

Chapter 13– Riding lessons

Kidnapped By The Alpha

ADVERTISEMENT

ADVERTISEMENT

ADVERTISEMENT

ADVERTISEMENT

EMMA

The next morning, I woke up feeling oddly good, I swing my leg down the bed just as the event of last night flashed across my mind, I blushed uncomfortably, what the hell is wrong with me? I couldn't believe I had cried against his chest, taken pleasure from him spanking me, something is wrong with me somewhere, luckily I didn't have time to ponder about it for long cause the door burst open and Hazel walked in, singing softly, it sounded like an accent song so I didn't even bother asking, despite the tune being so catchy.

"Good morning milady, I trust that you slept well," She asked then spun around to open the door when someone knocked, I glance towards the door, my heart racing in excitement which quickly died down when I notice it was a serving girl who brought up my breakfast, inwardly scolding myself. I got up from the bed.

"Yes, I slept well and you?" I asked her ignoring the surprised look the serving girl gave me before walking out of the door, I wondered what that was about or does she know what happened between Jet and I last night? My face reddened and I could only hope it isn't true.

"I slept well too, I am so excited! Alpha Jet told me to inform you they will be going riding later today, he want you to get ready and join them" Hazel told me causing me to stop in my track.

"Riding? But I don't know anything about that?" God! In what universe am I? I'm starting to even think Jet will never tell me anything about it, I'm a curious girl. I will find out one way or the other.

"I am quite certain Alpha will have no problem teaching you, do not worry milady, it will be fun" She assured me, bless her! What would I have done without her?

I decided to tease her as I walked towards the bathroom. "So will Kale be joining us?" Without turning around to look I was sure she was blushing, chuckling to myself I shut the door behind me and decided to sock myself in a bubble bath.

I would have spent longer there if Hazel hadn't knocked on the door to remind me that my food was getting cold.

Half an hour later I was munching on my breakfast, already dressed in my riding clothes, the booth was my favourite, it's so light it felt like I was floating, after I was done Hazel escorted me to the stable using the back door, according to her it's the quickest way to get to the stables.

The stables were huge I have never seen a stable like that before, it looked like a country yard, each of the stables was filled with a horse with stable men and handy boy tending to one house or the other, I didn't know how long I stood there gawking at them until someone laughed beside me.

"You look like you have not seen a horse before," Clair remarked going into the stables and I followed her.

ADVERTISEMENT

"I don't think I have seen a horse except well in movies, I don't have the freedom of going out to do whatever I want!" I didn't mean to make coming out sad, but it did anyway. The last thing I wanted was her pity.

"Oh? That must have been bad but you have freedom now why do you not make use of it?" She suggested making me smile.

"You are right!" I agreed.

"Good, then we better take the best horses before the boys arrive, actually every horse here is the best, Jet sees to it," She remarked smiling as we went about checking the horses.

"You sound like you know him quite well" Why am I being so curious? I convinced myself I didn't care that I was just looking for a topic of conversation, satisfied with the explanation I came up with I waited for Clair to give me a reply.

"I do know him very much, we grow up together here in Rosewood, we were all friends as children, Kale, Me, Hunter and Jet, they saw me as a little sister since I was the only female among them. It was not easy, it was not long ago Hunter stopped seeing me as a sister then we found out we were soul mates. We've been together for five years now" She beamed then stop in front of a brown horse. "I will choose this one" She informed me stroking the beast, and it immediately started nuzzling her hand while humming softly to it.

It was then I realized I was supposed to be searching for a horse, I was so lost in what she was saying that I forgot all about the horse until a horse caught my attention, it was put in a different room in the stable, much bigger one cause the horse is so large and beautiful.

I hurried towards it, it look like a stallion I'm sure it is but I didn't know much about horses or any animals for that matter, its hair was so long and black, its eyes so dark it reminded me of Jet, even the horse was black.

"Oh you fond Jello" Clair said watching me.

"Oh my God! He is so beautiful! He is the thought cried, too bad the horse just stared at me like I was dumb or something.

"Yes he, a stallion. The very last of its breed, only heavens knows where Jet got him from"

ADVERTISEMENT

"I want to ride it!" I reached to pull the door open but a groom appeared from nowhere and stopped me before I could reach for the door, I jerk back in surprise.

"I'm afraid you can't. He might hurt you" The groom explains. "Plus this is Alpha horse, no one rides it except Aloha" The stable guy explained looking at me like I just fell from the guy.

I wanted the horse! I just have known he belongs to Jet, I mean even the horse got the attitude of its master, rolling my eyes I made to leave but I ended up bumping into a wall of the chest and before I could land on my butt, a Jet hand came around my waist to stop me from falling.

The horse made a sound when it spot Jet and he let me go immediately going over to the horse, he went into the room and started stroking its hair, the horse bowed in submission and Jet took it out. I have never been so jealous of something in my whole life, it was silly, the fact that he let me go. Immediately he saw the horse I was jealous of the attention the horse is getting from him.

I know I'm horrible! I want to bang my head on something. Strong dislike coming from here, lastly I later choose medium size horse, Hunter and Kale were already present, seated on their horse while I stare at mine.

"Don't tell me you do not know how to seat on a horse?" Kale laughed almost falling off his horse.

Jet strode over to me offering to help me up instead I glared at his black stallion, it was so beautiful, so powerful. "I think I'll manage," I told him coldly as I place one foot on the saddle trying to jump on the horse but I ended up back on my legs.

He moves closer to me and then lowers his head to my ear, I freeze as my heart picks up in the excitement of having him near me. "What did I tell you about defying me?" His hot breath fan the side of my face.

I blushed to glare at him, the rest were watching us curiously. "Fine! Help me" I hissed.

To my surprise, he smack my butt causing me to yelp if the others saw that I had no idea. "That is not how you ask" He replied.

"Will you please help me on my horse?" I asked nicely as much as I could.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Good day," He praised making me blush, using his hand as a boost he helped me on the horse and went over to slide on his in one move.

"I should warn you guys, I don't know how to ride-" I didn't get to finish my word cause I landed on my butt. "Ouch!" I cried out.

While Jet hurried towards me, Kale started laughing until he ended up falling off his horse which made Hunter started laughing, soon everyone except Jet was laughing.

Much to my embarrassment he pick me up and straddle me on his horse before I could protest then slide in behind me. I resist the urge to lean against him, it felt so natural.

"Kale, once you are done laughing join us," Jet told him half expecting him to kick the horse as Hunter and Clair had done, but he didn't. Instead, he leans forward, his chest brushing against my shoulder. "Come on Jello" He ordered and the horse pick up, racing through the mellow grass.

"Hey! Not fair!" I heard Kale yell, but I knew he was already coming.

Unable to help myself anymore, I pressed my back unto his chest and then close my eyes enjoying the sensation of having him near me and pressed against me so intimately.

TBC.

ADVERTISEMENT