Chapter 131 Samantha's Action

Mrs. Lang hung up and put down the phone with a grim expression. "I'm so angry."

Ethan frowned slightly. He was also listening to the conversation just now. "Indeed, she sounded distant."

"She hates us." Mrs. Lang's eyes reddened.

"It's true that we didn't acknowledge her as our daughter in the past. But aren't we trying to make it up to her now? Why is she still so cold?"

Mrs. Lang's tears flowed uncontrollably. She did not know why she was crying, either. When she thought of how well-behaved Samantha was when she was little, her heart ached even more.

She could not help but blurt out, "If not for her, Sammy would still be the same as when she was little. She wouldn't have made those mistakes."

Ethan's expression changed.

He disagreed with what Mrs. Lang said. He spoke solemnly. "Bella is not to blame for this."

If they blamed Isabella for the Thompson family and Samantha's mistakes, Isabella would be wrongfully accused.

Mrs. Lang knew what she said was wrong, so she stopped crying and sighed. "I don't know what's going on with Jason. He and Sammy used to be so close, but he could no longer stand her. He didn't even agree to give Sammy 2% of the shares."

Ethan was silent.

Samantha had done something wrong. Even if they kept her at home, they would not be able to forget about what happened. However, they could not bear to chase her out of the family. They had raised her for so many years. They could not be so heartless.

After some discussion, they decided to disown Samantha from the family and give her 2% of the shares. If she wanted to get her own life, she could do so freely.

However, they did not expect Jason to disagree.

They had no choice but to arrange for Mrs. Lang to give Samantha 2% of the company's shares behind Jason's back. Mrs. Lang owned 5% of the shares.

At the Lang Corporation's building, Jason, who was working overtime at noon, received a call from his assistant. He put down the phone and rubbed his forehead. His head was hurting.

He knew that his parents cared for Samantha, but giving her 2% of the Lang Corporation's shares was too much.

He felt Samantha had no right to own any of Lang Corporation's shares.

Ethan's eyes were bloodshot. He squeezed out a few words through his teeth. "What... did... you... mean... earlier..."

Samantha seemed to know what he was asking. She laughed arrogantly. "Dad, are you talking about what I said about Big Brother? That's right. He's dead. Just now, before I came, he was hit by a car. His car flipped over the canal. Do you think he would still be alive?"

Immediately, Ethan's expression turned into one of shock. His body stiffened, and a trace of blood slowly seeped out of the corner of his mouth.

"Y-you..."

"Dad, don't blame me. I was also forced into a corner. Isabella's living such a good life. Why should I have nothing?"

"I'm the daughter you raised. How could Isabella compare to me?"

"Also, you have always been my parents. Big Brother has always been my Big Brother. But because Isabella came back, all of you betrayed me. Dad, I didn't want this to happen, either.

"I don't want to hurt you, but if I don't do this, I'll end up with nothing. Don't worry. I will run the Lang Corporation smoothly. You and Mom can rest in peace."

As she spoke, she pulled up the unconscious Mrs. Lang and pushed her toward the corner of the coffee table.

Seeing this, Ethan struggled to get up and stop Samantha. Perhaps, he was too worried. He got up and pounced on Mrs. Lang to protect her.

A trace of malice flashed across Samantha's eyes. She was getting anxious, afraid that the servant would come back. Out of worry, she dragged Ethan away. Although Ethan was drugged, his life and his wife's were at stake. Suddenly, he lunged at Samantha.

The two of them fought.

At the same time, outside the Lang family's house gates, a car slowly drove over and stopped.

Mr. Rivera called Ethan.

Suddenly, Ethan's phone on the coffee table rang.

When the ringtone sounded, Samantha's heart skipped a beat. However, to Ethan, it was undoubtedly a life-saver.

His eyes widened. He could not care less about wrestling with Samantha. He turned around to answer the call.

After saying that, Mr. and Madame Rivera looked at each other in horror. Thinking about how Mr. Lang and his wife had not answered the phone calls, they had a sudden ominous feeling.

"Call the police!"

The two of them said in unison.

They called the police. Mr. Rivera retrieved a tool and forced open the gates to the Lang family's house. They drove in.

Mrs. Lang had been stabbed three times. She and Samantha were covered in blood. She glared at Samantha, but the image of Samantha calling her mom when she was little flashed through her mind.

However, those beautiful images were replaced by bright crimson as the knife kept slashing down. More blood spurted out.

Chapter 134 Seeking Help

As soon as Isabella finished speaking, the police officers and nurses looked at the person on the bed in surprise.

However, Samantha's eyes were still shut. She had no intention of waking up.

Isabella chuckled. "Samantha, I'm a doctor. If you don't wake up now, I'll give you something to help you wake up."

As Isabella spoke, she opened her bag and retrieved a pack of needles.

When the two nurses saw this, their expressions changed, and they wanted to stop her. They could not let Isabella touch their patients. If anything happened, their hospital could not possibly answer for it.

However, to their surprise, Samantha suddenly opened her eyes.

The nurses and police officers looked at Isabella in surprise.

Isabella put away the needles and smiled. "Isn't it a good thing that you're awake? Why do you have to pretend to be asleep?"

The two nurses looked at each other. The two police officers also looked at each other, and their expressions changed. They stepped forward and asked, "Miss Lang, why are you pretending to be asleep?"

Samantha frowned and ignored the two police officers. Instead, she said to the nurse, "I'm feeling unwell. Can I call the doctor?"

"I'm a doctor. If you're feeling unwell, I can help you take a look."

Isabella said.

Samantha looked glumly at Isabella and Draxton, who stood beside Isabella.

She looked pitiful, like a blade of grass that could not withstand the rain.

Draxton stared straight at her. He said, "You're clenching your teeth. Your knuckles are white, and your eyebrows are pressed together. You must be restraining your emotions. What emotions are you restraining? Nervousness, resentment, or regret?"

Chapter 135 Fighting For Favor

Although surprised, Isabella firmly refused. "I'm afraid not. I have nothing to do with the Lang family. There's no good reason for me to run the company. It is not my obligation to step in. Besides, I don't have any experience in management. You must have other reliable candidates."

Ethan looked at her blankly,

On the neighboring bed, Mrs. Lang looked at Isabella's back, tears pouring silently from her eyes.

In the past, why had she felt that Samantha Lang was good?

Mrs. Lang couldn't see that Samantha was clearly a mercenary, hypocritical, and heartless ingrate. Mrs. Lang had abandoned her biological daughter for this ingrate.

Now Mrs. Lang was looking at Isabella, who was calm and dispassionate. When she and Mr. Lang were in trouble, Isabella still came to see them.

If Isabella had been ordinary, she wouldn't have missed this excellent opportunity to enter the Lang Corporation. However, she rejected it without hesitation.

Tears streamed down Mrs. Lang's face, blurring her vision, but she still stared at Isabella's figure without blinking. She seemed to be afraid that she would not be able to see Isabella again if she looked any less.

"I'm sorry... Mrs. Lang said in her heart.

Ethan turned to look at Draxton beside Isabella. He did not know him, but he knew that this man was unusual. Nobody would treat Draxton as a common person.

"Sir, what's your name?"

Draxton said, "I'm Draxton Lockwood."

Draxton... Lockwood...

Ethan was stunned. In Dawton City, there was only one family with the surname of Lockwood.

Ethan had never met Draxton Lockwood before, but he knew that the patriarch of the Lockwood family was called Draxton Lockwood.

Ethan smiled bitterly in his heart.

He looked at Isabella with a complicated expression and said to Draxton, "I didn't know you are Mr. Lockwood. I was rude. However, I have to ask you and Isabella for help now..."

Draxton said, "Mr. Lang, don't worry. If you really need our help, I will arrange for someone to help the Lang Corporation to overcome the immediate difficulties."

Ethan's eyes suddenly lit up. He looked at Draxton, who seemed to understand what the former meant. Glancing at Isabella gently, Draxton said, "Everything I do, I do it for Bella."

A hint of gratitude appeared in Ethan's eyes. Then, he looked at Isabella with a gleam of gratification.

"Big Brother, don't be so fierce to me. I'm here to comfort Isabella," Olivia said aggrievedly with her hands supporting her chin.

Draxton gave her a deadpan look. "Isabella doesn't need to be comforted. Besides, I'm here. It is I instead of you who can comfort her."

Olivia said, "I heard that something happened to the Lang family. Big Brother, what's going on? Isabella doesn't seem to be sad."

"Why would Isabella be sad when something happened to the Lang family?" Draxton asked.

"Anyway, I don't care. I'm not leaving today. I want to accompany Isabella," Olivia said shamelessly.

Draxton said with a somber expression, "I think you just have nothing to do. Therefore, I'll gather you and other people later and assign missions to all of you."

Olivia seemed to have heard something extremely terrifying. She was stunned and said in disbelief, "Big Brother! Big Brother, I don't understand what you mean."

Draxton looked at her with a deadpan expression. "The Lockwood family is big and powerful. You and other young people are old enough to share the burden of the family. Do you understand?"

Olivia felt as if she had been struck by lightning.

She thought in a daze that because she wanted to get close to Isabella, Draxton first planned to marry her off and then wanted to find something for her to do. This was pure revenge.

Why hadn't she noticed in the past twenty years that Draxton was so bad?

Glancing at Olivia arrogantly, Draxton finally felt happy.

He looked in the direction of Isabella in a good mood. She was talking on the phone with a bright smile.

Draxton was stunned. He had never seen her smile so brightly.

That smile showed a kind of relaxation and comfort that came from the bottom of her heart.

That was an expression that would appear only when she faced someone she trusted the most.

She had never smiled at him like this before!

Draxton looked down at Olivia. "Did you just say that the person calling Isabella was a man?"

Olivia was sad, for Draxton would arrange for her to do something. She had set up a Whatsapp group and sent the bad news to all her siblings.

Draxton smiled and breathed a sigh of relief.

Olivia had already been shocked by Draxton’s appearance.

She took out her cell phone and secretly took a few photos of Draxton, and then she sent the photos to the Whatsapp group of the Lockwood family.

The photos caused a violent reaction in the group.

“Oh my god, who is this showy man?”

“Has Big Brother been possessed?”

“Am I dizzy?”

Regardless of the reaction in the Whatsapp group, the three of them drove to the airport.

Jake got off the plane. As he walked forward, he listened to the young man beside him talking on the phone.

The young man seemed a little distracted. He left his suitcase aside and forgot to take it.

Jake had no choice but to remind him, “Hey, buddy, you forgot your suitcase.”

The young man on the phone turned around and thanked Jake. Then, he left with his suitcase.

Jake continued walking forward. He heard the young man say, “It’s no longer possible for there to be a relationship between Olivia and me. A few years ago, you didn’t allow me to have any contact with her. Now, there is no more relationship between us two.

“Sometimes, when a relationship is missed, then it is missed. Furthermore, Olivia and I have never confirmed our relationship before. We’re just ordinary friends.

“I’ll think of another way to treat great-grandpa. However, don’t have any ideas about Olivia.”

Jake’s professional instincts made him think that this young man had a story, but it was none of his business. He quickly forgot about it.

"Mr. Lockwood, you are too polite. Compared to you, the dignified patriarch of the Lockwood family, I can only be considered an unemployed person. Otherwise, I wouldn't be unable to protect Bella and make her hide in Lotus Village with the children for five years, unable to leave," Jake said calmly with a mocking smile.

The five years of pursuit of killing Isabella was indeed an undeniable fact that Draxton could not deny.

However, Draxton was the dignified patriarch of the Lockwood family. How could he willingly be mocked just because of this?

Draxton said shamelessly, "That's true. If Bella had left Lotus Village earlier and taken responsibility for me, I wouldn't have chased after Bella for five years.

"Now, Bella and I are husband and wife. She has already been responsible for what she did to me back then. I naturally won't pursue the past. After all, I'm already her husband."

Jake's handsome face froze, and he could barely hold on to it anymore. Stunned, Jake looked at Draxton. It turned out that in his heart, Draxton had chased after Bella for five years because Bella had slept with him and not taken responsibility for it. Draxton actually thought he was in the right!

How could the dignified patriarch of the Lockwood family really say such shameless words? Although it seemed to make sense, as a man, did Draxton not care about his reputation?

If there was a loss, it should be Bella who suffered a loss, right?

Olivia was also speechless. Draxton was so shameless that stunned Olivia, but she was proud Olivia looked at Jake smugly. Jake's trick would not work. Isabella could only belong to the Lockwood family. It was useless for Jake to be picky no matter how!

Isabella, on the other end, chuckled. Draxton was getting more and more careless about his image.

Isabella and Jake sat on the balcony and chatted.

Isabella was holding a cup of hot milk. Draxton had sent it to her not long ago.

Jake also had a cup in front of him, but Jake did not touch it. He preferred to drink hard liquor.

However, Isabella checked Jake's pulse and found that there were hidden injuries in his body that had yet to recover. So, Isabella didn't allow him to drink.

"I'll send you to the cemetery tomorrow," Isabella said.

"Okay," Jake said.

"How long do you plan to stay this time?" Isabella asked.

Jake narrowed his sharp eyes slightly and said, "I might stay longer this time."

Isabella paused and said, "Looks like you're already planning to make a move."

Jake did not say anything. The atmosphere between the two of them fell silent.

No one said anything, and they just sat there. However, the atmosphere was harmonious and there was no awkwardness at all.

Draxton was handling official business in the study. He specially left space for the two of them to catch up.

Although Olivia still stayed in Northernville Manor and did not leave, she did not come out to disturb them.

Olivia was really noisy in her day-to-day life, but at critical moments, she had a sense of propriety.

"When will Master Vaughn return to Lotus Village?" After a while, Isabella asked.

"He'll probably have to return later. He's almost found out who the enemy who broke his leg back then was," Jake said.

A cold light flashed across Isabella's eyes. "I'm going overseas for a while."

Chapter 140 Two Uninvited Guests

Patriarch Riker and Lindon looked at each other with excitement in their eyes.
The Lockwood family was too strong. Both of them were among the four major families in Dawton City, but the Riker family was far from being comparable to the Lockwood family. How could the Riker family be willing?
"Dad, I'll go meet those juniors." Lindon stood up.
Patriarch Riker shook his head. "No, it's not appropriate for you to go. After all, you're an elder. Call Shane over. Shane is of the same generation as them. They should be able to get along."
Lindon agreed and immediately called Shane.

Shane arrived in twenty minutes. He looked at Patriarch Riker and Lindon in confusion. "Grandpa, Uncle Lindon, why did you call me here?"

They couldn't have called him over for lunch, could they?

Patriarch Riker narrowed his eyes and smiled without saying anything.

Lindon smiled and said, "Your grandpa and I naturally called you here to have lunch, but not with us."

Shane was even more confused.

Lindon said, "A few juniors from the Lockwood family are also eating at Savor Their private room is not far from ours. You guys are of the same generation Why don't you go and greet them?"

Shane was a little hesitant To be honest, although Shane was in the same generation as the juniors of the Lockwood family and he was even born in the same year of the Lockwood family twins, he was not familiar with them.

The juniors of the Lockwood family seemed to be doing nothing all day long, but Shane deeply remembered one thing. Three years ago, at an international business conference, how the Lockwood family twins saw through the enemy's trap and broke it

At that time, Shane had already fallen into the trap If not for the Lockwood family twins rescuing him, he would have suffered a huge loss at that conference

At that time, the performance of the Lockwood family twins was very different from their usual idle appearance
