

Kick Ass Wife 99

Chapter 99 A Showdown

Isabella narrowed her eyes and sneered. She said coldly. "I'll teach you a lesson too. I'll let you know that traitors who betray their masters and ancestors are nothing more than just traitors.

"No matter how you deceive the world outside, you're nothing and will be reduced to nothing before the real the Sanctum of Holy Doctors medical skills."

Isabella stood upright. Her young face was filled with righteousness, and her aura was overwhelming. On the contrary, it made Carlos look a little short of breath.

Looking at her at that moment, everyone present instantly had the same feeling in their hearts, "Not only was such a woman worthy of Chieftain Lockwood's status, but she was also destined to be even more extraordinary."

Her imposing manner and aura already showed her excellence.

On the other hand, Carlos looked rather desperate.

Patriarch Riker's eyes flickered as he narrowed his eyes at Isabella. At this moment, he could tell that whether Isabella was bluffing or not, she did nonetheless have some guts. Yet, none of that mattered.

He sneered and suddenly said, "Alright, since you dare to say that, Isabella, do you dare to compete with President Orwell?"

Patriarch Riker knew what kind of amazing results Carlos was going to achieve this time. "Since Isabella is going to humiliate herself, what's wrong with them fulfilling her wish?" He thought.

Carlos's lips curled up, and a proud sneer flashed in his eyes. He asked, "Since that's the case, how about a showdown then?"

Isabella's aura suddenly disappeared, and the anger on her face also dissipated. She smiled elegantly and said casually, "No problem, you've got a deal!"

She smiled calmly and dissipated her domineering aura. Instead, she exuded the confidence and care-free bearing of an otherworldly expert.

"What kind of woman is she?" Everyone thought.

She was so malleable, and every appearance of her was so fascinating.

Cristian, who was standing at the periphery of the crowd, lowered his eyes silently. That woman was supposed to be his fiancée. Their parents had made an agreement before they were born. However, because of the greed and schemes of the Thompson family people, everything changed.

If Isabella and Samantha had not been maliciously swapped, then Isabella would now be the Lang family's eldest daughter. Cristian and Isabella might already be engaged...

the Rivera

muttered, "Isabella Thompson, she's

“I really want the Lang family to see but in the end, she couldn’t say anything to refute or really... she family who’s unlucky,” Mr. Rivera also tried to get an invitation to participate in the have been the guests of this venue and would they would rise to the top and become and further away for a joke.
finally turned into a silent fate. This child is destined to not be related not help but look at Cristian. She saw that Cristian’s expression was complicated, could not help but call senses and glanced at his parents. He shook his head and said, at the confrontation between Carlos and said, “How do you want to I’ll make you lose the election and get kicked out of the Traditional Medicine Association. I’ll let everyone know
let you understand that the Sanctum of Holy Doctors will become even more glorious because of me, that Isabella sneered. “We’ll see!”
at her and sneered.
ignored each other, but the members of parliament and the Riker family standing on Carlos’s side sneered at Isabella. Their eyes were filled opinion, Isabella was really courting death. side, General Sanders whispered worriedly, “Bella, you’re too rash. Carlos’ results this time will be very shocking. I know that you know medicine, but you’re really acting her lips and smiled. "Godfather, don't worry. I'm not an impulsive person. In as she was here to cause