

Kick Ass Wife 84

Chapter 84 The Naughty Child

Betty poked two of her fingers against each other. Her big eyes blinked as she looked at everyone. Her little face was red. No matter how one looked at her, she looked like a harmless baby.

Madame Emma Lockwood patted the child's back gently and smiled stiffly. "Haha, Bella, what are you talking about? Little Betty is still a little baby. How can it be her?"

The old man nodded repeatedly. It was obvious that he agreed with Madame Emma Lockwood.

Little Betty's expression became even more adorable.

Isabella said, "It's true..."

Jeanne said, "Bella, I know. It was you who did it, right? Don't worry. No matter what happens, our family will be able to take responsibility. Don't worry. That Old Man Riker's words were too much. Even if you didn't teach him a lesson, we wouldn't have let him off!"

Isabella was speechless.

Philip also said, "Girl, you really as timid as they come. It's not a good habit to dare to do something but not admit it. It's even more wrong to push the blame on Betty. Even if you admit it, we won't blame you!"

Isabella was stunned.

She looked at Little Betty speechlessly. When Little Betty met her mother's gaze, she immediately buried her face into Madame Emma Lockwood's arms guiltily, leaving only the back of her head with a strand of hair sticking up facing Isabella.

Isabella could not help but laughed in anger, thinking that the child really set her mother up!

Most importantly, the Lockwood family had been deceived by the little girl's cute and harmless appearance! Isabella didn't know whether to laugh or cry. She was waiting to see how long this little girl could pretend. When the girl finally couldn't pretend anymore, she would love to see everyone's expressions.

Wilson was even more direct. He said, "Bella, I knew that your medical skills are outstanding, but I didn't expect you to know how to use poison. This Laughing Powder is really amazing. Can you give me some?"

He rubbed his palms together, looking eager to prank someone.

Isabella did not have any Laughing Powder on her.

She silently looked at Little Betty.

Little Betty felt that her mother's gaze was really too terrifying!

She wondered how she could console her mother later.
