Chapter 211 Old-Fashioned

Isabella looked up and met his dark blue eyes.

There was a trace of frustration in Draxton's eyes, but it was mainly gentle and domineering.

The smile on Isabella's lips deepened slightly, and a sly glint flashed in his eyes.

She grabbed his collar and spun around. In the blink of an eye, their positions were reversed.

She placed her hands on the man's chest and pressed him against the door.

Draxton's handsome face was slightly hot. He cocked his eyebrows and asked, "Gentle, obedient, and virtuous?"

Isabella chuckled, knowing that he was mocking her.

Isabella did not back down. "I don't know anything. I'm timid and docile. Isn't that what you said?"

Chapter 212 Different Family Style

When the group of adults rushed in, they saw Betty standing on Kieran with her hands on her hips.

Her two small feet stepped on Kieran's face and stomach.

The more majestic Betty looked, the more miserable Kieran looked.

Betty placed her hands on her hips and raised her chin slightly. She looked at the group of adults who rushed in with incomparable arrogance.

It seemed that she was saying, "I'm the number one heroine in the world."

The expressions of the adults changed.

Madame Emma Lockwood rushed over and hugged Betty. Colin and Gary rushed forward and helped Kieran up.

Kieran was helped to his feet. His face was pale. After a moment, he burst into tears.

Betty was held in Madame Emma Lockwood's arms. Only her two round eyes were revealed as she looked at Kieran.

Madame Emma Lockwood was afraid of scaring Betty. She comforted her gently, "It's okay, our Betty Baby is right!"

Betty wrapped her arms around Madame Emma Lockwood's neck and whispered in her ear, "Great-grandma, he looks down on girls. Betty taught him how powerful girls are."

After a pause, she added, "Betty is fine, but he isn't."

Madame Emma Lockwood was rendered speechless.

"Key is fine too. Our Betty Baby is as light as a feather. You won't be able to break him," said Madame Emma Lockwood.

She was still trying to comfort Betty.

When Colin and Gary, who were coaxing Kieran, heard this, their faces darkened.

"This is too outrageous. No wonder Father (Grandpa) always said that on the main branch, Patriarch Lockwood pampered Madame Emma Lockwood's high off one's ass."

Chapter 213 Complaint

While they were chatting, Madame Emma Lockwood and the others came downstairs with the children.

“Hey, look, they’re all coming down, aren’t they?” Philip said with a smile.

Then, he went forward and pulled Ricky, who was acting like an adult, into his arms.

Ricky pursed his lips and gave Philip a faint smile. Then, he said, “Grandpa, I’m a grown-up now. Let me walk by myself.”

Philip said, “Ricky has grown up, but look at Key, who is half a year older than you. He’s still asking his father to hug him. It’s fine for me to hug you. Don’t be shy.”

Ricky felt helpless, but still allowed Philip to hug him.

Jeanne people stood up. She smiled and said, “Kim, Elodia, look. The children are fine, aren’t they?”

Elodia’s eyes were glued to Kieran. Seeing that her son was fine, Elodia secretly breathed a sigh of relief.

She was worried and sized Kieran up from head to toe, and her eyes were filled with love.

Kim smiled and said, “What can happen at home?”

Jeanne saw that Elodia’s gaze was glued to Kieran. She clearly wanted to go forward and express her concerns, but she endured it and didn’t go forward.

Jeanne was a little surprised. “Elodia, aren’t you going to take a look at Key?”

Elodia was shocked and quickly looked away, afraid that her husband and in-laws would be unhappy with her behavior.

She smiled and said, “Aunt, Key is being carried by his father. There’s no need for me to take a look at him.”

Kim glanced at Elodia but did not say anything.

Jeanne didn’t say anything else.

The entire family sat around the dining table.

Madame Emma Lockwood and Patriarch Lockwood described what had happened between the two children. upstairs.

Upon hearing that Key had been beaten up by Betty, Kim and Elodia were shocked.

Seeing that everyone was looking at her, Betty immediately “delicately” crawled into Patriarch Lockwood’s arms.

"Betty is a good child who respects the old and loves the young. I'll go easy on you."

Her soft and cute face was very serious, and her childish voice was very serious. She was so cute that it made anyone's heart soften.

However, Damon's expression froze.

After a moment, Damon regained his dignity. He said in a deep voice, "Nonsense, this child is so ignorant! Do you know no manners?"

After saying that, he looked at Isabella unhappily.

Isabella pretended not to see Damon's gaze and looked elsewhere with a "I didn't hear anything" expression. Betty continued, "Second great-grandpa, Key was defeated by me. You are his great-grandpa. This means that you are also defeated by me. Don't worry. I won't laugh at you!"

She patted her small chest with her fair and tender hand.

At the side, Madame Emma Lockwood and Patriarch Lockwood puffed out their chests proudly.

Based on what Betty said, it was equivalent to them defeating that old man, Damon. As a weakling, Patriarch Lockwood felt extremely proud!

Damon was so angry that his face turned pale. He couldn't argue with Betty, so he targeted Isabella. "Isabella, is this how you usually teach your children?"

Madame Emma Lockwood wasn't going to allow Damon to scold Isabella. She said angrily, "Damon! How dare you scold my granddaughter-in-law?"

Damon immediately looked like he was suffocating.

He was so angry that his entire body was trembling. He looked from one to the other and finally realized that he could not afford to offend anyone.

In the end, he sat down on the sofa angrily and fell silent with a livid expression.

When Colin saw that his father did not help them regain their dignity anymore, he couldn't accept such a fact.

He snorted and looked at Isabella critically. "Draxton wasn't married five years ago, right? In other words, Isabella, you had a child five years ago before you were married, right?"

Damon was stunned. He looked at Isabella in disbelief and said, "You had a child before you were married?"

The way he looked at Isabella changed.

In his opinion, even if Isabella had given birth to the Lockwood family's child, it was a fact that Isabella had given birth before she was married.

He turned to Draxton and said, "Draxton, she's the patriarch's wife and she gave birth to a child before getting married?"

Draxton said, "That's right. Five years ago, Bella and I had a child before we were married. Grandpa Damon, what are you planning to do? Take away my position as patriarch?"

"If that's the case, I can't ask for more. I think Gary is also very suitable to be the patriarch."

Damon was shocked by his words and said, "I'm talking about your wife!"

"Without me, Bella wouldn't be able to give birth!" said Draxton.

Damon was rendered speechless.

There seemed to be nothing wrong with what Draxton had said, but it still felt strange to him.

When he came back to his senses, he said angrily, "You're a man and she's a woman. How can it be the same?"

Isabella saw Ricky put mustard in the ravioli.

Ricky peeked at Isabella guiltily. Seeing that Isabella was eating and did not notice him, he heaved a sigh of relief.

Of course, Isabella would not expose Ricky at a time like this.

She pretended not to know.

However, she said to Kieran, “Key, I think that the ravioli in your bowl is especially delicious. Can you give it to me?”

She looked at the ravioli filled with mustard in Kieran’s bowl.

Kieran blinked at her and nodded obediently.

Elodia quickly scooped up the ravioli with a clean spoon and handed it to Isabella.

Ricky said, “I shouldn’t have given second great–grandpa and Key the ravioli filled with mustard.”

Isabella looked at his tightly pursed lips and knew that although he said that, he was still unhappy.

Isabella could not help but kiss his little face. She lifted him into her arms and walked to the small couch to sit down.

Isabella said, “Is it because second great–grandpa was fierce to Mom, so you wanted to give him mustard ravioli to teach him a lesson?”

Ricky looked up and nodded seriously.

Isabella's eyes curved into crescents as she smiled. "Mommy also thinks that second great-grandpa is too much. Mommy has long wanted to teach him a lesson, but I didn't expect you to beat Mommy to it."

Ricky was surprised.

He widened his eyes in shock, which was really cute.

Draxton had just walked over to them while holding Betty's hand. When he heard this, he almost tripped.

He also widened his eyes and looked at Isabella. Was it okay for her to say this to the children?

Isabella continued, "You gave Kieran the mustard ravioli because he said something that made your sister unhappy, right?"

Ricky nodded again.

Isabella asked, "Then does Ricky know why Mom deliberately ate Key's mustard ravioli?"

A hint of doubt appeared in Ricky's midnight blue eyes.

Isabella smiled and said, "Because Key is also small like you. If he ate the mustard ravioli, there's a high chance that he would choke. If it accidentally got stuck in his windpipe, it would be very dangerous."

"Second great-grandpa is an adult so he knows how to take care of himself, but Key is still a child so it would be very dangerous."

Ricky's small face gradually revealed a serious expression.

Isabella said, "Therefore, even if we want to teach others a lesson, we have to be careful. If teaching them a lesson causes their lives to be in danger, it will be our fault if we aren't able to save them."

Ricky nodded solemnly.

"Mom, I understand. In the future, when I teach others a lesson, I will definitely be careful."

Elodia looked at Cressida and smiled mechanically before saying, "No."

When Cressida saw how timid she was, a dark glint flashed in her eyes. She couldn't help but laugh. "Oh, I haven't introduced myself yet. Elodia, I'm Cressida Langley. You can just call me Cressida."

"Nice to meet you, Cressida," Elodia said softly.

Cressida held Kim's arm affectionately and said, "Aunt Kim, Elodia is quite obedient and sensible. It seems like you have taught her well."

Kim smiled and said dotingly, "All you know how to do is flatter others."

Kim's sister-in-law also smiled and said, "Kim, you don't know. This girl's mouth is getting sweeter and sweeter by the day. She coaxes both of us and her grandpa every day and makes us happy without fail. Her grandpa dotes on her the most."

"Mom, Grandpa's favorite is obviously my brother," Cressida said.

At the side, Kim's elder brother named Shawn Langley was chatting with Gary.

Shawn said, "Sebastian started a company in Hamilton City.

"The Lockwood family has a branch company in Hamilton City, right? Can I request you to ask your cousin if he'll be able to help?"

Gary nodded and said, "It's good that you like to do business. I'll talk to my eldest cousin later.

"If he agrees, then the Lockwood family's branch company in Hamilton City will definitely be of great help to your family."

Shawn's face was instantly filled with smiles. He sighed and said, "I'm grateful for you all."

Draxton held her hand and said, "Let's go downstairs and take a look."

The two of them went to the living room. Patriarch Lockwood was not there. Only Madame Emma Lockwood and Jeanne were there.

The three members of the Langley family were enthusiastically greeting Madame Emma Lockwood and wishing her a happy new year.

“Mrs Lockwood, we brought this local specialty here all the way from Hamilton City. There are also two wild ginsengs.”

Shawn said carefully and he fawned over them.

Cressida smiled quietly. It was a really gentle smile.

She then took out a silk scarf and said, “Madame Lockwood, this is a scarf I embroidered myself. I hope you’ll like it”

Madame Emma Lockwood glanced at her and said, “Oh my. I didn’t know that the young lady of the Langley family knew how to embroider.”

Kim smiled and continued, “Madame Lockwood, the Langley family still has some ancient traditions. Not only does Cressida know how to embroider, but she also knows how to play the piano and chess, draw, and write calligraphy.”

Cressida lowered her head in embarrassment, but the corners of her lips were curled up slightly.

She was from a scholarly family, hence she was a well-bred young lady. She was not someone the Lockwood family’s two daughters-in-law could compare to.

Elodia was even worse. She came from a humble family background and did not receive a good education.

As for Draxton’s wife, she had children out of wedlock. If word got out, people would look down on her.

Cressida wasn’t like any of them. At this thought, she straightened her back proudly.

Madame Emma Lockwood did not take the scarf. She only glanced at it and said gently but slightly distantly, “Thank you, Cressida. That’s nice of you.”

She did not say anything else.

Kim was stunned.

Jeanne had always been gentle.

She rarely saw Jeanne angry. In her memory, the last time she saw Jeanne so furious was a few years ago when Philip was patriarch. At that time, Jeanne was the patriarch's wife. Because of the Lockwood family's restless side branches, she exercised her power and imposed her will.

Apart from times like that, Jeanne was easy to get along with.

She was magnanimous, gentle, and calm, which was very different from her sharp and aggressive appearance at this moment.

"Jeanne, I didn't mean it. Why are you so aggressive?"

"Why am I aggressive? Kim, do you think I don't know what you're thinking? Don't tell me you want the Lockwood family's patriarch's wife to greet others first?"

When Kim heard her, she shuddered.

Shawn and his wife, who were initially dissatisfied because Isabella did not greet them first, suddenly froze.

Isabella looked at Jeanne with a gentle gaze, her heart filled with warmth.

Madame Emma Lockwood patted Isabella's hand. Isabella turned to look at Madame Emma Lockwood, who winked back at Isabella smugly and mouthed, "Your mother is amazing!"

Isabella did not know whether to laugh or cry.

Jeanne stared at Kim with a faint smile.

Kim closed her eyes. She knew that she had utterly embarrassed herself today.

Gary turned to look at Draxton and said, "Draxton, my mother really didn't have any other intentions. Please try to calm Aunt Jeanne down."

Draxton looked up at him and said in a deadpan voice, "My wife has been wronged. Your mother was the cause of it."

Gary was rendered speechless.

"I don't even dare to provoke my wife. My entire family has to make my wife happy. She has never suffered so much!"

Elodia paused. Cressida's tone made her uncomfortable, but she couldn't say anything.

It was only right for her to pour a cup of tea for her mother-in-law, but Cressida spoke to her in such a tone as if she didn't want to do her duty and refused to pour tea for her mother-in-law.

Moreover, who was Cressida to order her around?

What status did Cressida have to chastise her?

Elodia lowered her eyes, then she lifted the teapot and poured a cup of tea for Kim.

Kim was looking grim. She picked up the teacup and took a sip. However, when she drank it, she realized that the tea was boiling hot.

Kim threw the teacup on the floor. The hot tea splashed all over the table while the teacup shattered into pieces. Some of the broken pieces flew toward Elodia's body and face.

Elodia felt a sharp pain on her face. She touched it with her hand, after which it was stained with blood.
