

Kick Ass Wife 50

Chapter 50 Gift

Midnight Sun was ranked 10th on the Dark List. It had been sold for 10 billion dollars in an auction five years ago!

An unknown big shot had won the bid then. It turned out Ava Lockwood was in possession of this brooch.

Isabella Thompson felt a little uncomfortable holding something so precious.

It was way too valuable!

Ava tensed up when she saw Isabella's grim expression. She asked, "Bella, do you not like it?"

The color and style of the brooch were, in fact, compatible with people of all ages.

Isabella denied hurriedly, "No. I like it, of course. It's really beautiful. I was just shocked because it's too precious."

Ava's interest was piqued. "Oh, do you recognize it, Bella?"

Isabella did not hide anything. She nodded directly and said, "I know some information about it. Its name is Midnight Sun. Five years ago, it was sold for 10 billion Lucsian Dollars.

"Haha, our Bella is indeed knowledgeable. I'm glad that you like it. It's just a brooch!"

"Thank you, Second Aunt. I like it very much!" Isabella smiled and closed the box carefully.

Mia couldn't help but smile. She urged, "Bella, take a look at this. This is my gift to you. Do you like it?"

Isabella smiled and opened Mia's box. Inside was a set of aqua-blue diamond jewelry. There was a necklace, earrings, and a bracelet.

The aqua-blue light seemed to resemble the mysterious glowing light of the moon. It was noble and pure. Isabella held her breath.

Ava joked, "Bella, let's see if you can tell what this is!"

Isabella took a deep breath and said, "This is the Oceanic Moon."

Three years ago, the winning bid for Oceanic Moon was 100 billion dollars.

It was even more precious than Midnight Sun. However, when Isabella observed their expressions, she could tell that the three of them cared more about sincerity than the prices of the gifts. They did not care who had given her the more expensive gift.

This was what the members of the Lockwood family were like.

Isabella did not know what to say. She could only stand up and express her gratitude. "I've received really precious gifts today. Thank you."

“That’s nothing. You still haven’t received your gifts from your grandpa, grandma, and the others!” Mia teased, covering her mouth.

Mia’s eyes were shining brightly as she spoke to Isabella.

Isabella could not help but sigh. “I’m very flattered...”

“Haha...” the three of them laughed.

Philip stood outside the door for a while. Then he left resentfully after confirming that he had fallen out of favor.

Isabella said, “I also prepared gifts. Someone will help carry it over later because there are too many. I hope Mom, Second Aunt, and Third Aunt will like them.”

“Oh?” The three of them were clearly interested. Isabella smiled shyly in response. “It may not be comparable to the gifts that I’ve received.”

“Nah, sincerity is key!” Ava waved her hand.

Jeanne and Mia nodded. “We’re family. You don’t have to worry about this!” Jeanne reassured her.

Isabella smiled and nodded. “Alright.”

“Let’s go now. It’s about time. Let’s get ready for dinner. We’ll get to know each other at the dining table later,” Ava suggested.

Everyone agreed.

Jeanne stood up elegantly and led the way out. She could not help but glance at the room Sir Graham Lockwood and Madame Emma Lockwood was in. When she saw that the door was shut tight, she could not help but smack her forehead.

“My precious grandson must be at the mercy of great-grandpa and great-grandma now.”

knock on the door. They’ll come out later. They won’t bear not know what the two elders would do with Ricky. She wanted to save her son earlier, but she was already surrounded by Olivia this, they couldn’t help but laugh. “Bella, and the other two returned to the kitchen. They didn’t go back to the kitchen to work. They had made some food, but that wasn’t enough for

at home. The robot

stop them from developing to the group of youngsters by Ava and Mia. Olivia saw them and said, “Sister-in-law, I’m Olivia, your that’s enough. Do you mean to say that I’m not?” Yale Lockwood expressed her not feel as reserved when interacting with her peers

“Sister-in-law, it’s Roger!”

“I’m Kevin...”

Isabella saw the identical twins, Bernard and Shepard Lockwood. The only difference between the two of them was that Bernard’s pupils were midnight blue, while Shepard’s pupils were pure must have each inherited they were having fun, Draxton walked over. As soon as he came over, the lively crowd fell silent. Draxton glanced was smiling meekly. Although Isabella was quite introverted, they did not particularly had no right to refute gifts they prepared beforehand. There gave know that Mom and the others must have given you some precious gifts. Maybe even too

Despite that, Olivia’s

her a brooch. This brooch was in the shape of a butterfly and was embedded with pin the brooch to the

was wearing a beige sweater. Once the brooch was pinned up, “Thank you, I like it very

a few

eyes lit up. “Here’s my present for and looked over, their eyes shining with the youngest here, and the girls Olivia and Yale stuck close to Isabella with expectant uncomfortable around her.

if they were family members weren’t people who put on airs. They were genuine people, unlike Isabella liked this family.

more sincerely. Isabella lifted the bags and placed them took out six palm-sized boxes from boxes were made of tempered glass, just like shyly. “I know you all don’t lack anything. I didn’t know what to give, so I prepared

The youngsters

taken aback

for youngsters like you. I mean it.

why she was giving them

He didn't know

"Oh..."

"Oh-"

have the money to buy gifts for the lot of them, hence one and said with a smile, "They may look uncorked the bottle, and her eyes. She took a deep breath of the fragrance. It made her feel like she was floating. She swore that she had never smelled made her

smelled the fragrance too, never get sick of this fragrance. I could smell it the whole day! How refreshing! I might even be able to pull an all-nighter and not get

did not know how she sternly, "It's not good appeared to

out and did it instinctively. After doing this, she felt her cheeks burn. "Ah, Sister-in-law, it must be because this pill is didn't know how she should react. She said, "This pill can nourish the body. It can heal the body of fatigue, begin with. It might not be apparent if that pill really that year and was still growing. However, he had been injured when he adorable He opened the box, took out a pill, but it was refreshing and sweet. Before he melted and glided

the medicinal liquid flowing into his stomach through