Chapter 301 The Imposter

Hearing Isabella Thompson's name, Jasper immediately understood.

It seemed that Cecilia was ready to attack Jocelyn Grey.

"I heard that Jocelyn Grey took the Evolution Poison away with her. Mrs. Grey, is this true?" Jasper asked.

Cecilia sighed before she answered, "That's right. She betrayed us back then and even took the Evolution Poison away. It's heartbreaking.

"So I have to take over the title of the leader temporarily."

Jasper smiled and said, "I feel you are doing quite well. The Clan Mobius is developing very well now."

Cecilia smiled weakly and said to Jane, "Jane, have a careful study about Miss Lockwood's family with Mr. Willsmith. You have to become her for some time in the future."

Jane nodded and followed Jasper to familiarize herself with Olivia.

"Since we are at Dawton City, you'll be able to meet your senior sister's disciple soon. Are you happy?"

Cecilia snuggled into Julian's arms and said in a slightly bitter tone.

Julian looked at her gently and replied, "Celia, what nonsense are you talking about now? What does Jocelyn Grey's disciple have to do with me?"

"Hmph!" Cecilia snorted unhappily.

Julian comforted her helplessly. "Celia, what happened between Jocelyn Grey and I was long gone ago. Why do you still remember?"

Cecilia widened her watery eyes and said angrily, "So you still remember her? You still remember what happened twenty years ago..."

Isabella and Draxton had been busy investigating the truth behind the death of Yates Sutton.

Elodia Hudson and Kieran Lockwood had lived in Northernville Manor lately. They were very happy during this period.

Ziana Menter and Anna Lyons also got along very well.

After Isabella finished speaking with Elodia, she was a little uneasy. Coincidentally, Draxton came back from outside. Seeing that her expression was not right, Draxton could not help but ask with concern, "What's wrong?"

Isabella frowned slightly and said, "I haven't seen Olivia and Jake in two days. I called them just now, but their phones were switched off."

Draxton was stunned when he heard this. He immediately took out his phone and called Olivia. Sure enough, her phone was switched off.

Draxton glared upstairs with a dark expression and chased after Isabella.

Isabella returned to the bedroom and rummaged through a small alloy box.

Draxton went in with a severe expression. "Bella, something happened to Olivia and Jake."

Isabella did not stop searching. She nodded and said, "I didn't expect Jasper to move so quickly."

Draxton added, "For the time being, their lives should not be in danger."

He walked over and looked curiously at the small box of Isabella. She rarely opened this box.

At this moment, Isabella found a small thing in the small box.

It was something like a chip.

"What's this?" Draxton asked curiously.

"This is Mercenari Uno's mini communicator and a locator.

“The other members buried this thing in their bodies. When I joined them, I was breastfeeding, so I didn’t plant it under my skin. This thing has tiny radiation effects on the human body but doesn’t harm adults.

“Now, I’m going to activate it and locate Jake Hope Jasper hasn’t discovered this little thing in Jake’s body.”

Draxton was stunned for two seconds before saying, “You’re also a member of Mercenari Uno?”

Isabella was stunned for several seconds and smiled guiltily.

Draxton glared at her fiercely. He actually didn’t know this because she didn’t even tell him.

Isabella found another metal pendant in the box, put the chip in, and put it around her neck.

Her movements were skillful. Clearly, this was not the first time.

After they calmed down, Isabella and Draxton revealed their true purpose for visiting.

"We suspect that there's something fishy about Mr. Yates Sutton's death. I've got someone to investigate. When Yates was murdered back then, not only were there the Menter family members, but the Willsmith family also appeared.

"You have been investigating what happened back then all these years. Do you have any clues?"

Draxton asked.

Old Mr. and Mrs. Sutton's eyes lit up. They had cried before, but they were in better spirits.

They looked at each other. Old Mrs. Sutton stood up and went upstairs.

Not long after, she went downstairs with a box.

There were glints shining in her eyes.

She opened the box. Inside were some documents and a white glove.

"This white glove..." Isabella stared at the white glove and fell into deep thought.

Old Mr. Sutton explained. "We found this white glove at the scene of Yates' death."

Isabella reached out and picked up the white glove. She and Draxton looked at each other and saw the same message in each other's eyes.

"Jasper Willsmith!"

They said the name in unison.

Jasper was a clean freak and liked to wear white gloves.

“But a white glove alone is not enough to convict anyone,” Draxton added.

“There’s also a USB flash drive here. It’s from the surveillance camera we bought at a high price from the area where the murder happened.

“It recorded the car that killed Yates, but we can’t find its owner.”

Draxton said, “Old Mr. Sutton, leave the USB flash drive to us. I’ll get someone to investigate.”

Old Mr. Sutton continued, “This matter is of great importance and involves a lot of people. You must be careful even if you are from the Lockwood family.”

Draxton nodded solemnly. “Old Mr. Sutton, don’t worry. Bella and I will not stand by and do nothing about Yates’ revenge. We will take care of this matter to the end.”

Ziana squeezed the sentence from her teeth. Draxton took the flash drive and left with Isabella. Ziana and Anna stayed with Mandie stood rooted to the ground as if she had turned into an ice sculpture.

Because she suddenly felt that Isabella wasn't lying to her.

She suddenly figured out many things. Some of the things that she usually subconsciously avoided were suddenly exposed.

That year, she gave birth to her first child. She was a boxer. When the child was born, her stamina had not been depleted. However, she mysteriously fainted after Jasper came in.

When she woke up, she was told that the child was stillborn.

She had not even seen the child before it was disposed of.

Jasper said that he was afraid that she would be sad if she saw it.

She loved Jasper. She was afraid of losing him. When she saw how sad Jasper was, she did not ask further.

Later on, she did not dare to mention that child.

Jasper had promised her they could have another child at that time.

He had been very gentle and considerate to her during that period. The pain of losing her son seemed to have gradually faded during the sweet life of husband and wife.

A few years later, when Jeremy was born, she never again mentioned the stillbirth.

However, she would miss that child from time to time. From the moment it was born, she had never seen it. By the time Mandie came back to her senses, there was already no one in the room. She looked at the screen of the surveillance camera. Jasper and his researchers in the underground laboratory were surrounded.

Mandie's eyes were bloodshot as she cried silently.

Actually, she already believed Isabella's words.

Putting everything else aside, the laboratory that Jasper had set up and the fact that he was an test subject were all things she did not know about.

When she came to Dawton City this time, she seemed to have discovered a stranger, Jasper, whom she had never known before.

And this strange man was actually her husband, whom she had slept with for more than twenty years. What could be more shocking and despairing than this?

her even more despair was that she had pushed Jake Quillon into Jasper's hands. She stared at the surveillance camera, where Jake Quillon and Olivia Lockwood were tortured beyond recognition.

It was a gesture unique to Mercenari Uno.

This gesture was imprinted in the instinctive consciousness of every member of Mercenari Uno. It was like hypnosis.

No matter what, as long as they saw this gesture, they instinctively activated the self-saving mode.

Isabella was betting on how deeply this gesture affected Jake.

Sure enough, Jake's reaction did not disappoint her. After she made that gesture, Jake instinctively moved. He began to counterattack unprepared.

At the same time, Isabella also moved.

The person who had restrained him was the expendables trained by Jasper. Their strength could not be underestimated.

Isabella and Jake were once comrades who fought together. Their combat experience and tacit understanding were unparalleled.

Therefore, before the two expendables controlling Jake could react, one of them had his neck twisted by Jake, and the other had his heart pierced by Isabella.

Their movements and coordination were seamless. By the time everyone recovered from their shock, Jake was already free from the shackle.

As for the few expendables controlling Olivia, after seeing their companions killed and Jake freed, they looked at each other and decided to kill Olivia.

They were clearly planning to give up their lives.

They were all trained expendable soldiers.

Isabella's expression changed, and she pounced on Olivia in a flash. However, in an instant, Jake growled and pounced on Olivia faster than her, like an enraged beast.

At the same time, Draxton's figure quickly flashed over.

Isabella watched the battle closely. Jake grabbed the arm of the person holding Olivia's neck and broke it. Olivia was free, and her body fell limply.

Another expendable stabbed at Olivia with a dagger.

However, he was sent flying by a kick from Draxton.

Isabella took the opportunity to go forward and carry Olivia away from the battlefield.

Chapter 306 Members Of The Tribunal Committee

Jane was locked in the dungeon. She still couldn't believe that she had been exposed until now.

She felt that she had disguised herself very well. No one could see through her.

She couldn't figure out how she'd been exposed.

After placing Jake and Olivia on the bed, Isabella first examined their bodies.

Jake was a second-generation test subject. Even after experiencing all kinds of torture, his body was still strong. At least he looked strong.

Isabella injected him with a body-nourishing drug and left him alone.

As long as he rested well, his body would automatically metabolize the harmful substances, and he would wake up.

What worried her was Olivia.

Olivia wasn't injured, but her body had been injected with a pregnancy-promoting drug. The body could also metabolize those drugs, but it needed time.

What's worse was the destruction of her mentality.

"Bella, will she be alright?" Draxton asked worriedly.

Isabella replied, "That depends on her mental endurance.

"I found a drug in her body that made her pregnant. My biggest worry might have happened. I'm afraid she will be traumatized."

Draxton's eyes flickered. "She's a member of the Lockwood family. She can't be that fragile."

His tone was cold and firm.

Isabella covered Olivia with a blanket and asked worriedly. "What do you think the president means?"

Draxton's questioning expression flickered, then vanished. "The Lockwood family controls the economic lifeline of the entire country. Not only that, but the Lockwood family also has a huge force overseas. Perhaps the president feels insecure."

There was nothing he could not say to Isabella. The Lockwood family was indeed powerful, but it also attracted the attention of countless powerful enemies.

He believed the president was not the only one dissatisfied with the Lockwood family or coveted it.

There were also countless pairs of eyes staring at the Lockwood family.

As soon as Isabella finished speaking, Cecilia's expression changed.

She said in a daze, "You were indeed the student of Jocelyn Grey. You're just as ruthless as her.

*Jane is just a little playful. Why do you have to make it sound so serious?"

Her face turned pale, and her expression became indifferent as if she had suffered a great grievance.

Julian patted her thin shoulder comfortingly and said, "Celia, don't be sad."

Isabella was disgusted by this scene.

Thinking about what Olivia had suffered in that laboratory and Clan Mobius's people disguised as her to confuse them, she knew they were accomplices.

Fortunately, they had recognized the fake. Otherwise, the real Olivia might have died without anyone knowing.

Isabella looked at Cecilia and Julian with extreme disgust. "They were probably here to disgust us."
Draxton's expression darkened as well.

He looked sharply at Julian and said, "Mr. Doyle, even if you are a member of the tribunal committee, there is no room for discussion on this matter.

"We have to ask Miss Grey, what's your intention for pretending to be Miss Lockwood?"

"Did you also collaborate with Jasper Willsmith to hurt my family? The Lockwood family will not let this matter rest.

"Please leave. Cooper, see the guest out."

Finishing, Draxton and Isabella stood up. They turned around to leave without any hesitation.

Cecilia was shocked.

Julian narrowed his eyes and stared at the back of Isabella and Draxton. "It seems that my identity is not enough to make you compromise.

"Then, why don't you take a look at this plaque?"

As he spoke, he took out another plaque.

Isabella and Draxton stopped in their tracks and stared at the plaque that Julian had taken out, which was clearly different from the previous one.

Julian looked silently at Isabella, who was crying weakly in Draxton's arms.

"Boohoo, Draxton, we've let Olivia down..."

"As her sister-in-law, how am I supposed to face her in the future? We actually let the enemy pretending to be her get away with it for the sake of others!"

"Draxton, I'm too ashamed to face Olivia. Just let me die..."

She buried her face in Draxton's broad and muscular chest. She grabbed his clothes with both hands and rubbed her head against him. Her shoulders trembled non-stop, and her cries were pitiful.

Draxton silently looked at the drama queen in his arms for a while. Then, he decided to play along.

His handsome face fell and he said angrily, "Bella, you are not to blame for this. If we have to blame someone, blame us, the Lockwood family, for being too weak."

Isabella said, "Boohoo... we're so pitiful!"

Draxton said, "For what's worth, if anyone bullies us again in the future, we'll fight them to the death!"
Cecilia stared blankly at the couple who were working with each other in putting on a show. She muttered, "You guys are Miraculous Doctor and the Lockwood family's patriarch, but you actually... actually..." She believed what they did was shameless.

She originally wanted to make a big fuss about Jane's severed finger and ear, but now, when she looked at the couple who were putting on a show, she was actually deeply affected by them!

She actually felt that they had really gone over the line.

Cecilia shook her head hard with a strange look in her eyes. She wondered if the couple was really crazy. Julian looked at Draxton and Isabella with a deep gaze. These two people really exceeded his expectations. At the same time, they indeed didn't show him any respect.

They had basically crippled Jane. This was a blatant insult to him.

However, there was no emotion on his face. He said slowly, "Mr. Lockwood, Miraculous Doctor, this matter was not as serious as you said.

"Don't worry. After we bring Jane back, we'll definitely punish her. We'll ask her to come and apologize to Miss Lockwood another day. She was indeed in the wrong."

They had been slapped in the face but they were still coaxing the two of them and apologizing to them.

Draxton hugged Isabella and waved his hand. "Mr. Duncan, you guys can leave. I hope that in the future, no one will come to the Lockwood family. Our family is very kind and innocent!"

Betty chased her to the bottom of the courtyard wall. She raised her head and saw that among the creepers on the courtyard wall, a colorful big snake was coiled up and flicking its tongue at her.

Betty's eyes lit up. She said in surprise, "Snakey!"

Betty extended her little hand toward the poisonous snake. "Snakey, come down!"

The snake stared at her for a while. After a while, it turned around and ran away as if it had met its natural enemy.

The snake ran very quickly, slithering through the creepers. Its beastly instincts told it that it was in danger! Betty felt wronged. She wondered if she was not cute so Snakey wanted to run away from her.

At this moment, Ricky ran over. "Betty, uncle wants to send us back to Northernville Manor. Do you want to go back?"

Betty's eyes lit up. She believed her mother would definitely catch beautiful snakes for her to play with. She nodded repeatedly and ran back with Ricky.

When Gary saw the two children running over, he quickly squatted down and said with a fawning expression, "Kids, let's walk quietly. Don't let great-grandpa and great-grandma discover us, okay?"

"Why?" Betty's eyes widened.

Ricky scrutinized Gary.

Gary looked uncomfortable being stared at by the two children. He said with a long face.

"I'm begging you. Your brother Key is in Northernville Manor. Uncle wants to see him. Where are your parents? They didn't ask me to enter Northernville Manor. Uncle can only beg you!"

Gary's face was ghastly pale as he plunged into deep fear.

He took out his phone with trembling hands and kept dialing Draxton as if he was crazy.

Ricky looked at his actions and said in a calm voice, "Stop calling. I've already told Dad."

"But... but Betty was taken away." Gary's voice trembled. The moment he raised his head, Ricky saw that his face was covered in tears.

Ricky was stunned. He really did not expect his uncle to cry like a child.

Even he didn't cry!

He pursed his lips, not knowing what to say.

Draxton and Isabella arrived soon.

When they arrived, Gary was sitting in the car crying.

Ricky sat quietly in the back seat. When he saw his parents, he pouted and immediately threw himself into Isabella's arms.

It was only at this moment that he revealed his weak side. His childish voice was filled with fear and worry. "Mommy, sister has been taken away by bad people."

Isabella stroked his son's back and comforted him silently. "Don't be afraid. Mommy will definitely bring your sister back safely. We have to believe that your sister will be fine."
