

Kick Ass Wife 81

Chapter 81 Ricky Strikes

The moment Bridget's nails came down, Ricky's steady little body suddenly leaned back at a very flexible and agile angle, avoiding Bridget's attack naturally.

Bridget didn't get to touch Ricky and was a little stunned. She didn't expect such an outcome.

By the time Ricky's body nimbly bounced up and quickly took a few steps back to increase the distance between them, she had already lost the initiative to touch him.

Bridget looked at the little boy in shock. The jealousy and coldness in her eyes intensified. "Ha, Isabella is indeed quite a schemer. She actually taught you self-defense."

Ricky looked at her silently and slowly frowned. This woman knew her mother, wondering if she could be her mother's enemy.

At that thought, Ricky's gaze turned cold.

Bridget looked at the calm child opposite her who did not panic at all. She realized more and more that this child's temperament would definitely be another genius of the Lockwood family in the future. With such a descendant, the Lockwood family was really not afraid of decline.

However, that wouldn't do her any good. After all, he was Isabella's son.

If that child died, she would give birth to another child in the future. Her own child might be as smart and outstanding as the child in front of her. "No, I would only nurture him to be more outstanding." She thought.

At that time, he would be the chieftain's wife of the Lockwood family and his son would be the Lockwood family's chieftain in time. At that time, she would become the matriarch and the overlord of the Lockwood family.

Thinking of this, Bridget's breathing couldn't help but quicken. She was a little excited. She looked at Ricky with undisguised killing intent.
