held her after the accident.

She couldn't help but pick it up and study it over and over again, but her expression gradually changed.

This was the pendant that she had lost many years ago after she saved Micah! And this pendant that she had lost for a long time was actually always worn by Micah!

What did this mean?

Chapter 13 Dayana Also Had a Pendant

After hesitating for half a second, the door of the ward was suddenly pushed open. "Galilea! You are really a cockroach!"

Dayana, who had rushed over in anger, frowned even more when she saw the pendant in Galilea's hand.

She stepped forward in her high heels and grabbed it. "Why do you have Micah's stuff?" "It fell from his body." Seeing her come in, Galilea's expression returned to normal, and she glanced at Dayana indifferently. "Since you're here, then return it to him." "Heh." However, Dayana did not stop. She took out a necklace under her shirt and showed it to Galilea. "Do you see it? The same pendant, Micah's and mine can piece together. This is our love token! Galilea, you lost from the beginning!" Galilea's looked at the pendant that Dayana was gripping tightly, and her entire body shook. It was actually the exact same pendant. But how could Dayana have one too? Galilea's eyes flickered, and she tried to get Dayana's words, "A token of love? When did you fall in love?" "That happened twenty years ago! Twenty years ago, an accident happened. I saved Micah, so we kept half a pendant as a token of love!" Dayana said without blinking. "You are lying!" Galilea sneered. She was the one who saved Micah, so how could it be Dayana? Dayana's face changed. All these years, even she believed in such a lie, but today, Galilea revealed it mercilessly!

"What nonsense are you talking about?! Galilea, what qualifications do you have to interfere with the matter between me and Micah? You said it was a lie, then why do I have the same half pendant as Micah?" Dayana said angrily. Galilea also did not understand. Was it just a coincidence?

"You are such a sour grape!" Seeing that Galilea was silent and determined that she had no evidence at all, Dayana's attitude was even more arrogant.

"Now, I am the honorable Mrs. Lorenzo. Galilea, if you continue to seduce my fiance, I will definitely not let you go!"

At this time, the nurse could not bear it anymore and pushed the door open. "Didn't I say that the patient just had a miscarriage and needed to rest! What are you yelling about!"

The nurse rebuked and closed the door impatiently.

Dayana was shocked and pointed at Galilea. "You... You were pregnant before? Was... it Micah's?"

Galilea was noncommittal.

"Galilea! You are so cheap! You are obviously divorced, but..."

“Dayana, instead of scolding me, it is better to watch your own man. My child is gone, and the debt I owe should be paid off. From now on, please completely stay out of my life!”

Outside the ward, a tall figure stood still and listened to these words word by word.

Micah’s face was hidden in the dark. He turned his head and glanced at the ward through the window.

He had just come out of the consulting room and asked about the specific situation of Galilea.

After being hit by a car and a miscarriage, her injury was quite bad and her body was extremely weak. The doctor said that it would be difficult for her to get pregnant again in this life.
