Chapter 201 The Poorest Nobles

Zolo had clearly seen Isabella as well. His once energetic eyes suddenly widened.

Sean said, "Mr Zolo, what are you waiting for? Invite our guest in."

Zolo was speechless.

Who could tell him why Isabella was here?

Ahhhh! He was also someone who cared about his reputation!

Zolo completely ignored Sean's words and only looked at Isabella in horror

"Mr Zolo?" Sean frowned and reminded him impatiently.

Zolo turned around and glared at Sean. "Sean, who told you to yell at me?"

Sean's expression changed. He was furious. "Do you still want to get paid?"

"You

Zolo kept quiet.

Isabella narrowed her eyes slightly and stared at Zolo. Her tone was suspicious. "Zolo, why are you here?"

Zolo shrugged and said confidently, "I'm experiencing life."

It would be strange if Isabella believed him.

"Mr Zolo. When you came to our house to apply for the position of bodyguard leader half a month ago, you didn't say this. At that time, you said..."

"Mr. Sean, I'm telling you solemnly now that I am resigning! I quit!"

With that, Zolo walked towards Isabella.

Sean's face turned pale for a moment. He could tell that Zolo and Isabella knew each other!

Isabella Thompson... Was there really no one she didn't know?

He stared at Zolo's back and reminded angrily, "Mr. Zolo, with all due respect, if you resign now, you won't even get a single cent of your salary. On the contrary, you'll have to compensate me with 20,000 dollars."

Zolo was left speechless.

He turned around and smirked at Sean. "Mr. Sean, it's only 20,000 dollars. You're too stingy. Don't worry I'll give you the money."

Sean narrowed his eyes.

Looking at him, Isabella thought something was strange.

Zolo looked at Isabella warmly and said, "Miraculous Doctor, it's great to see you. However, it's inconvenient for me to invite you to my house as a guest. I hope you don't mind."

It turned out that she was here to help Zolo find a job.

However, Isabella didn't understand what appearance had to do with employment.

Isabella smiled and refused. "I have no intention of hiring him."

Disappointment flashed in the girl's eyes.

Isabella realized the little boy sitting on the sofa did not speak much.

He was very quiet and did not even look in their direction.

Isabella could not help but look at him curiously.

Zolo's mother explained, "He's Bobby, my youngest son. He's a little autistic, but he's not afraid of people. He doesn't like to talk or entertain people usually."

Isabella looked at the little boy and could not help but feel a little sad.

This child was not much older than her child. It did not feel good to see that.

Isabella looked at Joseph and said, "I wonder if there's anything I can help you?"

Joseph's eyes lit up. "Can you really help us? Our wish is simple. We only want to protect this castle. It's passed down from our ancestors. We really can't bear to lose it. We can work for you to repay the debt."

Not only was Zolo's family stunned, but Chris's subordinates were also stunned.

Only Rowl knew why Chris suddenly changed his mind.

With a complicated expression, he looked at Isabella sitting at Zolo's table. He could not help but sigh in his heart Zolo's family was really fortunatel

Zolo did not think of that He covered his chest with both hands and said in horror, "Chris, what are you up to

I'm telling you, don't expect me to repay the debt with my body!"

Isabella looked at Zolo in surprise. How did he think of that?

What surprised her even more was that not only did Zolo have such strange thoughts, but Zolo's family had similar thoughts.

Flora guarded Betty behind her defensively and stared at Chris as if she was facing a great enemy

Joseph pulled Zolo to his side and said righteously, "Chris, our family will never betray our children. Don't even think about hitting on them!"

In their opinion, Zolo was young and handsome, and Betty was gorgeous. It was very likely that Chris would make them sell their daughter or sons to pay off their debts.

Chris's face was as dark as the ocean. A chill ran down his spine.

Rowl's mouth twitched, and he looked at the family speechlessly. Where did they get their confidence from? Isabella did not know where Zolo's family got their confidence from. She slowly stood up from the dining table.

Madame Emma Lockwood tugged at her sleeve worriedly and whispered to her, "Don't be afraid. Later, when they're grabbing our people, run."

Isabella was speechless.

Was she supposed to be grateful for that offer?

Isabella did not know how to react. "Don't worry. They won't lay their hands on any of you."

Zolo's lips could not help but curl up.

Chris glanced at him indifferently and turned to Isabella. "Bella, can I buy you dinner?"

Isabella nodded without thinking. She could not bear to look at Zolo's family now.

Isabella said to Zolo. "I'll get going first."

Then, she bade farewell to Madame Emma Lockwood and the others and left Zolo's house with Chris.

Zolo sent her to the gate. Isabella turned around and waved. She saw Zolo and his family walking out. Even Bobby, the autistic little boy, came out.

Isabella sighed, waved her hand, and left with Chris.

After getting into the car, Isabella asked, "Did the Zolo family stand against you during the crisis you experienced two years ago?"

Chris nodded and said, "No one was on my side back then. I thought I was almost hopeless. The others thought so too. Zolo's family was just one of them. However, they are not the leaders, so I left them a way out."

His voice was aggrieved and cold. He felt aggrieved because of the despair and coldness at that time. It was also because of those who had abandoned him when he was down.

He would only reveal his grievances when facing Azure Dragon.

"But Zolo's family said that they lost all their assets ten years ago because of a business problem," Isabella said.

The corner of Chris's mouth twitched. "Ten years ago, they also suffered a huge setback under my hands." Isabella facepalmed.

What an evil fate.

"Thank you for your help two years ago. I've never formally thanked you."

Chris looked deeply at Isabella. "Before this, I didn't even know if you were a man or a woman, old or young. but I had long regarded you as the most important friend in my life."

Isabella smiled. Two years ago, she thought a genius like Chris should not die, so she helped him. Now, she had gained herself a friend.

They arrived at a luxurious western restaurant and chatted as they ate.

"I didn't even know you came to Avon." Chris sounded a little resentful.

Isabella briefly told him about Claire and the Carol family's situation.

"The Carol family is very influential. Of course, they are strong because their predecessor, the Andri family, was powerful. Sean is just a liar and a thief. However, this swindler is very ruthless. He is also

Helen looked at the well-dressed man in front of her. No one understood what kind of person he was better

Monte showed Helen the photos he had secretly taken.

Helen wasn't interested at all. She had businesses to handle and wasn't in the mood to help Monte hunt.

However, when she saw the photo on Monte's phone, she was stunned for a few seconds and could not help but smile slowly.

She would never have thought the woman Monte had his eyes on was actually Isabella.

This was interesting.

Helen suddenly had a brilliant idea.

A bad feeling suddenly flashed across Monte's mind as he saw Helen's smile. Just as how much Helen knew him, he knew Helen very well too.

He knew very well how vicious this woman was.

"I know her, Monte. Let's talk," Helen invited.

Monte's eyes lit up. "Seeing that you recognize her, it seems this beauty is not an ordinary person. Indeed, a woman who can be with Chris must be someone special."

"That's the kind of woman you like, huh?" Helen said meaningfully.

Monte licked his lips greedily. "Of course!"

“She is the Miraculous Doctor, the Azure Dragon, also the Lockwood family’s patriarch’s wife.”

They sat down, and Helen spoke directly.

Monte’s hand trembled, and his eyes widened in shock. His breathing instantly became incomparably rapid.

“What? Are you scared?” Helen asked.

Monte’s eyes turned slightly red. “It’s not a matter of fear. I really dare not provoke this woman.”

He sighed regretfully.

Through the surveillance camera miles away, they could see that pink smoke had stopped spewing, but the room had been filled with smoke.

Isabella stood in the middle of the room, looking in the direction of the camera.

However, Helen felt that Isabella had lost focus from her gaze.

In less than 15 minutes, Monte arrived with 7 or 8 of his usual friends.

They had entered through another secret passage. As they did not go through the main entrance, the Blue Crystals members did not realize that they had come.

Through the surveillance camera, it could be seen that Monte and others pushed open the door and entered the smoke-filled room.

Isabella saw Monte and others coming into the room and instantly understood Helen's plan.

She could not help but laugh. She had to admit that although Helen's method was sinister, it was an effective one.

It was rare for her to meet a vicious girl like Helen.

It was very interesting.

Isabella looked at the camera. Her stare was losing focus, but the corners of her lips slowly curled up.

She thought that it was time to show that vicious girl what her real power was.

She raised her hand. The red bedsheet covering the bed was removed and thrown up instantly.

Then, the red bedsheet blocked the camera.

Helen looked at the bright red screen and was shocked for a moment. Then, she could not help but smile.

Isabella stunned her.

However, there were other ways of filming in that room. So, it did not matter if the camera was covered.

However, Helen was a little disappointed that she could not see Isabella fall into the abyss with her own eyes.

Helen played with the remote control and counted the time in her heart. She reckoned Isabella had probably turned into a slut by then.

Alanna opened the door and saw Helen struggling on the bed immediately.

Helen was in an extremely dire state. Alanna could not help but be secretly shocked when she saw Helen's appearance. Helen had broken one of the handcuffs with her bare hand.

Helen's desire to live was unquestionably strong. When Helen saw the door open, her sight turned to the entrance with high hope.

She thought the person opening the door was Sean or Millie, who might have realized she had been missing and come looking for her.

However, when Helen saw that the person who appeared at the door was Alanna, she froze.

Helen's pupils contracted strongly for a moment, then she roared angrily, "Alanna? How did you get out?"

Alanna did not answer Helen. She walked toward Helen with a smile on her face.

Helen's eyes widened. "Alanna, what do you want? Let me go!"

"If you let me go, I'll treat your injuries. How about I treat your injuries until you fully recover?"

"Isabella is in my house. If she finds out about you, what do you think she will do to you?"

Alanna ignored her and picked up a chair that had fallen to the side. She raised it high and smashed it down on Helen's head.

"No!" Helen screamed. Everything went still.

Isabella went straight for the Kurt family. The Kurt family was extremely prominent in the local area. With the Carol family as their backer, they lived in glory and luxury.

Isabella silently appeared in the living room of Kurt's residence. The Kurt family members froze in shock at the intrusion by a stranger.

Kurt's wife lost control and asked in a high-pitched voice, "Who are you?"

Isabella tilted her head and looked at the lady. Then, she looked at the little girl sitting on the sofa holding a stuffed toy. She smiled and turned her wrist. An exquisite pistol appeared in her hand.

She aimed the gun at the lady jokingly, then slowly pointed it at the girl.

"Oh, no!"

The woman covered her mouth in fear as she was afraid that any sound made would anger the intruder who had barged in suddenly.

"Good!"

Isabella smiled in satisfaction. With a twist of her wrist, she holstered her gun and headed upstairs.

She strolled casually up the stairs to the second floor, as if she were at her own house. Eventually, she reached Kurt's study.

As expected, Damon's expression softened. "It's good that she doesn't know anything. Such a woman is obedient, virtuous, and easy to control. Most importantly, she has no ambition and treats her husband as the sky.

"However, as your wife, she has to have appropriate dignity. Otherwise, you will be laughed at if you take her out."

Draxton immediately said, "Grandpa Damon, you're right. Don't worry. Although Bella is timid, kind, virtuous, and obedient, she's also very generous when she's outside. She won't embarrass the Lockwood family."

When Damon heard this, his brows relaxed and he nodded slightly. "Yes, with your grandpa around, your will definitely be fine."

There was finally something that satisfied him.

After Draxton finished spouting nonsense in all seriousness, he secretly breathed a sigh of relief.

Damon lived in a closed village along with his descendants.

However, although they lived in the village, they also had great power in their hands.

In the blink of an eye, it was the new year of Lucsia. If not for the fact that they had to attend the annual gathering. Damon would probably still be sunbathing in the village.

However, Draxton had a headache. Damon was too old-fashioned. He would throw a tantrum when he couldn't stand things. He was extremely willful.

All Draxton could do was to stabilize him for now. As for what would happen when he saw Bella... Draxton wouldn't think that far ahead yet!

Big Dipper, Little Dipper, Fernando, and his subordinates were all dumbfounded.

Fernando looked at Draxton as if he had seen a ghost. How did he say those words without even blinking?

Was Miraculous Doctor timid? Was Miraculous Doctor ignorant? Miraculous Doctor treated her husband as the sky?

Chapter 209 Tricking Damon

Isabella smiled at Damon and stood quietly and shyly beside Draxton.

The 18 Blue Crystals were all confused.

Their expressions were a little twisted.

Then, they saw Isabella's hand behind her back constantly gesturing at them.

For a moment, the 18 Blue Crystals' gazes were all focused on Isabella's hand.

Their eyes and heads moved back and forth as Isabella gestured.

Damon frowned and asked hesitantly, "Why are they constantly turning their heads?"

He began to feel puzzled. Could it be that the foreigners were so different from them?

Isabella's hands behind her back froze slightly, and the heads of the 18 Blue Crystals also froze in unison.

Isabella was rendered speechless.

Fernando and his subordinates walked over and realized that the atmosphere was a little strange. He looked at Draxton silently with a gloating expression.

Damon looked at the 18 Blue Crystals and said to Isabella, "Isabella, why are you with them?"

Draxton subconsciously opened his mouth to explain, but Isabella spoke first.

"Grandpa Damon, Draxton told me to wait here for him. This is Claire. She owns the place."

Damon looked at Claire and frowned.

He looked at Draxton unkindly and said, “Draxton, you’ve gone too far. What era are we in now? It’s all monogamy now. You have to control yourself.

“Look at you. It’s fine if you can’t control yourself, but you even let your wife stay with the foreign girls outside. Are you trying to bring the ancestors of the Lockwood family back to life because of anger?”

Draxton looked puzzled.

After understanding what Damon said, Draxton’s face turned pale.

This old man actually thought that Claire was his mistress...

Isabella lowered her head and her shoulders twitched. She almost choked with laughter. Was this Damon here to make jokes?

After Damon finished reprimanding Draxton, he turned around and started reprimanding Isabella again.

“Isabella, it’s not that I want to criticize you, but Draxton is your husband. As his wife, you have to be by his side at all times when you guys go out so that you can take care of his daily life. You also can’t let outsiders take advantage of you, understand?

“Logically speaking, these should be taught by your grandma-in-law and your mother-in-law, but... Sigh, never mind!”

Damon thought of Draxton’s grandma and his mother and sighed. His face was full of displeasure.

Damon snorted and sat down again. He glanced at Isabella.

"Draxton said you came from the countryside and didn't know anything. I didn't expect you to understand him."

Isabella said in shame, "I'm ashamed to hear you say that. Since I'm married to Draxton, I naturally can't embarrass him.

"Fortunately, I'm not too stupid. After studying hard, I finally learned a foreign language."

After saying that, she sighed softly and added, "I will definitely continue to work hard to be a good patriarch's wife."

Damon looked at Isabella as if he was looking at a treasure.

He sighed. "Draxton is so lucky. If he doesn't cherish you, I'll be the first to punish him!"

Isabella hurriedly said, "Grandpa Damon, don't say that. Draxton is very good to me."

She looked like a virtuous wife in a feudal society.

Draxton kept an indifferent expression on his face then quietly rubbed his arm.

The hairs on his body stood on end.

Damon continued, "If only your grandma-in-law and your mother-in-law were half as polite as you are, sigh!"

"Is this old man badmouthing my grandma-in-law and
