Chapter 271 Willful Patriarch's Wife

The next day, Quentin went out to the Lockwood family's residence.

Theo stood in front of the window. When he saw his grandfather leaving. Theo could not help but frown.

Ares walked in and watched Quentin leave. He said gloomily to Theo, "Actually, your Grandpa's worries are not unreasonable."

Theo did not say anything. After a moment, he said, "Grandpa is no longer a member of Expendable Camp. I cannot touch him."

Ares was speechless.

Theo was so inflexible that Ares wanted to trash his son to death.

Then, Ares heard Theo say, "Alderic, Grey, and Queal all said that the patriarch's wife is also very impressive. If Grandpa said anything bad about her, she might beat him up."

Theo's tone was filled with a sense of relief.

What Theo meant to say was that though he could not hit his grandfather, the patriarch's wife could.

Ares continued to be speechless.

Ares turned around and left. He was afraid that if he did not leave, there would be a tragic moment of a father and son killing each other.

What Theo did not mention was that the patriarch's wife was Butterfly!

When he thought of that, Theo's eyes lit up. His eyes were filled with admiration. He wondered what it would look like if his father and the patriarch's wife were to fight.

However, based on Butterfly's past achievements, he estimated that she was slightly stronger than his father.

"Perhaps you have some misunderstanding about the patriarch's wife," Isabella said.

Isabella stopped talking.

Her lips twitched as she concentrated on driving

After a moment of silence in the car, Quentin asked again. "Young lady, who's your husband?"

Isabella did not reply immediately.

She was silent for a moment before saying. "He's from the Lockwood family."

"Oh?" Quentin exclaimed in surprise. "Which branch of the family has such good fortune? Tell me, whose family are you from?"

Quentin was feeling very curious.

Isabella was worried that if she told the truth, the old man would jump out of the car on the spot.

Hence, she pointed ahead and said, "Sir, we've arrived at the Lockwood family's residence."

The gate of the Lockwood family's residence sensed Isabella's car and automatically slid open. There was no need for her to announce herself.

"Young lady, do you come to this residence often?"

Quentin knew very well that if an outsider's car wanted to enter the Lockwood family's residence, it had to go through a thorough security check on the spot before it was allowed to enter.

However, Isabella's car was allowed to drive in without any checks.

"Yes, quite often," replied Isabella.

Quentin was a little stunned. A thought flashed across his mind, but it was only for a second. He did not think too deeply about it.

Isabella and Quentin entered the house together. They did not even knock on the door.

Sir Graham Lockwood was playing with Ricky and Betty in the living room.

The two young children did not cause the adults to worry about them, unlike other children. They were obedient and sensible. Most of the time, it was the two young children who ended up feeling very exasperated because of their great-grandpa. They had to pacify their great-grandpa instead.

When Isabella came in, she saw Sir Graham Lockwood playing the fool with the children.

Isabella could not help but laugh. The two children were very sharp and immediately noticed her. They immediately pushed their great-grandpa aside and ran toward Isabella.

"Mommy!"

The two little children had called out in unison, their little voices filled with joy.

Quentin finally understood that this wasn't the patriarch's wife taking power. This was simply Mr. Lockwood giving the patriarch's wife power

Quentin's face was stiff

He looked at Isabella with a complicated expression.

Isabella clearly did not understand what the family plaque of the Lockwood family represented. She was confused.

*100 years ago, the family plaque was a letter from the head of the Lockwood family's Punishment Hall. The person in charge of the family plaque was even able to dethrone the patriarch and appoint a new one. "Now, the Lockwood family had canceled the Punishment Hall, but the person in charge of the family plaque is equivalent to the patriarch.

"In other words, if something happens to the patriarch, the surrogate patriarch could be in charge of the family plaque in place of patriarch until there is a new patriarch.

"The surrogate patriarch could also become the new patriarch.

"Therefore, Grandpa's asking you to personally retrieve the family plaque. Only then can you openly be in charge of the family."

Quentin looked at Isabella. He felt that Isabella should show a flattered expression.

But the truth was...

Isabella's face was filled with disbelief. "Grandpa, you're asking me to be the surrogate patriarch? Grandpa, you can't be biased!"

Quentin thought that Isabella meant that the previous patriarch was biased towards her.

However, in the next moment, she saw the previous patriarch actually revealed a guilty expression.

"Bella, it might be a little harsh on you. I promise that other than getting the family plaque back, I'll definitely get those idle people to do everything else."

Quentin waited for an answer.

Isabella also knew that Sir Graham Lockwood was being kind.

Although he was quite helpless, he still said, “Zack and Samson are still locked up in the dungeon, Grandpa, I’ll go look for them now.”

She was constantly busy. After dealing with this matter, she would devote herself to the laboratory. Saving Draxton was the most important thing.

Zack walked forward and personally removed the mechanism on the wooden box.

The Lockwood family's guards couldn't help but feel a wave of lingering fear. Fortunately, the patriarch's wife was smart enough to notice that something was wrong. Otherwise...

Isabella stared at Zack's hand with interest. She then said, "I have a teacher. He's a mechanical expert. "Of course, he doesn't understand such ancient mechanisms and traps, but I think they're all the same."

Zack raised his head stiffly and looked at Isabella. He met her dark eyes that seemed to be able to see through everything.

A chill that seeped into his bones slowly overwhelmed Zack.

"This woman is just terrifying. I've never seen such a terrifying person!

"She seems to know everything!"

The movements in his hands changed their trajectory without batting an eyelid. He began to dismantle the hidden traps and mechanisms obediently.

Isabella curved her lips and didn't say anything else. She just watched quietly.

Zack's instantly became entirely dispirited.

As Isabella had thought, he had wanted to use the hidden traps in the wooden box to kill Isabella.

For the first time, Isabella had seen through the hidden traps in the wooden box and Zack had to pretend to dismantle it.

The second time was when he had just dismantled the hidden traps. That method was not dismantling the hidden traps at all, but taking the opportunity to activate the killer traps.

However, he did not expect Isabella to understand it.

The fact was, Isabella did not understand what Zack was doing at all. She was bluffing.

She never dared to underestimate Lucsia's ancient culture and skill legacy.

Mechanisms were an ancient technique that had been passed down for generations. It was even more mysterious. She had never dabbled in it before and could not understand it at all.

"Yes, sir!"

The eyes of the guards lit up, and they also rushed into the forest.

Isabella quickly realized how powerful this man in black was.

The other party was definitely an experienced veteran.

Moreover, the other party's moves revealed ruthlessness. As long as one was afraid of death, they really did not dare to fight him head on.

Facing him, the opponent would feel the pressure of death and subconsciously feel restrained. Isabella could clearly feel how powerful the other party was, but she was actually excited.

Truthfully speaking, it had been a long time since she had met such a powerful opponent.

She was also motivated to fight. For a moment, two people who were equally ruthless and did not care about their lives fought just like that.

The sound of the two of them fighting could be heard in the air. Occasionally, it would be accompanied by the sound of a tree falling to the ground from being hit by their palms and fists.

But at that moment, no one noticed that Theo and the guards' gazes were firmly held by the two people who were exchanging blows.

It was just too good to watch.

This kind of battle was not mixed with killing intent, but it seemed to be a life-threatening battle. It was full of excitement, and made the two people fighting and the people watching unable to extricate themselves. Ares couldn't help but exert all his strength. Under the ghost mask, his eyes lit up in incomparably excited. This patriarch's wife had surprised him.

Such skills were enough to prove that patriarch's wife was not an ordinary person.

However, he had no time to guess the patriarch's wife's true identity. He was already immersed in this battle and was playing to his heart's content.

Isabella felt the same way.

In fact, she had already guessed the other party's identity. The only person who could have such skills was the person from the Expendable Camp. The Lockwood family's best fighter, Ares, who was known as The Immortal Ares.

In the blink of an eye, an hour had passed. Just as Theo had predicted, Ares was indeed at a disadvantage and was no match for Isabella.

Seeing Ares lying on the ground in a sorry state, Theo clenched his fists and almost applauded for the patriarch's wife excitedly.

But thinking that he still couldn't defeat his father, Theo forcefully suppressed himself.

He thought excitedly that this time, his father finally knew how extraordinary the patriarch's wife was!

Isabella took two steps forward and extended her hand to the person on the ground.

Ares felt a sense of appreciation for Isabella. He reached out and placed his hand on Isabella's.

Cressida immediately fell silent when she saw the three of them looking at her. However, her eyes were filled with hatred and injustice.

The short-haired woman and Jason did not care about her reaction, but Alanna's eyes flashed. She looked at Cressida's leg and asked, "Did the Lockwood family cripple your legs?"

Cressida was stunned and looked at Alanna in surprise.

Alanna knew what was going on when she saw her expression. She smiled and said, "I also have a grudge against the Lockwood family. Why did the Lockwood family people cripple your legs?"

When Cressida heard Alanna's words, she could not help but feel hatred. "It's Draxton. He was the one who broke my legs.

"There are also Isabella, Elodia. I won't let any of them off!"

Cressida's face contorted.

When Jason heard Isabella's name, a trace of shock and doubt appeared on his cold expression. However, that trace of shock and doubt quickly disappeared and was replaced by coldness again.

Alanna smiled and said, "What a coincidence. My enemies are also Draxton and Isabella.

"I have a way to treat your legs. Do you dare to come with me?" asked Alanna.

She was interested in Cressida.

Cressida was stunned. At that moment, she thought of how she was penniless, how her heartless parents had abandoned her, and how she could not count on her Aunt Ziana. She suddenly made up her mind and – decided to bet her hopes on these three people.

They did look like they were not to be trifled with, but from another perspective, the more dangerous someone was, the more powerful they were. She had to become someone not to be trifled with.

Hence, Cressida nodded heavily and said, "I dare. Why wouldn't I dare? As long as you can treat my legs."

"Very good. I can heal your legs, but you have to listen to me when it comes to revenge."

"Alright." Cressida agreed. It was fine as long as she could take revenge.

The short-haired woman frowned and looked at Alanna. Alanna smiled at her ingratiatingly and said, "Anna, doesn't Mr. Lyons need such an experimental subject? It saves us the trouble of looking for it."

At that moment, Winna looked at Old Willsmith and Old Craven angrily and said to Isabella, "Bella, they said bad things about you and even wanted to chase you out of the laboratory!"

Old Willsmith and Old Craven's expressions changed.

"What the fuck was going on?"

"Wasn't the Barclays family at odds with the Lockwood family? We sided with you and said that we wanted to chase out the people of the Lockwood family. It was fine if you didn't welcome us, but now you're complaining?"

"Could it be that you guys are just joking that you don't get along?"

Old Willsmith and Old Craven's expressions were as terrible as if they had eaten flies.

Isabella's lips curled into a cold smile. She patted Winna's head and said, "Alright. Then I'll chase them out of the laboratory too!"

Winna's eyes were sparkling as it looked at Isabella with admiration.

The corners of Old Willsmith and Old Craven's eyes twitched non-stop. They looked at Winna, who was coquettishly nesting beside Isabella like a little rabbit. Their moods were simply too hard to explain.

"Isabella, how dare you! Do you think you have such power alone?"

They could only place their hopes on Fernando. "Mr. Fernando, what do you think? Everything we said just now will count."

As long as Fernando cooperated with them, they could chase Isabella out.

Isabella looked coldly at Old Willsmith and Old Craven, These two old fellows were really dishonest.

Fernando smiled faintly and said to Old Willsmith and Old Craven, "I'm really sorry. The people I'm working with is the Lockwood family, not you."

What he really meant was, who do you think you are?

Old Willsmith and Old Craven were so angry that their faces twitched a few times. Old Craven did not give up and said, "Mr. Fernando, you might not know this, but Draxton won't live. Isabella is a widow. She can't represent the Lockwood family!"

After Old Craven finished speaking, he sneered at Isabella. Without Draxton, Isabella could not represent the, Lockwood family at all.

Big Dipper and Little Dipper's men naturally wouldn't give way.

Anna's eyes turned cold. She suddenly took out a document and threw it across the table.

Grey caught the document and opened it. His expression changed slightly.

Anna looked at him expressionlessly and said, "This is the President's order. He ordered Isabella to leave the laboratory and let the Willsmith and Craven families be in charge of the laboratory to work with the Barclays family.

"Also, the Lockwood family can send people into the laboratory to assist from the side!"

Shock and disbelief flashed across the faces of the members of Little Dipper and Big Dipper and the others. The President had directly taken away the authority of the Lockwood family to manage the laboratory.

This was too much!

As if she knew what they were thinking, Anna continued, "Don't blame the President. Unless the Lockwood family chooses a new patriarch to be in charge of this matter, this matter can only be handled by the Willsmith and Craven families."

Generally speaking, the Lockwood family's patriarch was currently unconscious. It was unknown if he was dead or alive. He was even determined to be dead. This was the best excuse to seize power from the Lockwood family.

Little Dipper and Big Dipper's men looked furious.

"Our patriarch isn't dead yet!" Grey said angrily.

Anna looked at him coldly and said, "The three of us are only here to pass on the order. Get out of the way. From now on, the Lockwood family has lost control of the laboratory.

"If you disobey, you will be disobeying orders."

Old Willsmith and Old Craven sneered, and a smug look appeared in their eyes.

This was all Isabella's fault. She shouldn't have gone against them. That was what they were thinking.

Grey took the document and said to Anna, "Miss Lyons, please give us some time. We need to report to patriarch's wife first."

Anna frowned.

At that moment, Alanna, who was behind Anna, said, "You guys are really loyal dogs. Why are you protecting Isabella?"

If she was really related to the two elders in front of her, then... her being lost was caused by them. Her emotions were exceptionally complicated, but her cold face was still arrogant and calm.

She remained calm. Since she had her suspicions, she should be able to find some clues when she investigated the Menter family in secret.

Actually, some things were very simple.

As long as she took a strand of Mr. and Mrs. Menter's hair for a DNA test, she would know the answer immediately.

Of course, all of this had to be done in secret. No one could know.

Anna lowered her eyes and said, "I understand how you feel, but I still have to say that you've got the wrong. person."

With that, she no longer paid attention to the two elders.

"But you really look like your father... Your father's name is Yates Sutton. He... died in a car accident back then..."

At this point, Mr. Menter closed his eyes in pain.

Anna's body stiffened imperceptibly.

Old Willsmith glanced coldly at Mr. Menter.

He then said angrily, "Old Menter, what's the meaning of this?"

“Back then, when Ziana ran away from the marriage, Jasper became the laughingstock of the entire boxing world. The Willsmith family was totally embarrassed.

“Now, you’re talking about what happened back then in front of me. What are you wanting to do?”

Ziana’s fiancé back then was Jasper, Old Willsmith’s only son.

Because of this matter, the Menter family had been letting down the Wei family all these years. However, the Wei family had always been magnanimous. The two families did not break up because of this matter.

But today, Old Willsmith seemed a little angry.

Mr. Menter glanced at Old Willsmith and sighed. “Old Willsmith, after so many years, Ziana has broken off all relationship with us. Yates is dead and the child is lost. The Menter family can be said to have been separated from our flesh and blood. These punishments are enough.

Chapter 280 A Miracle

"So you do know me. What's our relationship?" asked Jason.

Isabella confirmed that Jason had been in a car accident because of Samantha. He fell into the river with his car. Although he was not killed, there was something wrong with his head.

However, Isabella was still a little surprised. She said, "Haven't you seen the news online?"

The Lang family's young CEO was involved in a car accident. It was all over the news. No one knew if he was dead or alive.

Jason was taken aback.

It had only been two days since he woke up from the laboratory. He had been on missions with Anna and had not had the time to go online.

In fact, it was not just his memory that had problems. Ever since he woke up from the laboratory, the world had been brand new to him.

He did not seem to have any concept of surfing the Internet, cell phones, or anything else.

One look at Jason's reaction and Isabella knew that he still didn't know anything.

Isabella then said, "I have nothing to do with you. We just know each other.

"However, it's better for you to find your own life yourself."

Isabella actually felt that with Jason's current identity and knowledge of the past, dragging the Lang family into this might not be a good thing for him or the Lang family..

It wasn't easy to be the President's envoy.

"Isabella, don't try to stall time by changing the topic. You're just a woman. You only benefited from the Lockwood family. Now, you actually want to take over while Draxton is unconscious.

"You even sent Draxton to the laboratory. Your intentions are obvious."

Old Craven couldn't help but interrupt.

After saying that, he looked at Grey and Queal. "You're all elites of Little Dipper and Big Dipper. You were actually bewitched by this woman and betrayed the patriarch. I think Little Dipper and Big Dipper are just empty titles."

Grey and Queal gasped. Queal even began to roll up his sleeves and exercise his wrists. As he moved, he stared at Old Craven and said, "Mrs. Lockwood, can I beat him up?"

Isabella chuckled and said, "It's better to bear with it for now. If you beat him up and cripple him, we'll be the
